Eagle Killers - - -

A news story and editorial in The Washington Star of December 30 revealed that there may be fewer than 250 nesting pairs of American bald eagles left in the continental United States and under 100 of the endangered species surviving in the northeast.

And The Star bemoans the fact that there was one less since two persons killed one the other day on Long Island, N. Y. If we include the one that died recently after being shot during deer season by some thoughtless hunter near Friendsville, that would make two.

Under the Federal Eagle Act of 1940 the killing of a bald or golden eagle is punishable by up to one year's imprisonment and a fine of up to $5,000.

We are indebted to Audrey J. Reeb, Arlington, Va., for sending clippings of the Washington publicity and reminding people of the eagle shot recently in this county. He further asked "is anyone going to do anything about it?" In this particular case we would guess there isn't anything that can be done about it. It was found wounded in the woods by three deer hunters and everything was done in an attempt to preserve its life.

But people should be educated to the fact that the bald eagle is the national symbol of the United States for nearly 200 years and that eagles are faring badly under human encroachment. They should remain dear to our hearts, the news article suggested, and we would agree.

Cabin Destroyed By Fire Monday

A cabin located on High Point Drive, Sky Valley, was destroyed by fire Monday. The cabin was owned by Philip E. Harpole, Glenn, Gary Road, Baltimore, who told Robert Skinner, fire investigator for Allegany and Garrett counties, that he had left the building between 10:15 and 10:40 a.m. and that there was a fire in the fireplace when he left.

Mr. Skinner said the fire which was reported at 1 p.m. was discovered by Miss Debbie L. Huebner and Karen L. Thomas, both of Columbia, who were playing at the cabin of Miss Huebner's parents approximately 100 yards from Mr. Harpole's structure. The two saw smoke coming from the eaves in the cabin and called firemen.

They then went to the scene to see if anyone was in the building and they told Mr. Skinner that the structure was full of smoke and the upper windows were starting to break out.

Mr. Skinner said his investigation revealed that the fire did start around the area of the fireplace. Mr. Harpole said the cabin was three years old and was covered by insurance.

Finzel Resident To Be National Conference Speaker

Dr. Edwin Steele Finzel, will speak at the annual convention of the Association for Teacher Education in Atlanta, Ga. The February 26 speech will serve as introduction to a program for the creation of an alternative teacher education program in association with Mrs. Darlene Thomas and the Staff at the Route 219 Elementary Middle School in Eastern Garrett County.

Initially the program was designed to use the Public School as a base for theory building for college students who are planning to be teachers. The 6th School Staff and the college students supported the Program. Their interest and involvement resulted in a program that pulls both the college student and the Route 219 staff and students, said Dr. Steele. The additional people who have worked at the school have added hundreds of work hours with the children. The extra time proved extremely valuable to the college students as well, he said.

Dr. Steele and Mrs. Thomas presented their program earlier in the year to College teachers at a meeting with Dr. Murphy at the Maryland State Department of Education. The idea was well received and Dr. Steele was invited to participate as a Presenter at the national meeting of the Association of Teacher Education.

Can Clowning Bring Happiness?

Ask "Dr. Dave" Sharps

By Carol Canan

"Fun is receiving, but happiness is giving," is the basis for David E. Sharps' desire to make people happy by making them laugh and providing entertainment that knows no age barriers.

David does this best from behind the mask of "Dr. Dave," a serio-comic clown face he applies before going into his repertoire of juggling, unicycle riding, or a combination of these two, sculpturing 20 different animals from balloons, performing card and magic tricks, and pantomime.

A son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Sharps, Dave is a 1974 graduate of Southern High School where he was active in varsity sports. During his four years on the golf team, the school enjoyed an unbroken winning streak, and Dave also played three years of varsity football and two years of basketball. He was named outstanding golf team member in his senior year.

For two years he had attended Towson State College, but this past semester enrolled in the University of Florida at Gainesville. A business management major, he hopes someday to combine management knowhow with his entertainment abilities to open an entertainment center of some type.

What began as an interest in juggling has now burgeoned into an engrossing means of filling his spare hours. Dave first became interested in juggling when he was a senior in high school and a Theatre V presentation awakened the juggling desire in him. Since then he has taught himself, and more than 125 other people, this skill.

He made his decision to start clowning around just this past summer, while working in Ocean City. He was employed as a busboy at Philip's Crabhouse but quit that job on the basis of two days' work as a juggler for the Carousel Condominiums. His first weekend he trained under Toto the Clown, a professional who helped him with makeup and props.

By th end of the summer he was also working with children on the beach for the Carousel, as a type of recreation director.

So far in Florida he has done numerous free shows which are now paying off. Not only did he learn various routines for different ages, he learned to diversify his act in several ways.

Now he is becoming popular to perform at parties and has worked as a guest clown with two circuses which winter in Florida, the Clyde, Beatty and Cole Brothers and the Hoxie Brothers.

With the former, he got a chance to talk to Koko the Clown, one of the founders of the Clowns of America worldwide organization of clowns. Koko helped Dave with his makeup, perfecting a white-faced, happy look which takes Dave 45 minutes to apply. Dave prefers pastel colors on his face, as they are less frightening to young children.

Immediate plans this semester are to do clowning in hospitals, schools, and private parties. He also has a job in a Gainesville discotheque, and will probably work again with the Alachua county fair next spring.

He hopes sometime to attend a 10-week course at clown college in Venice, Florida, and may even go to Europe to work as a clown or jester if the opportunity arises, as most of the best pantomime artists work in Europe.

He also hopes to get an eight-foot unicycle, and to continue teaching classes in unicycle riding, clownology and juggling for the Gainesville recreation department. He also will be teaching another class in clownology for the college when he returns to school.

"Dr. Dave" feels happy in a clown suit, and says that a clown's act comes from inside, when a person can let down "front" barriers and really reach out to people in attempts to entertain.

A member of St. Mark's Lutheran Church, David knows well that as a clown he has no authority, but a lot of power. That is one of the reasons he always wears a cross drawn on his forehead as part of his face, and why he hopes to travel with Circus Kirk, a Lutheran-affiliated circus comprised of college students. He may someday expand his routine to include storytelling, which will provide him with another opportunity to reach children by word and example.

He got his "Dr. Dave" name from a nine-year-old boy in Ocean City, who came up with the name while Dave was a dinner guest in his family's condominium his second night as a clown.

Indeed Dave is a master juggler, managing to keep one toss ahead of his studies, teaching, working, yet never losing sight of his goal — entertainment. Juggling all these takes a master drive and talent, and Dave is doing an outstanding job, both as a clown and as a clear-sighted human being.

Some children just can't sit still, juggling looks like so much fun. And it is fun for David Sharps, student at the University of Florida, Gainesville, as he uses his skill to provide entertainment for people of all ages. "Dr. Dave" is pictured above at a show he provided at the Ruth Enlow Library last Thursday.

Card tricks provide a one-to-one rapport with youngsters during "Dr. Dave's" clowning around at the Ruth Enlow Library last week. Very few children exhibit fear of Dave's costume and face, as he uses pastel colors to paint a happy expression on his face and a comic act to make youngsters laugh. In addition, he rivets their attention through the use of juggling, unicycle riding, and pantomime, along with balloon animal sculptures.

Beall To Head Insurance Agency

J. Glenn Beall, Jr., a principal in Beall, Garner, Screen and Geare since its establishment in 1960, has been named president of the Agency.

Announcement of his election was made at an employee dinner Wednesday night following the insurance firm's annual meeting of stockholders. During the course of the dinner, at which staff members from the offices in Cumberland, Frostburg and Oakland were thanked for their services to the agency and its clients, Senator Beall was honored for his record in Washington and welcomed back to an active role in the business.

In expressing his appreciation, Mr. Beall said that he was grateful for the confidence of his associates and looked forward to the challenge of his new duties and a return to participation in the Western Maryland business community. He observed that the unique experiences of a Congressman and Senator left him, as others similarly qualified, with deep obligations and a continuing commitment to the affairs of state and nation.

Agency officers and employees joined in a resolution of esteem and appreciation for the leadership of John E. Geare during his presidency and for the inspiration he would continue to provide as Chairman of the Board of Directors.

Other officers elected include Robert G. Garner, Executive Vice-President; Ronald J. Screen, Treasurer; Coleman P. Brown, II, Vice President; Martha M. Rogan, Secretary; and Frederick J. Hill, Comptroller.

Listen Americans!

by Dr. George S. Benson

PRESIDENT — NATIONAL EDUCATION PROGRAM
Searcy, Arkansas

DEFINING BY NEGATIVES

It is fitting that all Americans celebrate our Bicentennial by a re-examination of what America really is. We have put many great things on paper, and then tried to condense them all into a simple column. We can't get American down on paper that way. Today, we will try by putting down what America is not.

American is not a country which jails its citizens for owning a Bible, holding personal and private faith in God, or attending public worship. America is not a nation which officially penalizes a citizen who does not believe in God or any other deity. The same law which guarantees religious freedom, guarantees freedom from the requirement of having a religious faith.

America is not a country in which political dissent is punished by legal failing or sentencing to death. Political opponents call each other terrible things in the heat of the Primary and sometimes even in the General elections, when it is all over embrace each other on the personal plane while continuing opposition to positions. Resort to violence is not a characteristic of American politics.

America is not a place which jails even its declared enemies for just speaking against the form of government. Communists and socialists are allowed to criticize and even to advocate its overthrow, and we do not touch them until they take overt action to put into effect what they advocate in their speeches. Many Americans believe sincerely that all Presidents who send American soldiers to die in no-win war should be tried for treason, and they declare it without fear of arrest. Many other Americans believe the foreign policy of Kissinger which, often seemingly benefits the Russians and other Communists, is treason, and they are permitted to say so.

Let us be thankful that we are not a nation which will not permit dissent from official policy. America is a nation with more freedom than any other country in the world.

This is why foreigners have not stopped wanting to live here.

Willis To Face Grand Jury For Fatal Shooting

A fatal shooting which occurred in October at Oakmont is among the cases which will be heard on Tuesday, January 11, by the grand jury of the January term of Minera County Circuit Court.

Francis Willis, 40, Oakmont, is being held in the county jail in Keyser in default of $50,000 bond in the fatal shooting October 25 of David Lee Willis, 18, of Elk Garden.

The shooting incident occurred between 5 and 9:30 p.m. and apparently was the outgrowth of an argument at a tavern in Elk Garden which continued at the Willis home in Oakmont.

The victim, who was a freshman at Potomac State College, reportedly was a cousin of the accused man. Willis is reportedly allowed to go to his regular job each day and returns to the jail in Keyser after work.

International "Morality"

Commenting on the importance of stability in northeast Asia, Secretary of Defense Donald Rumsfeld recently made an interesting observation regarding the U.S. attitude toward the internal policies of foreign governments. The subject was South Korea and Rumsfeld readily admitted that South Korea does not practice the same kind of freedom as the United States.

But he said, "As deeply as we believe in freedom, we cannot expect every other nation in the world to be exactly like we are and, among those that aren't like we are, we're going to have to have some kind of relationships."

These remarks were in the context of whether or not to continue military aid to South Korea. Rumsfeld thinks we should. Others, using primarily the argument that South Korea is a dictatorship, argue that we should not.

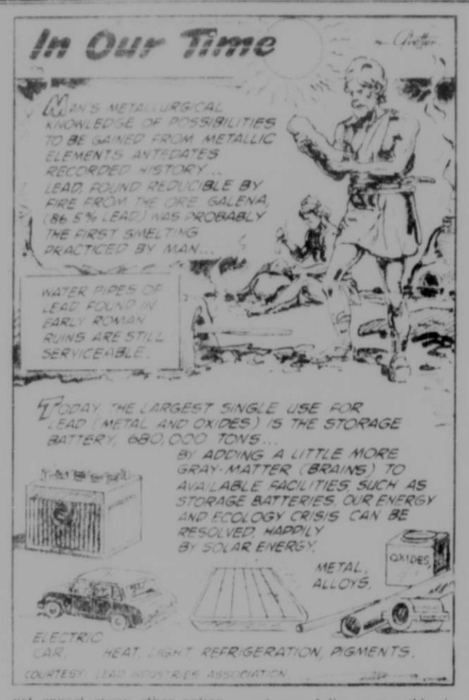

Rumsfeld's point was that we need South Korea as a strong, independent country in northeast Asia. That is more important than whether or not it practices Simon-pure democracy.

The question then is, what happens to the U.S. attitude toward a country's internal policies when it is determined that it is not in the U.S.'s interest to support it? Like Rhodesia or South Africa.

Then we become very critical indeed. Never mind that the governments of these countries are freely elected and are fully responsible to their electorates, even if they are limited to whites only. They are beyond the pale. Then they are indeed expected to be "exactly like we are" — full integration, one-man-one-vote, "majority rule" and so on. They are considered, in fact, to be far more morally repugnant than the most murderous and repressive of communist regimes. Why? Because the U.S. national interest seems to dictate that U.S. policy should cater to the wishes of Black Africa.

The "oppressiveness" of the Thieu regime in South Vietnam did not really become a national preoccupation until the U. S. became war weary and was looking for a good moral excuse to dump him. Suddenly, he became far worse, morally, than the dictatorship in the north which he was fighting. And suppose that the U.S. should now decide that the promotion of good relations with Peking requires the forced absorption of Taiwan into Red China? No doubt we will hear much more about the "oppressive" regime of the Chinese Nationalists.

And so it goes. The U.S. wages a "moral" foreign policy out of strategic conviction, not vice versa. Let's not kid ourselves to the contrary. —U. S. Press Association.

The origin of the toasting tradition is lost somewhere in antiquity, although we do know the source of the word, "toast."

In ancient times, it was custom for the host to pour drinks for himself and his guest, then pour some of the guest's portion into his own cup, to show his good faith and trust. This, simply, because in those times the quickest and most effective method of disposing of a foe or an adversary was to invite him over for a cup of poisoned wine.

"Toasting" began during the time of the Stuarts in England. Morsels of bread were toasted over fire, then dropped into cups of wine or liquor. The dripping pieces were eaten, then each "drank one's toast." Thus "toast" came to mean raising the cup in good faith and cheer.

The "broken glass" toast or the custom of breaking the glass after the toast is made, originated with the English practice of drinking a toast to the queen and throwing the glass into the fireplace. We can only speculate that breaking the glass prevented the possibility of some "unlucky" person spoiling the toast by drinking from the same glass.

Carter's Lesson From Britain

In those stacks of briefing papers being pored over by Jimmy Carter, hopefully there is at least one detailing Great Britain's sad lesson in how not to reform society.

If this has been omitted from his reading material, however, an instructive substitute could be a speech recently given in this country by Dr. Rhodes Boyson, a conservative member of Parliament. Speaking at Brigham Young University in Provo, Utah, Boyson offered these observations on Britain's plight:

Following World War II, key industries in England were taken over by the government — including the steel industry, coal mines, public utilities, and the railroads. "Between 1951 and 1964," said Boyson, "before the major inflation of this decade, the average price rise of the products of the monopoly nationalized industries was 95 percent; yet in private manufacturing industry, the increase averaged only 18 percent.

"Individual liberty has also declined as taxation to finance the inefficiency has cut ever more deeply into free spending power," he added.

The result of socialized business and industry? In medicine it has meant poor standards, long waiting lines for surgery and hospital beds, and flight from the country of many of England's top doctors.

But the biggest cost has been in human freedom. "The path to socialist destruction in Britain," said Boyson, "was prepared by good but ill-advised and ill-judged men and is now passing into the hands of men of destructive envy and hate. The bell of Soviet Russia tolls for us, as ours tolls for you."

Hopefully, the way will yet be opened for our valued ally, Britain, to regain its composure and strength. In the meantime, God forbid that we should follow the same anti-freedom path as a new Democratic team prepares to take over in Washington.

Water Level Low At Elk Garden

Schools in Elk Garden were closed some days this week because of a water problem in that community, near Kitzmiller.

Tanker trucks hauled water to the town's reservoir Monday and Tuesday in efforts to build up the town's water supply. Tanker trucks of the Department of Highways were unable to travel over icy roads to the reservoir without help from a bulldozer belonging to the state.

Schools in Elk Garden were closed Monday and Tuesday because of the low level of water pressure the town water system now maintains.

Only 1½ inches of water from mountain springs are filling the water line, according to Mayor Mrs. Patricia Droppleman, and 2½ inches are needed to provide adequate water pressure.

Residents have been washing clothes in nearby laundrymats, are hauling water to their homes and are switching to wells for water.

A new well which should switch on as the spring water level becomes low, was installed this fall. However, a pump and wiring that facilitates the well's pump to switch on automatically have been out of service.

Youth Jailed After Shooting At Park

A 19-year-old Lanham youth has been charged with the shooting death of his 42-year-old father during a family quarrel two hours before midnight on New Year's Eve at a cabin at Blackwater State Park.

Richard Albert, 42, a retired Navy officer who was employed with the federal government, was shot once in the lower portion of his back with a bullet from a .44 magnum rifle, and was dead on arrival at the Tucker County Hospital, Parsons.

The dead man's son, Richard Edwin Albert, the oldest of the three children, will be arraigned before magistrate James Bowley. Albert is currently lodged in the Tucker County jail at Parsons.

Trooper J. P. Bragg, who assisted in the investigation along with Cpl. M. M. Davisson and Trooper G. W. Hott, said the shooting emerged from a domestic quarrel involving the victim, his wife Myrtle Ann, the accused, a 16-year-old son and 12-year-old daughter, all witnesses to the incident.

The shooting was reported to state police by the park's assistant superintendent. Death was probably caused by internal hemorrhage and was nearly instantaneous.

Three Are Arrested

Members of the sheriff's department arrested three young men this past week on various charges.

Curtis Clary, 19, of Loch Lynn, was arrested January 4 and charged with controlled dangerous substance violations and with motor vehicle violations. At a bond hearing the fourth, his bond was set at $5,000 cash.

On January 5, a bond review hearing was held, and the bond reduced to $250. This was paid and Clary released until a trial.

Roger Keiper, 23, was arrested on January 4 and charged on a two-year-old bench warrant that he failed to make restitution to District Court. He was released on his own recognizance.

Michael Eugene Evans, 18, was arrested January 5 and charged with assault and battery on Kenneth Stinson, Mt. Lake Park, stemming from an incident at the Southern Car Wash on the previous day. A bond hearing for young Evans was scheduled this morning in District Court.

Correction Of Charge

Lonnie Lee Knox, Deep Creek Lake, Swanton, was originally charged with driving while intoxicated in June 1976. At a recent trial, having been postponed twice, Knox pleaded guilty of driving while ability was impaired and fined $150 and costs by Judge Lewis R. Jones in District Court.

In the December 9 issue it had been stated that Knox pleaded guilty of driving or attempting to drive while intoxicated or ability impaired.

TAX REFORM '76
ITS IMPACT ON ESTATES, TRUSTS, AND FINANCIAL PLANNING

Few tax laws will have as far-reaching an impact as the Tax Reform Act of 1976! It's been called the most significant overhaul of the Federal tax structure in a generation.

But the law is more than 1,000 pages long, and full of complexities that may not be resolved for some time. How, then, can people get the facts on how they, their families, and their businesses may be affected by the new law? For starters, many may find our attractive and informative folder, "TAX REFORM '76" to be helpful.

Any actual plans that are made should be done so only in conjunction with a lawyer or other planning adviser. However, "TAX REFORM '76" should give the average person a good idea as to the points to be explored further.

To get your FREE copy of this most informative folder, stop in at any one of our eight bank offices and ask for:

Listen Americans!

by Dr. George S. Benson
PRESIDENT — NATIONAL EDUCATION PROGRAM
Searcy, Arkansas

DEFINING BY NEGATIVES

It is fitting that all Americans celebrate our Bicentennial by a re-examination of what America really is. We have put many great things on paper, and then tried to condense them all into a simple column. We can't get American down on paper that way. Today, we will try by putting down what America is not.

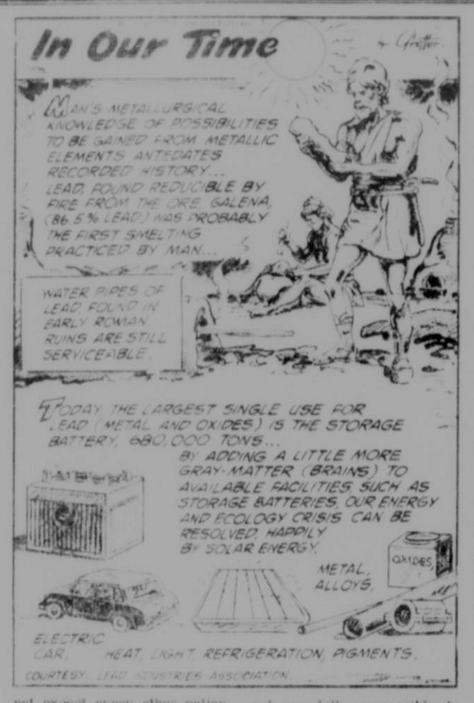

American is not a country which jails its citizens for owning a Bible, holding personal and private faith in God, or attending public worship. America is not a nation which officially penalizes a citizen who does not believe in God or any other deity. The same law which guarantees religious freedom, guarantees freedom from the requirement of having a religious faith.

America is not a country in which political dissent is punished by legal failing or sentencing to death. Political opponents call each other terrible things in the heat of the Primary and sometimes even in the General elections, when it is all over embrace each other on the personal plane while continuing opposition to positions. Resort to violence is not a characteristic of American politics.

America is not a place which jails even its declared enemies for just speaking against the form of government. Communists and socialists are allowed to criticize and even to advocate its overthrow, and we do not touch them until they take overt action to put into effect what they advocate in their speeches. Many Americans believe sincerely that all Presidents who send American soldiers to die in no-win war should be tried for treason, and they declare it without fear of arrest. Many other Americans believe the foreign policy of Kissinger which, often seemingly benefits the Russians and other Communists, is treason, and they are permitted to say so.

Let us be thankful that we are not a nation which will not permit dissent from official policy. America is a nation with more freedom than any other country in the world.

This is why foreigners have not stopped wanting to live here.

The origin of the toasting tradition is lost somewhere in antiquity, although we do know the source of the word, "toast."

In ancient times, it was custom for the host to pour drinks for himself and his guest, then pour some of the guest's portion into his own cup, to show his good faith and trust. This, simply, because in those times the quickest and most effective method of disposing of a foe or an adversary was to invite him over for a cup of poisoned wine.

"Toasting" began during the time of the Stuarts in England. Morsels of bread were toasted over fire, then dropped into cups of wine or liquor. The dripping pieces were eaten, then each "drank one's toast." Thus, "toast" came to mean raising the cup in good faith and cheer.

The "broken glass" toast, or the custom of breaking the glass after the toast is made, originated with the English practice of drinking a toast to the queen and throwing the glass into the fireplace. We can only speculate that breaking the glass prevented the possibility of some "unlucky" person spoiling the toast by drinking from the same glass.

Carter's Lesson From Britain

In those stacks of briefing papers being pored over by Jimmy Carter, hopefully there is at least one detailing Great Britain's sad lesson in how not to reform society.

If this has been omitted from his reading material, however, an instructive substitute could be a speech recently given in this country by Dr. Rhodes Boyson, a conservative member of Parliament. Speaking at Brigham Young University in Provo, Utah, Boyson offered these observations on Britain's plight:

Following World War II, key industries in England were taken over by the government — including the steel industry, coal mines, public utilities, and the railroads. "Between 1951 and 1964," said Boyson, "before the major inflation of this decade, the average price rise of the products of the monopoly nationalized industries was 95 percent; yet in private manufacturing industry, the increase averaged only 18 percent.

"Individual liberty has also declined as taxation to finance the inefficiency has cut ever more deeply into free spending power," he added.

The result of socialized business and industry? In medicine it has meant poor standards, long waiting lines for surgery and hospital beds, and flight from the country of many of England's top doctors.

But the biggest cost has been in human freedom. "The path to socialist destruction in Britain," said Boyson, "was prepared by good but ill-advised and ill-judged men and is now passing into the hands of men of destructive envy and hate. The bell of Soviet Russia tolls for us, as ours tolls for you."

Hopefully, the way will yet be opened for our valued ally, Britain, to regain its composure and strength. In the meantime, God forbid that we should follow the same anti-freedom path as a new Democratic team prepares to take over in Washington.

Taiwan into Red China? No doubt we will hear much more about the "oppressive" regime of the Chinese Nationalists.

And so it goes. The U.S. wages a "moral" foreign policy out of strategic conviction, not vice versa. Let's not kid ourselves to the contrary. —U. S. Press Association.

the Department has to adopt them under emergency procedures, without the normal public notice and public hearings.

Rules adopted by the Joint Standing Committee on Administrative and Executive Review, which reviews proposed regulations, places a maximum 120 day life on all emergency regulations. The Department will proceed to adopt these deep mine regulations under normal procedures within the 120 day period according to Harry B. Buckley, of the Department of Mines.

Willis To Face Grand Jury For Fatal Shooting

A fatal shooting which occurred in October at Oakmont is among the cases which will be heard on Tuesday, January 11, by the grand jury of the January term of Minera County Circuit Court.

Francis Willis, 40, Oakmont, is being held in the county jail in Keyser in default of $50,000 bond in the fatal shooting October 25 of David Lee Willis, 18, of Elk Garden.

The shooting incident occurred between 9 and 9:30 p.m. and apparently was the outgrowth of an argument at a tavern in Elk Garden which continued at the Willis home in Oakmont.

The victim, who was a freshman at Potomac State College, reportedly was a cousin of the accused man. Willis is reportedly allowed to go to his regular job each day and returns to the jail in Keyser after work.

International "Morality"

Commenting on the importance of stability in northeast Asia, Secretary of Defense Donald Rumsfeld recently made an interesting observation regarding the U.S. attitude toward the internal policies of foreign governments. The subject was South Korea and Rumsfeld readily admitted that South Korea does not practice the same kind of freedom as the United States.

But he said, "As deeply as we believe in freedom, we cannot expect every other nation in the world to be exactly like we are and, among those that aren't like we are, we're going to have to have some kind of relationships."

These remarks were in the context of whether or not to continue military aid to South Korea. Rumsfeld thinks we should. Others, using primarily the argument that South Korea is a dictatorship, argue that we should not.

Rumsfeld's point was that we need South Korea as a strong, independent country in northeast Asia. That is more important than whether or not it practices Simon-pure democracy.

The question then is, what happens to the U.S. attitude toward a country's internal policies when it is determined that it is not in the U.S.'s interest to support it? Like Rhodesia or South Africa.

Then we become very critical indeed. Never mind that the governments of these countries are freely elected and are fully responsible to their electorates, even if they are limited to whites only. They are beyond the pale. Then they are indeed expected to be "exactly like we are" — full integration, one-man-one-vote, "majority rule" and so on. They are considered, in fact, to be far more morally repugnant than the most murderous and repressive of communist regimes. Why? Because the U.S. national interest seems to dictate that U.S. policy should cater to the wishes of Black Africa.

The "oppressiveness" of the Thieu regime in South Vietnam did not really become a national preoccupation until the U. S. became war weary and was looking for a good moral excuse to dump him. Suddenly, he became far worse, morally, than the dictatorship in the north which he was fighting. And suppose that the U.S. should now decide that the promotion of good relations with Peking requires the forced absorption of Schools in Elk Garden were closed some days this week because of a water problem in that community, near Kitzmiller.

Tanker trucks hauled water to the town's reservoir Monday and Tuesday in efforts to build up the town's water supply. Tanker trucks of the Department of Highways were unable to travel over icy roads to the reservoir without help from a bulldozer belonging to the state.

Schools in Elk Garden were closed Monday and Tuesday because of the low level of water pressure the town water system now maintains.

Only 1½ inches of water from mountain springs are filling the water line, according to Mayor Mrs. Patricia Droppleman, and 2½ inches are needed to provide adequate water pressure.

Residents have been washing clothes in nearby laundrymats, are hauling water to their homes and are switching to wells for water.

A new well which should switch on as the spring water level becomes low, was installed this fall. However, a pump and wiring that facilitates the well's pump to switch on automatically have been out of service.

Youth Jailed After Shooting At Park

A 19-year-old Lanham youth has been charged with the shooting death of his 42-year-old father during a family quarrel two hours before midnight on New Year's Eve at a cabin at Blackwater State Park.

Richard Albert, 42, a retired Navy officer who was employed with the federal government, was shot once in the lower portion of his back with a bullet from a .44 magnum rifle, and was dead on arrival at the Tucker County Hospital, Parsons.

The dead man's son, Richard Edwin Albert, the oldest of the three children, will be arraigned before magistrate James Bowley. Albert is currently lodged in the Tucker County jail at Parsons.

Trooper J. P. Bragg, who assisted in the investigation along with Cpl. M. M. Davisson and Trooper G. W. Hott, said the shooting emerged from a domestic quarrel involving the victim, his wife Myrtle Ann, the accused, a 16-year-old son and 12-year-old daughter, all witnesses to the incident.

The shooting was reported to state police by the park's assistant superintendent. Death was probably caused by internal hemorrhage and was nearly instantaneous.

Three Are Arrested

Members of the sheriff's department arrested three young men this past week on various charges.

Curtis Clary, 19, of Loch Lynn, was arrested January 4 and charged with controlled dangerous substance violations and with motor vehicle violations. At a bond hearing the fourth, his bond was set at $5,000 cash.

On January 5, a bond review hearing was held, and the bond reduced to $250. This was paid and Clary released until a trial.

Roger Keiper, 23, was arrested on January 4 and charged on a two-year-old bench warrant that he failed to make restitution to District Court. He was released on his own recognizance.

Michael Eugene Evans, 18, was arrested January 5 and charged with assault and battery on Kenneth Stinson, Mt. Lake Park, stemming from an incident at the Southern Car Wash on the previous day. A bond hearing for young Evans was scheduled this morning in District Court.

Correction Of Charge

Lonnie Lee Knox, Deep Creek Lake, Swanton, was originally charged with driving while intoxicated in June 1976. At a recent trial, having been postponed twice, Knox pleaded guilty of driving while ability was impaired and fined $150 and costs by Judge Lewis R. Jones in District Court.

In the December 9 issue it had been stated that Knox pleaded guilty of driving or attempting to drive while intoxicated or ability impaired.

TAX REFORM '76
ITS IMPACT ON ESTATES, TRUSTS, AND FINANCIAL PLANNING

Few tax laws will have as far-reaching an impact as the Tax Reform Act of 1976! It's been called the most significant overhaul of the Federal tax structure in a generation.

But the law is more than 1,000 pages long, and full of complexities that may not be resolved for some time. How, then, can people get the facts on how they, their families, and their businesses may be affected by the new law? For starters, many may find our attractive and informative folder, "TAX REFORM '76" to be helpful.

Any actual plans that are made should be done so only in conjunction with a lawyer or other planning adviser. However, "TAX REFORM '76" should give the average person a good idea as to the points to be explored further.

New Year 1977

BY M.D. DOHERTY

Mary Blanford knocked on the bathroom door. "John, will you please hurry up? You must get dressed; the baby-sitter will be here any moment and I still have to powder my nose."

Something resembling a grunt responded from the other side of the door.

Mary checked the clothing she had placed on the bed for her husband. Everything was still there: shirt, tie, cuff links, socks. "Please, John, be ready so we can leave the minute the Brown girl arrives. I am chairman of the New Year party, you know. I must be there on time. Where can that girl be? Mabel Sanders said that she was most reliable. She's late now. Certainly, if something has happened, she would call and tell me. John, aren't you ready to finish dressing yet?"

John Blanford came through the doorway. "S'alright, s'right. I'll be ready before you can powder down that cute little mole on the tip of your nose. Just like magic, ali-kazaam and ali-kazoo, and I'll still be ready long before you."

"O.K., then all I'll have to worry about is the baby sitter. Mabel told me she was reliable, trustworthy and punctual. Then, where is she? It's five before eight, and . . ."

Visitor

The chimes of the door bell stopped her in mid-sentence. She hurried through the living room and opened the front door. A petite blonde of perhaps 16 stood there.

Mrs. Blanford: I . . . I know. I know. Where in the world have you been? We're late now. Come in, come in, and put down whatever it is you are carrying there on the desk. I'll show you Chip's room and where his things are in case you should need something.

But, Mrs. Blanford, you don't understand. I am . . .

Your late, child, that's what you are, but it doesn't matter. Come along, now. Here is the room. The diapers and things you may need are there. A fresh bottle is in the refrigerator should he awaken, and I guess that's about it. John, John, aren't you ready to go yet?"

But, Mrs. Blanford, please . . .

"No other problems, dear. I have written down the number of the club. You'll find it on the pad by the telephone. Don't hesitate to call us, but call us only if it is important. John, John, what in the world are you doing?"

I'm here, dear, at the door waiting for you just like I said.

All Alone

The blonde girl stood there long after they were gone, mouth open. Then, she went to the phone. "Mother? Yes, it's me. I am at the Blanfords. They have gone out and I am baby-sitting. I don't know. I'll call you when they return."

She put down the phone, looked casually into the room where the child was sleeping. She went into the kitchen, checked the refrigerator. The bottle was there, as promised. So were several pieces of cold chicken. The girl chose a couple of choice pieces, then retired to the livingroom. Might as well enjoy herself. Maybe there was something good on TV.

The Blanfords came home early as promised.

Exit

The girl, coat in hand, was already at the front door. She said "good night" and was gone.

Mary Blanford looked at her husband. "How odd . . . oh well." She picked up the note. "John, listen to this: 'telephone call, 8:10 P.M. from Jean Brown. Sorry, mother sick, cannot babysit. Unable to call sooner. P.S. Your baby sitter, Jane Cantley, your NEW next-door neighbor who really came to borrow a cup of sugar. Hope you had a gay evening and a most Happy New Year.'"

The Heritage of Our Past. The Challenge of Our Future

We begin a new year this week. A new Congress takes office, and a very few days later a new President and a new administration will come into being. So it is a time of decision, and at every time of decision in our history, we've been ready to pay the cost of the sacrifice required of us because we've had faith in our destiny as a nation. We have believed that our experiment in democracy was in fact the last best hope for mankind. Today, we stand at the threshold of our 3rd century as a nation, firm in the knowledge that in the entire history of the world there has been no people more blessed than we. The Bicentennial year summoned us to reflect on our past and quickened us to the richness of our heritage and the magnitude of our achievements.

In the two hundred years of our history, we Americans have added unprecedented new dimensions to the dignity of man.

We have explored avenues of freedom undreamed of before.

We've tamed a continent and a wilderness.

We've opened up the world and the universe. We have walked on the moon and we've landed space craft on Mars.

We have built cities more fabulous than Babylon, and we have nurtured people with the vision and the vigor to transform the world.

Each step of the way we've been mindful of beneficient providence, grateful of the blessings heaped upon us and upon our land.

Each step of the way we have been ready to pay the cost of any sacrifice demanded.

Today, as we face the prismatic complexities of the twenty-first Century, we have to ask ourselves whether we're ready to pay for the sacrifices that the future will require of us individually, and as a nation, if we are to remain the best hope of mankind.

We must make opportunity a reality for close to eight million jobless people in America.

We must rebuild our cities and make them safe.

We must rejuvenate our schools so that our children not only learn, but learn to enjoy learning.

We must purify our waters and our air.

We must scale down our consumption and raise up our concern for our ecosystem.

We must improve the quality of life for all Americans.

We have a duty to the future to do these things. They will require sacrifices which we must be prepared to pay.

But most important of all . . . and this will cost the most because it will involve our bone and marrow, our spirit and our fibre . . . we must dedicate ourselves, heart and soul, to realizing for all Americans the full blessings of the unalienable rights with which their creator endowed them.

When we have truly done this, then we will have fulfilled the pledges of our revolutionary forbears and will indeed have established a new order for the ages. It's a tall bill for this new year, but it is within our grasp, and we have to make the try.

Have a good and happy New Year.

Ten Killed On State Roads

Ten persons lost their lives on Maryland Highways, according to the weekly news release compiled by 2nd Lt. M. I. Morgan of the Maryland State Police. Of those killed four were drivers, four were passengers and two were pedestrians.

Four of the deaths in the opinion of the investigating officer could have possibly been prevented had seat belts been in use.

The year 1976 ended with a minus (-23) as compared with the previous year. A wider margin was hoped for; but with the start of the new year, optimism is being expressed for a far better showing at the end of 1977. This will require the combined efforts of all Maryland Drivers, Lt. Morgan noted.

When the car ahead passes an easily remembered spot, start counting "one thousand one, one thousand two," and count until you also pass that spot. If you have not reached the count of three by then, you are too close for safety – at any speed. This three-second interval is normally a minimum safe distance.

Persons killed through December 31 totaled 668, compared to 691 for the same period last year.

The B-1 Bomber

The Ford administration's decision to go forward with production contracts on the B-1 bomber is the only correct choice under the military circumstances now facing the United States. Any government which recognizes its primary responsibility to protect its citizens from foreign attack could do no less.

Mr. Ford is inevitably criticized by the anti-defense establishment for trying to prejudice the decision of the incoming Carter administration on whether or not to go forward with the B-1. Why not leave everything on ice until the new president can make his own determination about our defense requirements?

No. Such a do-nothing course of action in its last days would be a disservice to the nation by the departing leadership. The need for the B-1 has been overwhelmingly demonstrated by the nature of the Soviet strategic military build-up. Russia is straining its industrial capacity to the utmost to develop one new weapons system after another across the entire spectrum of military power. This build-up has long since passed beyond any rational assumption that is purely defensive. It is unmistakably aimed at what the Soviets themselves call "visible military preponderance."

As Paul Nitze, former Deputy Secretary of Defense, put it in a recent radio interview with the American Security Council, "there is a danger that, in the future, they will achieve that goal unless we promptly do more about preventing them from so doing. We believe that the American public does not want to see the United States with the Russians having visible military preponderance at all levels of military strength."

We think Mr. Nitze's assessment is correct. The B-1 bomber is required as a replacement for America's aging B-52 bomber fleet and as a political counterweight to the Soviets' new bomber, the intercontinental "Backfire."

We hope that President-elect Carter will agree with his predecessor's decision.

To Show Movies

Movies to be presented at the Ruth Enlow Library in Oakland on Saturday, January 8, are: "Hang Your Hat on the Wind," "Riot on Ice" and "Morris the Midget Moose."

Movies are available from the library for home use also. 8mm and 16mm films, filmstrips and slides along with projectors for showing them may be borrowed for evenings of family fun, according to Miss Edith Brock, librarian.

Cotton Mill Sparked Development of U.S. Industry

The year 1790 is remembered chiefly as the time when the Constitution was adopted and the American colonies became the United States of America.

But the National Cotton Council notes it also marked the arrival in this country of a 21-year-old emigrant whose genius sparked the birth of the nation's first genuine factory and established the pattern for America's industrial growth.

Samuel Slater before his death was to be hailed by President Andrew Jackson as "The Father of American Manufacture."

As a 14-year-old boy in England, Slater began apprenticeship in the first textile mill that was completely equipped with Richard Arkwright's newly invented water-powered system of cotton processing.

Developing into an expert machinist, he was attracted to America by advertisements for men who could build Arkwright spinning equipment.

Although British law forbade machinists to leave the country, young Slater disguised himself as a farmer and came to the United States. Manufacturing in America was at that time limited to handmade goods for domestic use.

Slater soon entered into a partnership agreement with Moses Brown and William Almy in Pawtucket, R.I. Under the agreement's terms, he was to construct and operate Arkwright's spinning machines at a wage of $1 a day plus half of any profits.

By a remarkable feat of memory, Slater within a few months had reproduced the equipment that transformed raw cotton into finished yarn of superior quality. The machinery was set up in Carpenter's Clothier Shop in Pawtucket and was soon producing sufficient yarn to allow the firm's expansion. In 1793, the firm established what is now known as the Old Slater Mill.

Slater's ability to put several machines together and drive them by river power to produce a continuous stream of yarn was of great value in the closing days of the 18th Century. He also initiated the practice of keeping an inventory stock of textile yarns. While other spinners did not start up their cotton machinery until they had orders in hand, Slater studied the market to discover the most popular yarns and kept a stock of those items so he could beat competition with more earlier delivery.

He later built other mills in Rhode Island, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, and Connecticut, and his ideas inspired others to invent and build machinery for other types of factories.

Although Slater once said he averaged 16 hours' work daily during his first 20 years in America, he found time for other pursuits. He was a distinguished lay member of the Episcopal Church, a noted philanthropist, a bank president, and the man whom some credit with starting the first Sunday School in America. In addition, Slater derived pleasure from his farm.

Today, Old Slater Mill at Pawtucket is considered the birthplace of industry in the United States. Operated as a textile museum, it contains replicas of Slater's original machines which are now in the Smithsonian at Washington.

BIRTHPLACE OF INDUSTRY. America's first genuine factory where goods were mass-produced on a sophisticated machinery run by waterpower was the Old Slater Mill. Built on the Blackstone River in Pawtucket, R.I., in 1793, it was not only the first successful U.S. cotton mill, but also established the pattern for development of other industries in America.

Home Financing Funds Available

The Garrett County Housing Office has been notified that the Maryland Home Financing Program is again receiving applications for direct home mortgage loans. The Maryland Community Development Administration has a small amount of funds available, and will process applications on a first-come, first-served basis, according to County Housing Coordinator Deborah Lawton.

Miss Lawton explained that applications which cannot be approved now, because of the limited funding, will be kept on file in the hope that additional mortgage funds will be available from the State early in 1977.

Information about the Maryland Home Financing Program, and assistance in completing the applications, can be obtained from Miss Lawton at the County Housing Office, Room 203 in the McLaughlin Building, Oakland.

Lee And Friend Nuptials Held

Wedding vows were exchanged Saturday, October 23, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon by Miss Eugenia Friend and William H. Lee, at Grace Lutheran church in Friendsville.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. William E. Carlson, pastor. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Eugene Friend, Friendsville. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arlie Johnston, of Oakland.

Given in marriage by her parents and escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore an ivory double knit floor length gown, fashioned with an empire waistline accented with embroidered organdy lace. The front seams were also enhanced with the lace trim. The long pointed cuffs were trimmed with small pearl buttons fastened with self material loops. A chapel length train was fastened at the waistline, falling into deep folds. The bride's gown was fashioned by her mother. The finger tip veil was attached to a cathedral cap of ivory lace trimmed with seed pearls.

The bride carried a bouquet of white carnations, centered with a white princess orchid. Her only jewelry was her grandmother's diamond earrings.

Mrs. Christina Duckworth served as her sister's matron of honor. She wore a floor length gown of emerald green double knit polyester crepe, designed with a sweetheart neckline and carried a bouquet of yellow mums and white daisies. Her headpiece was a green net cap. Junior bridesmaid was Marylynn Kimble, niece of the groom. She carried a small bouquet of yellow mums and white daisies. Cathy Kimble, niece of the groom, served as ringbearer. She carried an ivory heart shaped pillow with yellow mums and white daisies.

Elizabeth Ann and Carrie Marie Duckworth, nieces of the bride, served as flower girls and carried white fireside baskets of yellow mums and white daisies. Their floor length gowns were of emerald green double knit polyester crepe, accented with white lace. Their head pieces were bows of green and white lace.

The bride's mother chose a pale green floor length jacket dress with a corsage of white carnations and yellow mums. The groom's mother chose a green floor length gown of double knit with a corsage of yellow tinted carnations.

Delegate DeCorsey E. Bolden, Oakland, served as best man. Ushers were Allen C. Duckworth, brother-in-law of the bride, and Daniel D. Bray, friend of the groom. The father of the bride, best man and ushers wore black tuxedos with white shirts and gray and black striped ties.

Traditional wedding music was furnished by Patty Ault. A reception followed immediately after the ceremony at Point View Inn lounge. The wedding cake was given in honor of the couple by Mr. and Mrs. DeCorsey Bolden.

Mrs. Phyllis Bolden registered guests and attended the gift table.

Prior to the wedding the bride was honored with a personal shower given by Mrs. Bolden.

The bride is a graduate of Northern High school and was formerly employed by Deer Park Spring Water as a laboratory technician. The groom is a graduate of Southern High school and is employed by Island Creek Coal Company. The couple is residing at 107 Roanoke avenue, Loch Lynn Heights.

INTRODUCING A "DIET" THAT'S EASIER TO SWALLOW.

And easier to follow.

The new Weight Watchers Food Plan is full of things like corn on the cob, cheeseburgers, real cocoa, milkshakes and more. All within limits, of course. And you can enjoy them no matter how much weight you've got to lose.

But since Weight Watchers is more than a diet, we've also made our new Program more flexible. Simpler to learn. Easier to follow. It's all easy to find out. At a Weight Watchers meeting near you.

Several Accidents Mar New Year

The year 1977 already has several motor vehicle accidents chalked up, three occurring on the first day of the new year.

In the last half hour of 1976, Russell Clarence Uphold, Jr., 20, of Grantsville, was operating a 1972 Ford pickup northbound on Zehner Road when he lost control of the truck on the icy road, and skidded into a utility pole. Tfc. E. J. Upole, who investigated, made no charges in the incident.

Two passengers in the car, Carl B. Scarlett and Sammy B. Scarlett, both Ursina, Pa., were not injured in the mishap.

At 4 a.m. January 1, Joseph Carlos DeWitt, Loch Lynn, was operating a 1977 Ford pickup southbound on Route 560 when the truck careened off the road on the right, struck a utility pole, then crossed the roadway and drove off the left side, skidded briefly back on the road, struck a fence on the left side and then re-crossed the highway to come to a stop in a snowbank on the right side.

With DeWitt in the truck at the time was the owner of the vehicle, Marvin E. White, Deer Park, who was not injured.

Tfc. C. H. Hinnant investigated and charged DeWitt with driving while ability was impaired, having no driver's license, and reckless driving.

At 11:10 a.m. on the first day of the new year, Mary Kathryn Wolfe, Oakland, was stopped in the northbound lane of Route 219 in a 1970 Chevelle, waiting to make a left turn.

Denzil Alec Parsons, Brookpark, Ohio, in a 1976 Ford LTD, apparently failed to control the speed of his vehicle and struck the Wolfe car in the rear. Tfc. Larry Rosage charged Parsons with failing to control his speed.

Another two-car collision was logged that day at 3:40 on Route 40. According to the state police report, David L. Wright, Elyria, Ohio, was operating an AMC Hornet following a car driven by Roger Floyd Smith, who was signaling a right turn. Snow on the rear bumper blocked visibility of the flashing light, so that when Mr. Wright spotted the turn signal, he swerved to the left, into the path of a car operated by Carl Bender, Jr., Addison, Pa. The vehicles collided headon.

Judy Kay Wright, Romney, W. Va., was the owner and a passenger in the Wright car, while in the Bender vehicle were Phyllis Bender, Jerry Lee Bender and Terry Scott Bender. No injuries were recorded on the police report filed by Tfc. R. C. George who made no charges in the incident.

On January 3, at 6:55 p.m., Steven Cox Barbour, Buckhannon, W. Va., was proceeding east on Route 48 about .3 of a mile from Pig's Ear Road when a deer came across the median strip into his path. The animal was struck by the front of the car.

Tfc. J. E. Foley investigated the incident but made no charges. There were no injuries reported to either the operator of the 1975 Dodge Econoline or his passenger, Jan VanBerHam, Parkridge, New Jersey.

An accident was recorded on the Oakland-Sang Run Road at 2:15 p.m. January 4. Kenneth Boyd Sukow, 22, Accident, was southbound when his vehicle met another on a sharp curve and the vehicles sideswiped. Operator of the second car was Robert Henry Tusing, Route 5, Oakland, in a 1969 Chevrolet. Sukow was operating a 1974 International truck owned by Bauer Home Center, Oakland.

Tfc. Larry Rosage investigated but made no charges against either driver as the roadway was snowcovered and slippery.

At 8:15 a.m. on January 5, Richard Earle Jessup, Oakland, was westbound on Old Route 135 and attempted to turn right into the driveway of Southern High School when his 1967 Chevrolet slid on the snowy roadway and lightly struck a 1969 Buick operated by Cecil Cline Hahn, Mt. Lake Park.

Tfc. Rosage made no charges in the incident. Passengers in the Jessup car, Kathy Livengood, Mary Livengood, and Tammie Ruff, were not injured in the collision.

Blue Cross Loses Bid To Hike Rates

Blue Cross and Blue Shield's proposal to almost double the cost of medical coverage for 147,000 elderly Marylanders was rejected last Friday by the state insurance commissioner.

In a two-page decision Edward J. Birrane, Jr., commissioner, said the health insurer's request for an 83.2 percent increase would have unfairly burdened the aged.

He suggested that any future rate increase for the elderly be subsidized by all 1.5 million Blue Cross and Blue Shield group subscribers in the state.

Blue Cross and Blue Shield had wanted to raise monthly premiums for the elderly from the current $5.34 to $9.78.

While he turned that request down, Birrane allowed the firm to increase monthly Medicare supplemental coverage by 64 cents because of a change in federal policy on deductible hospital charges.

Park Roads, Roof Bids To Be Opened

The state is seeking bids on a road and roof projects for parks in the Maryland parks system.

Swallow Falls State Park contracts are to resurface the camping loop at an estimated cost of $8,000, and the other is also for camping loop road resurfacing at the same cost.

The state plans to have a new roof placed on the recreation building at New Germany State Park at an estimated cost of $4,000.

Bids on the Swallow Falls contracts were to be opened January 4, while the New Germany bids will be opened January 28.

Health Department Offers Therapy To Students

One of the services available through the Garrett County Health Department is Occupational Therapy, which provides services to individuals whose ability to cope with the tasks of living has been impaired through illness, injury, the aging process or developmental problems.

Typical services available include consultation for nursing home activity programs; developmental programs and selection of assistive devices for handicapped children; developmental evaluations and guidance in infant stimulation activities. Activities are arranged to improve the functional performance of adults disabled through strokes or other causes. All activities with children or adults are focused on assisting the individual to find his or her way into physical and emotional independence.

Acquiring hand skills seems like fun for the children in the primary special education class at Dennett Road School thanks to the combined efforts of the Garrett County Health Department and the Board of Education. Above, Mrs. Charity Janssen, occupational therapist, and Mrs. Regina Stork, teacher, offer advice and encouragement to Liz Terrant, Johnny Keefer, Randy Harvey, Teresa Glaze, Mike Perry, Mike Lewis. Not pictured is Tammy Simon.

These special education students from Dennett Road School are enjoying a weekly session of developmental activities provided by the Occupational Therapy service of the Garrett County Health Department, in cooperation with the Board of Education. The children, under the guidance of Mrs. Charity Janssen, right, are developing eye-hand coordination and muscle control necessary for later vocational education. Other adults pictured are Mrs. Pat McBee, aide, and Mrs. Regina Stork, teacher of the primary special education class. Mrs. Stork and Mrs. McBee continue these activities taught by Mrs. Janssen each day to help the children develop coordination.

Steve Liller added 11 points for Southern while Steve Ritchie and Fred Griffith tallied ten each. Todd Liller also had 4 for the winners.

The Rams actually won the game at the foul line where they converted 12 of 19 attempts compared to a six for 21 showing by Beall. The Mounties outgunned Southern from the field by a 26 to 25 margin.

Four Beall players also finished in double figures, led by Arnone with 17. Blank had 14, Stephens 11, Bryon Arnone ten, Lewellyn 4 and Walles 2.

Commissioners And Congressman Have Conference

Congressman Goodloe Byron met with Commissioners Wayne Hamilton, Don Bender and George Edwards Monday to discuss issues of mutual concern and ways in which the former could assist the county.

Commissioners pointed out that they felt that U.S. 48, from Cumberland to Hancock, should be completed to provide a continuous transportation link from the county to the Baltimore-Washington areas.

Congressman Byron agreed to the value of the project and promised support in the Congress. In addition they concurred in the need for continued Federal aid to education and that it should not be reduced. The Congressman promised to investigate whether or not Federal funds were available to repair county roads damaged by heavy coal truck traffic.

The Commissioners this week conducted a public hearing to evaluate projects to be included in the county's HUD block grant. A delegation of citizens from Finzel area, representing Volunteer fire department, Senior Citizens clubs, Boy Scouts, Ladies' Auxiliary and other civic groups in that area, requested that commissioners include approximately $15,000 in the grant to expand the Finzel community building.

Dr. Eileen Steele and Ralph Arnold, speaking for the group of 15 citizens, pointed out that with so many different area activities, scheduling had become very difficult and that the $15,000 requested would enable the group using its own labor and resources, to purchase materials sufficient to enlarge the building. Commissioners concurred and unanimously voted to include the Finzel community building project in the block grant for this year. Other projects included on the program are a chlorinator for Shallmar, a Housing Rehabilitation project, a housing site potential study for Gorman, a downtown Oakland street project and the Mt. Top Civic Center project.

Unusual Mishap Injures Two

Dr. John Kolb, Raleigh, N. C., and his father, Elmer Kolb, Accident, were injured in an unusual accident on New Year's Eve, on Memorial Drive when a car of Mrs. Willard Ann Coker, of Plymouth, Mich., was rammed by a car driven by Terri Steyer, of Deer Park.

Mrs. Coker was visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard O. Glotfelty and planned to drive into Oakland. Her car stalled. Dr. and Mrs. John Kolb, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Kolb, were heading for the Glotfeltys for dinner and while the Mrs. Kolbs went into the house Elmer and John prepared to use a jump cable to start Mrs. Coker's car. Elmer Kolb was in Mrs. Coker's car and John was at the rear of his car getting the items needed to start the stalled auto. Terri Steyer, heading for Oakland endeavored to stop, but skidded on the ice and struck the Coker car which was then pushed into Dr. Kolb's car, which then struck him.

Elmer Kolb sustained numerous bruises and was admitted to Garrett County Memorial hospital where he was released Monday. Dr. John Kolb sustained a broken left leg which was placed in a cast and he was then released from the hospital. He and his family returned to Raleigh Wednesday. Mrs. Coker's car was demolished while the Steyer and Kolb cars were badly damaged. Mrs. Coker returned to Plymouth with her father's auto.

APPRAISAL SERVICE

Faculty Forum

By Kristin Milne
Garrett County
Teachers Association

Becoming involved in the teaching profession requires one virtue above all others: patience. Teachers come equipped with a variable amount of this personal essence, but all things considered, one could readily understand why even the patience of Job is sometimes inadequate when it comes to dealing with spit wads, lost textbooks, late assignments, and a multitude of homespun excuses for those misplaced lessons. No one ever promised that the job would be an easy one.

One gentleman who has been a member of the teaching profession for 36 years, and an inspiration to many others who have either studied under or worked with him, is also a member of the clergy. There is some underlying message here, to be sure, but its precise impact rests largely on personal interpretation. As a teacher, I am confident in offering my understanding that there are indeed some days which require more wisdom and patience than are usually inherent within the human soul.

Nevertheless, the salvation of minds and souls would seem to be an awesome task for one person to undertake, but Mr. Berlin Wilhelm has shouldered the responsibility with amazing ease and, yes, grace.

Wilhelm was born on a farm in Preston County, near Cranesville, West Virginia. He attended both elementary and high schools in Terra Alta, receiving his high school diploma in 1937.

From high school, he continued his education at Fairmont State College in West Virginia, majoring in Elementary Education. He did not complete his four-year course of study in the time allotted but began teaching before his graduation on a provisional two-year certificate, which has since been discontinued in that state.

His teaching career began with a series of one-room schoolhouses. The first year of teaching was spent in the Locust Grove School in Brookeville; then two years were spent in the Kelly-Laurel Glen School. The following five years were located in Cranesville. By the conclusion of his fifth year in Cranesville, he had earned his AB degree (1948) by spending summer vacations in Fairmont State College. All of these one-room schools housed grades 1 - 8, and beginning in 1950 they were gradually phased out.

After spending nearly nine years in one-room schools, Wilhelm was assigned a position in the Terra Alta Elementary School where he taught for four years. He recalls one student in his fourth grade class, Lynn Fraley, who is now a fellow faculty member this year.

From Terra Alta Elementary, Mr. Wilhelm was transferred to Corinth (Preston County) where he spent nine years in another elementary school as both instructor and principal. By 1962, he had completed studies toward a Masters' degree in Education Supervision Administration which qualified him for the role of principal.

The assignment in Corinth was his final one in West Virginia. He was given a position in Southern Junior — Senior High School where he taught social studies for 14 years. This year he maintains the same teaching capacity but in Southern Middle School.

Mr. Wilhelm married Cortie Waybright of Charleston, West Virginia, in 1957. She is a teacher of psychology and business at Southern High School. They have one son, John Martin, a junior at Terra Alta High School. The family resides in Cranesville.

Wilhelm's four-year study in religion began in 1956 in the Wesley Seminary in Washington, D. C. He was ordained a Deacon in 1958 after completing two years' study. His Elder's Orders were received in 1960.

He was assigned to the United Methodist Church in Newburg, West Virginia, and assumed this position for 20 years. The most recent United Methodist Conference assigned him a new charge: the Faith and Lake Ford United Methodist Churches near Cranesville. The combined membership which he oversees totals 110.

One of the greatest of many contributions Wilhelm and his family have made to the church is through the Methodist Youth Fellowship. While still presiding over the Newburg Charge, he developed part of the land he owns in Cranesville into a summer camp for MYF members. Working with a Sunday School Class of 10 members, the camp was established. Over the course of several summers and through the generous contributions of time, money, and materials, the camp has become a major, active concern of the Methodist congregation.

An old farm house was renovated and now serves as a dormitory. Another building serves as additional dorm space, classrooms, and chapel. Children from within a 50-mile radius are included in enrollment during the camp's summer sessions. The cost for one week's stay is $5.00. The format of classes offered is much like a 4-H camp with the exception of arts and crafts. Last year's attendance numbered 150 over a three-week duration. The camp also serves as a center for training and study sessions for Sunday School teachers.

Berlin Wilhelm's commitment to both school and church merits some honest praise and acknowledgement. The worlds of education and religion have often been seen at odds with each other, but Mr. Wilhelm has brought them into a close alliance without an obvious superimposing of the two. The values which he emphasizes in one area are equally applied in the other. Perhaps this is the reason for his success in both.

Industrial Gas Users To Be Cut

A further reduction in the amount of natural gas available from its supplier and continued cold temperatures will force Columbia Gas of Maryland to curtail its large volume customers more severely than previously anticipated.

Columbia Gas of Maryland is notifying industrial users that, in compliance with priorities established by the Maryland Public Service Commission, the following levels of curtailment will be imposed beginning January 1:

— 100 percent of all industrial boiler loads; and

— 20 percent of all industrial loads over one million cubic feet per month that can use an alternate fuel.

These levels of curtailment will supersede those announced by the company December 17.

The revised curtailment levels announced today became necessary after the company's principal supplier, the Columbia Gas Transmission Corporation, notified Columbia Gas of Maryland and 85 other companies which it serves in seven states that it would increase its curtailment levels for the remainder of the winter period.

Mt. Top Still Is Plagued By Snow and Cold

The mountain top continues to be plagued by more snow and cold temperatures, with the last fall calculated to be at least eight inches.

Some four inches had fallen up to 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon with flurries still descending.

Temperature during last weekend dropped to the zero mark with some moderation Tuesday and Wednesday.

One snow shower hit the county around 3 p.m. Monday. State Highway Administration had 19 crews out until around 8:30 treating the highways.

During the New Year's holiday period there was additional snow and high winds which caused drifting and extra work for the roads crews both of the county and state. The two big snow blowers were busy Saturday and Sunday clearing up the effects of the storm that began Thursday evening and deposited some five inches.

One way traffic was on state route 38 in two places, 42 in two places, 495 and 560, Mt. Lake Park to Gorman, 669 from Grantsville to Springs, U.S. 40 east of Red House and U.S. 219, in the Red House area.

In addition to the blowers there were three graders and four side-wing plow trucks and the regular complement of trucks.

In addition to wind and poor visibility SHA workers had to contend with cold weather. Friday the high at Oakland was 9 above, Saturday, 4 above and Sunday, 22 degrees about 4 p.m. Monday morning showed 15 at Oakland, 20 at Accident.

There was a small amount of rain on Tuesday, turning to snow later in the evening.

County Roads crews were kept busy during the entire period and no highways were closed to traffic.

Installation of Officers of Deer Park Fire Department Held January 3

Installation of officers of the Deer Park Community Volunteer fire department was held Monday, January 3, at the fire hall.

Deputy fire marshal of Allegany-Garrett counties Robert Shimer of Westernport presided over the installation. Installed as president was Glen O'Brien; vice president, George Fizer; secretary, George Comp, Jr.; and treasurer, Tom Beckman.

Line officers include Robert Thrasher, chief; Rolland Schoch, first assistant; Ron Savage, second assistant; and Terry King, captain. Lambert Thrasher and Rick Widesen were elected as hall managers and Carl Callis as trustee.

Present for the evening was Joe McDaniel, senior instructor of the Fire and Rescue Institute of the University of Maryland, who replaces Gene Carlton in this area.

Following the installation, a buckwheat cake and sausage supper was served by the Deer Park Ladies Auxiliary.

Chief Thrasher noted that a fund drive is now underway for a new pumper for the fire department. Some $85,000 to $90,000 must be realized before the new pumper can be purchased, and it is hoped that the vehicle can be ordered within one year.

The company will be having various fund-raising events throughout the year such as buckwheat cake and sausage suppers to be held on a regular basis. The first supper will be held January 29 at the fire hall from 4 to 8 p.m.

SOUTH OF THE SAHARA

Does he long for the hot breezes and wide spaces south of the Sahara? Can he remember the feeling of free air rushing past as he ran with his fellows?

Oh, it's a lovely zoo, wide and airy. The giraffe's home duplicates his native habitat. But, as he nibbles among the treetops, I wonder. Does he wish for a quiet stream?

I know what it's like to feel displaced. When first I came to this country, I was not at home with the language and unfamiliar with its customs. Often I felt confused and bewildered.

The one place that was no stranger to me was my church. Here, although the words were foreign, I recognized well-known melodies and litanies and the sure feeling of God's love.

If you feel disturbed and disoriented by events in your life, turn to the one place that knows no aliens. Your church has a welcome for everyone. God's love is universal.

INTO THE WILDERNESS

Lesson for January 9, 1977

Background Scripture
Mark 1:4-13; Luke 3:1-22; 4:1-13

Devotional Reading
Hebrews 4:12-16

If you and I were given the opportunity to re-write the Bible there would certainly be a lot of changes. Unfortunately, we probably wouldn't be able to agree on what should be changed and what shouldn't be. Of course, lots of people — including preachers — change the Bible by misquoting it or being very selective in what they choose to use from it. Some parts of it we find embarrassing, other parts confining, and still others contradictory to what we have already determined to be the truth.

Rev. Althouse

The heavens opened

One of the portions of the Bible we might be tempted to re-write would be the Gospel accounts of John's baptism of Jesus. The problem with these passages from all four Gospels is that they seem to have the chronology all wrong — "wrong" at least in terms of the way we would like for life to be arranged. Each of the four Gospels tells us that Jesus came out to the Judean wilderness, was baptised, and then was led into the wilderness to be tempted. If we could have our way — for both Jesus and ourselves — we would like to turn it around so that the trial in the wilderness would come first.

Based on outlines copyrighted by the Division of Christian Education, National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U.S.A. Released by Community Press Service.

Then the baptism and an assurance that "they lived happily ever after."

None of the writers tell us what is in Jesus' mind as he comes up from Nazareth to Judea. Neither do they tell us what he has been thinking or how he has viewed himself in the first thirty years of life. Apparently he knew that John was baptising for repentance and he responded to this need in some way. Perhaps he was drawn to the River Jordan and the Baptist without quite knowing why. At any rate, it seemed to him that he needed to be there, that something significant would happen — and it did!

"You are my son!"

Whatever John's baptism meant to Jesus, as he came up out of the river, he saw a vision and heard a heavenly voice, saying: "Thou art my beloved Son, with thee I am well pleased." (Mark 1:10). To Jesus this was a call or the confirmation of a call he had already been considering. It was one of those rare ecstatic experiences that was to change his whole life.

How strange then to realize that immediately following this mystical experience of the highest order, Jesus is led into the wilderness for temptation. And that's the part that is hard for us to swallow. As we see it, let the wilderness come first and then, when we have endured it and come through it, let us have the vision and the voice (and happiness "ever after").

Often, however, it does not work that way. The high moments of inspiration in life are not guaranteed to be followed by continuing bliss.

It was only after he had endured the temptations of the wilderness that Jesus was ministered unto by God's angels. In the midst of the wilderness that may surround your life at this present moment remember that.

THE LANGUAGE OF DERMATOLOGISTS

Impetigo, ecthyma, sycosis vulgaris and paronychia are not words that you would ordinarily hear during your average day. But, they are part of the everyday language of a physician. These particular words refer to specific skin conditions that must have a certain type of treatment.

There are many products a dermatologist can prescribe to help a person with a skin condition. We carry them in our pharmacy. On many occasions we compound a special formula at the request of the physician.

YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a medicine. A great many people entrust us with their prescriptions. May we compound yours?

Venus can be seen before sunset, but remains visible for nearly four hours after sunset. This planet is in the southwest sky. This week Venus, Jupiter and Saturn are visible. Venus is among the stars of Aquarius. Jupiter is in the constellation of Taurus, crossing the sky one-half hour before the Pleiades. Saturn is with the stars of Cancer, following the Beehive Cluster across the sky.

There will be seven minutes more daylight next Wednesday. Today the sun will set at 5:09 p.m., nine hours thirty-one minutes after it rose at 7:38 a.m. Wednesday sunrise will be at 7:37 a.m. Sunset will be at 5:15 p.m.

Income Tax Packets Mailed

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein announced this week that 1.6 million state income tax packets have been mailed to taxpayers. The returns were labeled, bagged and zipcoded by employees of the state Income Tax Division, during the fall. "This process saved Maryland taxpayers nearly $270,000 in postage costs," Mr. Goldstein said.

In his letter to the state income taxpayers, Comptroller Goldstein notes several features of the 1976 Maryland income tax returns. The Fair Campaign Financing Fund contribution appears on Line 13 of both forms 502 and 503 for the second year. Also, the opportunity for those Marylanders who make declarations of estimated tax to apply part or all of their anticipated refund to future estimated tax payments appears on Line 25 for the second year.

An innovation on the 1976 individual Maryland income tax return is the numbering of most lines on the right as well as the left hand side of the page, to make it easier for all of our citizens to complete the return. The 1976 Maryland income tax return is less complicated than the federal income tax return.

Rhode Island

Capital: Providence. Governor: Phillip Noel. Democrat; flower: violet; bird: Rhode Island Red; tree: red maple; entered union May 29, 1770, 13th state; motto: Hope; nickname: "Little Rhody." Largest city: Providence. Is one of the smallest states in union. Official name is State of Rhode Island and Providence Plantation. Roger Williams, who had been banished from Massachusetts Bay Colony, established first white settlement at Providence in June, 1636, on land purchased from the Narragansett Indians. Williams, a minister, had been driven out of Massachusetts because he called for increased religious and political freedom.

Rhode Island shipyards built hundreds of merchant and whaling vessels from the middle 1600s to late 1800s. Great Britain was challenged in 1769 when Rhode Island burned the Liberty ship in one of the first acts of rebellion in colonies.

In spite of its size Rhode Island is an important industrial state. It ranks high in textile and jewelry production. Only one percent of labor force is engaged in farming. Most of state is covered with forests. Dairy and poultry are important. Rhode Island Red chickens are popular and were developed in Little Compton. Fisheries are also important to state economy. State is known for its oysters, lobsters and scallops. Samuel Slater founded American textile industry there. He built the first American textile machines during late 1790s. Nehemiah and Sirel Dodge, Rhode Island brothers, started the jewelry industry in America.

U. S. Navy employs thousands of civilians at its sprawling naval base at Newport. Quonset Point naval air station in North Kingstown and the U. S. Naval construction battalion center (Seabees) in Davisville. Also headquartered at Davisville is the Navy's Antarctic Support Activities commonly known as "Operation Deep Freeze," which is responsible for supplying, operating and maintaining U. S. scientific stations in antarctic. State has 36 islands.

Rhode Island lies on Narragansett Bay, an arm of the Atlantic ocean. The bay makes the state a leading vacationland. Thousands of vacationers come each summer to enjoy boating, fishing, tennis and other outdoor sports. Best known annual event is the Newport Jazz Festival in July. This event features many of world's best jazz musicians. Leading resort centers include Block Island, Narragansett Pier, Newport, and Watch Hill.

Providence is a major eastern port and site of Brown university in Ivy League. Pride of Providence is state capitol, considered by many to be most beautiful in country. Built of white Georgia marble, the ornate building has the second largest unsupported marble dome in the world. Largest is Michaelangelo's dome on St. Peter's church in Vatican City.

Rhode Island school of design is one of the best. Famous Rhode Islanders include Nathaniel Green, Gilbert Stuart, Oliver and Matthew Perry, J. Gorham, George M. Cohan, Nelson Eddy, Ambrose Burnside, Oliver and Christopher La Farge.

South Carolina will be next state in this series.

Skirmishes With Terrorists Cause Concern To FBI

Law enforcement skirmishes with terrorists in 1975-76 should serve to remind Americans they have a terrorism problem demanding public vigilance, FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley said this week.

Taking stock of terrorist violence and law enforcement's campaign against it, Kelley said:

"By no means is terrorism rampant in our country — fatalities may be declining — but we must consider these facts.

"There has been superlative effort throughout the law enforcement community to prevent terrorist violence during our Bicentennial year. I think we can claim some measure of success. Certainly those well publicized terrorist threats didn't materialize.

"Nevertheless, we have compelling reasons for law enforcement, in partnership with the public, to remain vigilant. In addition to our home-grown terrorists, we Americans are reluctant hosts to small, warring, alien factions who seem quite willing to turn areas of our country into staging areas for violence elsewhere or battlegrounds for slaughter here."

He cited Miami, Florida, as an example, with reportedly more than 100 bombings there in the past two and one-half years.

Kelley noted while there were 2,074 bombing incidents in the United in 1975, only 90 of these could be linked to terrorists. Through the first six months of 1976, some 45 terrorist bombings occurred, compared to 47 in the first half of 1975. Ten persons were killed by terrorist violence in 1975.

While there were no deaths, 28 persons were injured in the 45 terrorist bombings through June this year. Property damage amounted to a half-million dollars.

From January, 1975, through June this year, 104 persons have been injured in terrorist acts of violence. Property damage has been estimated at $3.2 million.

Schools Must Return To Teaching Basics

Average scores on college entrance examinations have been declining steadily over the past decade. Last year they fell further than in any previous year.

It does no good to criticize the tests themselves. There may be flaws in the test questions and the manner in which they are given. But that is no defense for the continued decline in National test score averages.

Educators are busy trying to justify themselves. That is to be expected, for the test scores indicate a deplorable situation in the American educational system. Instead of doing a better job of teaching, our schools are getting progressively worse.

And the failure has come about during the decade in which public spending on education has reached fantastic proportions. Instead of buying better education the American taxpayer has subsidized a system which has done progressively worse by its students.

The educators are still clamoring for more money. The American system seems to have an insatiable appetite, demonstrating great efficiency for spending but little for doing its basic job of teaching children.

It should be clear by now, however, that more money will not buy what the public wants and expects from its education system. There must be a basic change within the system itself.

The first step, in our opinion, is renewed emphasis on the basic skills of reading, writing and arithmetic. This means changes in classroom instruction instead of constant lip service we get from school administrators.

The children who can't read and write need to be put in special classrooms where they can be taught these basic steps. Without the ability to read and write, no child is going to make use of the educational opportunity being offered him. Even worse, he is going to join those massive numbers of Americans who have pieces of paper to show they've been through the school system but still can't balance a checkbook or figure basic weights and measures and prices.

Instead of going off on scatterbrained experimental tangents, educators all over the country must devote more classroom time and money to giving students the basic elements they need. No building contractor would think of attempting to build a house without a sound foundation, yet our educators attempt to do this every day. It is past time for a change. A little elementary common sense would be helpful.

The educators are not totally responsible for the intolerable decline in educational standards. There have been outside pressures. Social problems have developed which clearly are beyond their capacity to solve. Legislators, reacting to current fads, have mandated the teaching of courses. Judges have forced their own ideas on the schools. Federal bureaucrats have superimposed their ideas without concern for the educational welfare of the students.

But these things do not excuse the failure of the schools to carry out their basic functions. That is where the real failure has taken place. Educators can't blame anybody but themselves. Pointing a finger at the culprits, however, isn't going to correct the situation. Public insistence may force misguided educators to do what they are supposed to do. Let's teach our children to read, write and figure first. After that, we can add all the frills we choose. — Tallahassee Democrat, reprinted from Congressional Record.

NOTICE TO ALL

GARRETT COUNTY PROPERTY TAXPAYERS

Are you unhappy with high taxes? Very unhappy? Or will you continue to pay until you can't afford to own property?

Did you know that only three men determine what you pay? The Garrett County Commissioners. These men are elected to serve you. Are you satisfied? No? Well, you can do one or more of several things. You can do nothing (which most people do), you can contact the three men who determine what you pay, you can join us if you wish.

Facts for your consideration:

In 1972, the clerks' salaries under the Garrett County Commissioners were $10,920.00. In 1976, the budget was $47,500. This was a 334% increase in staff salaries! No wonder they want a Court House.

There Is An Answer...

By Norman Vincent Peale
And Ruth Stafford Peale

Tired of being an old maid

Q. I am 33 years old and tired of being an old maid. Most of my friends have married, and I am finding my life very lonely and hardly worth living. There are so many pressures — I don't really know what to do. I've become so disillusioned with everything and everyone. I live alone, which is probably bad, but after living with a couple of roommates and going through so much with them I decided I'd try it alone. Well, for a while it was O.K., but now I can hardly stand it. Is there an answer for me?

A. We suggest that you drop the old maid concept. Instead, practice being a happy, normal young woman.

Forget your age, which after all is quite young, and live your life. Have a nice home of your own. Cultivate good friends and have a normal social life.

As you let yourself become a relaxed, attractive, happy, loving person, the right man will come along. And to be that type of person, forget yourself as far as possible and do something nice for somebody else every day. We once heard a wise and lovable minister say: "God runs a beauty parlor." Go to Him for personality improvement.

Bad relationship with mother

Q. I have a problem with my mother. It's communications. Every time I write her I get no answer. She knows that I live with my grandparents because she threw me out. We never did communicate much even before this happened. I'm really bitter.

What really bugs me is the fact that my mother had one of my friends relay the message that she still loves and misses me. I trust my friend, but after the way my mother treated me as a thing, not a person, I'm leery of trusting my mother. What do you think?

A. The heart of your problem isn't necessarily your mother. Rather, it is your bitterness. You will have to take your mother as she is. And you can do so when you drain off that bitterness.

Start thinking of your mother not as a mother, but as a mixed-up and unhappy human being. When you love her in a calm, understanding manner, devoid of resentment, communication will start happening.

Husband is tempted by other women

Q. Several months ago my husband told me something that has really upset me and has me brooding about it every day of my life. He told me that he is "tempted" every day by other women, and that when he sees an attractive woman he "mentally rapes" her. He says I should accept this as normal — that all men do this — but I simply cannot believe there is any excuse for it. I married him because he convinced me that he wanted me exclusively. I have tried to put it out of my mind and forget it but it will not go, because I know that if I love somebody, that person is it. Please help me.

A. While your husband's admission is seemingly quite extraordinary and farfetched, still it is a fact that at times everybody has "bad thoughts," and among them are lustful thoughts.

Actually you are lucky that he spills over to you and honestly shares the kind of thoughts he has. We are reminded of an old saying: "You cannot keep the birds from flying over your head, but you can keep them from building nests in your hair."

If a thought comes in the form of a desire, but is not acted upon, the mind, in effect, acting as a moral judge, has repudiated it. Thus, in itself, has the tendency to build character.

And you would be well advised to look to yourself as to whether you are contributing to a lively and interesting sexual relationship in your marriage.

We have written a booklet, A First Aid Kit for Marriage, that has helped others with questions similar to yours, and a copy of it is on its way to you. Anyone reading this column who wishes a free copy may write to Dr. and Mrs. Peale, Box 500, Pawling, N. Y. 12564.

Perhaps you would like to find an answer for yourself to a problem that you can share with others in THERE IS AN ANSWER. If there is something you would like to ask Dr. and Mrs. Peale to discuss in this column, write to them in care of Box 500, Pawling, N. Y. 12564.

Citizens To Pay More In Social Security Taxes

Millions of Americans will pay as much as $70.20 more in Social Security taxes in the new year.

By law the maximum annual tax payment increases from $965.25. Forty years ago in 1937, the maximum tax was $30 a year.

But only the 29 million or so Americans earning more than $15,300 will pay a higher tax in 1977. The tax rate on a worker's income will remain at 5.85 percent. Persons who earn less than $15,300 will not pay any more than they paid last year.

The cut-off for wages and salaries in 1977 has been raised to $16,500, above which no additional Social Security tax will be collected. The increase in the tax is automatic in the year after which there has been an increase in Social Security benefits which rose 6.4 percent in 1976.

The maximum Social Security tax on self-employed persons will rise from $1,208.70 to $1,303.50. The increases which have to be matched by employers, will produce an estimated $2.3 billion for the system.

Legislature To Begin 90 Days of Lawmaking

The Maryland General Assembly will begin 90 days of lawmaking on Wednesday, January 12.

Apparently the overriding issue for the new session will be revenue, or rather the lack of enough of it, with the big counties pushing for a bigger slice of the fiscal pie.

What is expected is that the Mandel administration will look toward the state sales tax for more money either through an increase in the sales tax on each dollar or perhaps by making more items taxable.

Del. William B. Byrnes, chairman of the county delegation, said "It will hurt the little guy."

Sen. Edward J. Mason, (R-Allegany-Garrett), said he sees topics such as property tax assessment, the sales tax and other revenue issues overshadowing the 1977 session.

"There is a lot of confusion among taxpayers, and rightfully so, about assessments and levies and tax rates," he said. He added that "the administration must be willing to cut the budget wherever possible and if a tax increase is shown to be needed, then we should be looking along the lines of income tax so counties can get revenues back and they can be used to reduce property taxes.

"In today's economy and government, property taxes should be really outdated. They were fine when the land barons of England were the wealth of the country. But to own a home today and to bring up a family, you should not tax a man out of his house just to support government. The tax instead should be based on the ability to earn — people who own property do not necessarily earn money," Sen. Mason said.

Another issue to be addressed is the Youghiogheny River and the law which included the river in the state's wild and scenic rivers system has drawn a look from interested persons throughout the state.

Del. DeCorsey E. Bolden from Garrett already had said he would introduce a bill exempting Garrett from the law. Sen. Mason said such a move has no chance of passage and that he would introduce various bills to make the state regulations for the river more palatable for property owners.

Collective bargaining for teachers is another issue the legislators expect to confront. Land use legislation for farm and rural areas will also be debated.

Students Complete Advertising Course

Six students recently completed a 15-week course in Advertising which was offered during the fall semester at Garrett Community College.

Studies included the basic principles of advertising in a variety of media forms, the development and implementation of an advertising plan, and the layout and composition of electronic and print media ads.

Students also learned the importance of product analysis, consumer analysis, test marketing, merchandising, media selection and buying, and sales analysis.

For practical application of the studies listed above, each student chose a local merchant with whom he or she wished to work, and with the assistance of that merchant, developed a complete Advertising Plan for the store for the coming year.

Students successfully completing the course and the merchants with whom they worked are: Dennis Colaw, Marvin's Men's Wear; Andy Damon, Buds 'n' Stephanie Smith, Yountiland; Jack Michaels, Gregg's Pharmacy; Ollie Carr Beck's; Mike Heflin, Heflin Jewelers. IN LOVING MEMORY

In memory of our son, Carl Eli DeWitt who lost his life ten years ago, January 5, 1967.

We can't say we don't miss you,
We miss you every day,
We think of you in silence,
We often weep and pray.
We miss your loving smile,
We miss your cheerful face,
There's nothing we can do,
But keep you in our place.
And thoughts are but straws on the roaring sea,
When their neck to soothe your head.
But love is a light in the lonely night,
To give comfort and show you the way.
And faith is a rock on which hope is built,
That will never pass away.

Sadly missed by his parents,
Mr. and Mrs. Stanley DeWitt and family.

Try Our Want Ads

I'll Help You

A lone person was lifting a large pole onto a cart, tugging one end around it to lean it beside and then upset it by the opposite end to load it. The summer day was hot and the pole seemed ready to roll away at any minute. Then up came a fragile man who quietly asserted, "I'll help you," and clasped his end of a pole to load it easily. Could he ever imagine what relief he provided for the other lifter?

"I'll help you" are three magic words because they are those of a comrade and not a superior. They mean the extension of one human being into another. Dante gives us a profound thought on this theme when he says, "He who sees a need and waits to be asked for help is as unkind as if he had refused it."

A class of children and individual assignments, but the teacher moved along beside seats. One small boy beseeched her, "I know what you do, but I don't know how to multiply that way." In exactly one minute he had learned — because one person had not brushed him aside.

Several aiding steps come to mind as pointed principles for helping others in a way designed not to be condescending. Sit or stand beside, not across from, the person who needs assistance. This places you on an equal basis, not as an adversary. Ask the person if he will accept help. He may wish to try his own method once and then ask if he meets failure. Require an explanation of what he wants to do before you begin. "What's troubling you?" is a good question leading to the steps he will use for working to accomplish what he has pictured as the task.

Many of us know, and confess, that we are taken for rides because of our generosity. It is too easy to call upon the person who never says no, and often we look back to say, "Why was I exploited? I was kind to the person when he needed help." But, like the soldier carrying his comrade out of the trench, we cannot look for lauds from most human beings. Perhaps the Friendsville firemen battled a midnight blaze at City Coin Laundromat in that town last Thursday night, and despite high winds and zero temperatures which froze the water in the hoses, managed to contain the fire to one end of the building.

Friendsville Firemen Fight Midnight Blaze

The fire company was called out about 12:30 a.m. by a neighbor, Mrs. Harland Tichnell, who was awakened when the electricity went off in her home. Twelve firemen brought two pieces of equipment and had doused the blaze by 2 a.m.

The Laundromat, owned by Wayne Friend, sustained moderate damage in the storage area, where it is believed the fire started. Flames were confined to the storage and the attic above.

The Laundromat is in the same block as the Reed Friend home, which was gutted by fire two weeks ago. Robert Shimer, deputy fire marshal for Garrett and Allegany counties, was called to investigate the cause of the blaze.

Friendsville firemen had responded last Wednesday night, December 29, to Route 48 where a Maverick owned by Mollie Livengood was on fire. The car was engulfed in flames by the time firemen arrived, and was considered nearly a total loss.

The fire originated under the dashboard of the car.

A fruit basket contributed by the Allen Wilhelm family was presented to Carri Jo Teats. The club achievement program will be held at the January meeting with family members invited. Heading the committee was Kenlee Hardesty and Colleen Wiley. A Christmas party followed with a gift exchange. There were games and refreshments.

Proclamation . . .

young in experience as well as in years, we nevertheless assume control of this journal, determined to make it a faithful expositor of the wishes of the people and a truthful recorder of the affairs of our county. The possibilities of our county are great in fact cannot be estimated now—and to its development and welfare we shall exert our best endeavors."

After a few hours of pondering to locate the appropriate words for an introductory editorial, I could find no better than these above.

I wish first to recognize George H. Hanst, who for over fifty years, dedicated his life to making sure this newspaper was published, faithfully and accurately, every Thursday. He never missed one. He did an outstanding job and his assistance and guidance over the next few months will be greatly appreciated.

Secondly, I wish to state that this newspaper will continue to be a vital force in Garrett County. It will continue to utilize the freedom of speech as guaranteed in the first amendment, vital to the well being of our great nation. The writers will always endeavor to present an accurate account of events and to serve the citizens of this county in such a way as to make their lives more comfortable.

The above quote was written on July 11, 1896, by my great-grandfather on his 21st birthday. It was that day he became editor of The Republican.

Trailer, Vehicle Destroyed By Fire

A house trailer and an automobile were destroyed in two separate fires Tuesday afternoon.

The house trailer was located off Route 135, near Windy Knolls restaurant, east of Mt. Lake Park and was owned and occupied by Mr. and Mrs. George A. Friend.

The fire began about 3:40 p.m., when Mr. Friend got under the trailer in an attempt to thaw out water pipes. He accidentally ignited insulation, according to Robert Shimer, fire investigator for Allegany and Garrett counties for the state fire marshall's office.

Friend and his wife attempted to extinguish the fire but were unsuccessful. Volunteer firemen from Deer Park and Oakland responded and when they arrived the trailer was almost completely destroyed, Shimer said.

The couple was unable to save any of the contents of the trailer. Mr. Friend told Mr. Shimer the trailer and contents were covered by insurance.

Tuesday night the couple stayed at the home of Mr. Friend's mother, Mrs. Reuben E. Friend.

A 1976 model Jeep owned by David F. Shaffer, route 2, Swanton, caught fire as he and two passengers were traveling north on Green Glade road in the Turkey Neck section of Deep Creek Lake about 5:15 p.m.

Mr. Shaffer said that as he

Fair Dates Set, Officers Elected

Officers for the 1977 Garrett County Fair Board were elected at a regular meeting on January 4, it was announced by Helen Bittinger, publicity chairman.

All officers were reelected to serve in the same offices they held for 1976. They included: Robert L. Glotfelty, president; Harry Collier, first vice president; Roger Glotfelty, second vice president; Ruth Glotfelty, secretary; Allen S. Pauch, Sr., treasurer; Claude Wagner, Jr., Manager.

The date for the 23rd annual Garrett County fair was also decided. It will be the week of August 8-13.

Alice Mae Cropp Retires As Deputy Register Of Wills

Alice Mae Cropp, Deputy Register of Wills, retired effective December 31 after 14 years of service. She was sworn in by Mrs. Verne B. Smouse, who was then Register of Wills, and has worked most recently under Joseph Welch.

Mrs. Cropp is retiring due to ill health. She has moved from West Liberty Street in Oakland to reside with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Martin, Route 2, Box 35, Oakland.

Mrs. Cropp has three other children, Lawrence, Cumberland; Richard, Kitzmiller, and Mark, Gettysburg, Pa.

Upon completion of the plans, the sheriff's operations will be moved from the present building, and the old jail will be razed and office space and underground parking constructed to the rear of the courthouse.

The third phase of the project will involve a modernization of the interior of the courthouse and the preservation and restoration of its historic character.

The commissioners had previously directed the architects, the Selck-Minnerly Group from Pittsburgh, to design an addition which would complement the existing appearance and historic character of the courthouse. Upon receipt of the preliminary sketches the commissioners submitted the drawings to the Maryland Historic Trust and this group commended the county government for designing a project which will aid in the beautification and preservation of the existing facilities.

Upon completion of the project the existing county offices will be centralized in one location. W. Marshall Rickert, county administrator, has estimated that the annual savings in existing rent paid plus the estimated rent revenues from the state offices in the building will yield a savings in county tax dollars of approximately $50,000 per year.

Bids will be advertised in February and opened March 22, with the contract awarded one week later. Work will begin early this spring and is scheduled to be completed in the fall of 1978.

Judge Thayer Hears Seven Juveniles

Seven juveniles were heard yesterday morning by Associate Judge Fred A. Thayer. All were found to be delinquent, with one committed.

Three males 13 years old, two 16 and one 17 at time of offense, were placed on probation before judgment for an indeterminate period under supervision of Juvenile Services Administration.

A 14-year-old was committed to the Maryland Training School for Boys.

McCrobie Clarifies Overtime Policies For County Roads

A directive from Herbert McCrobie administrative head of the Garrett County Roads department, was apparently misunderstood by road personnel recently, resulting in confusion regarding overtime.

The directive, sent to area supervisors in the four garage locations, advised that no overtime would be worked except under direct authority of the area supervisors.

According to Mr. McCrobie, all unnecessary overtime is discouraged, but crews do work as long as necessary to keep roads clear. Workers are to go on overtime only with the knowledge and permission of the supervisors.

Workmen are on one of two shifts, from 7 a.m. until 3:30 p.m., or from 7 p.m. until 3:30 a.m. However, during storms such as the one experienced this week, crews stay on the job as long as necessary, or until time for the second shift to begin working.

Overtime is paid at the rate of one and one-half times the regular hourly rate, after eight hours a day.

Dr. Gina M. Glick To Be Speaker at Annual Dinner

The fifth annual Educational Dinner will be held Thursday, January 27, it was announced by Shirley Hinebaugh and Charley B. Miller, cochairmen of Western Maryland Chapter of the American Heart Association.

The dinner is open to all interested persons at a cost of $5.50 per person. It will be held at the American Legion Home in Oakland at 6:30 p.m.

The speaker will be Gina M. Glick, M. D., director of the Anesthesia Department of Sacred Heart Hospital in Cumberland. Her topic will be "Entry into the Emergency Medical System in Garrett County."

All guests attending will have the opportunity of having their blood pressures taken.

Those interested in attending may purchase tickets by mailing checks to P. O. Box 1114, 551 North Centre Street, Cumberland. Checks should be made payable to American Heart Association-Western Maryland Chapter.

County Receives Formal Approval Of $3.4 Million For Courthouse

The Garrett County Board of Commissioners have announced that they have received formal notification from the Economic Development Administration of a grant award to the county commissioners of $3.4 million, to renovate and expand the courthouse facilities and to replace the old jail.

The cost to county tax dollars for this construction project is zero, as it is one hundred percent federally funded. The only local monies invested by the county were architect and engineering fees of approximately $190,000.

The county commissioners have been evaluating the overcrowded courthouse office conditions for a number of years and voted to use the existing property as it would be cheaper to renovate the existing courthouse than to construct new courthouse and office facilities.

In addition, the commissioners felt that it would be desirable to keep the county office facilities in downtown Oakland to assist in preserving the viability and appearance of the downtown area. When the commissioners received formal notification Wayne Hamilton moved to accept the grant, commissioner George Edwards seconded the motion, and chairman Don S. Bender made it unanimous.

The project entails construction of a plaza on the front of the existing building, under which the new sheriff and jail facilities will be located. The plaza itself will be landscaped as a downtown park site, for use by the citizens of the county.

Winter Storms Batter Mountaintop

THE ROAD STOPPED HERE. on Rock 181 south of North Glade, until the SHA blower could come to the rescue. The route was solidly blocked in several areas on Tuesday despite round the clock efforts by SHA crews from Garrett, Allegany and Washington counties. One man tried to go through a field to the right of the drift, but ended up by abandoning his vehicle in the deep snow.

Several Attend Democrat Social

Several members of the Garrett County Democrat Club turned out last Friday evening at the Procter Kildow Post 71 for the Democrat Social despite the hazardous driving conditions.

Weather conditions had canceled the plans of various state elected officials to attend Congressman Goodloe E. Byron had been issued by state police in Allegany county not to attempt the drive, while Louis Goldstein, Mary Hoyer and Lt. Governor Blair Lee were unable to make the trip to state.

Plans were tentatively made, weather permitting, for a party in honor of Congressman Byron February 11.

Officers of the club include Louis Matthews, president; Mrs. Margaret Coffey, vice president and treasurer. Others present were Robert Coffey, Mr. Matthews, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Englander and Frank Funck.

Five Injured In Explosion At Local Garage

Five persons were injured, one seriously, in an explosion of a hydraulic lift at Ralph Pritts garage last Friday.

Bill Butler, 35, of Oakland, remains a patient at Garrett Memorial Hospital after suffering a shattered right knee cap, a crushed heel and a severely fractured ankle. Butler underwent some six hours of surgery Monday and was listed in satisfactory condition yesterday.

Four other men, all of Oakland, received only minor injuries in the incident which occured at approximately 5:30 p.m. Gordon Paugh received a bruised toe. Howard "Butch" Fulk received minor injury to his eyes from hydraulic fluid and Donald Butler and George Porter suffered bruises of the legs.

Mr. Fulk, sales manager of Ralph Pritts garage, said the five were involved in putting a winch on the front of Bill Butler's pickup truck which was elevated on the lift, when an apparent weak spot in the hydraulic tank below the floor gave way with an estimated 7,000 pounds of pressure. Chunks of pipe, metal-plate covering and approximately 100 gallons of hydraulic fluid were thrown throughout the garage. Butler's injuries were a result of his being directly above the tank on the metal covering at the time of the blast.

Mr. Fulk said the explosion was due to pressure only and no fire or heat was involved.

Two windows were broken and one car was damaged from flying debris. Minor damage also resulted from the hydraulic fluid which covered the interior of the garage.

The Southern Rescue Squad responded to the scene and transported Butler to the hospital. Fulk and Paugh were treated and released.

Councilman Presents Oakland's Financial Picture To Citizens

A complete picture of the financial situation of the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland, as of the Procter Kildow Post 71 for the Democrat Social despite the hazardous driving conditions.

Weather conditions had canceled the plans of various state elected officials to attend Congressman Goodloe E. Byron had been issued by state police in Allegany county not to attempt the drive, while Louis Goldstein, Mary Hoyer and Lt. Governor Blair Lee were unable to make the trip to state.

Plans were tentatively made, weather permitting, for a party in honor of Congressman Byron February 11.

Officers of the club include Louis Matthews, president; Mrs. Margaret Coffey, vice president and treasurer. Others present were Robert Coffey, Mr. Matthews, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Englander and Frank Funck.

Concrete Thrower Damage Englander's, Oakland Police Office

Someone heaved a piece of concrete through the front door of Englander's Pharmacy in Oakland about 2:30 a.m. Sunday, and then heaved another chunk of concrete through the city police office window while they were investigating the first incident.

Both cases of destruction of property are under investigation by the Oakland police department.

Oakland police were also called December 31 to St. Matthew's Episcopal Church to investigate three persons found in the basement of the building. According to the police, the men had congregated there for warmth, as they had nowhere else to go. No charges were made.

Albright Man Found Dead Monday Night

An Albright man was found frozen to death in a farm field near where he made his home on Monday night, almost exactly 24 hours after he was last seen.

Junior Kelley, 56, who made his home on a farm owned by Marvin Morgan, of Albright, had disappeared around 7 p.m. Sunday. He was found Monday night by a neighbor, and Dr. D. H. Davis at Kingwood was to perform an autopsy to determine exact cause of death.

The Preston county state police detachment, along with the Preston sheriff's office, was investigating.

The body will be taken to the Browning Funeral Home, Kingwood, following the autopsy.

FROZEN WATER PIPES led to tragedy for the George A. Friends of near Deer Park on Tuesday when Mr. Friend accidentally ignited insulation while trying to thaw the water system, and their trailer home was completely destroyed by fire. Here firemen and volunteers sift through the still smoking wreckage to salvage whatever items turned up.

Temperature Drops To 21 Below This Morning

Blizzard conditions played real havoc with the county this past week, closing schools, offices and businesses while it kept up nearly ceaseless gale-like winds. Wind stopped the nearly one foot of fresh snow, closing many roads and causing a rash of highway accidents due to zero visibility.

High winds with low mercury readings took the wind chill factor to minus forty degrees many times, while this morning's actual low was the coldest in several years, minus twenty-one degrees.

Schools have been closed ever since last Friday at 1:15 p.m. For the first time in many years, the Board of Education made the decision to close schools a day ahead, as they decided Monday that there would be no school again on Tuesday, or on Wednesday or on Thursday. Friday was an open question, as many roads in rural sections had still to be opened to traffic.

All county offices were closed Monday through Thursday and nearly all meetings and ball games were postponed. County commissioner Wayne Hamilton made public a request that persons who did not have urgent business to conduct should stay home rather than risk traveling on the icy highways.

Almost a mile of State Route 135 was closed in the Bittinger area, as well as two quarter-mile sectors of the same Route in the eastern North Glade area. By Wednesday most paved roads were open but many of these permitted only one-way traffic. One-way sections on state highways included Route 42, one-quarter mile east of the Pennsylvania line, Route 219 just east of Route 495, Route 495 from

Association Sets Memorial Fund For Lois Naylor

The Garrett County Association for Retarded Citizens is establishing a memorial fund in the name of Lois E. Naylor, it was announced by Mrs. Dorothy Leuba, chairman of the group.

Mrs. Naylor was long interested in problems of the retarded, and was especially concerned about the plans which are beginning to be formulated for the development of residential facilities in Garrett County for handicapped people. The Western Maryland Health Care Corporation is the agency working on this project, with the cooperation of the Garrett Association for Retarded Citizens, of which Mrs. Naylor was secretary. Contributions to the Memorial Fund will be held and used to help with a residence when one is developed.

Checks made out to the Lois E. Naylor Memorial Fund may be mailed to Mrs. Stephen Pagenhardt, Rt. 3, Box 21, Oakland, Maryland.

ENTRANCE TO ICE PALACE — Actually this is a shot of the rear entrance of The Allegany Room in Oakland. The beautiful ice archway continues to grow every day and if the sub-zero trend continues, the entrance may soon be closed off completely. The mercury dropped to 21 below last night in Oakland.

General Assembly Begins Session

The Maryland General Assembly convened yesterday at noon for a 90-day session which is expected to result in higher taxes for residents.

Some 47 Senators and 141 delegates returned to the State House in Annapolis to find nearly 700 pre-filed bills on their desks.

Phone numbers for the representatives have been changed this session. Del. Bolden may now be reached by calling 1-269-3364; Sen. Mason by dialing 1-269-3039.

In this session, lawmakers are said to be caught between two forces, on one side lagging revenues from a sluggish economy which seem to mandate a boost in either sales or income taxes; on the other, citizen unrest about increases in property tax assessments, which is running at a higher rate than in previous years.

The Mandel administration will provide the basic framework for the taxation debate next Wednesday when it submits the state operating budget for the year beginning next July 1.

Gov. Marvin Mandel has said additional revenues will be needed to finance the Fiscal 1978 budget, which, under the constitution, is required to be balanced.

Last month, William S. Ratchford, head of the Legislative Department of Fiscal Services, predicted there would be a $176 million gap between the proposed Mandel budget and tax revenues from existing sources.

Ratchford, the General Assembly's top fiscal expert, said an increase in either the sales or income tax will be needed to balance the budget unless the administration does the unexpected and manages to trim another $120 million from the outlined budget.

The administration will try to fund about $55 million of the $176 million deficit by changing state law to permit Lottery Agency receipts to be spent in the same year they are collected. It appeared that legislators would agree to this.

Ratchford said another $120 million would be available by boosting the sales tax from 4 percent to 5 percent. An alternative to this would be a restructuring of the income tax.

More bad news — Transportation Secretary Harry Hughes will probably ask lawmakers for an increase in the nine-cent-a-gallon gasoline tax. He warns that unless it is granted, inflation will cause the scrapping of many road building projects.

Nearly 20 tax abatement bills, most of them dealing with the subject of property assessment levels and methods, are already in the books, with more expected.

The first scheduled order of business Wednesday was the consideration of 80 bills vetoed by Mandel after the 1976 session. Included are the "sunshine" bill and one prohibiting telephone companies from charging extra for information calls.

There are few totally new proposals among the 675 pre-filed bills. Returning for another look by legislators are proposals to abolish or reorganize Patuxent Institution; amend the freedom of information statute, and repeal the law permitting 18-year-olds to drink beer and light wine.

B.P.W. Meeting Is Postponed To Jan. 19

The Garrett County Business and Professional Women's club meeting, originially scheduled for this evening at 6:30, has been postponed until Wednesday, January 19, at Will o' the Wisp.

The meeting will begin with dinner at 6:30 p.m. in the Sitzmark Room. Cancellations should be made by Monday with Mrs. Anne Connor, treasurer.

The program will be in charge of Mrs. Barbara Flinn, in absence of Dr. Jean Shaw. Featured will be World Affairs—Status of Women.

A program on Individual Development will be sponsored by the club beginning the following evening, January 20, at the hospital. Further information is available in the club newsletters mailed this week.

Garrett County To Host 4-H All Star Conference In April

Planning for the Maryland 4-H club All-Star Spring Conference began at the dinner meeting of the Western District 4-H club All-Stars held in Allegany county at the Bedford Road fire hall.

The conference will be held at the Village Inn in this county on April 30 and 31. The hosts and hostesses will be Garrett County All Stars with Allegany County All Stars assisting.

Mary Robinette, president, appointed several committees for the event. The program committee consists of Gillie Babich, chairman; Ann Riggleman, Darlene Riley and Tammy Goehringer.

On the evening entertainment committee is Rodney Glotfelty, chairman, Eleanor Phillips, Patricia DeMoss and Holly Hedrick. Nina Bender is chairman of the refreshment committee with Ruth Perrin and Elsie Morgan members. Nancy Reed, Tammy Reed and Mrs. Jessie Vandervort are in charge of the Sunday Vesper service.

A decision was made to have a district member present a scholarship to a 4-H'er in both Allegany and Garrett counties on Achievement Night.

Three Drug Cases Heard

Three drug cases were heard in District Court during the week ending January 10. One person was found guilty and bond hearings were held for two others.

Laura Beth Stottlemeyer, Mt. Lake Park, pleaded not guilty of possession of controlled paraphenalia on Wilson road September 23. She was found guilty by Judge Lewis R. Jones. A presentence investigation was ordered.

Curtis R. Clary, Mt. Lake Park, has been charged with possession of marijuana with intent to distribute. He was caught with the suspected substance on U. S. 219 on January 4. Bond was first set at $5,000 cash. At a hearing last week, bond was reduced to $2,500 at 10 percent. Bail of $250 was paid that day.

Kenneth Murphy, Elk Garden, W. Va., has been charged with distribution of marijuana on Wilson road in September. At a Monday hearing, bond was continued at $3,000, with 10 percent required. This case is to be transferred to Circuit Court.

Norma Jean Whitacer, Kitzmiller, pleaded not guilty of making false pretense to police in December and the plea was upheld.

Cool And Mostly Dry Marks 1976

December like most of 1976 was on the cool side, somewhat dry but with a surplus of snow at times. Some near-records were set in 1976.

December had an average temperature of 37 degrees or 3.2 below normal. The high reading was 55 degrees on the 19th. On ten days the mercury remained at or below the freezing point. The mercury dropped during daylight hours on three days. Lows averaged 14.7 degrees or 5.5 below normal. The lowest was minus 11 degrees on the 3rd. It was zero or less on three other days. The mercury dropped below freezing mark on all but three days.

Precipitation for December was also short. The total was 3.01 inches or .7 inch below normal. Most of this fell as 15.7 inches of snow which was 1.6 above normal. The heaviest rain day was the 7th with 1.27 inches. The heaviest snowfalls were three inches each on the 21st and 28th. Total snowfall for the 1976-77 season to the end of December was 41.7 inches.

The year 1976 showed a below normal temperature average for all but three months. Not since April, which had the warmest day of the year, had the average been above normal. Easter Sunday, with 87 degrees, was the warmest day. February was one of the warmest on record with a 36.7 degree average. January had the coldest day of the year with 13 degrees below zero. February, March and April were the only months with above-normal temperature averages. February was 8.5 degrees above normal while November was 8.8 degrees below normal. The first frost of the 1976-77 season was September 23.

One noticeably wet month, of the mostly dry year, was October with 8.29 inches. With the 5.17 inches surplus, it was within .06 inch of being the wettest October on record. November had 1.73 inches of precipitation and all but .45 inch fell as snow. November's snowfall totaled 26 inches or 18.8 above normal. It also had the heaviest monthly snowfall in 1976. The next closest was January with 19.4 inches. The total snowfall for 1976 was 82.8 inches, or 11.6 inches above normal. Total precipitation for the year was 41.86 inches or a deficiency of 6.65 inches. There was a trace of snow on May 3. Thunder storms occurred on 14 days from April through October.

Statistics are compiled from information supplied by Logan Weber, local observer for the National Weather Service.

State Highways Claim Six More Lives Last Week

Six persons lost their lives on Maryland Highways according to the weekly news release compiled by 2nd Lt. M. I. Morgan of the Maryland State Police. Of those killed two were drivers, one was a passenger and three were pedestrians.

Two of the deaths in the opinion of the investigating officer could have possibly been prevented had seat belts been in use.

The wise motorist adjusts his driving to match conditions. Poor visibility or wet road surface calls for reduced speed. When frost opaques car windows, scraping them clean is an unpleasant but necessary chore, even if the driver is running behind schedule.

Now that winter is with us, snow tires are required by law during the snow emergency periods. They offer better traction in snow. If you plan on using them, do not buy smaller or larger than recommended by the car manufacturer. Either will have an effect on how your vehicle handles. Station wagons and vehicles towing trailers are especially sensitive to oversized tires.

Nine persons have died on Maryland Highways so far this year as compared to eleven for the same period last year.

Care Available To Shut-Ins Through Health Department

Home health care is a service of the Garrett County Health Department that permits personal health care for the person who needs it in his own residence. This permits the patient to continue his role as a member of his family, and thus contributes to his peace of mind as well as to his physical well-being.

Home care, the human and legal right of every resident of Garrett County who needs it, provides an alternative to costly inpatient hospitalization, and also releases hospital beds and nursing home beds for acutely ill patients.

The Home Health team assists the family members and the patient to follow the physician's plan of treatment right in the home, and enables the family to provide care between team visits and physician visits. The team itself consists of a full time nurse, an aide, and the consultation services of a Speech Pathologist, Nutritionist, and Occupational Therapist. Physical Therapy services are normally available, however, the Health Department currently does not have a physical therapist on staff.

The nurse does dressings, treatments, and medications as ordered by the physician, as well as providing counseling and support to the family. Many times needed equipment can be improvised from things around the home which are readily available, rather than the expensive equipment used in the hospital setting.

The purpose of these activities is to increase the physical and social functioning of the patient and family, and to provide for continuity of care. In addition, referral to other community services can be done, including Veterans Administration, family services, church related groups, and other public assistance. Services can be paid for by Medicare, Medicaid, or private health insurance, or services may possibly be given without charge, and are offered for those who have been hospitalized as well as those who have chronic illnesses which confine people to their homes.

The service is available to county residents, and is obtained by the private physician sending a referral to the Director of Nurses at the Garrett County Health Department. This is preferably done in writing, but may be received by call or visiting the Health Department between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., with written orders following the contact.

GARRETT COUNTY SNOW WAS JUST TOO MUCH for the snowblower brought in from Washington County. This blower kept plugging up while trying to widen Route 39 just above the Crellin straight. Crews spent a lot of time digging out the snow to free the machinery in the sub-zero conditions.

Brutalized Language

The general deterioration of language in recent years is an indicator of declining psychological maturity. The great instrument of the English language has been encrusted with words and forms derived from slum dwellers and the pop music and drug cultures.

Increasingly, men and women who have been exposed to a college education are resorting to crudities in order to express their state of mind.

Many moderns delude themselves by insisting that they are simply adopting more natural modes of expression. They disdain the genteel as unsophisticated and archaic. In the process, literature as a distinctive higher expression of thought and feeling is overwhelmed by street talk and street attitudes.

Within the space of a few years, the movie going public has learned to accept all the Anglo-Saxon expletives. Their use is commonplace in films, and, increasingly, in general conversation. What is the significance of this? Millions of men and women in this country, people with respectable backgrounds, have come to accept and laugh at the use of terms once commonplace only in the locker room or barracks. A brutalization of language is a reality of our times.

I recently discussed this with a professor who is a student of language. He was insistent that we are experiencing the degradation of our language. He said that he sees many college students who have only the most rudimentary vocabularies. They communicate, he said, in an abbreviated hip jargon, grunts and Anglo-Saxon expletives.

There is reason to be profoundly concerned about this because people think in terms of language. The English language is the result of thousands of years of growth in communication, intelligently used. The language enables people to communicate noble and subtle ideas and relationships.

But we are getting away from that marvelous instrument of communications. We are getting away from the moral sensitivity associated with the precise definition of principles and relationships.

My academic friend pointed out that both Nazi Germany and Communist Russia deliberately degraded their respective people's language. Hitler, he said, knew that the complex forms of speech and verbal decencies were barriers to totalitarianism. Stalin knew the same thing, and substituted a debased Soviet speech for the higher forms of Russian.

Today, in the United States, the film makers seem to be attempting to brutalize Americans, to make them accept every relationship on the lowest terms.

The Penthouse-type publications are engaged in the same degradation of language and dehumanizing of people. Decent speech is not a Victorian hangup.

It is an effort by a society to prevent men and women in society from viewing themselves strictly in animalistic terms. Filthy speech leads to filthy views of humanity. It is a short step from acceptance of brutal speech to participation in brutal treatment of human beings. The violence of Nazi language was directly related to the violence of the concentration camp and crematorium.

It is time that Americans arrest the process of brutalization of language which already is so far advanced.

AAA Issues Warning About CO^2 Poisoning

Every winter, a potential killer lurks among us — carbon monoxide. In small doses, the gas can cause dizziness and nausea. In large doses, it can be fatal.

This odorless, colorless, tasteless gas is especially dangerous to motorists during the cold winter months when car windows are closed most of the time and oxygen levels get low.

According to George Viverette, local AAA Road Services Manager, a faulty car exhaust system can allow enough carbon monoxide to leak into the passenger compartment to cause dizziness and nausea. When this happens, Viverette said, accidents are inevitable.

The gas is produced by imperfectly burned motor fuel, Viverette said, adding that an excess may be formed by faulty engine adjustments. He warned that even a well-tuned engine may also leak enough gas to be fatal.

Though difficult to detect, a small amount of carbon monoxide will cause a slight headache, followed by throbbing in the temples. Within minutes, the gas causes a severe headache, nausea, vomiting, loss of muscular control and dimming vision. Weakness, dizziness and collapse follow, leading to coma and convulsions.

Motorists experiencing these symptoms should pull over to the side of the road and get fresh air immediately.

To avoid being overcome by carbon monoxide and its lethal powers, Viverette suggests precautions:

Never "warm up" a car engine in a closed garage or other unventilated area.

Keep car windows and vents slightly open to assure sufficient air circulation.

In stop-and-go traffic, keep forward intake vents closed as they may suck in exhaust fumes from other cars. Rear windows of station wagons should be kept closed since motion will create a vacuum that can allow fumes to enter the passenger compartment.

When sitting in a parked car, shut off the engine.

Have your car's engine checked for proper combustion.

Have the exhaust system frequently checked for leaks or stoppages.

River Landowners Reject Negative Easement Idea

Property owners along the Youghiogheny River apparently rejected a proposal by Sen. Edward Mason (R, Allegany, Garrett) involving conservation easements as a partial solution to the problems of land ownership along the river.

Their opinions were brought out following a presentation by Dave Miller, of the Maryland Environmental Trust, who was a guest of Sen. Mason and who described the so-called conservation, or negative, easements.

Mr. Miller noted that in the past several years, to protect areas and preserve land, a land owner may place restrictions on land use of his own property. He may decide that no mineral development or recreational development shall be allowed on his property. This, in effect, is a "negative" easement.

This helps decrease the tax burden on the land owner as well, since he may be taxed only for current use of the property.

Members of the Yough River Association, Inc., however, did not feel this was a means to their objective, which is to retain control to use their property as they see fit.

The group asked Sen. Mason to assist in formulating an amendment which would exempt the Yough from the Wild and Scenic Rivers bill. This Sen. Mason refused to do, citing that this type of river is a very rare commodity in the United States since there are very, very few rivers in the country which can meet the "wild" criteria. He expressed sympathy for the landowners, saying they are paying the price, but still hopes to preserve the Yough as a wild river.

Sen. Mason is exploring the possibility that Project Open Space funds may become available and be used in some way to help purchase the lands along the river for state use, thus relieving the landowners of unwanted responsibilities, and ultimately preserving the desirable qualities of the river.

Attending the meeting in addition to the landowners and Sen. Mason and his guest were Del. DeCorsey Bolden, Greg Skidmore, Del. William Byrnes, members of the Garrett County Planning Commission, county commissioner George Edwards, and other interested persons.

was driving along the road he noticed smoke coming from beneath the hood. He stopped the vehicle and raised the hood and saw fire near the fire wall of the vehicle. He said the two passengers attempted to quench the fire by throwing snow on the flames, but they were unsuccessful in checking the fire.

An Oakland unit which was standing by at the Deer Park Fire Hall responded to the scene as did the Deer Park equipment truck.

Councilman

Ford Dam was designed to be the 6th and final dam to complete control of the watershed.

At that same time the Bausch & Lomb company was considering locating their new plant in Garrett County contingent on being guaranteed a large supply of clean water. Everyone realized what an asset this would be to our area. Federal funds would be necessary to finance the dam but federal funds meant that it would have to be multi-purpose, for control, water supply and recreation. Mt. Lake Park and Loch Lynn were not willing to underwrite such a project, and as a last resort, for the good of all, the Council decided that Oakland would back it. At the time it was expected that between profit from the sale of water to Bausch & Lomb, and profit from operating the Recreation Area the project would be self-liquidating. And Oakland would acquire a still better supply of clean water.

As it turned out, the construction costs proved to be a great deal more than had been estimated. In addition, the construction fell far behind schedule, with the result that to keep our commitment for water to Bausch & Lomb, we were forced, at extra expense, to install a temporary water plant; from this experience Bausch & Lomb found they could operate with only a fraction of the water use anticipated; and the Recreation Area has not proved to be a money-maker. Our sale of water to B&L has been only 20% of what was expected, and our operating loss for two years at the Recreation Area exceeds $30,000.

It should be understandable that we do not plan to open the Recreation Area this year. After all, there is no reason for Oakland to be saddled with operating a park which is mostly of benefit to County residents and is not even in Oakland.

As a direct result of the above, the Town's share of the multi-million dollar project exceeded $600,000 and, in addition, we had to sell a $160,000 Water Bond issue to pay for the main water line from Broad Ford to Oakland. All of this means that Oakland is saddled with bonded indebtedness of $984,000 with payments totaling about $83,000 per year. This is more than we have been able to handle, and as of this writing we are in default to FHA a total of $52,300.48. And before the coming year is over we will be expected to make payments totaling $140,820.00.

Perhaps the above will explain why the present Council has found it necessary to raise the water rate and the property tax rate (which had not been raised for more than twenty-five years in spite of inflation). Although our operations are going well — for example, the receipts for the Water Dept. for the five months from July 1st to Nov. 30th came to $68,238.81 and expenses to only $56,777.00, a debt payment of $20,000 put us in the red $8,538.28.

That is the rather gloomy outlook for the Town of Oakland. We will have to economize. We will have to raise more money. Without the drain of operating the Recreation Area, and with a small increase in revenue from taxes and/or water sales, we should be able once more to balance the budget and come out ahead.

Winter Storms

Grantsville south to New Germany road and another section further south: U. S. 40 in the Shade Hollow area, and U. S. 219, two sections near Foster Road.

State Highway Administration sent in equipment and men from Allegany and Washington counties to assist in clearing out roadways, while the county hired private individuals with earth-moving equipment to help roadworkers on a contract basis.

Many people helped their neighbors in the midst of the storms, including Bridgeview Coal Company, located in Friendsville, which donated men and equipment free of charge to clear the roads in the White Rock, Blooming Rose and Trap Run areas.

Most county roads in the Pleasant Valley and Gnegy Church sections were closed Tuesday, as well as some in the eastern North Glade area. Clayton Smith of the county roads department said Tuesday that crews were losing ground as snow continued to blow back into the cuts already made, and workers were running out of room to pile more snow.

The storm last Friday caused some trouble but did not close any roads. U. S. 219 just south of Gortner was one-way for a short time in the morning.

The new snowblowers of the SHA proved handy in the storms as the machines are capable of moving 60 tons of snow per minute. They proved their worth in opening sections of Route 219 south to Route 50 and on Route 495 south of Grantsville. Drifts of over six feet were encountered.

Dairy farmers in the county were plagued by the snow which made it extremely difficult to get milk hauled out, and also complicated feeding and cleaning chores.

Storms from Friday through Wednesday brought 11.8 inches of new snow. Two sub-zero readings were noted the past week. When the mercury was at five degrees and the wind was blowing at 40 miles an hour, this put the wind chill factor at around 45 degrees below zero.

There was some sleet, snow and rain last Thursday. Friday brought in four inches of snow and drifting due to light winds. Much of Saturday was clear. Sunday morning was overcast with snow in the afternoon. Late Monday morning the storm began in earnest dropping 6.5 inches of snow and bringing gale-force winds. There was a clear spell Tuesday afternoon but yesterday morning an inch more of snow and more high winds arrived. The storm subsided somewhat in the afternoon. Skies cleared last night and the sun was shining in a clear sky this morning. There was no wind this morning.

Temperatures averaged 17.8 degrees below normal for the past week. Highs averaged 22.1 or 16.9 degrees below normal. The highest was 30 degrees last Thursday. The high Tuesday was only seven degrees and ten yesterday. Lows averaged minus four degrees. The record cold is minus 40 degrees set in 1912. Last Friday it was a minus eight degrees and a minus two Tuesday, December and 1976 statistics are in another part of the paper.

Receives Check

Malcolm Broadwater, 15, Avilton, who was paralyzed after he fell in the Long Stretch area, received a check in the amount of $1,215 which was raised in a project conducted by the Northern Garrett Senior Future Homemakers of America. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Broadwater.

The money was raised through a queen contest at Northern High school. Chris Ferree was named the Christmas queen and Brenda Pope was named princess.

Other contestants were Sharon Barefoot, Kathy Benedict, Becky DeWitt, Valerie Loughrie, Linda McFarland, Cathy Reckner, Donna Jo Swauger, Colleen Wiley, Brenda Yommer, Julie Bowser, Sharon Fike, Linda Yommer, Teresa Bender, Patty Oester, Brenda Wakefield, Mary Jane Reed, Connie Schroyer and Tammy McKenzie.

Malcolm has been paralyzed since last September. He was first a patient in Sacred Heart Hospital, Cumberland, and recently was transferred to the Good Samaritan Hospital, 5601 Loch Raven Road, Baltimore, for rehabilitation treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Broadwater, Malcolm's parents, have eight other children. Mr. Broadwater is employed as a custodian at Route 40 School. Anyone who would like to contribute to the fund may send donations to Mr. and Mrs. Roy Broadwater, Route 1, Box 105, Lonaconing.

Fire in a factory caused evacuation of 1,300 residents of a New York community recently.

Koton Marries For Second Time, From Behind Bars

John Koton, 28, of Kingwood, known for his ups and downs with the law and his ins and outs with prisons, is making news again.

He got married for the second time, in jail Friday at the Preston county jail.

A marriage license for Koton and Marian Louise Arbogast, Kingwood, was issued November 15. Since then, Koton was given a one-year term for destruction of property and a separate one-year term for petty larceny in Preston County Circuit Court during December.

Koton was married for the first time January 4, 1973 to Jacqueline Lee Snook, Kingwood, in the Oakland county jail, where he had been lodged on that day after apprehension by Maryland authorities on charges of escape from Moundsville penitentiary.

Koton was sentenced to one to ten years in Moundsville in 1971 for receiving stolen property, including guns and ammunition from a Kingwood store.

While in Moundsville he said he witnessed the murder of a guard by four inmates who Koton said threatened to kill him because he agreed to testify against them before a Marshall county grand jury.

However, Koton never testified because at the time of the hearing he was in the Garrett county jail awaiting an extradition hearing to determine whether he would be returned to Moundsville.

During his fight against the extradition Koton escaped at least once from the Garrett jail. He eventually was returned to Moundsville and in the meantime, the State Supreme Court agreed to hear his appeal to overturn a 1970 conviction for grand larceny on a writ of error.

Koton was scheduled to appear before Preston County Circuit Judge Robert Halbritter on July 8 for a new trial on the 1970 conviction, but did not appear.

A fugitive warning was sent by Kingwood State Police to New Jersey officials when Koton was located in a Freehold, N. J. hospital suffering multiple fractures he received in an automobile accident there.

It looks like it will be some time before Koton and his new bride spend much time together. Charges are also pending against Koton in Taylor County.

Larry Lewis Home Damaged By Fire

The mobile home of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Lewis and two children, Hoyes-Sang Run Road, sustained extensive smoke and heat damage Wednesday afternoon when fire erupted in the kitchen area.

No one was at home at the time the fire started. Mrs. Lewis was returning home from visiting a neighbor when she spotted smoke coming from their home and called the Deep Creek volunteer fire company shortly before 2 p.m.

Deep Creek responded with two pumpers and the equipment truck manned by 16 volunteers. Accident fire company was also called and brought ten additional men and two tankers. Friendsville VFD stood by at their fire hall for Accident during the duration of the fire.

One man on the Deep Creek volunteer company was injured. Gary King was taken to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by the Northern Rescue Squad and after he and several other men fell through the floor of the home into the basement while fighting the blaze. He was treated and released from the facility about 5:30 p.m.

Principal damage to the home was in the kitchen and living areas.

The firemen returned to the fire halls about 5 p.m.

Appointed Deputy Registrar Of Wills

Clerk of Court, Richard L. Davis, conducted swearing-in ceremonies on Monday, January 3, as Mrs. Ellen Reichenbecher was appointed Chief Deputy Registrar of Wills. Mrs. Reichenbecher has served in capacity as clerk of that office for the past 12 years.

FAMILY CIRCLE

"Heart-To-Heart" Talk With Houston Surgeon

Warning: Hypertension can be hazardous to your heart, according to famed Houston surgeon Michael DeBakey, who calls it the "silent killer" of the coronary field in the February issue of Family Circle.

Interviewed at the expansive new cardiovascular research center at the Baylor College of Medicine, where the 68-year-old heart specialist serves as president and enjoys a reputation as educator, administrator, researcher and consultant to presidents and celebrities, Dr. DeBakey said hypertension accounts for more deaths in heart disease than any other cause, yet "probably no more than 25% to 30% of the people . . . know they've got it — and we can treat it effectively."

The Houston physician also contends that daily exercise — even if it's just walking to work or "up and down stairs" — is an important consideration. While there is no evidence, says the doctor, that exercise prevents arteriosclerosis (or hardening of the arteries), it is generally advised for the maintenance of muscle tone and circulation.

Dr. DeBakey also recommends that heart patients "try to be prudent about cholesterol," even resorting, if necessary, to curative drugs in the case of excessively high levels.

The doctor maintains, however, that there is no proof that cholesterol aggravates heart disease, and for those persons with a perfectly normal level, "it doesn't seem rational to me to say you shouldn't drink milk, you shouldn't eat eggs, you shouldn't do this, you shouldn't do that."

Dr. DeBakey believes that there has been an overemphasis on the "stress" factor as well. "If you want to avoid stress, you almost have to get off the world," he says. "Concentrate on something you enjoy doing, whatever it is.

All these other questions — financial or family or business or whatever — won't bother you."

The doctor also points out that there have been a number of medical and scientific innovations to help arrest heart disease. "We have developed better drugs," says the surgeon. "We've developed intensive-care units and we get patients into them more quickly."

Some recent achievements, however, Dr. DeBakey emphasizes, are either overrated or else still in the trial-and-error stage. For instance, he discourages the use of artificial hearts except in the most "specific" cases. "The reason we stopped doing it," says the physician of his own transplant surgery, "is because in terms of the results the cost was too high. I'm not talking about money but about personnel, resources, facilities — and the quality of life for the patients."

Dr. DeBakey insists, in fact, that there are untold strides to be made yet in the area of arteriosclerosis. "To understand why and how it happens and to prevent it," says the surgeon, "that would have the greatest impact on health of anything we could do."

Southern Rescue Releases Stats On 1976 Calls

Statistics released this week by Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad's president, Brad Stewart, showed a total of 744 responses to emergency calls during 1976, an average of slightly over two a day. The number was 94 more than the 1975 total and 265 over 1974, bringing the running total to 2051 since the squad was formed 3½ years ago.

A breakdown of statistics showed that the categories of general illness led the list with 225. Vehicular accidents totaled 89 and heart attacks and strokes were third with 66.

Falls accounted for 62 calls, injuries from sports, 37, and industrial accidents, 35. Twenty three persons were deceased upon arrival of the squad.

Only two persons were treated for gunshot wounds, which was down seven from the previous year. Drug overdose accounted for 14 calls, childbirth, nine, diabetes, six and burns, three. Those treated for seizures and convulsions totaled 23.

Forty-four critically ill patients were transferred to hospitals other than Garrett Memorial. Twenty seven calls were cancelled before arrival of the crew and there were five false alarms.

The squad traveled a total of 16,563 miles on the year for an average of approximately 319 miles a week, or 22.2 miles per call.

Sunday was the busiest day for the squad with 123 calls, followed by Friday with 121 and Saturday, 119. For the second year in a row, Tuesday was the slowest day of the week with a total of 83 responses.

The time of the day for the most calls was between 1 and 2 in the afternoon, the squad responding to 56 calls. The hour between 5 and 6 p.m. ran a close second with 51 responses. The least activity was between 4 and 5 a.m. when only four calls were answered.

As one might expect, the summer months of June and July were the busiest of the year with 75 and 81 calls. March and November were at the bottom of the list with 45 and 50 calls.

Southern rescue presently has 60 active members, all certified by the state as Emergency Medical Technicians-Ambulance. Nine are also certified as Cardiac Rescue Technicians who are trained in the application and reading of electrocardiograms and the administrations of drugs under orders of a physician.

During the year one member topped the 300-call mark, accumulated during the squad's 42 month existence. Robert Sincell has responded to a total of 335 calls. Helen Kahl was second with 295 calls followed by Hester Foley, 281, Roy Hinkle, Sr., 273 and Dave Turney, 269.

Others surpassing the 200 mark, included Ed Livengood with 250 calls, Brad Stewart and Don Sincell 249 each, Dave Evans, 231, Cara Weber, 225, Bill Bittinger, 220 and Rick Cropp, 207.

Mr. Stewart re-emphasized that Southern Rescue responds to emergency calls only and does not engage in the transport of patients for examination appointments and minor illnesses. The squad makes no charge for its services and is funded solely by donations.

EVEN THOUGH THE ROADS WERE PLOWED CLEAN, the wicked wind just kept blowing, and before long sections of roadway would be closed again. Even though a clear road can be seen just ahead, a drift in the immediate foreground apparently changed people's minds about attempting to drive over to the Old Hotel section from the Garrett Road.

Last years fund drive netted over $25,000 which enabled the squad to purchase the former Ray Teets garage on Oak Street for use as a squad hall. A new rescue truck was also purchased along with numerous pieces of new equipment.

Several Attend Federal Meeting On Deep Creek

Various local persons attended a meeting in Washington, D. C., January 6 at the Federal Power Commission offices to help determine future development required of Penelec before it turns the management of Deep Creek Lake over to the Maryland Department of Natural Resources.

Attending the meeting were Gary Yoder, local consultant for the state; the county commissioners, members of the planning commission, the county administrator, and representatives of the DNR and of various interested groups from the Lake.

Penelec has offered to expend some $250,000 to complete the plan drawn up eight years ago at the requirement of the FPC. However, a stalemate arose when additional funds were said to be required for completion of the project.

In 1968, Penelec had to draw up a general project plan to be submitted to the FPC before that agency would renew the Penelec generating license. The original project plan was virtually unacceptable to nearly everyone involved, calling for 14 sites for recreational use which would be scattered around the lake. These sites were said to be in direct conflict with existing development.

In 1974, an alternate plan was submitted after consultation between Penelec, the Garrett County Planning Commission, the Department of Natural Resources, and groups around the Lake.

The FPC then modified and tentatively approved the revised plan, which provided for only two, day-use recreation sites, in October of 1975.

Penelec filed a petition for a re-hearing based on the additional financial requirement imposed by the FPC, which led to the meeting last week to try to finally resolve the issue.

At the meeting, the county commissioners expressed support for the FPC proposal, while the planning commission submitted testimony that the two sites should not be changed in size, location or intensity of use.

Basically the same sentiments were expressed by representatives of the Save Deep Creek Lake Association.

Some coffee substitutes suggested are figs, dandelions or chicory.

Mr. Lawrence said that if school is cancelled on a date which the series is offered, the Oakland Radio Station will announce the cancellation of the meeting for that evening also. The meeting will continue the next week.

Drs. Deal and Fearer of the Mt. Top Veterinary Hospital have invited those youth who complete the four week "Normal Animal" series to an open house scheduled for Tuesday, February 15 from 7 to 10 p.m.

The open house will include observation of a spay operation, looking at x-rays and diagnosing fractures, studying the reproduction processes in cattle and observing the equipment which is used in the ambulatory clinic.

The 4-H & FFA Veterinary Science Series is available to all Garrett Youth without charge. Extension programs are conducted for all persons without regard to race, religion, creed or national origin according to Mr. Little.

Income Tax Offices To Remain Open Jan. 14

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein announced last week that offices of the State Income Tax Division will remain open on Friday, January 14, 1977, the day most state offices will be closed in observance of Martin Luther King, Jr.'s birthday. All Maryland income tax offices will be open from 8:30 a.m. until 4:30 p.m., to provide both telephone and walk-in service.

"Our main office in Annapolis and our branch offices in Baltimore and throughout the state will be open to offer tax assistance, distribute state income tax forms and answer any questions taxpayers may have," Mr. Goldstein said. "The locations of our offices are listed on the back of the tax packet and in the local telephone directories."

January 14th is the first of thirteen days during the tax filing season that state income tax offices will be open extra hours to provide assistance.

Taxpayers wishing to have their 1976 Maryland income tax forms completed by state personnel should bring with them a copy of their 1976 federal income tax return, all W-2 statements, and their correct address and social security number.

Senior Citizens' Homes Available For Occupancy

There are 25 homes in Garrett County occupied by Senior Citizens available to any person, young or elderly who need a place to live.

W. Dale Ellis, Director of Senior Citizens Programs, said the elderly who have the homes will offer free room and board and a small salary in return for light housekeeping and other services.

Ellis indicated the elderly want to remain in their homes but firing a furnace or cooking a meal becomes a major problem, so help is needed.

Many of the Senior Citizens will take in young people who will also have a lot of free time to do the things they want to do, Ellis added.

People interested in living in one of the elderly homes should contact Mr. Ellis at 360 West Liberty Street in Oakland.

Cold Weather Affects Sales Tax Revenue

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein reported today that retail sales and use tax collections for the month of December 1976 totaled $39,083,635, up $3.65 million or 10.3 percent over the $35,431,859 collected during December 1975. The Comptroller cited colder weather as one factor in the increase.

"The colder weather we have experienced this winter has led to increased sales of gas, electricity, and home heating oil, all resulting in increased sales and use tax revenues," Mr. Goldstein said. Both the utilities and fuel dealers categories showed increases over December 1975 collection figures. Utilities collections rose 20.14 percent and fuel dealers collections were up 85.66 percent. "The hardware, building contractors and automotive categories also posted significant gains in revenue," Mr. Goldstein noted. December sales tax collections are based on sales made during November.

For the first five months of Fiscal Year 1977, Maryland sales and use tax collections total $187,420,832. "We have collected 60.93 percent of our current revenue estimate for the five month period," Mr. Goldstein said.

Auto Club, Lung Assoc. Conduct Emission Tests

Of the nearly 1,500 vehicles given exhaust emission tests throughout the state by the Lung Association and the Automobile Club of Maryland, slightly more than half failed the tests.

Out of a total of 1,498 vehicles tested, 756 failed and 742 passed.

The vehicles were tested for hydrocarbon and carbon monoxide measurements. A high hydrocarbon measurement reading is a possible indication of electrical or mechanical problems. A high carbon monoxide measurement reading could mean that the air-fuel ration is out of adjustment and that the engine should be checked.

Most vehicles that failed the test indicated poor quality maintenance, according to William R. Norris, automotive services department, Automobile Club of Maryland.

"There appears to be a lack of technical knowledge on the part of people doing the adjustments and the necessary repairs," he said. "Many of the drivers of the vehicles that failed the tests were not aware that a vehicle with high air pollution levels were also wasting motor fuel.

In the Baltimore metropolitan region, the Maryland Air Pollution Index exceeded the standard for good air quality on 36.3 percent of days reported in 1975. The index exceeded the standard for hazardous air quality on 3.4 percent of days reported.

Because a prime cause of Maryland's air pollution is automobile exhaust emission and because air pollution is hazardous to the lungs, the Lung Association is interested in doing whatever it can to reduce the number of days in Maryland when the air is of poor quality.

The Lung Association and the Automobile Club of Maryland will repeat the exhaust emission tests in 1977. The free tests are one of many services made possible by Christmas Seal contributions.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Sir:

Some time ago, amid my scrapbooks, I found this small item, which I thought was worthy of being passed on to your readers for the New Year:

From a plaque found in Old Saint Paul's Church, Baltimore, dated 1692:

"Go placidly amid the noise and haste, and remember what peace there may be in silence. As far as possible, without surrender, be on good terms with all persons. Speak your truth quietly and clearly—and listen to others, even the dull and ignorant; they too have their story. If you compare yourself with others, you may become vain or bitter, for always there will be greater and lesser persons than your self.

"In the noisy confusion of life, keep peace with your soul. With all its shams, drudgery, and broken dreams it is still a beautiful world."

May I add my personal wishes that each of you who read this find beauty and happiness in this brand New Year of 1977.

Best wishes,
Martha Glotfelty

Sixty Persons Meet To Organize Southern G. C. Athletic Association

Despite inclement weather, some 60 persons turned out for an organizational meeting of the Southern Garrett County Athletic Association last Thursday evening at the First National Bank Community room.

The meeting was open to all individuals interested in improving and promoting better athletics in the schools of southern Garrett County.

Max Messenger presided over the meeting until election of officers was held.

Mr. Messenger stressed that the Association is by no means a vigilante group of dissatisfied parents but it is primarily designed to assist student athletes, coaches, physical education teachers and athletic directors in the improvement of athletics in county schools.

He stated that the objectives of the association include the building of community enthusiasm and spirit, the pursuit of scholarships for outstanding athletes, the raising of funds for new equipment, making athletics an equal part of school curiculum and assisting in providing equal opportunities to boys and girls in athletics. The group will also seek the formation of new sports as well as support the present ones.

"We are not planning to tell a coach how to run his team. We want to work hand in hand with that coach and with the administration of his school," Mr. Messenger said.

Election of officers and board members was the first order of business.

Fred Colaw was elected president; Paul Shockey, vice president; Ron Stemple, secretary and Terry Helbig, treasurer.

It was decided by vote that one of the three board members be someone from the athletic department or administration of a southern Garrett County school. Southern basketball coach, Don Stemple was elected to serve in that capacity.

Other elected board members were Helen McHenry and Dennis Colaw.

Vice president, Paul Shockey, a new resident of the county, then spoke briefly about a similar community effort in Howard County with which he was involved. He related various successful money-making projects and areas of need which were pursued in that county's high school.

Southern High School coaches presented a list of suggested activities and needs for the Association to consider.

Some of those needs were new lights for the football field, a universal gym and weight lifting facilities, storage facilities near the gymnasium, assistance in the sale of program ads, an evaluation of coaches salaries, re-evaluation of the number of assistant coaches to each sport, a recreation league at the Southern Middle School with inter-school competition, a county doctor who will do all athletic physicals for participants, ticket sellers and door control, support of a spectator bus and chaperones and financial help for the expansion of girls' sports.

An informal discussion then followed and various committees were organized upon recess of the meeting.

President Colaw said the next meeting date, time and place would be announced soon. A constitution and by-laws are presently being written.

Lakers Stop Fayette 85-78

Outgunned from the field by a 37 to 31 margin, Garrett Community College took advantage of its foul shooting opportunities to emerge at 85 to 78 winner over Penn State campus of Fayette county last night on the Fayette court.

The Lakers, led by the nine for ten performance of Tom Panther and near perfect efforts by John Guadagnino, Bill McGarvey and Dave McPhearson, totaled 23 to 27 from the foul line to compensate for Fayette's field goal superiority.

Panther turned in a 23 point performance for Coach Paul Holzshu's Lakers while McGarvey scored 20. McPhearson had 17 and Guadagnino 15. McPhearson was 5 for 5 at the foul line while Guadagnino was 5 for 6 and McGarvey 4 for 4. Fayette was four for eleven.

Chris Slaughter was the game's high scorer for Fayette with 25. Terry Jones had 20, Lucente 14 and Garrett had 12. The score was knotted 39-39 at halftime. McGarvey aided defensively by pulling in 12 rebounds while Panther had eight.

Garrett plays two games at home this weekend, hosting Chesapeake CC Friday night and Cecil CC on Saturday. Both games begin at 8 o'clock.

Postponed Games Are Rescheduled

Athletic Director, Dennis Fearnow, has announced that two Garrett Lakers basketball contests which were postponed due to the recent weather conditions have been rescheduled.

The game which was to be played last Friday evening at Beaver Community College has been rescheduled for Monday, February 7. Tuesday night's game with the Indiana State University Jayvees which was postponed will be played on Monday, January 19, at Indiana.

The Lakers are to be in action tomorrow night on the home floor in a game with Chesapeake and then again on Saturday night with Cecil Community College, also at home. Both contests are at 8:00 and are Maryland JUCO League games.

JWCC Has "Sports Night" Meeting

Members of the Junior Woman's Civic Club met last Thursday at Southern Middle School for a "Sports Night" with Dieter Baer and Ludwig Grimm, ski school director and assistant, present to give ski pointers.

The two instructors also played the guitar and accordion for several polkas.

Following a general business meeting presided over by president Mrs. Mary Lou Stemple, Lynn Fraley, local gymnastics coach, presented a demonstration by three of his students. He then instructed members of the group in various exercises.

On January 23, the club will be canvassing door to door in Oakland and Mt. Lake Park areas for the annual March of Dimes Mothers' March against birth defects. Coordinating the collections is Mrs. Annie Steyer.

Members of the club are now selling tickets for the Cupid's Caper dance to be held February 12 at the National Guard Armory in Oakland. Music for the dance will be provided by "Sound Affair" and tickets are available from all club members for $10 a couple. Formal dress is usually worn.

"Florida Classic" Games January 27

A double-header basketball game "The Florida Classic" will be played Thursday, January 27, at the Southern High School Gymnasium.

The 'Beach Bunnies' or Band Booster women will challenge the Southern Girls' Varsity team. The second game will be between the 'Beach Combers' or Band Booster men and WMSG's Double Dribblers.

Proceeds from the affair will go toward helping defray expenses of the Southern Highlanders Marching Band for their trip to Florida March 27 to April 3. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

Any person interested in making reservations as 'tag-along' with the band on its trip should contact Mrs. Frank Herring or Mrs. Harold Trickett by Friday, January 14.

Southern's Niner "Player of Week"

Ken Niner set a school record for game rebounds and paced the improving Southern High Rams to a pair of victories last week with 27 points in each outing to earn the honor of Cumberland Evening Times area high school "player of the week."

Niner, a 6-4 senior, beat out some stiff competition. Area scoring leader Craig Hamilton, dumped in a total of 83 points in a pair of games for Paw Paw last week, but a 40 point effort against Wardensville wasn't enough as the Pirates suffered their first loss of the season. His 42 points against Hampshire is the area high this season.

Niner, who helped lead Southern to the Maryland class B finals last season, dominated the boards and paced the Rams' scoring in wins over Beall and Elk Garden.

In the 62-58 victory over Beall he converted two crucial free throws to put the Rams ahead 60 to 58 in the final minute. He made 12 of 17 field goal attempts and three of five free throws and also had a game high of 15 rebounds. The win avenged an earlier loss to the Mounties and evened Southern's record at 4-4.

Against Elk Garden he hauled down 34 rebounds to set a school record and connected on 12 of 20 shots from the floor. In nine games this season he has scored 195 points for a 21.6 average to rank fourth in the area.

Other players listed among the twenty-five top contenders are Doerr, Northern, 5th; Steve Liller, Southern, 14th; Youmans, Northern, 22nd.

Southern Rips Stags, 87-62

The Southern High Rams broke the .500 mark last Saturday evening by ripping the Elk Garden Stags, 87-62 on the losers' floor.

The win improved the Rams season record to 5-4.

Ken Niner, a six-four senior, led all scorers by canning 27 points and junior Steve Liller added 21 to the cause, as they were the only Rams to reach double figures.

The Stags, who now hold a 2-2 season, were led by Charlie Pennington who bit 23 points followed by Moreland with 10.

Southern jumped out to an early lead and were never threatened, leading by 23-7, 39-28 and 60-41 at the quarters.

Rounding out the scoring for the Rams were Todd Liller, 7; Fred Gregg, Reggie Messenger and Fred Griffith, 6 apiece; Steve Richie and Rodney Durst, 5 points each; Jeff Murphy and Larry Sanders with 2 each.

Niner was the only player to foul out of the contest.

4-H Treasure Box Yields 'Wealth' of Resources

CHICAGO A resource treasure box can spark the interest and enthusiasm of young people in the national 4-H home management program.

The box contains pictures and objects that help 4-H'ers identify resources they can use to reach their management goals.

Suggestions for starting a resource treasure box, plus ideas for other program activities, are detailed in the new Unit I home management leader's guide published by the National 4-H Service Committee with the assistance of Tupperware Home Parties, Division of Dart Industries Inc. The guide is for use with "Spotlight on Management," Unit I members' manual.

A Unit II leader's guide and members' manual are under development, as is a color-slide set designed to assist leaders in conducting a 4-H home management program.

Management means using resources at hand to get things that are needed or desired. In practical projects and activities supervised by the Cooperative Extension Service, 4-H'ers, 9-19, learn resources may be either within them like energy, talents and brain power, or around them—like money and time.

Last year, Bonye Baker, 18, of Hennessey, Okla., so efficiently managed her time to include a busy schedule of early-morning band practices, daytime classes and evening meetings that she earned a college scholarship donated by Tupperware.

The Oklahoma coed was one of eight national winners in the 4-H home management program. Other scholarship winners, organized housekeeping responsibilities to conserve physical energy or played key roles in personal and family budget management.

Again this year, young people can earn home management awards ranging from scholarships to county, state and national 4-H Congress trips. Awards are arranged and announced by the National 4-H Service Committee.

More information on the program is available from county extension agents.

Treasure box helps 4-H'ers identify resources in and around them like brain power, energy, money and time. Using these resources to get the things they want is the goal of young people 9-19 in the national 4-H home management program conducted by the Cooperative Extension Service and sponsored by Tupperware Home Parties, Division of Dart Industries Inc.

Winter-Fest Queen Applications For Contest Available

Applications are currently available for the 1977 Winter-Fest queen competition, through the two local high schools, the Country Kastle, and Garrett Community College. Winter-Fest is scheduled March 11-13 at the Wisp, McHenry.

County girls between the ages of 16 and 21 years of age are eligible, and may obtain the necessary forms to enter from the guidance offices at either Northern or Southern High Schools, from Jay Kamineck at the Country Kastle, and from GCC.

Deadline for entries will be February 20, according to Paul Bierer, chairman this year. Entries may be mailed to him, in care of the Queen's committee, Deep Creek Lake Lions Club, McHenry, Md.

Contestants will be notified when and where to meet with the judges for interviews and preliminary judging prior to the final decision.

The queen and her four runners-up will be named February 11 at the kickoff dinner for this year's event. Miss Sue Halterman, last year's queen, will be present to crown the 1977 winner.

The queen and her court will be chosen on the basis of poise and personality, appearance, and scholastic and community activities. She will also be questioned about her enjoyment of and participation in winter sports, and must be able to attend various other festivals throughout the season.

"Starter Kit" Is Available For Family History Researchers

A recent graduate of the U. S. Department of Archives' Institute for Genealogical Research, has put together a Family History "Starter Kit" for persons interested in delving into their own family's history.

Phaon Sundiata of Annapolis, who put together this Kit originally for Afro-Americans, found, as a result of appearing on several TV programs, that the response from European-Americans (or white Americans) was as great as that from black Americans. Because of this turn of events, Mr. Sundiata developed a "Starter Kit" for European-Americans also. It was necessary to compose two different Kits because of the difference in research techniques that must be used when searching for family documents recorded on a governmental level prior to the year 1865.

Mr. Sundiata who, himself, is researching the "Barksdale" line of his family's ancestry has found that the original Barksdales who settled in Virginia were from England and that in addition to being a prominent land and slave-owning clan they also enjoyed a reputation as being a charitable and energetic folk. "worthy of the trust of the people." Sundiata's great-grandfather worked on the plantation of William Peter Barksdale of Halifax County, Va., and it is this family's records that must be sought next.

Any Americans interested in tracing their family's history may receive some helpful hints by writing Mr. Sundiata at Eastport P. O. Box 3063, Annapolis, Md. 21403.

Chessie System Earnings Increase

Chessie System Inc. reported a record 12 percent increase in earnings last year over the previous year and predicts a 40 percent increase in coal traffic in the next five years.

Chessie, the nation's largest coal carrier, is the parent company for the Chesapeake and Ohio, Baltimore and Ohio and Western Maryland Railroads.

Earnings for 1976 were $102 million, or $5.38 per share, on operating revenues of $1.41 billion, compared with earnings of $91 million, or $4.91 a share, on revenues of $1.29 billion for 1975.

For the fourth quarter, earnings were $37 million or $1.94 per share, on revenues of $364 million compared with earnings of $40 million or $2.16 per share, on revenues of $340 million for the last quarter of 1975.

Chessie chairman Hays T. Watkins said that about 3.6 million carloads of coal and merchandise freight moved by Chessie in 1976, about the same as that in 1975, but that the rise in operating revenues reflected an improved product mix and the freight rate increases granted in the year.

He said the predicted rise in coal traffic over the next five years comes from the more than 100 mines being built or expanded in the railroad company's territory.

Finzel Residents Seek $15,000 To Enlarge Building

A group of Finzel residents are seeking a $15,000 grant to purchase materials to build an expansion for the Finzel Community Building.

The local residents there have offered to volunteer their time and work to build the expansion.

The group attended last week's Garrett County Commissioners meeting and informed them of the need for a larger building. The Commissioners approved of the idea and agreed to seek the $15,000 needed from federal funds as part of the county's federal Housing and Urban Development block grant program which is being readied for submission to the federal agency.

Other projects in the block grant package are a chlorinator for Shallmar, a housing rehabilitation project, a housing site potential study for Gorman, a street project for downtown Oakland, and the Mountain Top Civic Center.

The delegation of 15 citizens appearing before the Board included representatives of the Finzel Volunteer Fire Department and ladies auxiliary, senior citizens clubs, Boy Scouts of America and other civic groups.

Dr. Eileen Steele and Ralph Arnold were spokesmen for the group, and explained that with activities at the building increasing greatly, scheduling of use of the building has become difficult.

Employers Must Have W-2 Forms Prepared By End Of The Month

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein reminds employers that State income tax law requires them to provide a copy of the Wage and Tax Statement to both their employees and the State Income Tax Division by Monday, January 31, 1977.

Employers are no longer required to file a Reconciliation Form (MW-508) with the State Income Tax Division as that form has been discontinued. "We are receiving many telephone inquiries from employers concerning the reconciliation form," Mr. Goldstein said. "None of those forms were mailed out this year because the Wage and Tax Statement is all that is necessary."

Employers bear the responsibility for preparation and distribution of the Wage and Tax Statements.

The Wage and Tax Statement should show the total wages paid and the Maryland income tax withheld during 1976.

1976 Licenses To Wed Show Slight Increase

Marriage Licenses for 1976 showed a very slight increase over 1975.

Last year 1058 couples made application for a license. Of the 996 issued, 426 or 43 percent were civil ceremonies. In 1976 there 23 more applications and 31 more licenses issued. The percentage of civil ceremonies remained about the same.

A month-by-month tally follows, showing applications, licenses issued and civil ceremonies: January, 45, 44, 19; February, 57, 59, 26; March, 80, 62, 32; April, 81, 80, 32; May, 102, 85, 43; June, 118, 109, 49; July, 116, 111, 47; August 130, 121, 48; September, 80, 87, 30; October, 98, 90, 37; November, 85, 73, 29; and December, 69, 75, 34.

Sheriff's Deputies Investigate Larceny, Damage To Vehicles

The sheriff's office is currently investigating two destruction of property cases and a larceny which occurred Saturday night. In the first incident, which occurred along Dilly Road, cars belonging to two brothers were involved.

A Rambler belonging to Robert Stewart had a battery stolen from under the hood. Value of the missing battery was $40.

His brother, Jerry Stewart's car was damaged, evidently by a screwdriver or other instrument, when the thieves attempted to cut through the grille to release the hood latch on his car. Damage to the Valiant Plymouth was set at $30.

The car of James Tucker, Loch Lynn, was damaged by a fire tool or similar instrument Saturday while it was parked near Windy Knolls Restaurant. The 1974 Ramcharger sustained about $300 damage when the window was broken, the side scratched and a fender dented.

Elements Take Over . . .

Every now and then, when human beings get to feeling superior and think they can overcome any hardship, nature provides a storm such as the one the past few days, to change our outlook. That is all to the good, as we get cut down to size.

Garrett countians were feeling rather superior when it became known last Friday that Baltimore county schools were closed because of the weather, while Garrett county schools remained open. But it was a different story on Monday and Tuesday.

All are subject to the elements at one time or another. Hurricanes take over in the south, while blizzards do a similar job in the northern states. The state and county roads departments did a superb job in their efforts to keep highways open, but their efforts could hardly prevail against 50 mile an hour winds that piled ten inches of snow in all directions.

Business was brought to a temporary standstill. Most meetings were cancelled or postponed. There was a forecast of a cold and stormy January, which indicated there might be additional hardships.

Things will get better and we will be a little more humble. This we need from time to time to keep us on the right track.

Snow, Snow And Snow

Snow, wind and sub-zero temperatures combined to provide lots of hardship for everyone during the past week. The 12-inch snowfall also provided several beautiful, if chilling, scenes. Youngsters Scott and Allen Lough and David Athey dig out a driveway on High Street, top left. At right is a peaceful scene on Garrett Road, as is the picture at left on the second row, at the Harold Landis farm. A group of fallen trees off Route 39 makes it appear as though the storm wreaked even more havoc than it did. Steiding Church Road in the Turkey Neck section was completely filled in, some sections, thanks to blowing snow like that at right. This picture is also in the Steiding Church Road. Bottom row, Turkey Neck Road had lots of room, for one vehicle at a time, and preferably nothing wider than a compact car. Snow plows made almost as much snow fly as the blowers, but the wind was stronger in both instances. This is Route 495 between Swanton and North Glade.

There Is An Answer...

By Norman Vincent Peale
And Ruth Stafford Peale

Must I be rebaptized after committing sin?

Q. When I was in my twenties I was baptized after a six-week catechism session. I felt rushed, and unready somehow. Later I committed adultery — just once — and my conscience hurt me so bad. If I had known as much about the Bible as I do now I would never have went through with my sin. Now I know what a terrible thing I did. I'm afraid I wasn't truly a Christian at that time. Is it imperative that I be baptized again?

A. In our opinion there are two things that you should do to find peace of mind. The first is to ask God's forgiveness, and, having asked it, accept it.

The second thing you must do is to forgive yourself. Stop going over the sin and remorse in your mind and thereby reliving it. If it will help to comfort you by being re-baptized, by all means ask your pastor to do that for you.

The important thing here is forgiveness by God and by yourself.

We have written a booklet, Faith Builders, that has helped others with questions similar to yours, and a copy of it is on its way to you. Anyone reading this column who would like a free copy may write to: Dr. and Mrs. Peale, Box 500, Pawling, N. Y. 12564.

Friendless in senior citizen high-rise

Q. I live in a high-rise building and draw social security. At noon here they have a meal for the Senior Citizens, and since I'm not too good a cook and the doctor advised me against carrying heavy groceries, I decided to eat downstairs five days a week. To my dismay I learned there were rumors flying all around that a widower who sat at the table with me and I were "having an affair." I was never so disgusted in all my life. I stuck it out for two weeks and then I just quit going down to the meals. Did I do right? I need advice bad. I am friendless.

A. Our advice is to go down and eat with the widower if you want to and let the others say what they will. When people have nothing to do, they may concoct all kinds of distorted ideas. But you are old enough to rise above that.

One of the advantages of being a senior citizen is, at long last, to care no longer for what "they" say. Be nice, be friendly, and be totally indifferent to idle gossip.

Having an affair with a state trooper

Q. There is something I have kept a secret for the past year, and I need to share it with someone. I've been involved in a love affair with a state trooper. I'm really in love with him, and he said he loves me too. He is married and has two children. He said he doesn't love his wife, but he can't leave her because of the children and his job. I also am married to a fine man and we have four children. I know my husband loves me very much, and he is so good to us. But my sex life with him is dead. I feel like I just can't go on living a lie with my husband. I don't want to hurt him; he has no knowledge of this affair. The trooper and I have tried not to see each other, but we can't stay away from each other. We can't go on like this. Please give any advice you can.

A. In the first place, you're too smart to fall for the state trooper's line that he loves you. He is only using you.

Of course you can't go on living a lie with your husband, for doing so will break your personality. You are on the edge of great danger. You can lose everything you hold dear. Better stop it before it is too late.

Perhaps you would like to find an answer for yourself to a problem that you can share with others in THERE'S AN ANSWER! If there is something you would like to ask Dr. and Mrs. Peale to discuss in this column, write to them in care of Box 500, Pawling, N. Y. 12564.

Capitol Comment

By
Sen. Charles McC. Mathias

A new Congress has now opened in Washington, and we are ready to do the business of the Nation. People often ask why the political system is in such low esteem, why members of Congress get a confidence rating in the polls below that of garbage collectors. Well I think the answer is very clear. The answer is that the Congress, and the political system generally, has not been providing answers to the problems that are besetting the American people.

In an effort to produce some answers and some solutions, I am introducing legislation that I think will meet the needs of the American people . . . from jobs and housing to meeting the energy challenge, from small business relief to controlling crime by controlling repeat offenders. I'd like to discuss here some amendments to the Social Security Act which will provide some answers and some help for elderly citizens.

Perhaps the cruelest feature of Federal policies affecting older Americans is a narrowing of their freedom to make the most elementary personal decisions, such as whether or not to remarry or take a job that is offered. Our social security laws make these decisions very costly ones for senior citizens. Remarriage for some widows means an immediate 56 percent reduction in social security benefits, and any earned income above $3,000 annually, other than interest on dividends, carries a reduction in social security benefits.

The real cost to the elderly is the loss of dignity. Older couples are forced to live together without being married, or to avoid a rewarding and meaningful relationship, because the immediate loss of the combined income would be too burdensome for already severely strained household budgets. A job which may be fullfilling for an older person, as well as providing some help for a pressured budget, has to be weighed against the extremely low penalty level for earned income. It's just not right.

Older Americans deserve a more thoughtful and sensitive public policy. Social security retains the image of an earned right for people who have made their lives' contributions to society. The rules under which that is administered ought to be designed to preserve the humanism and the respect for which the retirement system was originally created.

I am introducing legislation which amends the Social Security Act in order to eliminate these discouragements to free choice. The Act now requires that men and women receiving widow's or widower's benefits lose them immediately upon remarriage. My bill would amend the Act to eliminate any immediate penalty for remarriage. It would require that benefits derived from a former marriage be gradually reduced over a five year period.

Now, I recognize that to ignore remarriage completely for the purposes of those benefits would result in a permanently unequal situation between remarried widows or widowers and people who are in their first marriage. My plan would end the discouragement because it would allow for a gradual adjustment to a lower combined income at the same time that a couple begins to fully realize the economic benefits of a single household.

My bill also raises the penalty level on earned income from $3,000 to $5,040 annually. The penalty now takes one dollar out of retirement benefits for every two dollars earned above $3,000. This bill retains the same one-for-two formula, but it raises the level of earned income. It raises the amount you can earn to an amount which allows the older person a much freer choice among a variety of employment opportunities.

Senior citizens deserve this ability to contribute services which are often needed by the community.

South Carolina

Capital, Columbia; Governor, James Edwards, Democrat; flower, Carolina Jessamine; bird, Carolina wren; tree, Palmetto; song, "Carolina"; entered union May 23, 1788; eighth state; motto, "While I Breathe, I Hope; Prepared in Spirit and Resources"; nickname, Palmetto State; largest city, Columbia.

South Carolina is smallest state in deep south. In spite of size, it is important farming and manufacturing state. It is a traveler's delight from its 281 miles of sandy beaches and sparkling blue Atlantic to the waterfalls and trout streams of the Upcountry. State was named for King Charles I of England in 1629. Is Latin form of Charles. The word "South" was added in 1700 when North and South Carolina became separate colonies.

Many important Revolutionary War battles were fought in state. It was first state to secede from Union before the Civil War. Confederate troops fired first shot of Civil War when troop attacked Fort Sumter in Charleston harbor April 12, 1861.

More than half of the people of the state live in farm areas. State grows more peaches than any other state except California. It ranks third in tobacco. Also grown are cotton, peanuts, sweet potatoes and pecans. Poultry and eggs are important revenue producers. State has large sales of chickens and turkeys. Tobacco is state's leading crop; soybeans is second, and cotton is third in cash crop. Important manufacturing lines are chemicals, apparel, paper, lumber and machinery. The textile industry is most important.

The Democratic party has controlled politics in state throughout most of its history. In presidential elections since 1880 only three non-democratic presidential candidates have won South Carolina votes. They were Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, in 1948; Senator Barry Goldwater, of Arizona in 1964; and Richard Nixon, in 1968. Senator Strom Thurmond resigned from Democratic party and became a Republican in 1964.

South Carolina mountains, seashores and historic sites make state favorite vacationland. Abundant wildlife in the fields and streams provide exciting action for hunters and fishermen. Gardens are among state's most beautiful attractions. Near Charleston are the famous Cypress Gardens, Magnolia Gardnes and Middleton Place Gardens. South Carolina is horse country and rolling hills abound with show and race breeds. Favorite annual events in state include the Carolina Cup Steeple races, held in Camden in spring, and the Southern 500 stock car races held in Darlington on Labor Day. Myrtle Beach is probably state's most famous seaside resort.

White tailed deer live in forests near coast. A few black bears roam the swamp where alligators sometimes can be seen lying in the sun. People often see dolphins, sharks and sperm whales along the coast. State was the setting for the movie "Deliverance".

Forts are South Carolina's most interesting historic sites. Fort Sumter in Charleston Harbor, is place where Civil War began and is now a national monument. Clemson University, the state's land grant college, is located on the John C. Calhoun plantation in the center of Pendleton district. There are historic churches and white pillared houses in Charleston, Columbia and Beaufort.

Famous South Carolinians include Andrew Jackson, John C. Calhoun, Francis Marion, James Byrnes, Julia Peterkin, DuBose Heyward.

The next state in this series is South Dakota.

Cookie Contest Held By Four-H

A cookie contest featured the last meeting of the Monte Vista 4-H club. Winning first was Becky Wolf Neff with Cindy King, second; and Michele Hesen, third. Kim Trickett, junior leader, assisted with the contest.

Members decided to hold a swimming and skiing party on January 22, from 1 to 4 o'clock, at the Wisp, McHenry.

Last month the club members took Christmas cards to the Nursing home with Coral Maffett and Beth Sanders telling what they did. The members also had a roller skating party with Carrinelle Stemple telling about it. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Harold Hudnall on Thursday, February 5.

Local Pharmasist Says, "We Can't Beat It, So Let's Enjoy It!"

Clint Englander, of Englander's Pharmacy, takes full advantage of the weather conditions on the mountaintop. An avid cross country fan, he is shown here on Second Street in Oakland on his way to work.

Whenever drastic weather conditions prevail drastic measures are taken, as is the case with Clinton Englander, who, during the snowy blitz met conditions head on with a pair of cross-country skis. One might think this to be an unusual way to get to town, however none would say it wasn't the safest.

When Tuesday morning arrived the temperatures were sitting on zero and with cold windy blasts the wind chill factor became a real factor and placed the dip stick at about thirty-six below. Some downtown stores retained skeleton crews and relied on those brave employees who lived closest to town to greet equally brave shoppers. In Oakland, the white accumulation was measured at thirteen inches and driving winds of up to fifty m.p.h. were felt in both Allegany and Garrett Counties. If you were among those who saw need to challenge the icy roads, you probably assisted in freeing someone else from mounting drifts. This was par for the duration of the storm along busy Second Street, throughout locations in Mountain Lake Park and the ski resorts that surround the mountaintop.

Should weather continue in this fashion we might well look for Clinton for some tips on the best routes to attempt. Or, we could request the official Clinton Cross-Town, Made-Easy, Ski Plan.

Snow And Ice Help Cause Many Recent Accidents

Snow and ice figured prominently as causes of motor vehicle accidents this week, according to reports filed with the State Police barracks.

On January 3, at 1 a.m. Rickey A. Roy, Ulysses, Kentucky, was traveling east on U. S. Route 40 in a 1975 Pinto owned by R. Cross Inc., Newport News, Va., when a vehicle traveling west crossed the center line. To avoid a collision, Roy was forced to the right, into a snowbank, and then struck a signpost.

Tfc. C. D. Skidmore investigated and made no charges.

A two-vehicle accident on Manardier Ridge Road involved two drivers from the Grantsville area. Blair Julius Yommer, Grantsville, was northbound in a 1973 Coronet. A second vehicle, a 1970 Cougar operated in a southern direction by Terry Lynn Hyson, Route 219, Grantsville, was going upgrade and around a left angle turn. Her vehicle lost traction on the snow covered roadway and left rear of the car came into the path of the Yommer car. The left front fender of the Yommer car struck the left rear fender of the Hyson car. Tfc. J. E. Foley made no charges.

Passengers in the Hyson car, John R. Hyson, Lynn, Kandy and Chuck Hyson, were not injured.

Also January 4, extremely icy conditions on the Underwood Road .5 mile south of Oakland caused a two-car mishap.

Wiletti Wythe Mateer, Route 1, Oakland, had backed her 1973 Chevrolet Impala onto the roadway and was proceeding north on Underwood Road when she could not accelerate on the road due to the ice. Her vehicle was lightly struck from behind by a 1975 Datsun B210 operated by James Mark O'Neill, Route 2, Oakland, who was unable to stop due to the slick conditions.

No charges were made by Tfc. L. R. Rosage. Mrs. Mateer was taken to Garrett County Memorial Hospital for treatment of injuries received in the accident by Paul Mateer, Jr.

Two cars collided on Route 39 about 8:18 p.m. on the fourth. Daniel Roger Rumer, Oakland, in a 1972 Gran Torino, was eastbound on Route 39 when struck by a 1968 Thunderbird operated by Oscar Dale Upole, Crellin.

According to the state police report, Upole failed to keep right of center and struck the Rumer car. Tfc. L. N. Smith cited Upole for driving while under the influence of alcohol. The car was removed by the owner, Pauline D. Upole, also of Crellin.

On January 11, Roger Keith Welch, Kitzmiller, was southbound on Route 38 when the operator lost control of his 1975 Jeep Renegade, struck heavy snow and rolled over. No charges were made by Tfc. E. J. Upole.

On January 10, an ambulance of the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad driven by Donald W. Sincell, Oakland, came upon the scene of an accident quickly and unexpectedly, and the ambulance struck the rear of a vehicle owned by William and Christine Finch, Gortner.

The ambulance had been called to a five-car collision on Route 219 south of Oakland, in the vicinity of Silver Knob Sand Co. All but one of the cars had been driven from the scene by the time the squad arrived, however. According to the report filed by Tfc. E. J. Upole, visibility at the time of the accident was zero. No charges were made.

At 6:20 a.m. Wednesday, Billy Alden Riggs, Mt. Lake Park, was southbound on Route 560 in very hazardous driving conditions when he met an oncoming car. Riggs moved to the right and got the right front of his vehicle, a 1975 Ford pickup, into a snowbank. The snow pulled him in deeper and the truck then hit a utility pole. No charges were made by Tfc. Upole.

Masonic Lodge Officers Installed

Officers of Oakland Lodge No. 192, Ancient, Free and Accepted Masons, were installed and invested at a regular communication Tuesday evening at the Paul B. Naylor Masonic temple, Wilson and Center streets, Oakland.

Installing officers included Thomas D. Browning, William A. Shirer and George H. Hanst, past masters.

Lewis Milton Marks was installed as worshipful master for his second term. Other elected officers included James William Nelson, senior warden; Donald Paul Thorn, junior warden; Robert T. Hoffman, secretary; George H. Hanst, treasurer.

Appointive officers who were invested included Bradley Allen Stewart, senior deacon; Donald Wagoner Sincell, junior deacon; Allen Lee Stuart, junior steward, and Harold C. Lantz, tyler. Appointed senior steward, Leif Piper, was unable to be present and will be invested later.

Attending the ceremonies were two grand lodge officers from Westernport, Homer Michael, grand lecturer; and Lewis Biggs, deputy grand inspector. It was announced that Dr. Harold C. Ashby had been elected junior warden of the Past Masters' association.

The Greek god Cronus has some bad habits, like devouring his own children. He is less remembered for that legendary fault than he is associated with chronometry — or the science of measuring time. He is, in fact, the familiar symbol we see once each year as Father Time, complete with hourglass and scythe.

The association came about because of the similarity of Cronus and "cronos," which means time. According to legend, Cronus was once hailed as lord of the universe. After being warned that one of his children would depose him, he vowed to devour them at birth. The plan might have worked, but for Rhea, his crafty wife. When a son, Zeus, was born, she hid the child and presented her husband with a stone.

Cronus found the stone unpalatable, disgorged it along with previous children he had swallowed. In the tradition of legends, Zeus later dethroned his father and became the chief god of the Greek pantheon.

Cronus, because of the similarity between his name and the word for time, was not forgotten. Someone gave him an hourglass, somebody added a scythe and he pops up once a year — the old year departs, the new Year comes.

Man Cleans Snow From Car, Finds CB, Antenna Gone

A Finzel man cleaned nearly all the snow from his 1969 Oldsmobile on Monday before he realized that the CB bumper mount antenna was missing.

A check inside his locked car revealed that his 23 channel Realistic CB unit was also missing.

Maryland State Police were called and are investigating the larceny, which occurred while the vehicle was sitting in the driveway of owner William Lousworth Biddington, Route 2, Frostburg.

According to the police report, the car apparently was unlocked by using mechanic's tools, the CB taken, and the car re-locked. Value of the missing antenna and CB was set at $185. Tfc. D. E. Tharp is investigating.

Buchtel-Yost Wed October 15th

Miss Jeanne Kay Yost and Bryan Michael Buchtel exchanged vows in a candlelight ceremony at 7:00 p.m., Friday, October 15th, at Community United Methodist Church in Virginia Beach, Virginia.

The Reverend Robert A. Rose performed the double ring ceremony. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Yost of Virginia Beach and the granddaughter of Mrs. J. W. Gilbert of Gorman, and Mrs. Harry L. Yost, Sr., of Oak Park. Both grandparents attended the wedding ceremony. Mr. Buchtel is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rodger D. Buchtel of Norfolk, Virginia.

The bride, given in marriage by her parents and escorted by her father, wore a floor length gown of white silk angelskin with an empire bodice featuring a sheer yoke and high neck edged with Brussels lace. The skirt, with attached chapel train, was embellished with a hemline flounce of Chantilly lace. The veil was a profile cap of lace featuring chapel mantilla edged in Brussels lace. The bride carried a silk flower nosegay of white roses, daisies, and baby's breath.

Mrs. Susan L. Creamer of Norfolk served as matron of honor. She wore a floor length gown of rust polyester crepe designed with an empire waist and carried a silk and dried flower nosegay in Autumn colors. The Bride's sister, Miss Carol Ann Yost, was the junior bridesmaid and Miss Lisa Buchtel, sister of the groom, was the bridesmaid.

Mr. Rodger D. Buchtel, the father of the groom, served as best man. Ushers were Mr. Penn Cummings of Virginia Beach and Mr. Don Haynes of Norfolk. Both wore brown tuxedos with eggshell-white, ruffled shirts and brown velvet bow ties with carnation boutonnieres.

A reception immediately followed the ceremony in the church social hall. The Candlelight Wedding cake with candles and a spiral of daisies topped by the traditional Bride and Groom was baked and decorated by Mrs. Brenda Bunting of Virginia Beach, a friend of the Bride's mother. It was served by Mrs. Paula Harrison of Chesapeake, Virginia. Punch was served by Mrs. Norma Haynes and Mrs. Grace Price of Norfolk. The guests were registered by Mrs. Marcia Cummings of Virginia Beach.

The new Mrs. Buchtel graduated from Kempsville High School, Virginia Beach and attended Old Dominion University. She is presently employed by the Navy Regional Finance Center in Norfolk. Mr. Buchtel graduated from Norview High School in Norfolk and is a graduate of the Naval Air Rework Facilities Apprenticeship program. He is currently employed as an Aircraft Instrument Mechanic at the Naval Air Rework Facility.

The couple is presently residing in Norfolk, Virginia.

Announce Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest R. Bennett, Baltimore, announce the engagement of their daughter, Darden Ann, to Mr. Richard L. O'Hare, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. O'Hare, Jr., also of Baltimore. Mrs. Bennett is the former Julia Ann Aronhalt of Oakland.

SAINTHOOD?

So, you sang in the choir when you were a kid. And sometimes you snitched cigarettes back of the church while the grownups were having their social hour inside. Sometimes you pretended to have a sore throat, so you could be "excused." You looked like an angel, but were you one?

No way!

But no one held it against you. The door to the Church stood wide open then, and it still does. Why not take a walk inside some Sunday? See what it's like today! The years in between won't seem to matter.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

HOME COUNTRY?

Lesson for January 16, 1977

Background Scripture: Mark 1:14-15; Luke 4:14-30
Devotional Reading: Isaiah 61:1-4

The story of Jesus' return to Nazareth following his baptism by John is hardly a good text on "How to win friends and influence people."

Yet, it might have been. Actually, it seemed to get off to a good start. Jesus, Luke tells us, did not return directly from his baptism in Judea to Nazareth, but went preaching and teaching in the towns of Galilee. So impressed were the people who heard him that "a report concerning him went out through all the surrounding country" (4:14). It was a good report, too, for Luke says, "he taught in their synagogues, being glorified by all" (4:15).

Rev. Althouse

The home synagogue

It wasn't long before his reputation spread to his own home town of Nazareth, so that when it was learned that he had at last returned home, his presence in the synagogue was anticipated with much interest. Because of the reputation that had reached them, the authorities of the synagogue treated him as an honored guest, passing to him to read the scroll of Isaiah, a mark of respect.

Jesus stood to read the scroll — as was the custom — and turned to a passage that he chose in order to communicate his mission to his own people. Part of what he read was from Isaiah 58:6 and part from Isaiah 61:1-2, passages in which the Prophet Isaiah speaks of the role of God's "servant." Luke describes the tense moment as he closed the scroll: "and the eyes of all in the synagogue were fixed on him" (4:20). Anxiously they waited for his comment.

"Today," said Jesus, "this scripture has been fulfilled in your hearing" (4:21). That was all, nothing more.

It wasn't quite the message they might have expected from one whom some said was the Messiah. Few people associated Isaiah's servant passages with the expectation of the Messiah. They were looking for a powerful ruler, military leader, a liberator to throw off the Roman oppression. Jesus, however, saw his mission as one of preaching "good news to the poor," proclaiming "release to the captives, and recovering of sight to the blind, to set at liberty those who are oppressed," to proclaim "the acceptable year of the Lord" (4:18,19).

A local boy

Even to this, however, they responded favorably at first, but then they began to question. "Is not this Joseph's son?" (4:22). Not only did other people believe "nothing good" could come out of Nazareth, but apparently they did too. Sensing this, Jesus said, "no prophet is acceptable in his own country" (4:24).

Jesus then went on to remind them of two passages of scripture in which God bestowed his grace not upon one of his "chosen people," but upon a gentile. The meaning, of course, was that their perception of God was too provincial, narrow, and limiting. That is the real reason why they could not accept him in his own home country.

WARTS MAY BE CONTAGIOUS

Most people do not realize that contact with a wart can cause another to form. Cutting a wart on your body may spread the "virus" in it. warts are caused by a virus and may often disappear and return again in the same or other parts of the body.

If you have warts, it is not wise to attempt self treatment. Your physician can, if necessary, remove them safely so others will not form. We offer this advice because your better health is our chief concern.

YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a medicine. A great many people entrust us with their prescriptions. May we compound yours?

OPEN LINE

By
Congressman Goodloe Byron
Maryland—Sixth District

This regular column serves as another vehicle to keep in touch with all segments of my constituency. It is an open invitation for you to question me on issues, let me assist you with your problems, request information or comment on whatever happens to be on your mind. Letters should be sent to me c/o U.S. House of Representatives, Washington, D.C. 20515. While space is obviously limited for printing all replies, I shall make every effort to answer each person who contacts me.

The following questions were typical of the kind asked of me in recent weeks.

Did you support the "Government in the Sunshine" Act?

Yes, and the bill has now passed the House of Representatives. The legislation requires that all meetings of federal agencies be open to the public unless the meeting deals with such topics as classified information or personnel problems.

I have a suggestion on improving our National Parks. Who can I get in touch with to discuss this matter further?

Inquiries, complaints or recommendations should be addressed to Jean Hawkins, Office of Communications, Department of The Interior, Washington, D.C. 20240.

How did you vote on the Economic Development Act Authorization last year?

I supported passage of the bill which finances public works investments in economically depressed areas, including grants and loans for acquisition of land for industrial use and grants for other improvements needed to attract businesses to declining areas. The measure passed the House of Representatives overwhelmingly.

I did not receive a mail order item I sent for several months ago. A letter of complaint was sent the company but I have received no reply. Can you help me?

You can seek aid under the Postal Service consumer protection program. Just ask your local post office for a Consumer Service Card. By filling in this card and returning it to the post office, the consumer turns the matter over to the Postal Service, which will then deal directly with the company involved.

I am new to the area and would like to know if you have a local office in Western Maryland?

I have four local offices in Central and Western Maryland to aid you on the community level should you need immediate assistance on a problem. These offices are an extension of my Washington office and you should feel free to avail yourself of their services if you have any questions relating to federal matters or legislation on which you wish to express an opinion. In Frederick, my office is located in the Frederick Towne Mall (Telephone 662-8622); in Hagerstown, at the Franklin Street Post Office (Telephone 797-6043); in Howard County at Wilde Lake Village (Telephone 997-8131); and in the Cumberland area, citizens seeking assistance should phone 729-0390.

JUPITER'S MOONS

Periodically Jupiter's moons pass behind the planet. Careful timings of these eclipses have several uses. Checking the accuracy of their predicted times, and determining how the observed time depends on the telescope apperature. As satellites pass behind the planet they gradually dim until they vanish. The disappearance of the last speck of light and the appearance of the first visible speck of light are the events whose time is to be recorded.

New Moon phase at 9:11 a.m. Wednesday. Moonset varies from 12:12 p.m. today to 5:53 p.m. Wednesday.

Sunday at 4:05 p.m. the moon will be 366,450 kilometers (227,790 miles) from the earth. This perigee is the closest the moon will be to earth this month.

Visible planets are Mercury, Venus, Jupiter, and Saturn. Mercury is visible forty-five minutes before sunrise in the east southeast. Venus dominates the west sky for almost four hours after sunset. Jupiter is seen against the background of Aries high in the east at sunset. Saturn is among the stars of Cancer, rising two hours after sunset.

Nine minutes more daylight are gained by the end of the week. Today the sun rose at 7:37 a.m. Nine hours thirty-nine minutes later it will set at 5:16 p.m. Wednesday sunset is seven minutes later, while sunrise is two minutes earlier than today.

Letter To The Editor

To The Editor:

I should like to publicly thank Father Martin Feild who served as Chairman of the 1976 UNICEF support program in Garrett County and all the other persons and groups who were responsible for this community effort on behalf of the world's children.

Thanks to the generous support of public officials and citizens throughout Maryland, 1976 was a good year for UNICEF, both in contributions and in the sale of greeting cards, calendars, and gifts.

This support will enable the United Nations Children's Fund to assist children in 110 countries, in cooperation with the partner governments, by improving basic health services, nutrition, and child welfare at the village level. UNICEF assists children on the basis of need, not on the basis of race, religion, sex, or politics. All aid is administered under strict rules of control and supervision, with regular inspection of projects.

Since water-borne diseases are one of the greatest threats to children, providing safe water supplies is one of UNICEF's most important services. $100 will provide a well to bring safe water to some 1,000 villagers.

UNICEF also brings to emergencies, such as the recent earthquake in Turkey, the kind of aid that can serve as a basis for long-term assistance focused on the needs of mothers and children.

UNICEF information and resources for global awareness education, including free films, will be available to Maryland residents throughout the year from the Md. UNICEF Office, Room 411 — The Rotunda, Baltimore 21211.

Frances Nyce
Md. Representative for UNICEF

Gorman VFD Goes To Moreland Home Twice

Members of the Gorman Volunteer fire company were called to the Buck Moreland residence on Althouse Hill twice last week, once to a flue fire and once to a false alarm.

On Thursday, about 2:30 p.m. a flue fire brought six men and two trucks to the home, to douse flames which started in the area of the chimney. The fire burned a one foot hole in the brick siding, and also caused damage to the rafters of the one story dwelling.

About 1:30 p.m. Friday, firemen were called to the home again after Mrs. Moreland became alarmed when she saw what appeared to be smoke drifting around the chimney. Blowing snow had given the appearance of smoke, according to the firemen's report. Four men and one truck responded to this call.

Behind the good looks of the 1977 Fords is the most advanced corrosion protection Ford has ever given its cars and light trucks.

Announcing the Ford Anti-Corrosion System

The new Ford Anti-Corrosion System is the most advanced we've ever developed. Here's what it means to you.

Anti-Corrosion Measures

1. More than twice as much pre-coated steel as ever before.
Prior to stamping and assembly, sheet steel gets a corrosion-resistant coating that is baked on. This is followed by a zinc-rich top coating that is also baked on and cured for high durability. The average use per car of pre-coated steel for 1977 has more than doubled over 1976.

2. Galvanized steel where it matters.
You can't see where we use corrosion-resistant galvanized steel, but we use plenty of it in rocker panels, cowl top panels (unitized body), critical underbody parts, fuel filler doors and Pinto fenders.

3. Vinyl sealer on many critical areas.
A tough flexible material sprayed on some front fenders and the underside of rear wheelhousings. And we apply vinyl sealing compound on many body seams before they are welded together.

4. Gun-sprayed aluminized wax coating.
Goes into the lower part of doors, wagon tailgates, wagon spare tire wells, rear quarter panels and wheelhousing. We put it on thick.

5. Gun-sprayed zinc-rich primer.
We spray zinc-rich primer in hard-to-reach areas of the car body, to set up a sacrificial barrier against moisture and corrosive chemicals.

6. Anti-corrosion coating on rear wheelhousing.
On the edges of rear wheelhousing openings and in the station wagon spare tire well, all 1977 models now have a specially formulated asphalt coating to supplement the spray-applied vinyl sealer.

7. Phosphate bath for tougher paint.
Cleans the entire body. The phosphate treatment also creates a better bond between the sheet metal and the paint.

8. Tough epoxy base primer.
Epoxy primer goes on before the final paint coat, and it's done car lines, in various assembly plants. Ford is expanding the use of electrocoat priming in which the car body is immersed in a tank of primer and charged with electricity that draws the primer, like a magnet, into hard to reach areas, plating the body with protection against corrosion.

9. Three applications of finish paint.
Via automatic, multiple-step process, two coats of epoxy primer, then three finish coats of acrylic enamel.

10. Research.
At Ford's research facility, test cars are both sprayed with a salt solution, driven over dirt and salt-and-then-wetted roads, and then placed in a heated humidity chamber at 95%-100% humidity and 120°F temperature for 22½ hours. This grueling process is repeated for up to sixty cycles (three months) to approximate prolonged exposure to the kinds of road-salting conditions experienced on many highways and roads.

Our testers are selected at random from the production lines of North American assembly plants and submitted to tests that insure all processes in the system are under control.

Each Ford-built American car is subject to the Anti-Corrosion procedure appropriate to its design and manufacture. Naturally there are differences between cars and plants.

Ours is an ongoing commitment at Ford.

Stewart - Murphy Vows Exchanged

Wedding vows were exchanged December 18 by Miss Twylah Murphy and Clyde William Stewart, Jr.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. William E. Price and Rev. Kieran Fergus in the First Congregational Church of Frostburg. Organist was Mrs. Virgil Atkinson and vocalist was Ms. Jeanlyn Lewis.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Murphy, Frostburg. Mr. Stewart is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Stewart, Sr., Portsmouth, Va.

Given in marriage by her parents and escorted to the altar by her father, the bride was attired in a gown of maracaine knit jersey trimmed in re-embroidered Venise lace. The bodice high neckline and bishop sleeves were embellished with the lace. The A-line skirt was accented with the lace in an 'A' effect, with lace medallions. The skirt swept to a chapel train, repeating the lace medallion motif. A Juliet headdress of Venise lace and seed pearls held tiers of elbow-length bridal illusion. She carried a cascade bouquet of red sweetheart roses, holly, white pompons and long streamers tied in love knots.

Matron of honor for her sister was Donna Shockey. Bridesmaids were Carolyn Dooley, Pennsylvania, and Lucy Lynn Stewart, sister of the bridegroom. Junior bridesmaid was Colette Shockey, niece of the bride.

Best man was Doug Wright of Virginia. Ushers were Stanley Davis and Michael Eckart. Readings were by Kenneth Murphy, Florida, and Ronald E. Murphy, brothers of the bride.

A reception followed at Lane Center, Frostburg State College. Serving cake was Mrs. Johanna Ringer and serving punch were Mrs. Shirley Murphy, sister-in-law of the bride, and Mrs. Ellen Leasure, aunt of the bride. Mrs. Harriett Murphy, sister-in-law of the bride, registered guests.

For a trip to Williamsburg, Va., the bride chose a burgundy pantsuit with black assessories.

The bride, a graduate of Beall High School and Frostburg State College where she majored in elementary education, is employed by the Garrett County Board of Education.

Mr. Stewart is a graduate of Woodrow Wilson High School and Frostburg State College where he majored in history. He is employed by Frostburg State College.

The couple resides in Accident.

A surprise personal shower was given by Carolyn Dooley at her home. A rehearsal dinner was held at Maplehurst Country Club, hosted by the bridegroom's parents.

Out-of-town guests were from Maryland, Pennsylvania, Virginia, Florida and Washington.

Will Conduct Deer Trapping, Tagging Project

The Wildlife Administration will again conduct a deer trap and tagging project in the county, it was announced by Edward Golden, district wildlife manager.

All deer trapped and tagged will be released on the site where captured, he explained and no deer will be removed from the county. He added that this project would provide the wildlife administration with valuable information for future management of the deer herd.

He advised if any person should see these large traps, to please not disturb them. Any disturbance will hamper the operation and increase the cost of the project.

If a tagged deer is taken during the legal deer season, killed accidentally, or found dead from unknown causes, persons are to contact the district wildlife office at Mt. Nebo Work Center, north of Oakland, right away.

Mr. Golden said it was necessary for the administrator to check the deer for vital information such as its physical condition and location of the area where it was found. He said the information would be used for comparison with data obtained when it was originally trapped and tagged.

IN LOVING MEMORY

In loving memory of Darla Diane DeWitt who passed to her heavenly home Jan. 18, 1973.

Today is a day of remembrance,

A day we will always remember,

Safe beyond all grief and care,
Our loved one plays in heavenly peace.

Robert Shimer Logs 28,000 Miles In Fire Investigations

Robert Shimer, deputy investigator for the state fire marshal's office, drove over 28,000 miles last year in Garrett and Allegany counties to investigate a combined total of 109 fires. Twenty-eight of these involved arson and malicious burning.

In Garrett County last year Mr. Shimer investigated 44 fires. There were two persons killed, and 14 of the fires were deliberately set. Mr. Shimer said 11 of the 14 cases are still under investigation.

The largest monetary loss in this county last year was over $100,000 when a large cottage on Deep Creek Lake and a packing barn on Route 50 burned. This is in addition to the over $100,000 losses from the arson fires.

Mr. Shimer said three Garrett County arson cases were closed last year when seven persons were arrested. In addition, six false alarm cases were also closed with the arrest of a juvenile.

Last year in Garrett, defective heating or misuse of heating equipment accounted for nine fires, while defective wiring or electrical equipment caused four fires.

Three fires were attributed to matches and smoking materials, and there were two blazes caused by the misuse of flammable liquids. There were four miscellaneous fires and eight fires where the cause was not determined.

Of the 44 investigated last year in this county, there were 17 dwellings, six cabins, four huge trailers, six barns, two automobiles, eight other miscellaneous occupancies, and one false alarm.

In 1975 in Garrett, Mr. Shimer investigated 43 fires and 22 were classified as arson with damage amounting to over $1,250,000. Seven of the 22 arson cases were closed by arrests. Two persons were killed in that year also.

Last year in Allegany County Mr. Shimer handled 65 fires and 14 of those were arson.

Trappers Provide 2 Million Dollar Boost to Economy

Maryland's trappers brought over 2 million dollars to the State's economy in 1976, according to Karl Hodil, Acting Administrator of the Department of Natural Resources Wildlife Administration.

This was an increase of over $500,000 over trapping revenues in 1975.

Increased harvests and market values of foxes, raccoons, and muskrats are primarily responsible for last year's record season compiled from the reports submitted by Maryland's 66 fur dealers. The average price of red fox jumped from $20 to $38 per pelt, gray fox surged from $12 to $28 and raccoons averaged $3 more per pelt.

The outlook for the 1976-77 fur market is good. Demands for raccoon, muskrat, red fox and gray fox at the close of the 75-76 fur buying season were stable or increasing. Due to managerial changes in Italy's major beaver processing plants, worldwide surpluses of beaver pelts should decrease causing a gradual increase in pelt prices, Mr. Hodil said.

The 1976-77 trapping seasons for Maryland furbearers are as follows:

Beaver: January 16-March 15, bag limit varies by county, see Hunter's Guide. Season closed to non-residents.

Otter: January 1-March 15, bag limit varies by county. Season closed to non-residents.

Muskrat and Mink: November 15, 1976-February 15, 1977 in Garrett, Allegany, Washington, Frederick, Carroll and Howard Counties. January 1-March 15 in all other counties, no bag or possession limits.

Skunk: September 1, 1976-August 31, 1977, no bag or possession limits.

Fox (Red and Gray): September 1, 1976-August 31, 1977. No bag or possession limits in some counties.

Nutria: January 1-March 15, on lands owned or controlled by the Wildlife Administration, September 1, 1976-August 31, 1977 on all other areas, no bag or possession limits.

Upon completion of the course enrollees will be awarded a citation of successful completion. The names of those receiving citations will be published so that the community will be made aware of their skills and training.

DNR Announces Record Number of Registered Boats

A record number of boats were registered in Maryland in 1976, according to the Department of Natural Resources.

The total was 130,672 eclipsing last year's mark of 121,752, said Mrs. Benny Bess Crandall, director of DNR's Licensing and Consumer Services unit.

Mrs. Crandall said renewals for 1977 registrations have been mailed to boat owners and she urged them to return the forms and checks to DNR as soon as possible to avoid the traditional late spring and early summer rush.

All boats with motors must be registered in Maryland. The annual fee for motor boats in excess of sixteen feet is $5. Also, any boat with a motor of 7½ horsepower or more is subject to the $5 annual fee. Boats 16 feet or less with motors of 7½ horsepower or less are registered free of charge.

Registration certificates for 16 feet or less with 7½ horsepower or less are valid for three years. Boats owners in that category who have certificates valid through 1977 or 1978 have been mailed their blue stickers to write Licensing and Consumer Services, Department of Natural Resources, Tawes State Office Building, Annapolis, Md. 21401.

The county-by-county breakdown shows that Anne Arundel led the state in both boat owners by residence and by homeports.

More than half of Maryland's registered boats, 65,402, are kept at home and trailered to the water.

Keep The Spirit . . .

One can get plenty of opinions about what lies ahead for Garrett County and the United States during the year 1977. Whatever else the new year brings is a matter of speculation — prosperity or depression, a beautiful harvest or a poor crop year, more jobs or more unemployment, inflated prices or a leveling off for the general economy.

We truly live in a "small world." Happenings on the national scene are greatly affected by political and business events in other countries, in all parts of the world. Import and export agreements, trade and political alliances with other nations can affect the general welfare of the average American — and his pocketbook — because these factors help establish the prices consumers must pay in the market places and put those "ifs" into political and economic forecasts.

The best approach, we feel, for those who would like to have a good year is to choose a forecast to one's liking and then put forth a great amount of personal effort toward self improvement in all aspects of the American way of life.

There is an American spirit that survives, that is undaunted by oil embargos, fire, flood, or drought. There is a spirit to persevere, to carry on, and it has never been stronger than now, as we get underway in the 3rd century after closing out a most successful observance of the nation's 200th year.

Bloomington Dam Due $24.2 Million

The 1978 federal budget submitted to Congress on Monday calls for $24.2 million to be expended on the Bloomington Dam, now under construction.

This is considerably more than the $18 million allocated for the combination flood control and downstream water supply project last fiscal year.

Robert W. Craig, resident engineer for the Upper Potomac District of the Corps of Army Engineers, said the money would go toward the construction of the main part of the dam and also to the dike and spillway.

The Perini Construction company of Framingham, Mass., was low bidder on the biggest contract, the main embankment, with $58 million.

Mr. Craig said work on clearing the trees and brush from the area of the main embankment would be started by Perini when the severe weather abates.

The Lane-New York Company, which has the contract for grouting the West Virginia abutment of the dam, worked until last week when extreme cold and snow halted operations.

Grouting of the Maryland side of the dam, a project that covered a vertical 296-foot wall, was completed in August by the H. L. Mott company of Huntington, W. Va.

When the dam is completed it will have cost approximately $153.1 million. Mr. Craig also reported that in early spring the Corps of Engineers will advertise for bids on the construction of the dike and spillways on the Maryland side of the dam.

The big impoundment on the North Branch of the Potomac river will be used also to augment the supply of water in the river during dry spells and also to hold back flood waters in coordination with the Savage River dam.

Recreation areas will be built on both the Maryland and West Virginia sides of the dam.

Photo Reminder

Once again we issue a plea to all individuals sending in photos for publication in The Republican to please make all possible efforts to send black and white pictures ONLY.

Color photos, no matter how sharp and clear, simply do not reproduce satisfactorily, resulting in loss of faces and a general "muddy" appearance.

While we will probably continue to accept color photos, the quality of the finished product will continue to be poor. In our opinion it is often better to omit the picture completely if the printed result will be nothing more than a blur.

So, for that special anniversary, wedding, business promotion, award presentation or whatever the occasion, a roll of black and white film will mean the difference.

ARC Package Over $17 Million

Thirty-one projects in Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties which envision total expenditure of $17,613,247 are included in Section 214 Appalachian Regional Commission package for the current fiscal year.

More than one-third of the total cost of these projects or $6,793,296, is being sought from ARC in the current fiscal year. That is about four times the allocation available of $1,762,685.

Sixteen of the projects involve Allegany County, 10 are for Washington County and five for Garrett County.

The last two projects on the list are the two seeking the largest chunk of cash from ARC. The 36th project, the Garrett County Health Center construction, envisions a total cost of $1,000,000 with $750,000 of that coming from ARC.

The other four projects for Garrett County include: Central Garrett industrial park utilities development, in Accident, $52,000; Gorman water system, $48,100; Kitzmiller water system, $287,100; Deer Park water system, $157,500.

BLIZZARD CONDITIONS continued to obscure schools this past week, nearly covering the front at the Southern Middle School with frozen white stuff. School buses loaded up early again on Wednesday due to icy roads and blowing snow. No schools were open Thursday, but slightly rising temperatures and no wind led to hopes that school may resume regular schedules tomorrow, at last, after two weeks of heaping snow, frigid, blinding winds, and ice.

Blizzards Lock Area In Icy Vise

Blizzard conditions and frigid temperatures held their vise-like grip on the Mountain Top for the second straight week. Schools were closed and some roads were blocked. High winds Sunday and into Monday blew four more inches of snow into drifts causing the road blockages. The high winds and a minus 16 degrees took the chill factor down near the minus-70-degree mark.

Schools have been closed seven days up to Tuesday because of the weather. Of these, three will have to be made up, according to Dr. William Bixler, Superintendent of Schools. Schools were closed Monday and Tuesday and also at 1:30 p.m. yesterday.

State roads were all open yesterday to full traffic. One-way traffic prevailed Monday on Md. 42 north of Friendsville, Md. 495 north of Bittinger, south of Glendale Road and in the North Glade Section. Md. 135 was one-way in the cut near Deer Park and Md. 560 just north of the White Church road. U. S. 219 was one-way in spots, south of Gortner and south of Red House. The Snow Emergency was still in effect yesterday. The SHA had the assistance of men and equipment from Washington and Allegany Counties widening and keeping roads open.

The County Roads Department has been having considerable difficulty keeping roads open. They would be opened during the day and would blow shut again at night. Yesterday, roads were fairly well open except in the Kempton road area. Conditions worsened by noon and schools were called off. The main concern of the County Roads according to Clayton Smith was getting school buses safely to their destinations so as not to endanger the children from exposure.

Monday was probably the coldest day of the season, chill-wise. With a 30 to 35-per-mile wind and the mercury at minus 16 would put the chill factor at minus 70 degrees. Low pressure systems dropping down from Canada followed by highs have been responsible for bringing the cold Canadian air into the region.

On Monday, Lt. Gov. Blair Lee III approved use of the National Guard to help keep county roads open. Three pieces of Guard equipment from Oakland were put into use, manned by 12 enlisted Guardsmen and one officer, Capt. Kenneth Metheny. Oakland had two dozers and one loader on the roads, while Allegany county sent up one other loader.

At the county garage, breakdowns of older equipment plagued the mechanics. This week two graders were down awaiting repair parts for a transmission and an axle. Some trucks in the Oakland area were also temporarily out of use due to mechanical problems.

There was one grader at Accident and one in Grantsville also out of service while parts were obtained and repairs made. The graders range

Sheriff Releases Report For 1976

According to the annual sheriff's report for 1976, activities were quite lively during the previous year. A check of the records showed that 1,931 papers were served concerning civil, criminal, law, equity, summons, warrants and mesvelanes.

Over 2,100 complaints were answered by members of the department in all areas of the county. Some 325 arrests were made on various charges. Six-teen of the 325 were picked up on charges concerning controlled dangerous substances.

The jail had a total of 4,478 prisoner days for the year. Some 47 trips were made transporting prisoners to and from prisons in the Baltimore area. Deputies also made one trip to Texas and one to Florida to pick up prisoners.

The departmental vehicles traveled a total of over 228,000 miles in 1976.

Georgia's Jimmy Carter Becomes 39th President

Jimmy Carter took the oath of office as 39th president of the United States prior to noon today before the capitol building in Washington, D.C.

He presided over an inauguration eve social on Wednesday evening.

The inaugural parade was scheduled to follow the inauguration ceremonies in freezing weather.

President Gerald Ford spent Wednesday clearing his desk of final details, telephoned farewells to world leaders and pardoned Tokyo Rose. He also approved what amounted to a token change in the rules on leniency for Vietnam-era military deserters but rejected blanket amnesty.

Planned for the new president are a tour of the United States for two weeks to meet with officials, then meet prime minister of Canada and the president of Mexico and address Congress and the United Nations.

Thawing Pipes With Torch Can Be Very Dangerous And Costly

Robert Shimer, fire investigator in Allegany and Garrett counties for the state fire marshal's office, warns that thawing frozen water pipes with a blow torch or propane gas torch can be a dangerous and costly practice.

Several fires in recent days in the two counties were attributed to persons using torches to thaw out pipes.

This procedure has proven to be unsafe, resulting in about $80,000 property loss during last week, according to Mr. Shimer.

13-Year-Old Dies Of Gunshot Wound

A 13-year-old Friendsville boy died of a gunshot wound to the chest Monday after being shot by a brother while they were playing with guns.

Pronounced dead at his home on the Accident-Friendsville Road was Ronald Eugene Green. He has two brothers and one half-brother had been playing with two firearms in the living room of their home when a .22 calibre rifle held by Kenneth Charles Green accidentally discharged, according to the state police report.

Tfc. Robert Friend, criminal investigator for the Maryland State Police, investigated, assisted by Cpl. H. S. Lewis and Tfc. John Yates. State police were notified at 2:30 p.m.

The body was taken to Sacred Heart Hospital for autopsy at the direction of Dr. James Fowler, deputy medical examiner for Garrett County.

The children's mother, Mrs. Christina Shaffer, was shopping in Pennsylvania at the time of the accidental shooting.

Ronald was an eighth grade student at Northern High School, where he was a member of the F.F.A. He was also a member of the Boy Scout troop in Friendsville.

Surviving in addition to his mother are his father, Fred A. Green, Lancaster, Pa.; two brothers, Fred and Kenneth Green; one half-brother Jerry Shaffer; one half-sister Karen Shaffer, all at home; maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Morehard, LaGrange, Indiana and paternal grandmother, Mrs. Agnes Hobbs, Kewanee, Md.

The body was taken to the Newman Funeral Home in Friendsville where a service is being conducted this afternoon by Rev. Phillip Geoghan.

Utility Poles, Guard Rails, Bridge All Involved In Collisions

Utility pole collisions, guard rail collisions, rear end collisions, even a bridge collision all helped to raise the number of accidents compiled and investigated since the first of the year by the Maryland State Police.

Exceedingly bad weather conditions with blowing snow and poor visibility led to many accidents in all sections of the county, on both state and secondary roadways.

On January 16, at 2:30 p.m. Eva Viola McKenzie, Friendsville, was northbound on Route 219 1,000 feet from Foster Road when she struck a snowdrift and became stuck. Kim Alan Meyers, Oakland, was also traveling north and ran into the rear of the McKenzie vehicle. The operators of the two vehicles had just left their cars when a car operated by Susan Louise Yost, Oakland, ran into the rear of the Meyers car, forcing the McKenzie car to strike Mrs. McKenzie who was standing to the right side of her car. All three operators were injured and taken by a passerby to Garrett County Memorial Hospital for treatment.

Cpl. R. S. Lewis investigated but made no charges.

On the 16th, at 1:20 a.m. Wilbert Glen DeWitt, Short Creek, W. Va. was eastbound on Route 19 4 of a mile from Old Crellin Road when he was blinded by the snow and ran off the roadway, striking a C & P utility pole.

Neither the operator nor his passenger, Robert Nair, Oakland, were injured, and Tfc. E. J. Upole made no charges.

That same day, at 7:30 p.m. Sherry Ruth Friend, Water Street, Oakland, was northbound on Route 38 about 3/4 of a mile from Route 219 when she, too, was blinded by blowing snow, ran up onto a snowdrift on the edge of the roadway and overturned. Tfc. L. N. Smith made no charges.

At 7:58 a.m. January 18, Victor Maurice Ervin, Jr., Deer Park, was southbound on the Bethlehem Road about 4 of a mile from Boiling Spring Road. A Mt. Top Welding vehicle operated by Richard Edward Rinner, Oakland, came upon a vehicle parked in the roadway. When Rinner attempted to slow down and not strike the parked car, he nosed his vehicle into the snow on the right shoulder. The truck spun around in the road and struck the Ervin truck. Tfc. Upole made no charges as the road was extremely slick at the time.

Two accidents occurred within 15 minutes in separate sections of the county on the 19th. At 12:45 p.m. Gerald Mason Rodeheaver, Friendsville, was eastbound on Sang Run Road when he went to the left of the center line to avoid a parked vehicle on the roadway. An oncoming car operated by John Hardy Rainer, McHenry, was struck by the Rodeheaver vehicle. The parked car was owned by Stephen DeWitt, McHenry. Tfc. G. D. Broadwater made no charges.

Hamill Elected To Board Of FNB

Former Judge of the Fourth Judicial Circuit of Maryland, Stuart F. Hamill, Jr. has been appointed by the Board of Directors of The First National Bank of Oakland to fill the unexpired term created on that body by the recent resignation of Fred A. Thayer. Mr. Thayer resigned on December 31, 1976, to accept an appointment as the Fourth Circuit Judge, the position formerly held by Mr. Hamill until he retired on December 31. Mr. Hamill began his official duties as a director of the bank on Wednesday, January 12, 1977 following an official swearing in ceremony held in the board room of the bank preceding Wednesday's regularly scheduled meeting.

Mr. Hamill, who served as Judge from October, 1961, until his retirement, is a native of Oakland and a graduate of Oakland High School. He attended college at Pottstown, Pennsylvania, and completed his pre-law studies at the University of Virginia at Charlottesville. He graduated with an LL.B. Degree in Law from the University of Baltimore, Maryland in June of 1941.

A veteran of World War II, Mr. Hamill served in General Patton's 3rd Army and toured under the famed commander throughout Europe. He received his honorable discharge as First Lieutenant following the war, in 1945.

Having returned to Oakland, Mr. Hamill established a successful law practice and was practicing attorney for some 16 years prior to becoming Judge in 1961. During the years of his private practice, Mr. Hamill served as attorney for the Garrett County Commissioners and the Garrett County Board of Education. He served on the Military Draft Board, Local 87, in Garrett County for nine years, serving also as Chairman of the Draft Board for about five years prior to his resignation. He is a past President of the Garrett County Bar Association, a member of the Maryland Bar Association, and a member of the American Bar Association. Until his retirement, Mr. Hamill was Chief Judge of the 4th Judicial Circuit of Maryland, a position he held for about five years prior to his recent retirement.

Mr. Hamill is a past Vice President of the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department. He was an active fireman for 18 years until he resigned in 1956. He is a member of the local American Legion, the V.F.W. and a former member of the Oakland-Mt. Lake Park Lions Club.

He resides at 2512 Route 135, Mt. Lake Park.

Fires Plague Mountaintop

The outbreak of fire is one of the less desirable characteristics of extremely cold weather and this most certainly held true for the Mountaintop this past week.

The Oakland Fire Department has responded to seven fires since last Friday afternoon.

At 1:26 p.m., Friday, Oakland fire fighters were called to a fire in the attic of a house under construction, owned by Dwight Lohr, on Route 560. Two pumpers and a tanker responded. There was approximately $2,000 damage.

Minutes later, another Oakland unit was called to extinguish a flue fire at the home of Gary Bittinger on Philadelphia Avenue in Mt. Lake Park. There was no damage.

On Sunday, at 11:40 p.m. Oakland was called to a car fire on Oak Street. The 1972 Plymouth, which sustained considerable damage, was owned by Paul Reese, of Oakland.

The fourth alarm of the week sounded Monday evening at 5:50 for a flue fire at the home of Clarence Stemple on L Street in Mt. Lake Park. There was approximately $30.00 damage.

MOON

Yesterday the moon passed in the same direction as the sun was from the earth yet there was no eclipse. The reason was that the moon did not pass directly between the earth and the sun, but it passed north of the direct line-of-sight between earth and sun. For the next several days watch the growing crescent moon just after sunset. One may notice the earthshine on the moon illuminating the area not in the sunlight. This is called, "the old moon in the new moon's arms."

The moon is waxing all week. It passes through its First Quarter phase on next Thursday morning at eleven minutes after midnight.

Visible this week are Mercury, Venus, Jupiter and Saturn. Mercury rises in the southeast about forty-five minutes before sunrise. Venus sets four hours after sunset. Jupiter is among the stars of Aries high in the east sky at sunset. Saturn is among the stars of Cancer rising about two hours after sunset.

Daylight lasts eleven minutes longer next Wednesday than it does today. The sun rose at 7:35 a.m. this morning. It sets nine hours forty-nine minutes later at 5:24 p.m. Wednesday the sun rises at 7:30 a.m. and sets at 5:30 p.m.

Monday Was A "Going" Matter...

If you tried to start your engine Monday morning and failed to do so, you can count yourself in a majority. The record low temperatures sent below zero chills throughout the area and water pipes were bursting at an alarming rate.

Above, three young men on Second Street in Oakland made use of jumper cables in an attempt to help them on their way. The attempt met with success; however, others were less fortunate in similar attempts around the county and had to rely on alternate means of transportation.

Alternate means in some cases meant public carriers, although some taxicabs were frozen idle and the Garrett bus sat the day out.

Further north, around Deep Creek Lake, prospective skiers were forced indoors to play table games and to warm themselves by amber-glo fires. Postcards and goggle purchases seemed to be the order of the day as were the round-table discussions about the weather.

In downtown Oakland, icy picture windows gave Second Street a ghost-like appearance although most businesses remained open for the nearly frostbitten traveller.

Is it true igloos are making a strong comeback?

in age from 1959 to 1973 models. Constant 24-hour-a-day use removing snow is unbelievably hard on equipment, according to Herbert McCrobie, administrative engineer.

For the last pay period, December 31 to January 16, the total payroll was $112,000, with over $58,000 of this amount overtime pay. The $112,000 is nearly twice the normal payroll due to the number of hours crews worked on the two shifts to attempt to keep roads free of the blowing snow.

January so far is one of the coldest on record, at least since 1938. The average so far is 12.5 degrees. Temperatures for the past week averaged 21.6 degrees below normal. Highs this past week averaged only 14.7 degrees or 24.3 degrees below normal. The highest was 37 degrees last Friday. Monday's high was a frigid two degrees below zero. Yesterday's high was 9 degrees, 6 on Wednesday. Lows averaged 4 degree or 19.0 degrees below normal. The low was a minus 16 degrees Monday. Since Sunday morning lows have been below zero.

All but a few hundreths of an inch of the .35 inch of precipitation fell as snow. There was some light rain and sleet Friday afternoon. Sunday and Monday snowfall amounted to 4.2 inches and yesterday's added .2 inch. This brings the month's fall to 18.1 inches. The snowfall for the 1976-77 season so far is 49.8 inches.

Last night's low was minus 4 degrees sometime during the night but had risen to 7 degrees above zero by sunrise. The sun was shining this morning in a mostly clear sky.

AMERICAN CAPITALISM AS AN ECONOMIC SYSTEM: A PERSPECTIVE

Harding College at Searcy, Arkansas has for the last 40 years captured a great deal of national recognition because of its strong defense of our American heritage.

In September 1976 the Harding College Business and Economics Department launched a new center for private enterprise education with Dr. Don Diffine, Assistant Professor of Economics, as its Director. The Center will disseminate balanced literature on topics of current interest. The Center's goal is to collect, write and disseminate positive, non-partisan, balanced literature on topics of current interest. Dr. Diffine refers to private enterprise as "the greatest story never told." The remainder of this column is taken from Dr. Diffine's leading article from the Department's October Newsletter and I quote:

"This country has built a unique economic society based on individual freedom, initiative and responsibility operating private, competitive enterprises. It is called the "free enterprise system" for short. Free enterprise means that any person in this country is free to start, own and operate a lawful business, with a minimum of interference by government. Our Constitution guarantees this. The only governmental regulation contemplated under our Constitution is the minimum necessary to protect the property, livelihood and life of each citizen.

Free enterprise is a way of meeting our needs and wants by providing them ourselves or by freely entered-into transactions with others. The individual is "free" to be anything he wants if he is "enterprising" enough to do it. Perhaps we often put too much emphasis on "free" and too little emphasis on "enterprise." It is a package deal of individual liberty and private property. They stand or fall together. Free to earn your keep and to keep what you earn is what it is all about.

The most basic institution of free enterprise is private property. A second ingredient of free enterprise is free access to the market. The motor of free enterprise, indeed, of all enterprise, is individual initiative. The great regulator of free enterprise is competition.

Again, the free enterprise system, what is it? The free enterprise system is a system of production, investment, and large consumption under which private individuals and business firms, largely by their own initiative and responsibility, combine the community's labor skills, managerial skills, and capital to produce the bulk of the goods and services men want. Its most characteristic features as compared with other economic systems are: maximum dependence upon completion and the free play of price to determine who shall produce what; maximum dependence on profit as an incentive rather than on compulsion or prestige; and maximum emphasis on free personal choice among the economic opportunities — be they goods or jobs — that are available to men.

land was called to extinguish a trailer fire in Shady Acres behind Fitzwater Furniture. The fire was out on arrival and there was little damage. The trailer is owned by Ed Fitzwater. The resident, Bob Coddington was attempting to thaw frozen water pipes with a kerosene heater.

Oakland fire fighters were called to assist Terra Alta at 2:00 Tuesday afternoon when fire broke out in a warehouse owned by Clem Teets in downtown Terra Alta. The building was totally destroyed, but fire fighters managed to save an adjacent building.

Last night at 9:50 Oakland was called to a flue fire at the residence of Dr. Joseph Alvarez on Oak Street. There was no damage.

The Deer Park Fire Department was called last Sunday morning at 3:45 a.m. to extinguish a fire in a condominium at Four Hoopole South, which was being rented by Tom F. Cullens, of Washington, D.C. The fire was contained in the bathroom and resulted in $200 damage.

Deer Park, however, was unable to get through the snowdrifts of Rt. 38 and Deep Creek was called for an assist.

Deep Creek was called out again Sunday evening at 8:00 to a fire on the Glendale Road at a ceramic shop. Damage was light.

Columbia Gas Co. Lifts Curtailment

Columbia Gas of Maryland, as of this morning at 8 o'clock, lifted the peak-day emergency curtailment. All customers are permitted to resume the normal operations at this time; however, while a short-term gas delivery problem has been overcome, the over-all natural gas shortage facing the nation is still with us.

The company expressed its gratitude for the outstanding cooperation from all customers during the peak-day emergency period, and noted that without this assistance the situation could have become much more serious.

Columbia continues to urge all customers to set their thermostats no higher than 67 degrees.

The extreme weather conditions had forced the company to cut back supplies to various local factories, including Bausch and Lomb, Oakland; Harbison Walker Refractories at Jennings, and the Amcelle plant near Cumberland.

Judge Thayer Finds Youths To Be Delinquent

Two 15 year olds were sentenced to the Maryland Training School for Boys.

Firemen Smoker Set For April 16

The Allegany-Garrett Counties Volunteer Firemen's association will stage its annual smoker on Saturday, April 16, and will receive bids from prospective sponsors at the association's next meeting on February 9, at Corriganville.

All officers, 10 past presidents and 22 departments were represented at the last association meeting January 9 at the Baltimore Pike fire hall. Departments have decided on their dates for summer carnivals and have been cleared with the association's committee.

Kill Congressional Pay Raise!!

Of all the crazy ideas to come out of Washington, D. C., the nuttiest one of 1976 was the proposal by the Commission on Executive, Legislative and Judicial Salaries to raise the pay of Congressmen and government bosses anywhere from 22 percent to 47.6 percent in 1977. In cash figures, that comes to a minimum pay raise of $12,900 for some, all the way up to a $20,000 raise per year for others. In round numbers, if Congress goes ahead and approves the raise, it will cost American taxpayers at least another $130 million per year.

Specifically, the nine-man Commission urges that the salary of the Vice President be raised from the present $65,600 to $80,000 (or a raise of $14,400 a year); the same amount for the Speaker of the House; for members of Congress, an increase of $12,900 a year (from $44,600 to $57,500 a year); Federal Judges would be given a raise of $20,000 a year (giving them a salary of $62,000 a year) and so on for all Cabinet members, agency heads, Under Secretaries, Assistant Secretaries, and bureau chiefs.

Our compatriot William Loeb, Editor-Publisher of the Manchester (New Hampshire) Union Leader commented with his usual restraint: "What an incredible piece of arrogance these recommendations are! At a time when we are trying to combat inflation, our rulers in Washington want to give themselves a 25 percent pay raise. Somebody has to be out of his mind down there!"

Mr. Loeb also reminds us that the proposed raise in pay exceeds the entire yearly income of most wage earners. To put it another way, the present pay enjoyed by members of Congress ($44,600 per year) is about $30,000 a year more than the average income of most wage earners. And that doesn't begin to take into consideration all of the so-called "fringe benefits" such as free hair cuts, medical care, postage and stationery allowances, travel expenses, and all the rest. And now they want even more!"

There is only one thing to do: pick up pencil and paper, or get out the typewriter, or get on the telephone, and let the Congressmen and Senators from your state know how you feel about the matter. It is time for Congress to stop ripping off long-suffering taxpayers back home. —U. S. Press Association.

A safe driver's critical edge in winter—good visibility

Safe driving is always serious business, but especially during winter.

Regular tune-ups, fresh anti-freeze, good tires and reliable brakes are important and require all the attention possible, but few of us give any serious thought to good visiblity.

The key to good winter visibility can be summed up in four words: see and be seen. A driver's ability to see and be seen is always crucial, but especially during winter when it gets dark early and stays dark later in the morning.

Here are a few visibility checks most safety-minded drivers should make before snow, sleet and freezing weather sets in.

DON'T BE A PEEPHOLE DRIVER — For safety's sake this winter, be sure you can see and be seen. Check your windshield washers and wipers, lights, mirrors and defroster before snowy weather sets in. You'll be glad you did.

Clean windows

• Windows — Probably the major requirement for safe winter driving is good visibility through the windshield, side and rear windows.

Wiper blades have one job: provide good visibility. There should be no smearing, chattering or skipping during wiper-to-glass action.

The life expectancy of even the finest quality natural rubber blade is about six months whether used regularly or not, according to windshield wiper experts at The Anderson Company (ANCO).

To help improve winter visibility, the windshield wiper industry has developed a flexible rubber jacket for regular wiper blades that it calls "snow blades." Ice will not adhere to the snow blade and the rubber jacket stays flexible so it can effectively clean the windshield.

It is also a good idea never to switch on your wipers without first squirting washer fluid on the glass. This aids visibility and extends wiper life.

Have your service attendant check your washer pump, all-season washer solvent, lines and jets regularly for clog-free operation. Be sure your washer solvent is protected against freeze-over.

Don't be a "peephole" driver. Brush all snow and scrape all ice from the windshield, side and rear windows.

Show your lights

• Lights — Head, tail, brake, side marker, turn signal and emergency lights all should be in perfect working order. Carry a roll of paper towels to clean roadway splatters from lights.

Headlights must operate on both beams and must be aimed correctly. This is a legal as well as a safety consideration.

Bright lights cause glare in fog and falling snow. Use your low beam. Switch on your lights in the daytime, too, if visibility is poor.

• Defroster — Pulling onto the road during cold weather without first allowing a few minutes for your defroster to clear away fog and frost, besides being extremely dangerous, can lead to a quick traffic citation. Switching on your car's air conditioning can clear windows of fog.

If your windshield does suddenly fog, immediately pull off to the side of the road and wipe it clean.

• Mirrors — All rear view mirrors should be checked for cracks, looseness or other damage. Replace if necessary.

Whether in January or July, driving dangers associated with poor visibility are all around you. Be ready to spot trouble before it's too late.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Mr. Editor,

I read your editoral with a two-fold interest, concerning the bald eagle as our National bird. It is interesting to know what this great, strong, rare, bird stands for. It was chosen for our National bird because of its strength and keenness of vision and its ability to endure.

The second fold of this is really much more saddening than the fact that the bird is slowly becoming extinct.

We are disarming for our enemies. We are allowing our great power to be surrendered to the United Nations. The freedoms at home are being swallowed up by big Government. Small business is being preyed upon by taxes, licenses, inspections and etc. Big business has become the target of government, labor and the customer. The morals and Christianity of our citizens are deteriorating. Could the diminishing number of this great bird be symbolic of our slowly weakening and slipping under a socialistic, satanic government?

It may be well to give this some thought!

Yours Truly,
Homer Mellott

GARRETT COMMUNITY COLLEGE

This new, regular column will serve as a voice of the Students and Faculty of Garrett County Community College.

"500 Miles"

If the classrooms of the college seem unusually quiet on Thursday afternoons this spring semester, it's because many students and even some faculty members are leaving their textbooks and heading for the ski slopes.

Fifty of them have registered for one of the most popular of all college courses, HPE 105 Basic skiing. For seven weeks they will meet at the Wisp to learn about snowplowing, turning, paralleling, and other things people do on skis.

According to Mrs. Lisa Chaney, women's physical education instructor, who is also a student in the class, the first session last Thursday was a good beginning. Of the 22 in the Beginner's Group, everyone was doing well by the end of the lesson, even those who had never been on skis before.

Of course, the session was not without its entertaining moments, and Mrs. Chaney recognized an unusual talent in several of her students. Secretarial Science instructor Tamara Garber demonstrated a new way to travel on skis — flat on the stomach. Paula Skiles kept everyone alert with her screasm of "Help me" as she came down the slope. And Dean Robert Trantham probably set an endurance record for a first time skier. According to his calculation, "When I got to the top of the rope tow and looked down the slope, the parking lot was 500 miles away."

By the end of the lesson, most of the novices had mastered the difficult art of leaning left to go right and were able to snowplow and walk up hill on their skis. It may be a while before they're ready to ski the face, but then, everybody has to start somewhere.

About Those Dangling Modifiers . . .

Fall Semester, 1976. That's when the collective groan began. All students enrolled freshman English courses at Garrett Community College had to take a comprehensive diagnostic test. The groan continued, and, if anything, intensified during the semester. Students whose tests indicated problem areas had to "work off" these areas in the Writing Lab.

"Working off" problem areas consisted of reading packets specially constructed by the members of the English Department, reading assigned sections in reference books, completing individualized instruction cards. When the student felt he was ready, he could take the "Post Test," and, upon achieving 80% or better on the test, move on to the next problem area. Students fumed over fragments, raged over run-ons, and cried over commas.

The groan peaked when the students learned, at the end of the semester, that they would have to take the same test again to measure their progress more accurately.

But now the groans have stopped. The results are in, and they are impressive. On the first test, the average score in all areas for those students who had to use the Writing Lab was 48%. At the end of the semester, these same students had increased their averages in the same areas to over 70%, or the equivalent of two letter grades.

The conclusion, then, is that, despite the groans (or maybe because of them) the Writing Lab at Garrett Community College is successfully helping students learn to write, and that is, after all, why it was started.

Twelve Killed On State Roads

Twelve persons lost their lives on Maryland Highways, during the past week, according to the weekly news release compiled by 2nd Lt. M. I. Morgan of the Maryland State Police. Of those killed six were drivers, one was a passenger and five were pedestrians.

Some 10,000 pedestrians die annually in traffic, accounting for nearly one-fifth of all vehicle-related deaths. In the State of Maryland alone, 158 pedestrians lost their lives in 1976, one-fourth of the total killed.

In a high percentage of pedestrian fatalities, the pedestrian is at fault. Jaywalking, disobeying traffic signlas and intoxication are among the major causes.

The next statement may cause debate. There is close to eight million alcoholic drivers in the nation, plus an estimated seventeen million social drinkers who drink more than is safe before driving. In at least half of all U. S. auto accidents, one or both drivers had been drinking, according to the National Safety Council. This statement is also verified by Maryland statistics. Over 50% of all Maryland fatalities were alcohol related.

Persons killed through January 16 totaled 21 compared to 24 for the same period last year.

Rotary Club To Honor Magazine

The Rotary Club of Oakland will honor the Rotarian Magazine on it's 66th anniversary, with a special program at the club's weekly meeting, on January 20, at the American Legion Home. Terry King and Baity Ridder will be in charge of the program.

The local club will join with 17,000 other clubs around the world, in observing Rotary's Magazine Week. Special emphasis will be given to the desirability of giving better priority to good news stories, deserving wide-spread attention, in the newspapers and magazines of our time.

The Rotarian is perhaps the most international of all magazines, reaching subscribers the world over, in 158 countries on six continents.

This magazine is published monthly as the official magazine of Rotary International, a world fellowship of 800,000 united in the ideal of "Service business and professional men, Above Self."

Brutal Weather Brings About Interesting Comments From Locals And Out-Of-Towners

If someone had a dime for every comment made about the weather this past week by folks in Garrett County, that someone's bank account would be at least in the six figure bracket. Some of those comments were overheard by one of our writers.

Douglas Stork, a four year old, was sipping a cup of hot chocolate with his parents in one of Oakland's pharmacies. When he overheard a group of persons chattering about the weather he offered his own comment which was shared by many. His comment was, "it's really cold here."

The Douglases left Leesburg, Virginia, at 6:30 Monday morning, where they had experienced a reading of only 12 degrees below, but when they arrived in Garrett County shortly before noon the temperature seemed even colder. And, it was.

For instance, according to Carol Anderson and John Wolfe, of the Cranesville-Lake Ford area, the wind chill factor had sunk to 75 degrees below zero.

Betty Sisler, of White Rock, quipped, "it's terrific for snowmobiles — but who's going to ride them?"

Comments regarding the unusual cold were fluent in and around the county and some were humorously accepted. Take for instance the one liner offered by I. R. Rudy, of Rudy's in Oakland. "During any given hour on Monday you could count as many as three persons on any given street in downtown Oakland."

Dudy Friend and Elaine Hoye were overheard saying, "the only ones out on a day like this are either crazy or hungry and I guess we're crazy."

Mary Kight, of Youthland, was half laughing, half serious when she remarked that "the weather was for the birds but that even they had moved on."

Of course, there is always an optimist in the crowd. Take these words uttered from a man as he made his way up Alder street. "I moved here nine months ago and if my memory serves me correct it was winter then."

Rosie Moon, who was stationing herself by a warm, cozy fire in Matthews Grocers, exclaimed that everything seemed under control in Accident although several cars and trucks were having much difficulty in getting started and consequently many were abandoned.

Over at the Bausch and Lomb plant in Mt. Lake Park, the weather's effects had met with a more somber tone. Jack King, Industrial Relations Manager, spoke on the aftermath of the freezing cold wave. As few as thirty per cent of the normal work force had shown for work Monday, due to heavy drifts lying on secondary roads on which a great number of employees traveled daily.

It wasn't just the drifts though as the temperatures were so low most engines simply refused to turn over.

This was the case throughout much of the county and the nation and all of the major television networks were predicting much of the same.

And so it goes, we gather around the tube each evening for that all-important forecast only to receive a, "you-wouldn't-believe-it," kind of weather report.

Area Job Funding Hits $70,875,603

The Appalachian Regional Commission has funded $70,875,603 for Western Maryland projects between 1965 and 1976, according to Martin Neat, Frostburg State College student who formerly was assigned as an intern for the Tri-County Council for Western Maryland.

He made the report at a recent meeting of the council in Cumberland. The figures show that Allegany county got $43,388,485; Washington county $16,514,272; Garrett county, $9,239,608; and the region $1,633,240.

The student displayed a number of charts in illustrating his points about the impact of ARC upon the area. One chart showed the volume received under Section 201 B for access roads. His figures showed that Allegany county received $2,206,568 for seven projects; Garrett County received $206,783 for two projects; and Washington county $1,456,606 for eight projects.

Mr. Neat pointed out that despite seven area grants under Section 206 for mine rehabilitation only one had been completed. He listed for Allegany county four projects totaling $3,127,500; and for this county, three projects aggregating $691,925.

On January 14 at 7:45 p.m., Mike Crawford McLaughlin, Swanton, was eastbound on the Old Oakland-Park Road and was unable to stop at a stop sign. John William George, Swanton, was westbound on Broad Ford Road and was attempting a right turn onto the Old Oakland-Park Road when he observed that the McLaughlin car was unable to stop. He attempted to abort his turn and go straight on Broad Ford but was struck by the McLaughlin car. Tfc. G. D. Broadwater made no charges.

That day at 8 p.m., Laverne David Savage, Grantsville, and William Henry Oester, Salisbury, were both eastbound on Route 40, 2 miles from Rover Road when Oester attempted to pass the Savage vehicle. A chain stretched across old Route 219 at McHenry caused a late night accident Friday night, the 14th. At 11:30 p.m. James Corbin Law, Laurel, was northbound on Old Route 219 at Point View Inn. Roger Lee Gittere, Friendsville, was parked in the Point View lot with a chain stretched across the road and hooked to a third vehicle. Law's car struck the chain which caused the Gittere car to be jerked back into the side of the Law car. Tfc. Upole issued no citations.

Snow heaped high caused a mishap on the 18th at 12:30 p.m. on Church Run Road 25 feet from Route 40. Kenneth Irvin Jenkins, Frostburg, was westbound and Susanne Brandenburg, LaVale, was eastbound in the same location when the cars collided near the center of the roadway. Tfc. Dale K. Williams made no charges as the snow made it impossible to see.

Several accidents occurred last Wednesday, the 12th. At 6:20 p.m. Billy Aiden Riggs, Mt. Lake Park, was southbound on Route 560 about 2 of a mile from Route 90 during a heavy snowfall. Upon meeting an oncoming vehicle, Riggs moved to the right and off the right front of the vehicle into a snowbank, which pulled him in deeper and he then struck a C & P utility pole. At 11:25 that morning Leo Dale Beachy, Grantsville, was northbound on Route 219 about 2 of a mile from Route 40. He was followed by Mark L. Emany, Dunkirk, N.Y. When Beachy slowed to make a left turn Emany skidded on the icy road and struck the Beachy car in the rear. Tfc. P. C. Georg made no charges.

At 7 a.m. January 11 Roger Kirk Welch, Kitzmiller, was heading south on Route 38 about 1.3 of a mile from Route 135 down a hill in a heavy snow. He lost control of his Jeep, struck some heavy plowed snow and rolled over. Tfc. Upole issued no citations.

Several mishaps occurred on the 10th with the majority caused by poor visibility and adverse weather conditions.

At 3:05 p.m. Shirley Teets, Springs, Pa., was moving slowly on Springs Road 6 of a mile from the Pennsylvania state line due to wind and drifting snow. A car operated by Donna Marie Bowers, Salisbury, was driving behind the Teets car and collided with that vehicle. Tfc. R. C. Georg made no charges due to very poor visibility.

There was a seven-car collision about 3 p.m. that afternoon on Route 219, this time 200 feet from Foster Road. All vehicles involved were southbound on Route 219 at the time. At 4:40 that afternoon bright sunlight, for a change, caused a mishap on Route 219 .2 of a mile from Mattingly Hill Road. A parked car which was stopped due to mechanical problems was struck by one operated by Lyverl Rex Snyder. Accident. One of the passengers in the parked car, Lloyd L. Wright, Washington, Pa., was standing by the parked vehicle at the time and was struck by the car, but was not injured. Tfc. Dale Williams investigated.

Maple Avenue in Friendsville was the scene again for an accident at 9:25 p.m. on the 8th. A car owned by Owen Frantz, Friendsville, was parked unattended southbound when a car heading northdriven by Espy Emerson Rose, Friendsville, crossed the road and struck the Frantz car in the left front. A car operated by Wanda Yvonne Will, Grantsville, passed the pedestrian on the left on a sharp curve where she met and collided with a vehicle driven by Harold Wilbur Wiley, also Grantsville. No charges were filed by Tfc. George as the road was snow-covered and slippery.

At 6 p.m. there was a two-car collision on Route 42 one-half mile from the West Virginia state line. Mark A. Finkenbinder, Fort Ashby, was stopped on the right shoulder of Route 42 when a car driven by William Bryan Lowry, Jr., Baltimore, went into a skid on the icy roadway and struck the Finkenbinder car. Tfc. Foley made no charges.

At 9:30 p.m. Lester Oren Bittinger, Oakland, was northbound on Route 219 about 9 of a mile from Fourth Street extended when he swerved to the right to avoid a skidding southbound vehicle. The snowblade on Bittinger's Blazer struck a culvert and the vehicle overturned.

A passenger, Francis Wade Hindsman, Swallow Falls, was removed from the wreckage by the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad and taken to Garrett County Memorial Hospital where he was treated and released. Upon his release, members of the sheriff's department were waiting to take him to jail on a charge of assault and battery filed by his wife Debbie. Hindsman was later freed on his own recognizance after a bond hearing.

Tfc. L. N. Smith did not charge Mr. Bittinger in the incident. Members of the Oakland Fire Company were called to wash gasoline from the roadway.

James Ronald Heath, Deer Park, was westbound on Glendale Road about 5:30 p.m. that afternoon when he failed to negotiate a sharp left turn due to snow and ice, and ran off the road to the right and struck some county guardrails. No charges were made.

Media Bias On National Defense

It seem incredible, but a warning to the nation by some of its most distinguished citizens concerning the Soviet military threat is not news. Not to the New York Times, at least, which chose to ignore the story completely.

The occasion was a press conference on November 11 by a group called the Committee on the Present Danger. They issued a statement saying, "The principal threat to our nation, to world peace, and to the cause of human freedom is the Soviet drive for dominance based upon an unparalleled military buildup." The Committee further noted that the Soviet Union "has not altered its long-held goal of a world dominated from a single center, Moscow. It continues to take advantage of every opportunity to expand its political and military influence throughout the world."

This was no outdated cold-war rhetoric from an assemblage of crackpots. Rather, it was a solemn pronouncement from some of the most experienced and savvy men and women in America. Its board of directors included five former Cabinet officers and seven sub-Cabinet officers. Other included eight former ambassadors and nearly 40 distinguished scholars; plus businessmen and labor leaders, both Republicans and Democrats. The co-chairmen were Henry A. Fowler, Secretary of the Treasury in the Johnson Administration; David Packard, Deputy Secretary of Defense in the Nixon Administration; and Lane Kirkland, Secretary-Treasurer of the AFL-CIO.

One might think their opinions would come under the "all the news that's fit to print" motto of the Times. But not a word appeared. Defending his editors, Times Publisher Arthur Ochs Sulzburger wrote, "I can only assume that the editors felt that the formation of the Committee in itself was not necessarily of great importance. . . . It would be a lot more interesting to see what, if anything, they can do."

What it is they are supposed to do, before the Times will take notice of them, Mr. Sulzburger did not say. Perhaps, if they paraded down Fifth Avenue carrying placards, it would be news. We think, rather, it is just one more reflection of the double standard of much of the news media when it comes to national defense. A pro-defense view seldom gets a hearing. Those who attack a strong defense posture, however, never lack for publicity.

We, ourselves, deplore this tendency toward media bias. The Committee on the Present Danger has a valuable contribution to make to the national security debate. Its views deserve the widest possible dissemination and consideration. — U.S. Press Association.

Weyerhaeuser To Fund Awards In 4-H Woodworking Program

CHICAGO Beginning this year, 4-H members who carry woodworking projects will have the support and interest of Weyerhaeuser Company, Tacoma, Wash.

The "Tree Growing Company" recently declined sponsorship of the national 4-H woodworking program which provides scholarship awards to 4-H'ers at national, state and county levels.

Awards, including educational scholarships of $1000 each to six national winners, and expense-paid trips to the 56th National 4-H Congress, Nov. 28-Dec. 2 in Chicago, to one winner per state. In addition, up to four 4-H members in each county can earn medals of honor. The awards are provided through the National 4-H Service Committee, Chicago.

Young people enrolled during 1976 in a 4-H woodworking project or activity may be eligible for recognition if they meet requirements set by the Cooperative Extension Service which conducts the program.

The program is designed to encourage an understanding and appreciation of woodworking as a leisure-time craft and a profitable hobby. 4-H'ers will learn-by-doing to select and use appropriately various types of wood and wood products. They will develop skills in the selection, care and safe use of both hand and power tools. And they can explore career opportunities in woodworking and related industries.

Harry T. Morgan Jr., senior vice-president operations, Weyerhaeuser Company, said the 4-H woodworking program "provides thousands of young people with the awareness, knowledge and skills needed to become effective participants in the management of tomorrow's forest. We feel it is important for people to be aware of how wood fiber from the managed forest, through the manufacturing process and into the thousands of consumer products we rely on in our everyday life."

Weyerhaeuser Company is primarily engaged in the growing and harvesting of timber, and the manufacture, distribution and sale of forest products. The company is also the world's largest home builder.

More information on the national 4-H woodworking awards program is available from county extension agents.

Garrett Lakers Win Four In This Week's Hoop Action

The Garrett Community College Lakers experienced nothing but victory during this past week's basketball action, defeating opponents Friday, Saturday, Monday and Wednesday nights.

On Friday, a strong pressure defense and control of the boards sparked the Lakers to their seventh win of the season, smashing visiting Chesapeake Community College in a JUCO A Division contest, 73-47.

The Lakers were never threatened, leading 40-22 at the half and riding on a balanced scoring attack that saw four players reach double figures.

Bill McGarvey led the attack, finishing with 14 points. Dave Frost added 12 with Allan Lewis and Tom Comisky each scoring 10.

Rounding out the scoring for Garrett were Panther and Guadagino, eight apiece, Grove, four, Brosnihan, three, and Danel and Saller each chipped in two.

Harold Jenkins was the only Skip Jack in double figures with 17.

Cecil Community College was the next victim of the Lakers as they were also soundly defeated 84-69 on the Garrett floorboards.

It looked as if the Lakers, and not the C-Hawks, were in for the long evening when the visitors jumped out to an early 12-6 lead.

However Coach Paul Holzshu made a quick alteration by inserting forward Tom Comiskey, and guards Mike Grove and Eddie Danel into the lineup to steady the Lakers' defense. Garrett soon took control and led 39-29 at the half.

The win upped Garrett's record to 8-2 on the season and 3-1 in the Maryland JUCO Conference.

Comiskey led all scorers in the contest with 16 points. Frost added 11 and Panther, McPherson and Guadagino each scored eight. Brosnihan had seven, Saller, six, and Danel, Lewis and McGarvey rounded out the total with four apiece.

Allen chipped in 14 tallies for the losers.

Garrett's third triumph of the week came in Pennsylvania against the more stubborn Indiana JV's.

The Lakers trailed most of the first half and much of the second, needing a 25 foot jumper from Mike Grove with two seconds remaining to snag the victory, 76-74.

Garrett was behind 37-33 at the half but then took control of the tempo and went on the offensive midway through the second half.

The Lakers were outscored, 31-27, in field goals but led at the foul line, 22-12.

Former Southern High standout, Tom Panther paced four Lakers in double figures with 17 as the win was the sixth in a row and the tenth of the season.

John Guadagino added 14, Bill McGarvey, 13 and Tom Comiskey 11 for the winners.

Buland led all scorers for Indiana finishing with 18.

The Lakers continued their fine play last night and moved into a tie for the lead in the JUCO Conference with Allegany by dumping Montgomery-Takoma Park, 75-50.

With dazzling defensive play and fast breaks, the Lakers pulled away in the first five minutes of the second half and were never threatened the rest of the way.

Garrett had only a seven point lead at the half, 29-22, as Montgomery held them in control but with just five minutes gone in the second half, Garrett was on top by 20.

John Guadagnino led all scorers with 14 for the Lakers.

Dave Frost added 13 and Tom Panther contributed 10. The Lakers were without the services of starting guard Dave McPherson.

McGillicuddy led the Falcons scoring with 12 points and Toomer added 10.

The victory was the seventh in a row for the Lakers.

Others scoring for Garrett included Saller with eight, Grove, seven, Comiskey and McGarvey each with six, Lewis and Danel, four apiece, Russell, two and Brosnihan, one.

Rams Record Sixth Win

On a 48 point performance by 6-4 senior Ken Niner and junior Steve Liller, the Southern High Rams coasted to an easy 88-55 Potomac Valley Conference victory over Union last night on the losers' court.

Niner tallied 26 points, Liller 22, and his cousin, Todd Liller, added 11 to gain Southern their sixth triumph of the season against five setbacks.

Both Niner and Steve Liller hit nine field goals, with Niner netting eight of 13 from the foul line and Liller hitting on four of five.

The Rams outshot Union from the floor by a 34-24 margin and were successful on 20 of 33 attempts at the foul line compared to a 7-for-16 effort by the losers.

Southern led at all quarters by scores of 20-6, 47-22 and 67-42.

Fred Durst led scoring for Union with 25 markers, followed by Gary Bennett who had ten points.

Others scoring for Southern included Rodney Durst with seven, Steve Ritchie, Fred Griffith and Greg Shockey with six apiece, Fred Sanders, 2, and Fred Gregg and Brad Bittinger each hitting one point.

Southern's junior varsity defeated the Union JV's in a similar manner in the preliminary contest by a score of 62-33.

Southern's next game will be tomorrow night against archrival, Northern.

Five Garrett County Players Honored At TVC Dinner

Five Garrett County high school football players were honored at the annual Tri-Valley Conference dinner held Sunday at Hampshire High School. The five were chosen as members of the All-TVC team of 1976.

Jim Miers, head coach at Southern High and current conference president presented trophies to all members of the team.

Those from Garrett County included Tony Artice, running back, Northern, Rod Bowers, interior line, Southern, Eric Cvetnick, interior line, Southern, Keith Kamp, linebacker, Northern, and Don Paugh, back, Northern.

Toastmaster for the dinner, which was attended by some 200 persons including coaches, players, parents and fans, was Donald Cookman, prosecuting attorney for Hampshire County. Welcoming remarks was made by Donald R. Swiger, principal at Hampshire.

The evening's featured speaker was Walter Barr, head coach at Shepherd College, who related to those present some of his coaching philosophies and he outlined some of the benefits of participating in athletics.

Rams Drop Heartbreaker to BW

Playing one of their finest ball games of the season last Friday night, the Southern Rams led Bishop Walsh right down to the wire only to fall behind in the final seconds and lose, 67-66, on the Spartans' court.

The Spartans, who have only one loss this season (Bruce 43-40), never managed to take the lead from the Rams until it counted. Southern had leads of 13-10, 37-26 and 51-49 at the quarter marks.

The Rams allowed 23 points by the Spartans in the third stanza dropping their 11-point half-time lead to just a two-point lead. The Rams were then outscored 18 to 15 in the fourth quarter, giving Bishop Walsh the victory, their tenth this season.

Kevin Carcella led the attack for the Spartans with 18 points, followed by Pat Ingram with 16 and Danny Wood chipping in 13 tallies.

Ken Niner came through with another fine performance for the Rams hitting 33 points on 12 field goals and 9 of 11 from the foul line. This total gave Niner 87 points for the last three games. Steve Richie added 14 more for the Rams, Steve Liller followed with 9 points, Fred Griffith, 6, and Todd Liller with 4 points.

Southern's season record now stands at 5-5.

Horseplay - More or Less...

Wild cowboy shenanigans kept basketball-cowboys on their seats, if they were lucky, during the donkey basketball gameFriday night at Northern High School between the firemen from various northern companies and the WMSG Double Dribblers.

Uncooperative weather kept the door receipts down for the sponsoring Varsity cheerleaders, who will realize $270 profit from the game. This is approximately one-half the amount normally raised by this event.

Top scorer for the firemen was Ron Brenneman, whose ways with both the basketball and donkey compiled most of the 44 points for the firemen. The Double Dribblers could come up with only 26 points.

Other players for the firemen were Ed Wilburn and Jim Glotfelty, Deep Creek Lake; Roger Sines, Terry Spear and Randy Spear, Friendsville; Keith DeWitt, Grantsville; and Lynn Brenneman, Bittinger.

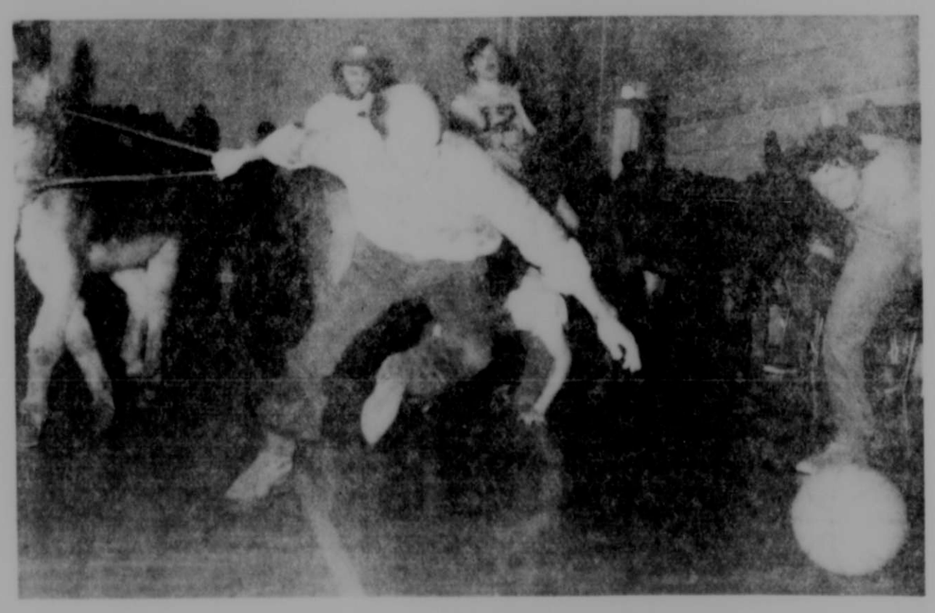

Playing for WMSG were Terry King, Jim Sassak, Al Meyer, Jim Crabtree, Dave Rounds, Jim Droppleman, Terry Knotts, Randy Donham, Rob Michael and Rick Reckner.

Proceeds will be used for camp fees and new uniforms for the Varsity cheerleaders.

National Bureau of Standards says . . .

Storm windows biggest help in saving cost of fuel for heating households

Storm windows save more fuel dollars than any other type of insulating material.

That's the definitive conclusion of the federal government's National Bureau of Standards, which decided to find out where a house loses heat, how much it loses and what measures could be taken to cut losses. NBS engineers used different energy-saving measures, monitored by infrared photographs, and managed to cut the cost of heating a home by a full 52%.

But — fully 24% of the fuel cost was saved by adding storm windows. Three other insulating materials saved the remaining 28% — floor insulation — 8%, ceiling insulation — 5%, wall insulation — 15%.

Although engineers have, for years, pointed to single-glazed windows as losing more heat than any other part of the wall area, the National Bureau of Standards decided on a full-length study, taking over an entire house and evaluating different insulating materials under scientifically controlled conditions.

BEST HOME in Gaithersburg, Md., where the National Bureau of Standards saved heating fuel in amounts shown.

The house chosen was a conventional one-family, one-level ranch house in Gaithersburg, Md. The house is of frame construction and 22 years old.

Formerly, the house needed 881 gallons of fuel oil for a total cost of $317 (at 36¢ a gallon) to keep its interior at 68°. After the NBS applied its energy-saving measures, the fuel bill dropped to $152 for only 423 gallons of oil.

The NBS added storm windows to 26 single-pane windows, an area which is about 16% of the total exposed wall surface of the house (in line with most U.S. houses). The house interior contains 2,054 sq. ft. of living area, more than a third bigger than the U.S. average of about 1,500 sq. ft.

In commenting on the federal government's results, Frank Gorell, president of Season-all Industries, Inc., the nation's largest maker of custom storm windows and doors and replacement windows, stated: "The government has, in effect, proved that the value of storm windows alone is almost equivalent to the value of all other insulation used. Or . . . put another way . . . a home without storm windows is a home which loses a very considerable amount of heat through its windows."

For a copy of an article in Mechanix Illustrated Magazine describing the NBS work on this house and their findings, write to Fred Schmidt, Season-all Industries, Inc., Indiana, Pa. 15701.

Charles M. White Dies In Florida

Charles M. White, 85, retired chairman, chief executive, and director of Republic Steel corporation, died Monday, January 10, in Palm Beach, Fla., where he had lived the past several years. Mr. White had been in failing health in recent years.

He was known worldwide as an expert on blast furnace operations, was active in national Republican politics and was honored locally for his contributions to civic and charitable organizations.

Before they moved to Florida, Mr. White and his wife, Helen, lived at 16670 S. Park Boulevard, Shaker Heights, Cleveland, O.

Mr. White was born in 1891 in Oakland, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. White. His father was a lumberman and a justice of the peace. They resided in Oakland in the 1930s. Mr. White, as a youth went into the woods and worked with cutting gangs and ran sawmills. He attended grammar school at Hutton and later walked to high school in Oakland. He enrolled in the University of Maryland from which he was graduated with a degree in mechanical engineering.

His first job in the steel industry was as a machinist helper in 1915 with the American Bridge company, Ambridge, Pa. Later that year he went to work for the Jones and Laughlin Steel corporation, Pittsburgh.

In 1930 he joined Republic, formed by the merger of four independent companies, with headquarters in Youngstown, O. He moved to Greater Cleveland when Republic transferred its headquarters there in 1935. Mr. White became Republic president in 1961 but continued as a director.

He was a close friend of President Dwight D. Eisenhower, was a leading advocate of construction of the St. Lawrence Seaway, and was an early and enthusiastic proponent of the taconite method processing iron ore.

For many years Mr. White was a vice president, director and executive committee member of the American Iron and Steel Institute and had been chairman of the National Industrial Conference board.

Mr. White was given honorary degrees by the University of Maryland, Harding College, Trinity College, John Carroll University, and Case Institute of Technology. He had been a fund raiser for Case, and a building on its campus bears his name.

After he retired Mr. White was honored by 13 Cleveland organizations he had helped over the years. He received dozens of honors from civic, charitable and professional organizations for his years of service.

Gave Farm To County

A number of years ago Mr. White gave the "White Face" farm in the McHenry area to the County for use of the hospital, at its discretion, which eventually became the Garrett County Airport.

The use of a goodly portion of the ground as the county airport was by agreement of the Hospital Board and the County Commissioners, the ground being used as the county's share of the funds needed for federal participation.

The farm at the time it was given was being used to raise beef cattle and the cattle were a part of the gift by Mr. White, which were later sold at auction.

Surviving are his wife, the former Helen Bradley, and a daughter, Mrs. Thomas Moseley.

Gas Consumption Takes Big Jump In November Last Year

The rate at which Marylanders increased their consumption of gasoline jumped significantly in November 1976, State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein reported today. "Gasoline consumption in November 1976 increased nearly 13.5 million gallons to a total of 164,497,382 gallons. That's the largest gallon increase in a single month for 1976," Comptroller Goldstein said.

Net motor fuel tax collections for December 1976, reflecting sales made in November, totaled $15,347,068. Of this amount, $15,149,428 was distributed directly to the Maryland Department of Transportation. This brings the total amount distributed to the State Department of Transportation for the first six months of Fiscal Year 1977 to $93,098,849, up 4.85 percent over the $88,733,199 distributed for the same period of Fiscal Year 1976.

Deer Park VFD Answers 45 Calls In 1976

The 34 members of the Deer Park Volunteer fire company answered a total of 45 fire and rescue calls during 1976, according to figures released this week by chief Robert Thrasher.

There were 29 first-due calls, 11 mutual aid calls, and five rescue and service calls.

Some 996 man hours were spent responding to the calls and the five vehicles logged 1,919 miles for the year. The company had an average of eleven men at each fire.

According to a breakdown of the kinds of fires, there were two trash fires, nine field and brush fires, eight building fires, eight motor vehicle fires, and two miscellaneous fires.

The members of the company accomplished 700 hours of training during 1976.

The company is now working to purchase a new truck, and is sponsoring a series of fund raising events to help defray the cost of the new equipment.

$3.9 Billion Budget Sought

Gov. Marvin Mandel asked the General Assembly yesterday to add a penny to the Maryland sales tax to help balance his $3.9 billion budget for next year.

The increase from four to five percent, which seems almost certain to win legislative approval, will take an additional $124 million out of the pockets of Maryland taxpayers during the upcoming year.

In addition the governor asked for a one percent increase in the current 4 percent motor vehicle titling tax which is the same as a sales tax on cars and trucks. That tax would produce an additional $22 million for transportation programs.

An average family with an income of $6,500 a year would pay some $17 annually in additional sales taxes if the 5 percent became effective.

Even with the sales tax increase Mandel still wouldn't be able to balance the budget without a change in the method of using lottery revenues. The law prohibits lottery money from being spent during the year in which it is collected. He is asking for a change in the law.

Mandel's proposed budget of $3,896,436,926 is $355 million higher than the budget for the current year.

The budget includes $31 million for state employe pay hikes, $6.5 million additional aid for handicapped children, $5.6 million to increase the state contribution to community colleges by $100 per student, and $13.4 million in increased school aid to local governments.

Mandel Submits Capital Budget

New prison facilities will get almost half of the $111 million capital construction program submitted to the General Assembly yesterday by Gov. Marvin Mandel.

The governor said the construction program which will fund 108 projects throughout the state, can be financed without an increase in the state property tax.

Mandel said the money is needed to help solve a corrections crisis in Maryland. Largest appropriation is $26 million to convert the old Continental Can building in Baltimore into a prison housing up to 640 medium security inmates. Mandel also included $18.5 million for a 500-bed medium security annex at the Maryland House of Correction in Anne Arundel county.

Outside the correctional field the capital budget was a sparse one as Mandel kept the lid on spending to protect Maryland's coveted AAA bond rating. Largest item was $9 million to put up a new office building in Annapolis for executive department agencies and to house the state archives. Included also was $1.9 million for Frostburg State College, including $1 million for the mine control program. Balance of the money would go to renovate Frost hall, equip the administration building and improve electrical systems.

Goldstein Asks License Exemption

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein today announced that he will seek legislative approval this year to exempt flea markets, garage sales, antique shows, and other shows of a temporary nature from the Maryland Traders' License requirement. Under a law passed by the 1976 session of the Maryland General Assembly, all exhibitors at flea markets, antique, coin and gun shows and other shows of a temporary nature are required to purchase county traders' licenses.

This requirement places a burden on many Marylanders who may participate in a flea market only once in an attempt to sell accumulated possessions. The burden falls especially heavy on senior citizens and others who can least afford it," Comptroller Goldstein said.

The Comptroller noted that the traders' license requirement for shows of a temporary nature is not only an extra burden on exhibitors, but also is proving uneconomical to enforce. "The Miscellaneous Revenues Division of the State Comptroller's Office, which is charged with enforcing the state license laws, has spent more than $5,000 and derived only $2,306 in state revenue since the new law went into effect July 1, 1976," Mr. Goldstein said.

Vehicles Collide, Pickup Overturned In Friday Mishap

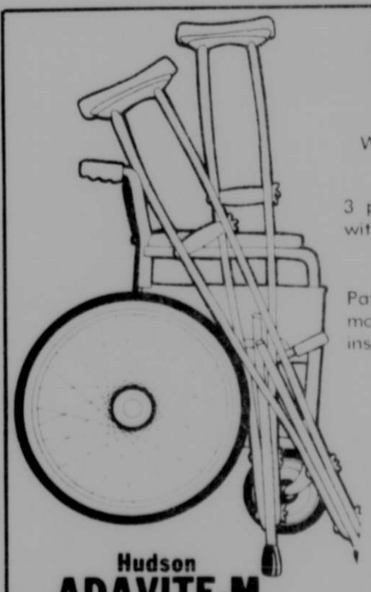

A small car sustained extensive damage following a two-vehicle mishap early Friday morning on Route 38.

According to Tfc. G. D. Broadwater, who investigated, John Hough, McHenry, was southbound on 38 when he came upon a disabled vehicle, owned by Glen Roth, in his lane of traffic. Hough, in his Ford Pinto, swerved into the left lane and then sideswiped a Ford pickup operated by Verna Spiker, Mt. Lake Park, which was northbound. The Spiker vehicle struck an embankment and overturned.

Tfc. Broadwater issued no charges to either driver in the 8:50 a.m. accident. He reported that six-foot piles of snow on either side of the road prevented the operators from seeing each other in time to avoid the collision.

Parent-Child Stimulation Program Is Part Of Child Health Clinic

Reaching up, whether to decorate a Christmas tree or to learn new skills, is what the Parent-Infant Child Stimulation program is all about. The project, under direction of Mrs. Charity Janssen, is part of the Garrett County Health Department Child Health clinic in Oakland. One of the participants is Tonya Lynn Warnick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Warnick, Swanton.

Parents and children attending the Garrett County Health Department Child Health Clinic in Oakland have been participating in a Parent-Infant Child Stimulation Program while attending the Child Health Clinic. The program is under the direction of Charity Janssen, Occupational Therapist and Kathy Wright, Childhood Specialist. Students from the Garrett County Community College have also been helping each week.

During December the children made decorations for a Christmas tree in the clinic donated by Ed Hanley, Manor Mart. The parents were given information on Christmas safety, buying appropriate toys for children and activities to do at home.

The program helps parents to understand normal growth and development of children and learn how to present activities that will increase their children's learning. Parent discussion includes many of the common problems of raising children. Future programs for the children will include activities to increase their muscle coordination, language development and independent skills. The parents will be given information on activities, games and toys to make inexpensively at home with their children.

This regular column serves as another vehicle to keep in touch with all segments of my constituency. It is an open invitation for you to question me on issues, let me assist you with your problems, request information or comment on whatever happens to be on your mind. Letters should be sent to me c/o U.S. House of Representatives, Washington, D.C. 20515. While space is obviously limited for printing all replies, I shall make every effort to answer each person who contacts me.

The following questions were typical of the kind asked of me in recent weeks.

Legislative jurisdiction includes the Department of Defense, size and composition of the armed forces, ammunition depots, forts, military reservations and establishments, pay, promotion, retirement and other benefits and privileges of members of the armed forces, conservation and development and use of naval petroleum and oil shale reserves, strategic and critical materials necessary for the common defense, selective service, and special oversight of international arms control and disarmament, and military dependents education.

Where can I obtain a list of miles-per-gallon ratings for 1977 cars?

The Federal Energy Administration and the Environmental Protection Agency have jointly issued the "1977 Gas Mileage Guide for New Car Buyers." You may obtain a personal copy by writing, Fuel Economy, Pueblo, Colorado.

What is the amount of increase for VA pensioners that recently took effect?

A 7 percent increase in monthly benefit rates for Veterans Administration pensioners, plus increases in the annual income limits on which the pensions are based, became effective January 1, 1977. About a million veterans' survivors receiving VA pensions are affected by the new law.

Do you have any information on Federal grant and loan programs for education?

A free booklet entitled "Federal Financial Aid Programs for Education" is available from the Consumer Information Center, Pueblo, Colorado 81009. The booklet describes five grant and loan programs for college, vocational and technical students and includes eligibility and application requirements.

What is the Government in the Sunshine Act?

Basically, this law makes the Federal Government decision-making process open to the public. Under the law, Federal agencies headed by more than one Presidential appointee must give advance notice of meeting times and hold meetings open to the public.

Do you have any questionnaire results?

I am still in the process of tabulating the large volume of questionnaires being returned to my office. As soon as the results are available they will be published in my newsletter, and sent to local newspapers and radio and television stations.

Mathias To Retain Cumberland Office

Senator Charles McC. Mathias, Jr. (R-Md.) announced that he will continue the Cumberland office formerly jointly operated by Senator J. Glenn Beall and himself. The joint office previously maintained in Hagerstown will be closed.

The office, located in room 215 of the Cumberland Post Office at the corner of Pershing and Mechanic streets, is part of Senator Mathias' continuing effort to serve the people in the western part of the state.

Susan Kuykendall, 30, is in charge of the Senator's Cumberland office. She will meet with constituents on federal matters and bring them to the attention of Mr. Mathias. Business hours of the office are 9 a.m. - 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. The phone number is 722-4535.

Ms. Kuykendall is a graduate of Allegany High School and West Virginia University. She served on Mathias' Senate staff and the House Budget Committee staff for a total of seven years.

In announcing retention of the Cumberland office, Senator Mathias said, "Our major concern is how better to serve the people of Western Maryland. We are fortunate to have a person already experienced in serving constituent needs to assist in this effort."

Furnace Malfunction Causes Gym Damage

New buildings usually have flaws which are discovered after they have been occupied for a time, and the county's new schools are no exception.

At Southern Middle School, the complicated, oil-fired heating system had some mechanical problems which resulted in a pipe in the gymnasium freezing. When the pipe thawed, dripping water caused damage to the floor of the gymnasium.

Crews designated by the contracting company, Baltimore Contractors, have been working at the school for over a week in attempts to get all parts of the system functioning smoothly.

Additional insulation was placed around the pipes, and in the building.

According to Dr. William Buser, damage was minimal to the gym, with only one corner affected by the water. It has not been determined by the school board and by George Brady, in charge of school maintenance, if the floor must be sanded and refinished.

Tax Revenues Are Distributed

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein said Tuesday that admissions and amusement tax revenue totaling $1,957,731.39 has been distributed to Maryland's 23 counties, Baltimore City, and the state's cities and towns. "This distribution covers the period October, November, and December 1976, and is larger than the $1,871,278.27 distributed for October, November, and December of 1975," Mr. Goldstein said.

Admissions and amusement tax revenue for the first six months of Fiscal Year 1977 amounted to $4,360,207.77, as compared to $4,191,920.27 for the first six months of Fiscal Year 1976.

Admissions and amusement tax revenues to Garrett County amounted to $5,106.67.

Current GI Bill Has Most Enrollees

College training under the current GI Bill has attracted more veterans than the combined total enrolled in college courses under the World War II and Korean Conflict bills, the Veterans Administration reported last week.

More than 3.5 million veterans have received college training under the current bill. The World War II bill provided college training for 2.2 million veterans. There were 1.2 million enrolled in college courses under the Korean bill.

Of 8.3 million persons who served during the Vietnam era, 64.1 percent have enrolled in some form of training, 37 percent in college courses. Only 14.4 percent of the World War II veterans chose college courses and 22 percent of the Korean veterans.

Enrollments in GI Bill training during November totaled 1.2 million, including 857,000 in college courses.

The Smiling Bear

The Soviets are pulling out all the stops to butter up Jimmy Carter. One such move was the opening of Soviet television to a U.S. government produced film on President-elect Carter. It presented Mr. Carter in a very positive light and implied Moscow's satisfaction with his election. Another indication was an article in the Communist Party newspaper Pravda noting the positive character of Carter's recent statements about Soviet-American relations, along with sour comment that "the enemies of detente have not laid down their arms." Still another ploy is the message brought back from Moscow by former Defense Secretary Clark Clifford to the effect that the Soviets will force no immediate international confrontations with the United States.

All of which should put this country especially on its guard. Beware the Russian bear most when he approaches smilingly with paws outstretched in "friendship." The bear's embrace can quickly turn to a crushing death grip.

Critical negotiations impend on a new strategic arms treaty. The Soviets would be very happy to get a SALT II agreement as full of loopholes as was the SALT I treaty of 1972. They would be happy as well to see Mr. Carter make good his campaign pledges to reduce the U.S. defense budget.

Such Soviet objectives are perfectly obvious if, as the departing Ford administration is reported to have concluded, the Soviet Union is aiming at overall military superiority over the United States. We believe the facts overwhelmingly support his conclusion.

Mr. Carter's recent pledge that NATO will be "sustained and strengthened" under his administration is encouraging, but these are only words. They can be backed up only to the extent that the U.S. remains strong itself. To do that, we must resist all Kremlin temptations to reduce our defenses. —U.S. Press Association.

Sheriff's Personnel, State Police Check Various Larcenies

Members of the sheriff's department and the Maryland State Police are investigating various incidents reported recently, ranging from the theft of two snowmobiles on a trailer to books and bandaids.

The sheriff's personnel are investigating the larceny of a CB radio antenna January 15 from the Chevy Suburban of Cpl. and Mrs. R. S. Lewis while the car was parked at Par-Matt Lanes between 9 and 11:30 p.m. Value of the antenna was set at $40.

A CB radio was taken from the camper of Mr. and Mrs. Don R. Parsons, 1043 High Street, Oakland, sometime during the night of January 12. A breaking, entering and larceny charge will be lodged against whoever is responsible for the $125 theft.

The vacation homes of Douglas Edwards and Douglas Swank, on Amish Road near Grantsville, were broken into sometime between 5 and 5:30 p.m. on January 13. Missing from the Edwards home were books and bandaids after entry was made by breaking a window. A skylight was removed from the Swank home but it could not be determined if any items were missing as the owner was not home at the time. Juvenile petitions are pending in this case.

Mildred L. Peterson, Route 1, Oakland, was the victim of a larceny January 13 at approximately 7:30 when her billfold containing $400 was taken. After an investigation, Andrew Snyder was arrested and charged with the larceny.

Snyder was also charged with the larceny of a Sears battery from the car of Robert Franklin Stewart, Route 2, Oakland, while his vehicle was parked on Dilley Road January 8.

Snyder was lodged in the county jail until released on bond. His trial is scheduled February 7.

Two persons in Mt. Lake Park reported destruction of property incidents. John Wesley Paugh noted that the Plexiglass storm door on the front porch of his home on K Street was broken January 4. On the ninth, Truman C. Merrill, E Street, reported that someone had shattered the windshield of his car.

Sometime between January 12 and 13, someone threw a Pepsi bottle through a large plate glass window at Brodak's Super Dollar north of Oakland. Estimated damage was $350.

Ruth M. Umbel, Route 4, Oakland, reported that her skis and bindings were stolen from the ski room at the McHenry House at Wisp Ski area on January 8. Value of the missing items is $250.

The state police are investigating the theft of two Arctic Cat snowmobiles and a trailer from the Will o' the Wisp parking lot the night of January 16. The trailer was not attached to a vehicle at the time, so all the thieves had to do was drive in, hook up and drive away. The stolen property belonged to Matthew Francis Wachter, Bel Air, and is valued at $2,943.

State police investigated an assault and battery upon Mrs. Mary Alice Alexander January 15 at Rustic Inn on Route 40. Named in the summons was Terrance Alexander, husband of the complainant.

Britain was hard hit by winter storms in mid-January.

Finding Satisfaction At 90. . .

Mrs. Landis Makes Wedding Ring Quilts By Hand

Women are never too old to change their minds, as demonstrated by 90-year-old Mrs. Hattie Landis, who has now made many difficult quilts despite an avowal 16 years ago she would "Never quilt."

Not only does Mrs. Landis quilt, she sets every stitch by hand, and only learned this painstaking art after she came to Maryland to live, a little over 16 years ago.

Mrs. Landis, whose spry looks and wide-awake faculties give the lie to her age, was taught by her daughter to make complicated, exacting wedding ring quilts after she came to live with her son-in-law and daughter, Ray and Edna Paugh in Loch Lynn. Learning came easy, as she was already skillful with a needle.

A native of West Virginia, Mrs. Landis was born June 9, 1886, a daughter of the late Jesse Miles and Christina (Teter) Buckbee, of Maysville.

She first attended school at Greenland Gap, then later went to school near Maysville when the family moved. She notes, however, that she didn't get too much formal schooling as her mother was ill a great deal of the time.

As the wife of Jacob Landis and the mother of five children, Mrs. Landis was kept busy for many years, making clothes, mending and cooking, along with other chores which fall to the wife of a farmer. Mr. Landis was a farmer who, after he was crippled in a logging accident, worked for the West Virginia forestry department. He was also a knowledgeable carpenter and blacksmith. "a jack of all trades" is how Mrs. Landis refers to him.

Those early years of marriage, added to previous years of helping care for her brothers and sisters, gave her a way with the needle few can match. For years Mrs. Landis made most of the family clothes by hand, until they could afford a sewing machine.

After raising their family of five, the Landis' were living in 1949 near the Smoke Hole caverns on a mountain farm when heavy rains loosened the hillside above their home, causing an avalanche which destroyed their house and very nearly claimed their lives.

Mrs. Landis, when she crawled out of the wreckage, was found to have a few broken ribs and numerous bruises, and spent two weeks in a clinic for treatment.

After the avalanche, the couple moved to Petersburg where they lived until they were in their 70's, when their children asked them to move to Maryland so they would be nearby. They lived in a cottage in Loch Lynn on the property of Mr. and Mrs. W. Blair Simmons, a son-in-law and daughter, until Mr. Landis died in 1960.

Other children in addition to Mrs. Paugh and Mrs. Simmons are Carl Landis, Petersburg; Jesse Landis, Baltimore; and Mrs. Lona Smith, Lahmansville, W. Va., and there are now eleven grandchildren.

After the death of her husband, Mrs. Landis moved into a two-room apartment in the home of another son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Paugh. It was here she learned to quilt, in a reversal of the mother-daughter teaching routine. Mrs. Paugh had promised to quilt a wedding ring quilt for a friend, and Mrs. Landis offered to help. Before the tedious job was finished, Mrs. Landis had vowed she would never quilt on her own.

By the time it was finished, however, she had fallen in love with quilting and now, 15 quilts later, has never strayed from the wedding ring pattern.

Mrs. Landis spends her days quilting at a frame in the Paugh kitchen, and her evenings piecing strips and cutting pieces. A great deal of material for quilting is given to them from friends who know of Mrs. Landis' liking for this pastime.

The sewing machine is still a part of Mrs. Landis' life, as she still makes many of her own clothes and does mending for herself and her daughter.

When not stitching at the frame or sewing quilt pieces into strips, Mrs. Landis does her own cooking, dishes and light house-keeping. She enjoys watching some television, especially "Bowling for Dollars." She used to be an avid "General Hospital" fan until that show was moved to a new time slot. Television viewing is limited, however, due to slight cataracts in her eyes and the doctor has also advised her not to work too much at night.

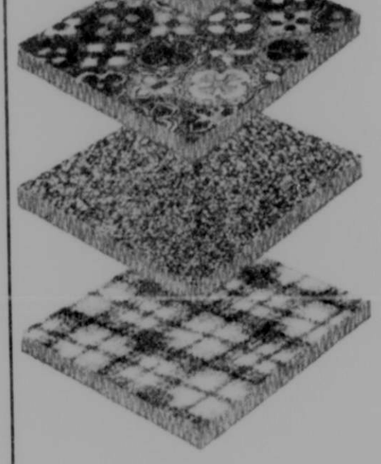

Reading the newspaper is another activity she enjoys, and she also faithfully reads her Sunday School lesson. When weather is amenable, the Paughs take Mrs. Landis to attend Pleasant View Baptist Church.

Keeping busy hands must have helped keep Mrs. Landis from worrying about growing old, as she still does not have a completely gray head of hair. Until she was 60 she had hair so long she could sit on it, but decided it was becoming too difficult to care for. She says her hair never went completely gray because she "never combed it as often as she should."

If her liking to keep busy now at 90 is any indication of her energy when younger, her body has never had a chance to keep still long enough to figure out just how old she is. And hopefully she will always be that way — busy, charming, happy, eternally feminine with the privilege to change her mind!

School Board Adjusts Calendar

At the regular January 13, 1977 meeting of the Garrett County Board of Education the Board took action to use Friday, January 28, Friday, February 25, Thursday, April 7, and Friday, June 10 as student days. If additional student days are lost due to inclement weather these days will be made up during the week following June 10.

The Board received a report on special education programs in the Garrett County schools from Mrs. Sarah Wilson, Coordinator of Special Education Services, and Mr. Albert R. Ringer, Assistant Superintendent for Curriculum and Instruction. The Board also received a copy of the staff response to the League of Women Voters' recommendations directed toward the improvement of the Garrett County schools and a copy of the total report from the Needs Assessment Committee. This report was briefly discussed by the Board and will be further discussed in special public meetings which will be held on Tuesday, March 15, 1977, at 7:30 p.m., at Southern High School, and on Tuesday, April 19, at 7:30 p.m., at the Accident Elementary School.

Announce Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Alton F. Dorman, Jr., of Monrovia, Maryland are proud to announce the engagement of their daughter, Debra Elaine to Gregory R. Harrison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Gregg, of Damascus, Maryland. Miss Dorman is a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Iret Ashby, of Loch Lynn.

Miss Dorman is a 1976 graduate of Linganore High School and is currently employed by the National Bureau of Standards in Gaithersburg, Maryland.

Mr. Harrison is a senior at Damascus High School and is currently employed by Renn Surveys in Damascus.

An October 1, 1977 wedding is planned.

ARC Budgeted $308.2 Million

President Gerald R. Ford has included $308.2 million in his 1978 Budget request to the Congress for the Appalachian Regional Commission's program.

The Appalachian Budget, which is $5.2 million over the 1977 appropriation, includes $205.3 million for highways and $102.9 for non-highway programs.

Donald W. Whitehead, Federal Co-chairman of the Commission, stated that the $205.3 million requested for the highway program represented an increase of $20.3 million over the 1977 appropriation. He noted that this increase was partially offset by a decrease in the budget for the non-highway program of $15.1 million and reflected the relative priority accorded the highway program. The funds available for the non-highway program will, however, represent meaningful amounts to all the Appalachian States and will assist them in funding priority projects for community development, health, vocational education, and other eligible projects.

Mr. Whitehead noted that President Ford's support of the Commission and the people of the Region it serves had been demonstrated by increases in both the 1977 and 1978 appropriation requests he had sent to the Congress.

The non-highway request of $102.9 million includes $95.7 million for the Area Development program and $7.2 million for support of multi-county development districts and general Commission research and evaluation activities. The area development program is a continuation of a program initiated in 1975 which provides single allocations to States for several programs previously administered separately, including the health and child development, vocational education and supplemental grants programs. The single allocation approach gives each State the opportunity to plan its investment priorities without rigid categorical restrictions. These 1978 appropriation requests will result in an estimated allocation to Maryland of $14.9 million.

Mr. Wilkerson, has pioneered a gospel ministry, Teen Challenge, in Harlem. He is the writer of the book, "The Cross and the Switchblade."

On Sunday, January 30, Stanley Weese, teacher at Northern High school, Accident, will be the speaker at the 10:30 a.m. service.

On Sunday, February 13, at 7 p.m., the Gloryland Gospel quartet from this county will be featured singers, at a gospel sing program. A free will offering will be taken.

They say New York is going down the drain! Our rivers and our lakes are polluted, and the cost of living is astronomical with inflation sweeping through the land . . . too much apathy . . . dwindling hope.

All of this makes a miserable picture.

Are we going to let it go at that? Apathy is the nasty word. Apathy about ourselves, about our government, about our future, about our church. Insidious apathy which works like a cancer, destroying.

Are we going to settle for it? Or are we going to start in our own town, our own home, our own church, and do something about it?

Why not listen to those bells next Sunday? They're ringing for you.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

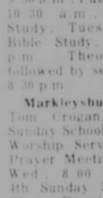

INTO THE DEEP!

Lesson for January 23, 1977

Background Scripture: Mark 1:16-20; 3:13-19; Luke 5:1-11; 6:12-16; 9:1-6
Devotional Reading: John 17:6-19

If you had been Simon Peter, what would you have done?

After all, you had labored all night and had caught not one fish. That was disappointing, but not surprising for sometimes the fishing was good and other times it was not good at all. Last night had been one of the latter times.

Rev. Althouse

Returning to shore at last you joined a throng of people who had gathered to hear the Nazarene prophet whom some were suggesting was the Messiah. In fact, when the crowds became so large, you agreed to let this man use your boat, pushing off from shore a few yards where he proceeded to speak to his audience.

Let down your nets

His words had challenged and intrigued you. Whatever or whoever he was, this man was a powerful man of the spirit. It seemed that God himself spoke through him. In time it seemed you hung on every word. But when at last he finished speaking to the crowd, he turned to you with his amazing command: "Put out into the deep and let down your nets for a catch" (Luke 5:4)!

Who did this Nazarene think he was? Did he know more about fishing than you and your brothers? Was he trying to make you look foolish? Was he after all just another wild-eyed fanatic?

So what would you do if the Master were to say something similar to you? "Launch out into the deep"—plant that barren field one more time—take apart that automobile engine and you will find the problem this time—don't mind the rejection slips, but send that book to another publisher—give your friend yet another chance—and let down your nets for a catch!"

Simon Peter's reaction was understandable. "Master we toiled all night and took nothing" (5:5). But when Jesus does not reply, Simon Peter finds himself saying, "But at your word I will let down the nets."

Breaking nets!

So, partly because this man has spoken with such authority and partly because you want to see for yourself whether this man has the powers other ascribe to him, you and your co-workers do as he says. Almost immediately your nets are full of fish and, in fact, there are so many of them that the nets are breaking under the strain! Soon you are beckoning to others for help and before you are finished there are two boats filled with freshly caught fish!

Perhaps "terrified" would be more accurate as you ponder this man's fantastic power and conclude that here is truly a man sent from God, perhaps the very Son of God! If such a man knew where to tell you to cast your nets, certainly he can see also into your sinful secret heart. "Depart from me," you exclaim, "for I am a sinful man, O Lord" (5:8).

But his purpose was not to frighten you with his judgement but to use his power to bring something truly worthwhile from your life. "Do not be afraid, henceforth you will be catching men" (5:10). This man sees not only your soiled spirit, he sees something even you cannot see, your God-given potential!

PRACTICING PHARMACY IS AN ART
Most prescription drugs are now precompounded by the pharmaceutical firms. But, many of them are so potent, have such similar names, that it requires expert knowledge to always be certain we dispense exactly what the physician prescribes.
There are still prescriptions for ointments, lotions, capsules, eye preparations, etc. which require individual compounding. We welcome these prescriptions, even though they take more time to prepare.

Fifteen Hundred Skiers Enjoy A Free-Ski Day At New Germany State Park

Temperatures huddling near the zero mark and below did not stop seasoned and novice cross country skiers from turning out at New Germany State Park for a cross country day.

In cooperation with the Maryland State Parks system, the Hudson Bay Outfitters of Gaithersburg sponsored the event, primarily as a get-together for customers of the outdoors-oriented company. Response was overwhelming all day, with at least 1,500 skiers cruising the 15 miles of trails between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

Some 13 Hudson Bay employes came from Gaithersburg to take charge of the free equipment usage, to give mini-lessons, and to ski the trails to help those in difficulties back on their feet.

Skiers from Arlington, Falls Church, Baltimore, Washington, D. C. and its suburbs, Cumberland, Grantsville, Oakland and parts of Pennsylvania hit the trails. One car in the parking lot bore New York plates. Many brought their own equipment, and some tried out snowshoes.

Hot chocolate was constantly available to help thaw chilled participants in the main lodge, which was filled with ski enthusiasts who did not seem to notice or mind that the mercury in the thermometers showed less red than their noses, fingers, or toes.

Oops!

So this is New Germany State Park!

Lesson Time.

An apres-ski snowball battle seemed to be in order for these two youngsters.

Over the meadow and through the woods . . .

Cross Country Skiing isn't crowded. . .except inside the lodge.

DNR To Hold Cross Country Ski Race, Feb. 12

The Department of Natural Resources will hold a Family Fun Cross-Country Ski race February 12, starting from Meadow Mountain in New Germany State Park.

AURORA-EGLON

Chad Wesley was the name chosen for the boy born January 14 in Preston Memorial Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Arnold, Brookside. He is their third son and the mother is the former Deanna Hollen. Maternal grandmother is Mrs. Ella Dean Wilson, Cleveland, and paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Arnold, Eglon. Mrs. Hope Lemaster, Leadmine, is the paternal great grandmother.

Violet Evans, Eglon, was admitted last Monday to Davis Memorial Hospital in Elkins, where she underwent surgery on Wednesday. She was released Sunday from the hospital and is staying with her niece and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Dorman Phillips, in Elkins.

Word was received here that Nina Wotring is a patient in Fairmont General Hospital as the result of a fall in the home of her son, Eldred Wotring, with whom she resided there.

Mrs. Eva Schrock Arnold, Terra Alta, is a patient in the West Virginia University Medical Center where she underwent surgery on Friday. Her condition is serious.

Sandy Harsh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harsh, Brookside, spent the weekend with her great grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Wotring, in Aurora.

Mrs. Homer Neff returned last week from Garrett County Memorial Hospital to her home in Aurora.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Spaid, Aurora, spent Saturday at Cranesville with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. George Sisler and Annette.

The Rev. and Mrs. Rogers Fike and family, Gortner, were Sunday visitors in the Maple Spring Church of the Brethren at Eglon.

Snow and more snow, cold and colder, continue to be the order of the day and in the news with schools being closed for one week and beginning another. The weather continues to be a hardship to the DOH who have outmoded, inefficient equipment; to the farmers who have to battle the winds and cold temperatures in an effort to keep roads open; even to those who have only to remain indoors and try to keep warm. With the continuance of such weather, it is likely that there will be very little news as meetings continue to be canceled and there is not much movement in the area.

800,000 Disabled Veterans Getting Education Benefits

More than 800,000 disabled veterans have received educational benefits under the Veterans Administration's vocational rehabilitation program, the agency reported this week.

Beginning with the enrollment of 11 persons in July 1943, the number of disabled veterans entering this program had exceeded 800,000 by the end of November 1976. This includes 621,000 World War II veterans, 81,000 Vietnam-era veterans and 77,000 veterans of the Korean Conflict.

Almost $2.3 billion has been expended on vocational rehabilitation training during the program's 33-year history.

While training programs are individually developed, college-level courses are most popular with today's vocational rehabilitation trainees. Approximately 72 percent are enrolled in college, almost double the rate of non-disabled Vietnam-era veterans enrolled in GI Bill training.

Rehabilitation benefits include educational and vocational counseling, tutorial assistance, medical treatment, prosthetic aids and job-placement assistance.

Service-disabled veterans with other than dishonorable discharges have nine years from date of separation to complete vocational rehabilitation training. Seriously disabled and blinded veterans may be granted longer periods of training.

Training expenses, including tuition, books and supplies, and a monthly subsistence allowance are paid by the VA. A single veteran enrolled full time in vocational rehabilitation training receives $226 monthly. With one dependent, the subsistence allowance is $280; two dependents, $329, and $24 for each additional dependent.

Potomac Edison Seeking Funds For New Facilities

Potomac Edison says it may not be able to supply the same electric energy demanded by its customers during the next decade unless the company can finance an estimated $750 million in new construction for generating facilities.

Forecast electrical demand of major utilities including Potomac Edison is being examined this week during an investigation before the Maryland Public Service Commission in Baltimore.

The Commission in 1974 initiated the investigation into the future adequacy of electric service in Maryland after some construction plans for generating facilities were deferred by Potomac Edison and other utilities or cancelled primarily because of inadequate earnings. All the major electric utilities in the state have submitted testimony in the investigation and all are slated for cross-examination before a Commission Hearing Examiner.

Potomac Edison is forecasting an annual compound growth rate in excess of 6 percent in electrical usage during the next decade.

The company's executive vice president and general manager, J. M. McCardell, says, "A matter of great concern for the future, is that our present conservative growth estimates may be too low and the demand may exceed our generating capacity. Just this past week an intense cold wave forced a number of utilities in the mid-west to make voltage reductions and prepare for other emergency measures such as rotating blackouts because demand for electricity exceeded forecasts. The risk of a catastrophic power shortage looms ahead if regulatory agencies do not allow rates adequate to finance the power generation needed."

L. H. Weeks, executive director of planning for the Allegheny Power Service Corporation, whose testimony was submitted in the investigation earlier, says Potomac Edison's customer demand is expected to reach about 14 million megawatt-hours by 1985, nearly double the 1975 level. The company's peak demand, the highest one-hour demand on the system annually, is expected to reach 2,500 megawatts by 1985, which represents a compound growth rate of about 7 percent over 1975.

To meet the forecast demand, Weeks says, PE will be required to build an additional 1,282 megawatts of generation through 1986 at a cost of about $750 million.

Historically, about two-thirds of PE's construction funds have come from "external" financing — the sale of stocks and bonds. The other third comes from internal sources.

Four generation construction plans are included in the PE testimony. All involve the same generating units, but vary in order and timing. The preferred plans have all the proposed units in service by mid-1986, but long lead times required for construction make it doubtful that that schedule can be met.

WINS SHOPPING SPREE — Harry L. Biggs, Jr., [left] Public Relations Director for Browning's Foodland, is shown congratulating Charles C. McIntyre of McHenry, for winning a two minute shopping spree at Browning's Foodland on December 28. Mr. McIntyre was able to gather $333.38 worth of groceries that included steaks, pork, shrimp, and other meat products. The spree was sponsored by Aurora High School's senior class. According to Mr. Biggs the project was a success.

Two Scouts Earn Eagle Awards

Two Boy Scouts of Potomac Council, Boy Scouts of America, were recently approved for advancement to the highest rank in Scouting — that of Eagle, it was announced today by George R. Scarlett, Council Advancement Chairman. They were Jeffrey B. Hout, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hout, Cumberland; and Robert P. Gilbert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Gilbert, Gormania.

Robert Gilbert is a member of Troop 62, sponsored by the Gorman Volunteer Fire Department, and David C. Ridings is Scoutmaster.

In addition to the 24 Merit Badges required for Eagle and the completion of conservation and service projects, the recipient of the Eagle Award must also have an outstanding record in school, church, and community activities while engaged in Scouting, Mr. Scarlett said.

The Eagle Awards will be presented to the young men at Courts of Honor to be held in the individual units in the near future.

Grim forecast
It's no news that this heating season's been colder than usual.
Unfortunately, the worst is yet to come. The National Weather Service predicts colder than normal weather over the next few months. This means your furnace must use more gas to keep you warm.
On top of that, rate increases caused by higher wellhead prices will also boost gas bills substantially this winter.
What can you do to hold down rising gas bills? The best way is to lower your thermostat. Simply cutting back from 72 degrees to 67 degrees will reduce consumption by 15-18 percent.
Call us for tips on additional conservation methods.

There Is An Answer...

By Norman Vincent Peale
And Ruth Stafford Peale

Q. I am so troubled by worry about my job. My boss keeps giving me the cold shoulder. He directs all his talks to the younger girl in the office, and though I do my share of the work, it's as though I weren't there, the way he ignores me. I'm not looking for love; I just need to be liked. But there is a lot of bitterness in my heart which I know I should get rid of. I'm so tense my face muscles just won't relax. Can you help me?

A. The problem (and the solution) may lie in those tense face muscles that just won't relax. Could be that you are coming across as a difficult personality or a snob, even though you do carry your share of the work load.

Unconsciously your rigid uptightness may be erecting a barrier. Try letting go your tension. Practice relaxing: ease it off. Be pleasant and natural. And be sure to avoid being supersensitive. Pray that bitterness out of your mind. Then you will be liked and people will show regard for you.

14-year-old daughter thinks parents are square.

Q. We have a 14-year-old daughter who thinks her parents are "SQUARE." She wants us to let her do her "thing." We think she is too young to go riding around in a car with a fellow for hours. We feel they should go with another couple. She gives us the line, "Everybody else does it." Do you have guidelines to help us? Being a parent in this day of permissiveness isn't too easy.

A. Of course being a parent in a permissive era isn't easy. It requires, in addition to love, some positive attitudes and the guts to stick with them.

Any 14-year-old girl riding around in a car alone with a boy is going to get into difficulty and a parent is naive to think differently. As to the hackneyed line, "Everybody does it," simply say, "So what? I know that not everybody does it, but even if they did, you're not going to do it. We are responsible to protect and guide you, and we cannot allow you to do this."

Then stick to your convictions. A teen needs the assurance of parents' love. Boundaries which are firm give them the assurance of that love.

Friend has had abortion.

Q. I personally feel that abortion, for any reason, is murder and I've been making my conviction known lately. My problem is how to deal with a close friend who confided in me that she killed a three-month-old fetus. She displays complete satisfaction with her decision and no guilt whatsoever. I'm glad she's free from mental anguish, and I don't want to instill guilt. But I'm sick with revulsion at the knowledge of what this "good" person did. What about my inaction? Is this a case of "Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do?" Please help me as I'm beginning to feel that my silent knowledge somehow, to her, condones this atrocity.

A. When you have expressed your own moral conviction and have made it clear to another person, you have done all that conscience demands.

No doubt your friend is perfectly aware of your feelings, and if you wish to continue the friendship you must not overemphasize condemnation. Remember also that God forgives. You should, too.

The thing she did is between God and herself, and the matter should rest there. You might practice loving her after the manner that God loves all of us — even with our sin.

Perhaps you would like to find an answer for yourself to a problem that you can share with others in THERE'S AN ANSWER! If there is something you would like to ask Dr. and Mrs. Peale to discuss in this column, write to them in care of Box 500, Pawling, N. Y. 12564.

CB Antenna Installation Said Dangerous By EHA

As a result of information published by the United States Consumer Product Safety Commission listing 92 deaths nationwide associated with Citizens Band radio antennas mounted on towers or masts adjacent to private dwellings, a warning was issued today regarding antenna installation by Donald H. Noren, Director of the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene's Environmental Health Administration.

Mr. Noren said that most of the antenna accidents, which along with the deaths included 156 injuries, occurred when they were being installed or removed and came in contact with power lines.

Consumers are urged by the Administration's Product Safety Division to take the following precautions during installation or removal of base station antennas:

1. Avoid putting up antennas Anywhere in the vicinity of power lines. If this cannot be avoided, the local power company should be called in advance for further instructions.

2. Tie off the antenna with a rope so that in the event it should fall during installation or removal it will not touch power lines.

3. Before attempting installation or removal, consult with experienced persons.

Mr. Noren noted that two deaths, the result of CB antenna accidents, have been reported in Maryland.

This year, in response to requests and suggestions from tour operators and brokers, the state has been regionalized, based on major traffic corridors, making the guide easier to use and more informative.

The 64-page publication is divided into 10 sections, each section representing a region. Adjoining each regional map is information on historic places, museums, special attractions and other points of interest. Included are additional listings of major festivals and local tour services.

New Schedule Of Fines Is Announced

The Office of the Chief Judge, Robert F. Sweeney, of the District Court has announced that a new schedule of pre-set fines or collateral was implemented in Maryland effective Saturday, January 15.

Under Maryland law motorists receiving citations for most motor vehicle offenses which are not punishable by a jail sentence may elect to plead guilty and waive a trial by paying a fine established by the court for the particular offense. At the present time police officers throughout the state insert on the citation the actual dollar amount of the fine, by consulting lists of fines distributed to all police officers by court personnel. Motorists charged with offenses punishable by a jail term or with certain other serious offenses, such as exceeding the speed limit by more than 30 miles per hour, are not permitted to prepay a fine and avoid trial, but are required to appear in court to defend themselves.

In distributing the new fine schedule, Chief Judge Robert F. Sweeney said that it was the work product of a committee of twenty District Court Judges who had been reviewing the fine schedule adopted by the court when it began fine and one-half years ago. The committee's aim, Judge Sweeney said, was to categorize motor vehicle offenses into ones payable by even amounts of ten dollars, twenty dollars, thirty dollars, forty dollars, or fifty dollars. At some early date, he said, the Department of Motor Vehicles will distribute a new citation form with those amounts printed thereon, so that an officer issuing a citation can merely check off the fines established by the court for that particular offense, and eliminate the necessity for the "road side" computation of the fine, that is now based on twenty dollars plus one dollar for each mile over the limit in speeding cases. The present practice of officers inserting the dollar amount," Judge Sweeney said, is bad for several reasons. First, many motorists erroneously assume that the officer is establishing a fine according to his own whim. Secondly, the existing system has a strong potential for mistakes, resulting in inconvenience to the motorist and court personnel alike."

Judge Sweeney said that the fines for most offenses involving public safety had been increased by the court, where as fines for offenses that were merely technical in nature had been decreased in many instances. "Fines for public safety offenses," he said, were increased because the judges of the court are greatly concerned about the loss of life on the highways of the state and nation resulting from the misuse of motor vehicles, and because they are persuaded that the motoring public is no longer observing the 55 mile per hour speed limit to the same extent as when that limit was adopted in 1973." The changes implemented by the court in the new fine schedule are the first changes since the court began its operations in July of 1971, except for a five dollar increase in all speeding cases that was mandated by the court shortly after the 55 mile per hour speed limit went into effect.

Judge Sweeney said that it is difficult to predict the exact extent to which court revenues will be increased by the new schedule, but he estimated that there would be an overall increase of approximately 15% in revenues if the same percentage of citizens elect to prepay fines rather than stand trial once the new schedule is in effect. At the present time, approximately 70% of motorists receiving citations on the state's highways waive their right to trial, and pre-pay the fine, with the remaining 30% either electing to stand trial or being required to do so because the offense with which they are charged is one of a serious nature. The fine schedule has no application in cases in which a citizen stands trial, as the trial judge in each case is free to impose a greater or lesser fine on a guilty defendant, based on the circumstances of the offense and the defendant's driving record.

Judge Sweeney emphasized that all revenues from fines in motor vehicle and criminal cases are paid directly over by the court to state general funds, and that those revenues are not used in any way to fund the operation of the state's judicial system.

State Farm Bureau Leaders Meet

Farm Bureau leaders from all across Maryland met in Towson last week to attend the first Maryland Farm Bureau Presidents Symposium.

Representing Garrett County at that meeting was Clark A. Kolb, president of the Garrett County Farm Bureau.

Allan Grant, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation also attended the symposium to meet and talk with county presidents.

This meeting was an opportunity for presidents of all Farm Bureaus in Maryland to prepare for the activities and planned programs for 1977," said Mr. Kolb. In addition to our discussion on state activities this year, Mr. Grant discussed the national agricultural scene.

"Agriculture today must look to the future," said Mr. Grant, in an interview after the meeting. "Farms as in Congress this year will be many issues directly affecting agriculture.

"The Congress that will make laws affecting farmers, is a Congress composed of very few farmers. That's why Farm Bureau exists — to provide a voice for agriculture and take action on behalf of the farmer," he concluded.

Deep Creek Lions Sponsoring Annual Skiing For Blind

Legally blind youngsters aged nine through 19 from the Maryland School for the Blind in Baltimore have been finding the slopes at Wisp a challenge as they try skiing.

The project is sponsored by the Deep Creek Lake Lions club from proceeds from the annual Winter-Fest celebration, with ski instruction offered by members of Wisp Ski Club. Jay Kaminecik is chairman of the project for the Lions.

Students were at Wisp January 10 through 14, and again this week. Two more trips are scheduled, January 31 through February 4, and February 7 through 10.

Six youngsters at a time come from Baltimore along with two chaperones. The groups are scheduled to be on the slopes from 10:30 to 12:30 and again from 1:30 to 3 p.m. each day. Principal instructors are Jerry and Nancy Geisler, ski club members, assisted by Ann Elliott.

The remainder of the time for the visitors may be occupied by swimming in the Wisp pool, in the game room or around the juke box. Students are guests of the Lions club one night for dinner at Village Inn, travel to the Country Kastle one evening for ice cream, and are guests of Bill Robeson for snowmobiling another night.

To help the volunteers with the project, several attended a clinic at Canaan Valley, W. Va., in mid-December sponsored by the Blind Outdoor Leisure Development (BOLD). An experienced blind skier was among the instructors from Aspen, Colorado who assisted in the clinic. Attending were Jerry and Nancy Geisler, Jay Kaminecik, George Collins and Dotty Barr.

According to Mrs. Geisler, these well-adjusted youngsters accept skiing as a challenge and are not afraid of the new experience. The groups learn very fast, and the last group mastered the rope tow, poma and chair lifts in the four days they were here.

Both meetings will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the cafeterias.

They will appear at the Mt. Lake Independent Baptist church on that day, at 7:30 p.m. There is no charge for the program.

The group represents Student Missionary Intern Training for Evangelism. The group appears on Old Time Gospel hour television program.

The concert will include music, unique multi-media, audio-visual presentations and drama, according to John Schrimshire, Pastor.

Snowcovered Goodness . . .

Let's, just for a change, attempt to find some good things to say about the weather. Believe it or not, there are some.

When the weather is treacherous, people tend to look out more for their neighbors. Total strangers have been going out of their way to assist each other in some way, whether it be simply by shoving a stuck automobile, or something as dramatic as the action taken by employees of Texas Eastern Corporation and members of the Northern Rescue Squad who this week rescued an 83-year-old lady who was stranded in her home, with no fuel for heat. Road crews have been working 16 hour shifts since Christmas, because these men know how important it is to keep the roads open. There is a sense of brotherhood which isn't always present when the sun is shining and it's 80 degrees outside.

The sub-zero winds and blowing snow help us to be more aware, and certainly more appreciative, of our warm homes, something often taken for granted.

Economically speaking, thousands of winter recreation seekers are making their way through the drifts to Garrett County and strengthening our economic base with their pocketbooks.

The fact that the drifting snow and the various formations of ice possess a natural beauty and wonder can hardly be disputed by anyone. One need only to look outside the window to see such a picture. One such scene is shown on the front page of this newspaper today. Next week one of our photographers will attempt to get a shot of Muddy Creek Falls which must be truly magnificent.

This particular winter will provide us with a piece of history and heritage, so that one day we, perhaps as old timers, will be able to look back and say, "Why, I remember the winter . . ."

Some of the more troubling problems of life have been temporarily placed in the backs of our minds. Rather than worrying about high taxes and the Middle East, we concentrate only on getting that driveway shoveled out. It's a rather refreshing break.

Yes, amid the frozen pipes, blocked roads, gas curtailments and frostbiting temperatures, there are actually some good things about the weather. As the old cliche says, we can see the good only after experiencing the bad.

Curtailments Of Gas To Increase

Columbia Gas of Maryland will increase curtailment to industrial customers February 1 because record-setting cold temperatures this month have caused customers to use abnormally large quantities of gas for home heating.

Other Columbia companies are also increasing curtailment in Ohio, West Virginia, Pennsylvania and Kentucky.

In announcing the curtailments, the company said the situation is critical and appealed to all its residential customers to set home thermostats no higher than 65 degrees and for all businesses to reduce gas consumption to a minimum by turning back thermostats and reducing hours of operation.

In Maryland, curtailment will be increased from 30 to 100 percent on industrial loads with alternate fuel capability.

All large industrial boiler loads already are curtailed 100 percent.

Affected are 27 industrial customers.

Temperatures throughout Maryland have averaged 30 percent colder than normal this winter and 44 percent colder than normal for the month of January.

Although the revised curtailment levels are scheduled to be in effect until March 31, changes in available gas supply, colder than normal temperatures, or changes in the amount of gas used by customers could result in additional changes in curtailments prior to that time.

Gas Cut Off To Six Industries

Columbia Gas of Maryland, Inc., which serves three western Maryland counties, has announced it will cut off natural gas to six large industrial users February 1.

The six firms, which receive gas on an interruptible basis, have been receiving 80 percent of their demand since January 1, when Columbia began curtailing supplies.

Companies affected are: Harbison Walker Refractories at Jennings; Mount Savage Refractory, Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company and Kaiser Refractories, all in Allegany County; West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, Luke; and Pangborn Division of Carborundum, Hagerstown. Columbia Gas spokesman Henry King said the companies was forced to shut off the firms' gas supplies to meet increased demands by residential customers in the three counties.

Columbia also said all the companies except Mount Savage Refractories will be able to replace the natural gas with more expensive alternative fuels. Mount Savage lacks an alternative fuel source.

Del. Bolden Lists Bill To Exempt Yough From Law

Legislation was introduced in Annapolis last Friday to take the Youghiogheny River out of the state's Wild and Scenic Rivers law, setting the stage for a lobby campaign by property owners who have been fighting the law.

The repeal measure and a second bill to stiffen trespassing laws in Garrett County were introduced by Del. DeCorsey Bolden (R., Garrett).

The Yough property owners are relying on the trespassing law as a way to keep the public as well as state officials off land along the Youghiogheny.

Col. Richard Browning, president of the Youghiogheny Owners Association, has said that his group will throw full support behind the repeal bill.

"We're going to support whatever DeCorsey's doing for us," Col. Browning said, adding that Bolden has been the only state official to step forward and take a stand against the state regulation of the Youghiogheny.

Sen. Edward Mason had also been asked to introduce similar legislation at the State House, but he refused, citing that this type of river is a very rare commodity, since few rivers in the country can meet the wild criteria.

Col. Browning noted that if ample notice in given property owners before hearings on the Bolden bills are held, he expects several of the county property owners to travel to Annapolis to help lobby for the measures.

Bald Eagle Probably Shot Outside County

Additional information concerning the young bald eagle that was discovered in the woods near Friendsville during deer season has come to light during the past week from the Department of Natural Resources, indicating that deer hunters were not involved in the shooting.

The eagle was found originally by Ken Thomas, Lowell Thomas, Vernon Sines and Richard Thomas. It was identified at Frostburg State college, and later taken to College Park and examined.

The Department has determined that the bird most likely was shot in another area than Garrett county because it was full of bird shot and that local hunters would not have had shotgun shells in their rifles during deer season.

Furthermore the department stated that the bird's wounds had partially healed and that it had died from gangrene.

Some persons, in discussing the event, had at first felt some deer hunter had wounded it.

WINTER WONDERLAND — Of course the whole county is a winter wonderland of sculptured drifts, sparkling snow, and frozen waters. But this natural creation near Sang Run combines the best of all winter beauty. A spring runs freely from a pipe in this area where a trailer had been located, and now has amassed a huge, 15-foot tall, ice blue mass of frozen water. The spring continues to flow, and is still forming the upward-growing cricle. It is well worth a visit to Sang Run to see this phenomenon, located on Bishop Road. At right is a 55 gallon metal barrel, giving an indication of the enormous formation.

Blood Donors Again Break Quota

Despite hazardous weather conditions last Friday afternoon, 174 persons turned out to donate blood to the Red Cross Bloodmobile at the Oakland Fire Hall. Of that 174, only seven were rejected, making a total collection of 167 pints of blood. The quota was 135 pints.

There were 36 first time donors and 66 replacements.

One gallon donors included Linda Younkin, Accident; Brenda Durst, Mt. Storm; Mamie Wilt, Swanton; Danny Baker, George Zimmerman, and Judy Livenood, all of Oakland.

Two gallon donors were Mary Jo Robeson, of Kitzmiller, and Thelma Brant, of McHenry.

Three gallon donors included Amos Garber and Brad Stewart, both of Oakland.

Mary Rodeheaver, of Mt. Lake Park, was a four gallon donor.

There was one seven gallon donor. He is Roy Glotfelty of Oakland.

Employees of Bausch and Lomb contributed 27 pints, Rohyans, eight pints, Sterling Processing, five pints, Sincell Publishing, four pints and C&P Telephone, two pints.

A report from Red Cross from July 1, 1976 to December 31, 1976, showed that Garrett County Memorial Hospital used 167 pints and there were 38 out of region replacements.

Girl Scout cadets from troop #26 served as hostesses at the door and helped in the canteen. Their leader is Mrs. Delmar Sliger.

Boy Scouts from troop #31 who helped load the Bloodmobile truck and put the fire hall back in order included Grey Savage, Vernon Leighton, Dave Gregg, Steve Gregg, Robert Shafton and Fred Bell. Troop leader is Mr. Delmar Sliger.

Other volunteers included Tammie Bartholomew, Sally Beckman, Kimberly Sweitzer, Sandra Sliger, Jo Butler and Barbara Butler.

Mrs. Norma Hesen, Bloodmobile chairman, stated, "I wish to extend a special thanks to all donors who support the Bloodmobile program and all the volunteers who work so willingly in all weather conditions. People caring for others and the satisfaction of helping their community make the program a success."

SHA Operations Running Smoothly Despite Long Hours

Operations for the State Highway Administration in this county have pretty much settled into a routine, despite adverse weather conditions. Men have worked 16 hour shifts nearly every day since before Christmas to keep roads open, and so far no major problems have developed.

Equipment is holding up well, with no major breakdowns as yet. Routine maintenance and minor difficulties have been all the mechanics have encountered so far.

The employees have been working 16 hours on, eight off in attempts to keep roads passable. Three of the men were off due to a virus-type illness on Monday of this week, but they were expected back on duty in a few days.

Roads Department, Commissioners Talk Over Problems

Representatives of the Garrett County Roads department met Monday with County Commissioners Bender, Edwards and Hamilton to discuss the current status of the 500 miles of county roads.

Herb McCrobie, administrative engineer, and Earl Foster, assistant, briefed the commissioners, reporting that all roads were open as of Monday, but that conditions remained hazardous.

Problems besetting the roads department include the lack of cinders to be applied to the slick roads. County trucks have been in constant use in road clearing and have not been free to haul the cinders from the usual supplier in the area, Allegheny Mining Stockpiles were depleted Monday, and no more orders will be hauled until trucks can gain access to the silos. Ponds must also thaw so the cinders can be washed.

Drivers are asked to carry chains in their cars in case of emergency on the slick outlying roadways.

Breakdowns continue to harass the department, with the two Oakland graders still down for major repair. Graders have been put back into service at Accident and Grantsville.

Mr. McCrobie commended the roads workers on the outstanding job they have done in clearing snow from the roadways despite the problems of strong winds, continuing snowfall, and abandoned cars on roadways.

The county is in the process of formulating a snow emergency plan listing rules for motorists using county roads, possibly similar to that enforced by the Maryland State Police on state highways.

The county commissioners have evaluated the county roads budget and pointed out that although snow removal is a costly operation, the county roads department is well within the budget.

The commissioners added that the county roads department budget includes funds to meet snow removal emergencies.

The Commissioners also restated the roads policy concerning removal of snow on private roads and driveways within the county. The only time a county plow can open a private road or driveway is in the case of dire emergency. The roads department must adhere to this policy to ensure that public roads are kept open.

Couple Charged In Death Of A Two-Year-Old Boy

A Garrett County man has been charged with manslaughter and child abuse in the death of his two-year-old stepson, and the child's mother has been charged with child abuse.

Carl Schrock, 30, is being held in the Garrett County jail in default of $5,000 property or $500 cash bond, while his wife, Bessie Ann Ervin Schrock, 26, is being held in default of $2,000 property bond.

Authorities were called to the Schrock home Tuesday afternoon along with the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad, but the child (Quincy Allen Ervin, was dead when they arrived.

The body then was taken to Garrett County Memorial Hospital and later removed to Cumberland's Memorial Hospital for an autopsy.

Dr. James H. Feaster, deputy medical examiner for this county, said death was caused by a head injury. The autopsy indicated signs of hemorrhage in three areas of the brain. Mr. Schrock indicated to police that he had violently shaken the child, who then went limp.

The Schrocks reside at Route 3, Oakland, along Route 39 at Table Rock.

They were taken before District Court Commissioner Dawn Weiers at Oakland Wednesday for the bond hearing, and a bond review was scheduled for sometime today.

The case is under investigation by the Garrett County Sheriff's office and State Police.

The Ervin youngster was born at Oakland, and is survived by his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Ervin, Deer Park, and paternal step-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Schrock.

The body is at the John O. Durst Funeral Home in Oakland. A service will be conducted Friday at 11 a.m. at St. John's Episcopal Church, Deer Park, by Rev. John A. Grant. Burial will be in the Ervin family cemetery at Deer Park.

Brenneman Added To NWWA List

The National Water Well Association, which is a non-profit professional society and trade association representing all segments of the ground water industry, has published a list of names of individuals who make up the membership of its voluntary Certification program.

The program, which is designed to permit water well drillers, pump installers and others in the ground water industry to prove their competency and knowledge of their profession, now includes John Brenneman from Brenneman Well Drilling, Accident.

In the certification program Mr. Brenneman has passed tests in cable tool drilling in rock material; air rotary drilling in rock material; and pump installation, domestic one to three horsepower.

Water well drillers have, with the advent of the certification program, joined the ranks of other trades and professions which offer accreditation to those who meet qualifications established by their national associations.

A far cry from hand digging wells of yesteryear, well drilling has become a sophisticated profession requiring thousands of dollars investment in high-powered drilling rigs, comparable to those used in oil well drilling. In addition well drillers must have a working knowledge of geology, hydrology and business.

Professor Warns Against "Pill Box Roulette"

WVU News Service

"Pill box roulette," a game played when different medications are put in the same container, or someone offers a pill to treat another's ills, can make all participants losers.

Take the example of Mrs. B. She carries three different medications in her pill box. One, nitroglycerin, is easy to identify; it is a small tablet. But the two others, phenobarbital and digoxin, are both round white tablets.

In an emergency situation, she needs the nitroglycerin. It is possible that, if confused, she won't be able to identify which of the white tablets she needs. And anyone else trying to help probably won't know either.

Then there is Harry. He is willing to give anyone some of his medications if they show the same symptoms for which he is being treated. An analgesic he gives to a friend, saying the pill helps his condition, knocks out the friend for hours.

"Pill box roulette is a very real problem," says Art Jacknowitz, West Virginia University assistant professor of clinical pharmacy. "Many patients don't really know the reason that they are taking drugs. They do not even know what they are."

Jacknowitz is director of the WVU Medical Center's Drug Information Center.

"The person taking the medication should be actively involved," he says. "There are a lot of drugs which look alike but are used to treat different disease entities."

Most major pharmaceutical companies voluntarily identify their drug products by a specific identification code. But there is no federal law requiring that each manufactured drug, regardless of the company that makes it, have a unique identification. By looking at a certain pill's color or shape or even marking, a person cannot be sure of what it contains.

But even with the risk involved, people still use pill boxes to carry more than one medication. It may seem inconvenient to them to carry two or more larger vials of medications in their purses or pockets, or they like the look of a pill box.

These reasons don't justify the practice, Jacknowitz notes. "The patient can ask the pharmacist to dispense a small vial containing, instead of a three months' supply, a two weeks' supply, along with the larger bottle. No one is recommending that you carry around a gigantic bottle of tablets. Explain your circumstances to the pharmacist and he should readily divide the medications."

And make sure both the large and small bottles are labeled with the name of the drug. Most pharmacists do this, but if they don't, it can be requested.

Even if you know the name of the drug, you may not know why you are taking the pill.

"As a patient actively involved in your therapy, you have a right to know what the drug is all about," Jacknowitz says. "Ask the doctor questions. You have to know what drug you are taking and what it is being used for to make full use of the drug's potential."

Let the physician know what other drugs, if any, you are taking before he prescribes another. Combinations of different drugs in your bloodstream may be harmful.

Use the drug only for yourself. "You should never trade medications," he says. "What is effective for one individual may be hazardous to a second."

Today's society is a poly-drug one, he says. People take many medications, whether by prescription or over-the-counter, but people's reactions to drugs vary.

So pill box roulette is a potentially dangerous problem. However, by keeping your different medications separate and labeled, by knowing for what they are being used and making sure only you use them, the problem can be greatly reduced.

Announce Engagement

The engagement of Jennifer Sue Browning to Richard Bruce Dellinger, Jr., has been announced.

Miss Browning is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Browning, of Nokomis, Fla., formerly of Oakland. Mr. Dellinger's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bruce Dellinger, of Bloomington.

The bride-elect and her fiance were graduated from Bruce High School, Westernport, in 1976. The wedding will take place April 9.

Telephone Service To Be Measured For Businesses

Beginning January 27, telephone service will be provided on a measured basis for all business customers in Accident, Friendsville, Grantsville, and Kitzmiller.

Residence customers in these areas will have the choice of subscribing to measured service, including economy service, if they wish to.

"With measured service, charges are based on the customer's use of the service," A. W. Mier, C&P Telephone manager, said.

"Because the basic monthly rate is lower, many business customers with low calling volumes will pay less than before," Mier said. "In fact, our experience throughout the state is that over 75 percent of our business customers pay less for measured service than they did for flat service.

"Those businesses who benefit by making a lot of calls will pay their proportionate share. The point is that you pay for what you use."

This change in business service is part of a statewide program to bring about a more equitable and uniform rate structure for business customers.

After this conversion, 99 percent of C&P's business customers will have measured service.

Measured business service allows 90 local calls per main line per billing period. The calling allowance is 65 for individual line measured residence service. Additional calls are billed at the message unit rate of 8 cents each for business service and 7½ cents for residence service.

Economy service may be appropriate for residence customers who are on fixed income and who have low calling volumes. There is no calling allowance, and each call made is billed as a message unit.

These programs, authorized by the Public Service Commission, have been implemented as facilities became available.

The Supreme Court slapped the IRS for intrusions into private property.

Household Hints

By Jolene Nelson
Potomac Edison Home Service Representative

Colder Weather and Your Electric Bill

It has been much colder this winter ... in case you hadn't noticed ... 58.6% colder in the Cumberland, Maryland area ... 48% colder in the Hagerstown, Maryland area and ... 51.3% colder in the Front Royal, Virginia area than last year. In fact, it is the coldest winter we have had in the last seventeen years since we began keeping records. The Pittsburgh station of the U.S. Weather Service reports that October and November were the coldest ever recorded.

How do we know it has been colder?

Heating engineers use what is known as the degree day method of comparing day to day temperatures to determine the amount of coldness. It is generally accepted that when the outside temperature is below 65 degrees, heat is needed for comfort. Therefore, 65 degrees is used as a standard for measuring, and each degree the average daily temperature drops below 65 degrees is referred to as one "degree day." For example, if on a given day the average outside temperature drops to 35 degrees, there are 30 degree days (65 - 35 = 30) or units of coldness. By accumulating a record of degree days, the weather of one heating season can be compared with another. This winter has been 41% colder than the 17 year average ... THAT'S COLD!

What does it mean to you?

It means your heating and electric bills are going to be larger. Heating systems — no matter what type — require electricity to operate fans, circulator pumps or whatever. Water coming into the house is colder requiring more energy to heat it. Add to this the recent holiday baking, entertaining, cookie making, lighting, television viewing, laundry, etc. AND ... more cold is on the way say weather forecasters.

What can we do to keep energy costs down for the remainder of the heating season? The greatest savings can be achieved by keeping the thermostat set at 68 degrees (... or 40 degrees in unused areas). You use 3% more energy for every degree you set the thermostat above 68°. Turn the water heater thermostat back to 120 degrees, or 140 degrees if you have a dishwasher. Keep doors closed and concentrate on saving energy.

To help you save in more than 100 ways, call the nearest Potomac Edison office and ask for a copy of the free booklet "USE ELECTRICITY WISELY" or write the U.S. Government Printing office for energy saving information.

Window, Window In the Wall ...

A window is a thing that if you're in you look through to see out. Right? Right. It's also a thing about which the National Bureau of Standards has recently written a report called, "Window Design Strategies to Conserve Energy."

What can a homeowner do about the windows in the home? Well, if your windows and window sash are in good condition with no obvious defects or gaps, you might want to think about installing storm windows. They are, the report says, "A very good investment, quickly paying back the cost in fuel savings." The Bureau calculates that storm windows can reduce fuel requirements by 25 percent and have 5-10 year payback.

NBS also tells us that lined, heavy draperies are a good idea but only as long as they reach to the floor so cold air doesn't seep into the room. Creating an "air dam" at the bottom and sides, they have found, will trap cold air in the curtains at night and force warm air out the top. They suggest you pin the sides of the drapes to the window jam to prevent leakage. It may not look pretty but it'll save you $$$'s.

Even latching a window can make a difference in saving energy. Latching pulls the window against itself.

For those hunting houses, the NBS recommends windows facing south and east. These trap the most sunlight. Windows facing north are the least desirable.

Cold Snap Causes Water Service Freeze-ups

The cold snap has had an adverse effect on water service to some homes and businesses in Oakland, causing freeze-ups.

Some 30 to 40 places have been without water due to frozen service lines. They are not confined to a particular locality but scattered over the town.

According to Willard Ringer of the Oakland Water Department most of the freeze-ups have occurred where snow has been cleared from the area where the pipes are located. The snow acts as an insulator against frigid temperatures, strange as it may seem. In some cases, a heat lamp placed in the water meter compartment has effected a thaw. Another trouble spot is at stone or concrete walls.

As of now no water main freeze-ups have occurred.

Petition To Ban Broadcasting Is Non-Existent

Maryland Delegate, Elizabeth S. Smith, this week allayed the fears of Marylanders who have appealed to the Federal Communications Commisston for denial of a "rumored" petition involving a phase-out of religious broadcasts.

rumor, now widespread, began when some claimed that an FCC hearing had been ordered for the sole purpose of banning religious broadcasts over radio and television networks.

Smith met with Federal Communications Commission Chairman Richard E. Wiley in response to an unprecedented push for information by her constituents, as well as her personal interest in an FCC denial of the supposed petition. In addition, the information was circulated in some church bulletins requesting parishioners to write to the FCC requesting a denial of the alleged petition.

She revealed that the FCC has not been petitioned for a hearing to freeze religious programming over the nation's airwaves, and Chairman Wiley confirmed "there is absolutely no truth to it."

Smith said that as a result of her meeting with FCC Chairman Wiley, she learned that more than 4.5 million letters bearing 20 to 30 million signatures have been received by the FCC from concerned individuals who have been frightened by misinformation that religious broadcasting is in jeopardy.

"Chairman Wiley explained that in 1974 two Californians filed a petition asking the FCC to issue rulings freezing the assignment of additional educational television and FM radio licenses to those planning religious programming.

"This particular petition which was unanimously denied by the FCC, had nothing to do with commercial broadcasting, but concerned educational broadcasts only," Del. Smith said.

On August 1, 1975, the FCC in a unanimous action denied the request made in that petition. An 11-page statement explaining the reasons was issued and all was made public on August 13, 1975.

"Since then — about a year and a half later — the FCC's mail requesting a denial of the "rumored" petition has begun to escalate," Mrs. Smith explained. "As a matter of fact, the FCC has had to hire additional mailroom employees just to handle the mail on this subject."

It is reported that as of the end of 1976 it had cost taxpayers in the neighborhood of $570,000 to mail their letters supporting a denial of a petition that doesn't exist.

Deep Creek VFD Douses Fire At Pumping Shed

Traffic posed the most hazardous problem for Deep Creek volunteer firemen at 11:30 Tuesday morning as they responded to a call to a pump house located beside Morris' Store at Deep Creek Lake.

Slippery road conditions and Route 219 traffic posed a problem for the company, which had to park its three pieces of equipment on the roadway. Despite volunteers directing traffic, one tractor-trailer jacknifed there and several cars had near misses with the equipment.

Twelve men helped douse the fire at the small shed, which houses a pump supplying several homes in that area with water. Damage was minimal to the building, which had a hole burned through the roof. The pump remained operational.

Deer Park Stars 4-H Goes Roller Skating

The Deer Park Stars 4-H club met at the Deer Park community building December 6, and scheduled a skating party which was held December 19 at Tri-R-Roller rink. Forty-five members attended, and each brought refreshments.

Refreshments at the December meeting were served by Tom DeBerry and Kenny DeWitt.

The January meeting was cancelled, so members are to bring their speeches to the February meeting to be held on Valentine's Day, February 14, at the community building.

Goldstein Against House Bill Eight

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein today expressed his opposition to a bill, House Bill 8, that would mandate removal of the liquor excise stamps that appear on bottles of distilled spirits sold in Maryland, calling the removal of the stamps counterproductive.

The Comptroller noted that the stamps are an important tool in the enforcement of Maryland's revenue laws because they identify bottles of Maryland tax-paid liquor, and he said their removal would trigger modern day bootlegging operations the likes of which we have not seen since the days of Prohibition."

Distilled spirits tax revenue is shared with Maryland's 23 counties and Baltimore City.

Pointing out Maryland's proximity to the District of Columbia as well as four surrounding states, the large number of Federal reservations in Maryland where tax-free distilled spirits are available, the vast amounts of alcoholic beverages flowing through the Port of Baltimore, and the inspections of retail outlets required by law, Mr. Goldstein said enforcement of the revenue law would become a nightmare if the stamps were removed.

Comptroller Goldstein said Maryland could become a "dumping ground" for stolen and non-tax-paid liquor if the stamps were removed and predicted tax revenue from distilled spirits would plummet, along with the revenue shared with the local subdivisions.

In addition, the Comptroller said, "legitimate businesses would be driven out of the market place. These stamps protect both the legitimate business people in Maryland and the State and local revenues."

4-H Club Meets

The December meeting of the Deer Park Stars 4-H Club was held on January 6, at the Deer Park Community Building.

Refreshments were served by Tom DeBerry and Ken DeWitt. The main topic of discussion was a Christmas skating party which was held at the Tri-R-Roller rink on December 19, with 45 in attendance. Each member brought refreshments.

The regular January meeting was cancelled. Members are to bring their speeches to the February meeting to be held on February 14, at the community building in Deer Park.

Child Support Program Backed By Judge Thayer

At a recent meeting with staff members of the Department of Social Services and the State's Attorney's Office, Judge Fred A. Thayer has pledged his all-out effort to see that Garrett County's Collection of Child Support gets the court's fullest attention. This program is aimed at seeing that all parents who are responsible to contribute to the support of minor children receiving a public assistance grant in this county either agree to pay support or the court orders payment.

The program was begun in the latter part of 1975 and during the past year there has been a dramatic increase in the collection of support money. This money is used to reimburse the State for public assistance payments made on behalf of children where the responsible parent is no longer in the home, but has an income which should be used to meet the support obligation. The staff and office space is paid for by a 75% federal grant and the remaining 25% of the funds are provided by the county. The county realizes a refund of 25% of all collections for the first twelve months in each case and a 10% rebate on all collections past twelve months. To date the amount returned to the county exceeds its investment, but stricter enforcement and an increase in court orders will produce even greater income for the county and will force responsible parents to meet their obligations to support their families.

Each parent applying for a public assistance grant for themselves and their children where the wage earner has left the home is required to sign their right to support money to the Department of Social Services before a check can be given to them. This puts the right to collect payments from the wage earner in the Department's hands and they in turn, prepare the necessary papers to forward to the State's Attorney's Office for enforcement. In cases where the support is paid on a regular basis there is no problem, but where no payment is made or where it is not regular, Judge Thayer plans to see that the case comes to the court and that payment is made or the appropriate sentence will be imposed.

The day of letting the taxpayer carry the burden to support deserted children while the responsible father (or mother) goes on without worry is over. This is a federal law now and through the State's Attorney and the court it will be enforced to the fullest extent, Judge Thayer said.

Commission To Examine Ancient Traffic Laws

You may be violating Maryland law and don't know it. You are if you park your car on the street at night and don't leave the parking lights on from dusk to dawn.

You also are a law breaker if you remove old license plates from your car and walk away to dispose of them. Under current laws, you could be arrested for illegal possession of the plates.

If these two laws seem a little ridiculous to you, they also do to the Governor's Commission to Revise the Annotated Code.

The commission is also trying to do something about some of the hundreds of inconsistent and obsolete statutes making up the state's transportation laws.

All of the state's transportation laws are to be repealed during this session of the General Assembly, and then re-enacted into a new article.

Two bills with a total of 1,300 pages were introduced on the first day of the legislative session on behalf of the commission. They would clarify and simplify the transportation laws without substantially changing them.

The proposed revision of the transportation laws is the eighth article to be dealt with by the commission.

Driving On Ice Is Dangerous

The Marine Division of the Natural Resources Police Force is urging people NOT to drive on the ice.

Corporal Hilary Stallings of the Marine Police issued a word of caution this morning to persons driving on the ice.

Although the ice appears thick and capable of sustaining much weight, air pockets and soft spots create dangerous conditions on even thick ice.

Persons falling into the ice water are in danger of hypothermia. Hypothermia means the body is losing heat faster than it can be produced.

The water temperature determines how long a victim can last before exhaustion and unconsciousness occur.

Common sense and judgment should keep people from driving on the ice but to date, in Maryland, six vehicles have fallen through the ice.

A truck loaded with oysters and another vehicle fell through the ice on Harris Creek, near Tilghman Island. Other vehicles have fallen through on Bodkin Creek, Back River, Potomac River and the Rhode River.

For your safety and for the safety of others, stay off the ice with vehicles.

Workshop Held On Coal Mining

The first of four workshops on the effects of coal mining on Western Maryland was held Tuesday evening from 7:30 to 10 p.m. at the Lane College Center at Frostburg State College, under sponsorship of the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The workshops are designed to provide citizens with an informational background necessary for a rational evaluation of the effects of coal mining in Western Maryland, according to Kent B. Fuller, an assistant professor in the Appalachian Environmental Laboratory at FSC.

Mr. Fuller and Miss Constance Zeni, a graduate research assistant, sent a form letter about the four workshops to various concerned citizens, soliciting their attendance.

Speakers Tuesday, on problems and promise of the coal industry, included Robert Miller, representing the Citizens' Coalition on Surface Mining; Tony Abar of the Maryland Energy and Coastal Zone Administration, and John Carey, of Delta Mining Company.

The session ended with a roundtable discussion of laws and regulations featuring members of the State Land Reclmation Committee. Unable to attend due to weather conditions were Garrett County's two representatives, Gene Straub and John Reckner.

Subsequent workshops will be held February 22, March 22 and April 13.

Excerpts from the letter mailed to citizens follow:

"Western Maryland is a region abundantly supplied with natural resources. Extensive mining of coal resources has been centered in the counties of Allegany and Garrett for many years. These coal resources, which were so important in the past, have gained even more value to the region and the nation in light of the ever-increasing shortage of available energy supplies. Parallel to our increased need for energy supplies has been the development of environmental awareness by citizens, legislators and industry."

"Efforts by these interested citizens, legislators and the mining industry are resulting in more environmentally sound mining practices and improved reclamation techniques. As we enter this new era of coal mining it is important that citizens voice their views and also obtain information to evaluate potential cultural and environmental impacts because of mining in the Appalachian region of Maryland."

Holiday Buying Boosts Spirits Tax Revenue

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein today released the most recent report on alcohol and tobacco tax collections, saying "holiday buying apparently boosted distilled spirits and wine tax collections during December 1976. Distilled spirits tax collection rose by 14.41 percent to nearly $1.86 million and wine tax revenues rose by 11.83 percent to $300,112 for the month."

The Comptroller noted that while total alcohol and tobacco tax revenues for December 1976 were slightly less than for December 1975, an examination of the revenue from distilled spirits, wine, beer and tobacco taxes over the first half of Fiscal Year 1977 reveals a growth in each category.

"For the first six months of Fiscal Year 1977, distilled spirits tax revenue totaled $8,340,275, up 1.22 percent; wine tax receipts amounted to $1,432,677, up 2.87 percent; beer tax collections were $4,715,047, up 3.40 percent; and tobacco tax revenue totaled $25,472,969, up .96 percent, compared with the first half of Fiscal Year 1976," Mr. Goldstein said.

Total net receipts from the alcohol and tobacco taxes for the first six months of Fiscal Year 1977 were $39,895,600, a gain of 1.32 percent over the $39,377,677 collected during the same period of Fiscal Year 1976.

Governor Mandel Releases Emergency Fuel Oil Supplies

Governor Marvin Mandel has made available emergency supplies of fuel oil to help alleviate the critical shortage which has occurred in area schools.

Emergency supplies were being made this week through a Hagerstown distribution point, as regular suppliers were unable to obtain sufficient amounts due to continuing adverse weather conditions, especially in the Pittsburgh area.

According to Dr. William H. Buser, county superintendent of schools, the majority of schools here are heated by fuel oil-fired furnaces. Exceptions are Bloomington and one shop at Southern High School, with natural gas; Dennett Road, Swan Meadow and Yoder schools, coal; and Crellin and Friendsville schools, electric.

All schools are continuing their conservation practices. Classrooms are kept at approximately 68 degrees during the day, with thermostats lowered to 60 degrees at night where feasible.

Further cutbacks may be made, if necessary, to 65 degrees during the day and 55 to 58 degrees during the night.

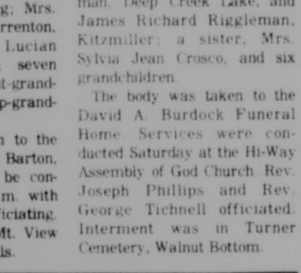

First of the emergency shipments was expected Tuesday to local schools.

Potomac Edison Cautions:

colder weather is causing higher electric bills

So far this heating season, the weather has been 30% to 40% colder than last year. As a result, household demands for electric service have risen dramatically.

Forecasts are calling for continued below normal temperatures. If so, your electric usage could increase considerably.

COMPARE BILLS

If you feel you haven't used more electricity lately, compare your kilowatthour consumption on last year's bill with your current bill. Make sure it's for the same two-month period in both years.

WHAT TO DO?

Colder weather and increased customer use of electricity make the efficient use of energy more important than ever. Keep in mind that all automatic heating systems use electricity....So setting your thermostat to 68 degrees will do a great deal in your conservation efforts. For other energy-saving recommendations, send now for Potomac Edison's free booklet, USE ELECTRICITY WISELY. Try to follow as many of the suggestions as possible to keep your usage and cost to a minimum.

MAKE WEIGHT LIFTING BENCHES — Students who have been involved in the Industrial Arts elective at Southern Middle School constructed five weight lifting benches for the Physical Education Department this past semester. Students involved in the project, directed by Tim Siljander, industrial arts instructor, were Perry Bolyard, James Bolyard, Jeff Cooper, Tom Fitzwater, Keith Andrews, Charles Blamble, Robbie Henline, Richard Fike, Steve Dilley, John Gallagher, Danny Holland, Skippy Roy, Charles Hardesty, Donald Shiflett, and Andrew Orr. In making the project during the one-half hour activity period scheduled each day, students learned about a working drawing, planing, jointing, drilling, assembling, sanding, staining and finishing. Lynn Fraley, gym instructor, was instrumental in donation of the lumber, which he obtained from Wood Products in Oakland, courtesy of John Hill and Max Messenger, who even helped load the lumber.

MASCD Says Water Quality Data Insufficient

The Maryland Association of Soil Conservation Districts (MASCD) has called for an extension of federal water pollution control deadlines until more sufficient data can be collected on the state's water quality.

A resolution passed by MASCD at their winter meeting in Hagerstown January 6-7, stated that it was "unreasonable to base future regulatory controls on incomplete data particularly where those regulations could have significant impact on the economics of farming." It called for a "more extensive water sampling program in the agricultural areas of the state."

Wilbert R. Paul, MASCD president, said his group will urge the National Association of Conservation Districts to request Congress to extend the deadlines. The 1972 Water Pollution Control law requires states to come up with a plan to control pollution contained in surface water runoff by 1978. Those plans must be in effect by 1983.

According to Paul, the present water quality sampling program is too limited and at best will yield questionable data. "If we don't have sufficient data, we may find ourselves jumping to conclusions when it comes to developing regulations," he said.

He added that the planning agencies responsible for developing these regulations have neither the funds nor the time to gather the necessary data. So far, only four agricultural monitoring sites have been selected and two planned in the state. These are located in the Baltimore Regional Planning Council area and will not be continuously monitored over a 12-month period.

MASCD members were also concerned that many of the research grants being awarded to private contractors are resulting in fragmented and inconclusive data. Often their reports contain extractions of data from existing government publications.

Taxpayers' funds would be used more effectively, they concluded, if channeled into coordinated research programs involving the University of Maryland, state agricultural research stations, and the USDA Agricultural Research Service.

Over 170 conservationists from around the state attended the meeting. Representing the Garrett Soil Conservation District were John T. Reckner, Jr., District Conservationist, Shaun L. Sanders, District Manager, and Garrett Soil Conservation District Supervisors, George Bishoff, Robert O. Glotfelty, Walter Margroff, and Claude Wagner, Jr.

SHS Band Students Now "Shoveling" For Florida Trip

At least the weather is cooperating, in its own fashion, with members of the Southern Highlander marching band as they attempt to "shovel their way" to participate in the Festival of States parade in St. Petersburg, Fla., in late March.

Recent weather has provided thousands of tons of snow to shovel for volunteering students, who have been working the past few weeks and who were especially busy last week.

Students volunteer to man to the shovels, and will respond complete with equipment to the home of persons requesting their services. Further information is available from Richard Clever, band director, or Mrs. Ernie Gregg, chairman of this project.

Various other activities have been planned by the Southern Band Boosters organization to help raise the $35,000 needed to send the band to Florida. First on the agenda is the Florida Classic Basketball game this evening at Southern's gymnasium, with Mrs. Marie Custer, Chairman.

Others are a Band-A-Thon planned by Mr. Clever either February 19 or 20; a two-minute shopping spree at Browning's Foodland to be awarded March 12; and a Plymouth Arrow to be awarded February 26 during an all-day Old Fashioned Auction.

The Auction is planned to begin at 10 a.m. that day at the former St. Peter's School building on Oak Street. Chairman Phyllis Trickett is in charge of the auction, and of accepting donations of items to be sold.

Some 400 letters have been mailed to various professional people, industries and businesses in the area, asking their support and financial help. Contributions may be sent in care of Milford Beckman, Festival of States Fund, at the Garrett National Bank in Oakland.

The next regular meeting of the Southern Band Boosters will be Tuesday, February 1, at 7:30 in the band room. Art Richards, of World of Travel travel agency in Hagerstown, will be the guest speaker.

Letter To The Editor

To Whom It May Concern,

On May 10, 1976, my husband died of cancer. Although he suffered a long time before he died, he lived a brave and faithful life. We were happy and loved each other very much. I tried my best to help him through his suffering and would have done anything to keep him from dying if it were in my power to do so.

After his death my daughter and I had an even harder time than most people realized. Without the help of God and some very close friends, we may not have gotten through it all.

Do you really know what it is like to lose a big part of your life and know you can't bring it back no matter how hard you try?

I have stood by since his death and listened to a lot of tongue lashing but I have kept my mouth shut and have taken it.

A lot of people in this town hurt others with the unkind things that come from their mouths.

I wonder if they ever stop to think of what they can do to someone's life with the things they say or if they ever stopped to take a good look at themselves. Who are they to judge others?

A lot of people have never had to face real pain or trouble in their lives and I pray they never do. If they would stop and think of what they can do to someone who HAS gone through such things, maybe they wouldn't be so quick to judge.

I have a daughter who I care for very much and the unkind things that are being spread are not going to hurt her if I have my way.

Where is the love, faith and peace people are supposed to have for each other? It's too bad that people who are so unhappy have to say things to make others feel that way also.

I thank God he is my judge and that people aren't.

Sincerely,
Angela Stuck

Maryland State Parks

This is the first of a series of articles from the Department of Natural Resources describing Maryland's State Parks.

Visitors to Maryland State Parks in Garrett County will find year round recreational opportunities, according to William Parr, director of the State Park Service.

Now with plenty of snow on the mountain slopes of Western Maryland and with cold weather a continuing prospect New Germany, Swallow Falls, Herrington Manor, Deep Creek Lake and Big Run State Parks are providing winter fun. Cross country skiing, ice skating and ice fishing are the big features; but sleds, toboggans and improvised plastic trays are being seen in increasing numbers on the hillsides and slopes.

Cross country ski trails are well marked and easily followed. In fact, State Park officials are sponsoring a cross country ski race on February 12 on the Meadow Mountain Trail in New Germany State Park to familiarize skiers with the trails and to encourage cross country skiing activity in the area. Details of the race as well as maps of the race courses and other trails may be had at Maryland Park Service Headquarters, Tawes Building, Annapolis, 21401, or at the individual park superintendents' offices.

Winter camping facilities are available at Swallow Falls State Park, which attracts visitors throughout the year because of its picturesque location and its varied opportunities for recreation. The park is nestled along the scenic Youghiogheny River, between Swallow Falls and Muddy Creek Falls. A visit to these spectacular waterfalls is the highlight of the trip for many park visitors. In summer the hiking trails provide nature lovers with glimpses of rare wildflowers, ferns and song birds. Also located in Swallow Falls State Park is one of Maryland's last virgin forests, a forty acre stand of giant pines and hemlocks, rising to heights of more than 100 feet.

Swallow Falls was once the hunting ground of Meshack Browning, legendary pioneer hunter, of Garrett County. Browning's diary tells of deer, bear, wild cats and lesser game roaming the wilderness of western Maryland. Today's visitors may still catch a glimpse of a deer or a fox.

Swallow Falls State Park is but one of five parks in Garrett County operated by the Maryland Park Service of the Department of Natural Resources. It is located nine miles northwest of Oakland on Maryland Route 20; and three miles east of the Maryland-West Virginia State Line.

School Health Week Announced By Governor

Governor Marvin Mandel has proclaimed the week of January 24-28, 1977 as the third annual Maryland School Health Week, according to Dr. John L. Pitts, Director of the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene's Preventive Medicine Administration.

In addition, Dr. Pitts said that Maryland School Health Week coincides with National School Nurse Day which is observed on the fourth Thursday in January each year.

He said that the proclamation not only indicates the important link between health and learning, but also praises the role of school nurses as persons through whose work the future of our nation's youth, and hence, the future of the nation itself is safeguarded.

Six Are Killed On State Roads

Six persons lost their lives on Maryland Highways, according to the weekly news release compiled by 2nd Lt. M. I. Morgan of the Maryland State Police. Of those killed four were drivers, none were passengers and two were pedestrians.

The word violence frequently appears in print and our conversation today. Lt. Morgan said. The word again comes to the front when we scan the causes of most of last week's fatal accidents. Give a thought to: "Hit-and-run," "became airborne," "ejected," "overturned," "swerved," "skidded on ice" and "operator had been drinking."

The most important factor in traffic safety is people. The people who walk, drive or ride, and HOW they do it. Laws can only protect when they are obeyed. Safety devices only protect when they are used.

Only PEOPLE can prevent highway tragedy, he said. Think about it.

Persons killed through January 23 totaled 27, compared to 35 for the same period last year.

Rams Defeat Huskies

THE SKY IS FALLING! — Actually, a host of Northern and Southern players wait for the ball to return to earth to compete for the rebound. Left to right are Ken Niner, of the Rams, Rod Youmans, Jim Spear, Jamie Workman and Don Paugh of the Huskies.

Randy Robinette, Southern alumnus, joins in the raising of the Rebel flag as the game clock ticked to the end.

JUST NOT MY NIGHT! — Huskie Jim Spear's jump for a rebound appears to be a gesture of desperation as his team went down to defeat to Southern 90-66. Ram Steve Ritchie, at left, also vies for the rebound.

The annual cross-county basketball rivalry started fast and ended faster with the Southern Rams dominating the floor all the way to defeat the Northern Huskies, 90-66, last Friday evening at Northern.

"Fast and furious!" Those were the words used to describe the game by one of the officials, Steve Faulkner. It became evident that after the first quarter ended the prediction of a Southern victory would prove to be accurate, although some Huskie fans were still holding on to their own predictions.

For instance, in the lobby, at the Northern gym, Rick Seibold, was talking to a friend, Keith Kamp, when he said, "I know the North will win." Kamp responded with, "I think it's going to be a close game."

From a Southern point of view, things were taking on a similar tone of optimism. Susan Shaffer, a cheerleader for the Rams noted, "We've beaten them before and we'll beat them again."

Pat Gregg, was overheard stating, "It will be a good game but the Rams will wind up with a plus ten margin."

Tony Doerr led the Huskie field with a whopping 28 points and it appeared at times he was all alone in his everywhere efforts.

Doerr's teammates rallied with the remaining 38 points, including 16 from Jim Spear.

The Rams' Ken Niner, reached 21 points on the evening along with teammates, Steve Ritchie, who racked up 20, Fred Griffith taking 16, Steve Liller 15 and Todd Liller making an even dozen.

The Northern hall was filled with hurrahs and as the third quarter neared its limit of play, it became a game to see how much the Rams would overwhelm the Huskies. At the end of the third quarter the score was holding at, 65 to 54, with the Rams out in front, and the energized Rams kept pounding away to reduce the Huskies to a mere twelve points in the final quarter of activity.

The foul line proved to be another deciding factor in the scoring.

Southern chipped away by converting 18 of their 25 throws while Northern could only find the basket 8 times out of 21 attempts.

Rounding out the scoring for the Huskies were, Spear, 16 points, Paugh, 8, Workman, 7, Skidmore, 4, Youmans, 2, and Schrock, 1. For the Southern team, scoring saw Messenger taking 4 and Sanders the final 2 points.

At the sound of the buzzer, loud cheers rose to the top of the hall and a Rebel flag was hoisted from the Southern side of the court indicating their victory. It was, according to one fan, one of the Rams' best team efforts. Next year, well, who knows?

Northern Jayvees Win

Northern fans got some consolation on the evening as their Jayvee team registered a 32-31 victory over the Southern Jayvees. Southern's late rally was stopped as a final desperation shot with three seconds remaining fell short of the rim.

Huskies Avenge Earlier Loss

The Northern High Huskies got back into the win column Tuesday evening with a convincing victory over Salisbury High, 63-44, on the Huskies hardwoods. The win avenged an earlier loss to Salisbury this season, 73-64.

Rod Youmans was the star of the evening as he led the winners and all other scorers with 18 points. He was the only Huskie to reach double figures.

Dave Showalter hit for 15 points for the losers and Miller added 14 tallies to the losing cause.

Northern was never really threatened in the contest as they led at the quarters by scores of 15-8, 25-16 and 51-24.

The Huskies, whose record was boosted to 3-8, outshot the Pennsylvanians from the field by a 26-20 margin and they converted 11 of 21 tries from the foul line compared to a 4-for-12 effort by Salisbury.

The Huskies are scheduled to be in action again tomorrow night against the Bruce High Bulldogs on the Northern court.

Ram Matmen Win One, Lose One

The Southern High wrestling team could hardly have asked for a better afternoon than last Saturday afternoon when they romped over the Frankfort Falcon matmen by a score of 44-6.

Scoring pins for the winning home team were John Hayhurst (105), John Toston (138), Clarence Lyons (145), and Jim Clark (185).

Scoring decisions for the Rams were Bill Herring (96), Bob Wolfe (105), Dave Browning (126), Stanley McRobie (132), Terry Clark (155), and Ken Stinson (167).

The only wins for the Falcons came on decisions by Frank Forbes over Jim Barnes in the 119 class and Russell Delozier over John Hershberger in the unlimited category.

Monday evening was not quite as successful as the Rams dropped a close match to Fort Hill, 30-27, on the Cumberland mats.

The unlimited bout decided the meet when Dane Kyle pinned John Hershberger to give the Sentinels the final three-point edge.

Southern's pins came from John Hayhurst, Bob Wolfe and Jim Clark.

Dave Browning, John Toston and Ken Stinson registered decisions for the Rams.

Scoring pins for Fort Hill besides Kyle were Rick McCullough over Bill Herring in the 100-pound class and Don Twigg over Clarence Lyons in the 145-pound class.

Southern's next competition will begin tonight in the Potomac Valley Conference championships.

Garrett's Winning Streak Halted, Drops Two Contests This Week

The Garrett Community Lakers' seven-game win streak was stopped abruptly last Saturday evening as they fell to Dundalk, 85-67, on the winners' floor.

Dave Hopla proved to be too much for the Lakers as he reeled off 34 points on the evening, hitting shots at ranges up to 30 feet.

Coach Paul Holzshu instructed his players to concentrate on the boards and let the 6-0 sophomore guard shoot. Hopla didn't miss.

The loss took Garrett out of a three-way tie for first place in the Maryland JUCO A Conference.

Tom Panther led the Lakers in scoring, hitting 21 points followed by Bill McGarvey's 19 and 12 from John Guadagnino.

Dundalk had only a one-point lead at the half, 33-32.

The Lakers upped their losing streak to two last night as they were handed a 78-64 setback by LaPlata Community College in LaPlata.

The victory was one of revenge for the Charles Countains as they were defeated by the Lakers in a December 4 game, 64-62.

Tom Panther once again led all scorers for Garrett with 22 points followed by teammates John Guadagnino and Ed Danel who added 12 and 10 points, respectively.

James Queen led the way for the winners as he hit for 21 points. Joe Yates scored 20 and Marshall added 10 for Charles.

The Lakers were outgunned from the floor by a 30-24 margin and Charles converted 18 of 25 from the foul line compared to a 16-20 effort by Garrett.

Charles held a ten-point edge at halftime, 31-21.

Garrett's season record dropped to 10-4 and they are scheduled to go into action again tomorrow night at home against Howard.

Youth Suffers Back Injury In Skiing Accident

John Hough, 18, of Oakland, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hough, Annapolis and Deep Creek Lake, suffered a broken back in a skiing accident on Sunday afternoon at Wisp Ski Resort.

Hough was attempting to do a flip off of a jump and ended up landing on his back. He was treated by members of the National Ski Patrol and then transported to Garrett Memorial Hospital by the Southern Rescue Squad, where he was listed in satisfactory condition early this week after having spent a restless night Sunday night. There was no apparent spinal damage or paralysis with the injury.

JUST ENOUGH — This Northern basket proved to be one too many for the Southern JV Rams as they were defeated by the Huskie JVs in the preliminary contest, 32-31, last Friday evening. The victory served as some consolation as the Southern Varsity rolled over Northern Varsity, 90-66.

Winter Sports In Full Swing On Mountaintop

With 110 inches of snow so far this winter and snow in the forecast every day this week the return of the cold winters in far Western Maryland is extremely evident. Skiing at the Wisp Ski Area and other winter recreation is definitely on the upswing at Deep Creek Lake, Maryland.

Garrett County earned the reputation of being Maryland's "ice box" years ago, but that reputation has never been more evident than this year and it is all due to the presence of a looping jet stream. All of this is good news for down-hill skiers, snowmobilers, ice skaters and cross country skiers. The Deep Creek Lake — Garrett County Promotion Council reports a very active winter season despite inclement weather which has forced school closings and many cancellations of activities. Tourists should not be discouraged since access to Garrett County has been substantially improved with the opening of U.S. Rt. 48, or better known as the National Highway, a four-lane freeway running west to east.

Skiing conditions at the Wisp Ski Resort have been consistenly excellent since the beginning of the winter season with a fifty inch packed powder base on all main slopes. These conditions should result in a longer than usual ski season with area skiers anticipating plenty of spring skiing. The newly expanded snowmaking system at the Wisp, with the new Hedco snowmakers, should also be of great help in providing plenty of base.

The shifted jet stream, which has brought the abnormally cold conditions and plenty of snow to the east will most likely persist for a few more years, firmly establishing Garrett County once more as Maryland's "Winter Wonderland."

Those persons wanting accommodations information should write Deep Creek Lake — Garrett County Promotion Council, Room 300, Court House, Oakland, Maryland or call (301) 334-3888.

Southern Girls Fall To B. W.

Debbie Wilson and Lisa Knippenberg scored 12 points each, boosting the Bishop Walsh High School girls' basketball team to a 61-47 win over Southern yesterday at B.W.

Todd Martin and Tom Stallings combined for 10 of 11 foul shots in the fourth stanza which put the icing on the cake.

Payloader Used In Getting Man To Doctor's Office

A payloader and four wheel drive vehicle were called into service Tuesday to transport a Grantsville area man to a doctor.

Lewis Hoover, of star route, Grantsville, required the services of a physician and it was necessary for the County Highway department to provide a payloader to reach Mr. Hoover's residence about one mile off State Route 495, according to a spokesman for the Northern Rescue squad which transported Mr. Hoover to the doctor's office.

It was necessary that the payloader be hooked to the four-wheel drive vehicle since drifts were some three feet deep in the area.

The operation began at about 7 p.m. and was concluded at 11 o'clock. Mr. Hoover stayed at his son's home overnight.

Many Hands Reach To Help Mrs. Wiley

Texas Eastern Corporation, in cooperation with the Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad, effected a successful emergency rescue Wednesday morning in the Keyser's Ridge area when they transported Mrs. Eva Wiley to the home of her son.

Mrs. Wiley, who lives in an isolated area, became stranded when the depth of snow prevented the family from reaching her home to supply food and fuel.

Texas Eastern Corporation responded to a call from Edgar Harman of the Garrett County Health Department, who had been contacted by Mrs. Wiley's family after their attempts to transport Mrs. Wiley via snowmobile failed.

Texas Eastern Corporation provided a Snow Cat, radio-equipped truck and personnel for the mission. They were accompanied by members of Mrs. Wiley's family and Floyd Baker and Ron Bowser of the Northern Rescue Squad.

Apparently Mrs. Wiley, 85 years old, is doing very well at her son's home after spending a night without heat.

GARRETT COMMUNITY COLLEGE

Sunshine, Robins, and Special Olympics

By Joan Crawford
And Bob Crone

Spring — when it finally comes this year — will be more than just the end of a long winter for the Special Education students of Garrett County. To them April is not just sunshine and robins, it is Special Olympics.

For the third year, Garrett Community College students are making this possible. Since early October, they have been training members of the Special Education classes at Accident and Dennett Road Schools to prepare them for their participation in the Olympics which will be held in the college gymnasium in April.

Each week they visit the two elementary schools to teach the younger students to walk a balance beam, jump rope, throw a softball, do forward and backward rolls, and perform other physical activities. Student coordinators for this year's training are Gretchen Maunder at Dennett Road, and Nancy Geisler and Martha Lear at Accident School. Other students who are helping with the training are Bonnie Broadwater, Tamara Sisler, Diane Taylor, Nancy Meyer, Janet Cooper, Tom Panther, and Stan Romeka.

Following the April event here, the Student Government Association again hopes to be able to send the participants to the Maryland State Special Olympics at Towson in June.

Juneau About Winter In Alaska?

Mike Risoldi, a transfer student from the University of Alaska at Fairbanks, made some interesting observations about Garrett County weather — this winter, in particular.

According to Mike, 12-15 inches of snow is about average for a winter in Fairbanks. That's a little difficult to believe, considering that 100 inches of snow is not unusual for Garrett County.

Not surprisingly, the temperature in Alaska is generally colder than here — frequently dipping to 50 degrees below zero — without any wind! Mike confirms, however, something that we in Garrett County have always known — it feels colder here than it does in Alaska because we usually have wind.

The most significant difference, according to Mike, is the amount of daylight. During the winter, the days in Fairbanks last three hours. Obviously, the nights last 21 hours.

The reason for the limited amount of snowfall and the lack of wind is that, surprisingly enough, Fairbanks has a desert climate. The dry air is very conducive to the generation of static electricity. Mike said that he was constantly being shocked in Alaska during the winter. Of course, many Garrett County residents have been constantly shocked this winter.

Think Warm

Even when the snow is three feet deep and the drifts are piling higher, thoughts of warmer days ahead must always be with the fisherman. Maybe that's why the college ERRT Club scheduled Robert Davis, Biologist of the Maryland Fisheries Administration, to speak to them last Wednesday. Mr. Davis' topic was "Fish in Deep Creek Lake."

According to Scott Hollingsworth, president of the club, he told of the kinds of fish that live in the lake and explained that Deep Creek is an infertile lake because it is shallow and has no oxygen in its lower depths. There is also the problem of fish having no place to hide.

At the conclusion of his talk, Mr. Davis answered questions. The most frequently asked question — Where is the best place to fish?

GCC Announces Postponement Of Some Courses

It was announced today that the following courses will be postponed until the first week of March: Restoration of Old Furniture, Interior Design, Floral Arranging, Creative Junk, Care of House Plants, Photography, Tend-A-Tot, Drafting, Basic Sewing, Carpentry, and Servicing Small Electrical Appliances.

These courses have been postponed due to the lack of enrollment. It is hoped that this is due to inclement weather and that registration will meet the necessary requirement for the courses to go when the weather improves.

The starting dates, places and time will be announced prior to the beginning of the courses in March. For further information concerning the courses, contact the Oakland Center of the college, 334-8266.

GCC To Sponsor Program For Senior Citizens

Garrett Community College will sponsor a "Creative Living" Program for Senior Citizens. The program will be held in the Oakland Center of the college, Rm. 301 beginning Tuesday, January 25, 1:30 to 4:00 and will continue each Tuesday for fourteen weeks.

All Senior Citizens are invited to attend these creative classes which will include such subjects as exercises, poetry, art, psychology of death, music, bygiene, folk dance, and alcohol and the elderly.

There will be no charge for the program and it is hoped that interested people will get together to solve any transportation problems and join these informative sessions.

Advanced High School Classes To Be Offered

The advanced high school students program sponsored by Frostburg State College will be conducted again this year, according to an announcement made today by Dr. Nelson F. Guild, President of the College.

This year's program begins February 26 and will run for eight weeks. Classes will be held on Saturday mornings and will include four courses taught by members of the Frostburg State faculty.

Course offerings will be in the areas of computer science, English, history, and calculus. Each class session is approximately two hours in length.

According to President Guild, the program is designed to provide additional study opportunities to superior students and give such students an advanced look at the demands of college-level work. "Courses are not designed to duplicate or be a substitute for any high school curriculum," Dr. Guild added.

Last year, over 100 students from 15 high schools in five counties in the tri-state area participated in the programs.

The costs of the program are defrayed by the Frostburg State College Foundation. Enrolled students are responsible only for textbooks and transportation to the College.

Students are eligible to enter the program upon the recommendation of their home school, and such recommendation is made upon the basis of demonstrated academic ability or reasonably suspected promise. Additionally, provision is made for self-nomination by students themselves.

No college credit or letter grade will be given in the program. However, each student who completes a course will receive a personal evaluation from the instructor, a copy of which will remain on file at the college which may be used by the student when seeking admission to a college or university. Students who successfully complete a course in the program will also receive a certificate from the College.

Students interested in enrolling in one of the courses should contact officials at their respective schools or the Public Relations Office at the College. All applications must be received by the College no later than February 16.

Descriptions of the courses to be offered this year are: Computers and You, The Modern Short Novel, Only Yesterday-America 1900-1976, and Introduction to Calculus with Applications.

Icy Roads Continue To Wreak Havoc On Cars, Trucks

Many more drivers got that helpless feeling during the past several days as icy roads caused cars to slide into each other at an alarming rate.

On January 22, at 8:30 a.m. John Joseph Wilson, Sr., Frostburg, was southbound on Route 219 about .3 of a mile from Cove Road. He was followed by a vehicle operated by Lawrence Ball, Annapolis. Mr. Wilson had stopped due to high winds and blowing snow, and when Mr. Ball saw that he had stopped, he hit his brakes and slid into the rear of the Wilson vehicle. The Ball car then slid onto the right shoulder, coming to rest against a snowbank. Tfc. Dale K. Williams made no charges.

In nearly the same spot one and one-half hours later that day, a young woman from Gaithersburg slid into the left front wheel of a State Highway Administration snowblower.

Kathleen Foran Deputy was southbound on Route 219 .2 of a mile from Cove Road and was unable to see the snowblower which was stopped on the southbound shoulder, due to blowing snow. Ronald Raymond Hockman, Accident, was operator of the blower. Tfc. Dale K. Williams made no charges.

That evening at 7:30 Cpl. S. M. Russell charged a Deer Park woman with failing to yield the right of way in an accident on Route 219 .005 of a mile from the corporate limits of Oakland.

Deborah Ann Shaffer, Deer Park, was charged by the officer after her vehicle collided with one operated by Delores Regina Pomeroy, Terra Alta. According to the police report, the Shaffer car was attempting to enter Route 219 from a private drive when it was struck by the Pomeroy car.

Only one accident occurred January 21, this one at 9:30 p.m. on Route 48, one mile from the intersection with Route 495.

David Reeves Leopold, Chevy Chase, was westbound on Route 48 and was changing into the snowcovered fast lane when he lost control in the deep snow and overturned. Tfc. R. B. Westmoreland made no charges.

On January 20, at 11:10 a.m. two vehicles collided on Rock Lodge Road two miles from Bittinger Road. Russell Thomas Sines, Mt. Lake Park, was northbound on Rock Lodge Road when he observed a State Highway Administration vehicle proceeding south. Operating the SHA truck was Thomas William Farrell, Cumberland.

Sines applied his brakes and began to slide on the snowy road. Meanwhile, the SHA operator pulled off to the right as far as possible, leaving only 2 feet, six inches of his truck on the traveled portion of the road. However, Sines continued to slide sideways and struck the truck. Tfc. C. H. Hinnant charged Sines with failing to keep to the right side of the roadway.

Heck's parking lot was the scene of an accident at 4:15 p.m. on the 19th, involving two Oakland drivers. A car operated by Paul Henry Stemple, Oakland, slid on the icy parking lot and lightly tapped a car operated by Linda Lou Swearengen, Oakland. Tfc. L. Rosage issued no citations.

Another rear-end collision occurred on the 18th at the intersection of Route 40 and Bank Street in Grantsville.

Robert Craig Speicher, Grantsville, was traveling west on Route 40 and attempted to make a left turn into Bank Street. His vehicle was struck from behind by one operated by William E. Livengood, Meyersdale, Pa., who failed to reduce speed to avoid a collision. Tfc. C. D. Skidmore made the charge against Livengood.

At 9:15 a.m. January 17, two cars collided on Route 560 one-quarter mile from the Wayne Harvey Road. Julius Nelson Bolyard, Crellin, was traveling south on Route 560 and as he rounded a curve he observed a vehicle operated by Jack Alfred Kight, Mt. Lake Park, backing toward him in the southbound lane. Bolyard was unable to avoid colliding with the Kight car. Mr. Kight was charged with improper backing by Cpl. R. S. Lewis.

At 2:45 p.m. a car backed into another on Gravel Hill Road .2 of a mile from the Accident-Bear Creek Road. A car operated by William Vernon Bowser, Friendsville, was backing from a private drive in an easterly direction and backed into the side of a car driven by Ivan Eugene Savage, Friendsville. Tfc. G. D. Broadwater made no charges.

At 8:05 p.m. a one-car mishap damaged some property on the Robert Glotfelty farm located off Route 495 .2 of a mile from Jennings Road.

William Donald Bender, Grantsville, operating a tow truck belonging to Casselman Motors, was driving north on Route 495 on a downgrade. He was in second gear when the motor shut off, the vehicle went out of control down over an embankment and came to rest on its wheels. The towed vehicle came to a stop on top of the tow truck. Tfc. Dale K. Williams made no charges. Four trees, cement steps and a railing were also damaged in the incident.

Route 219 .75 of a mile from Fourth Street extended was the scene of a two-car mishap January 16 at 11:50 a.m.

John Edward Eberly, Oakland, was traveling north on Route 219 and started making a left turn when a car operated by Kenneth Lee Stinson, Mt. Lake Park, also traveling north, started skidding and struck the Eberly car. Cpl. R. S. Lewis made no charges.

Two large vehicles collided January 16 about 11:05 p.m. on Route 48 near Lower New Germany Road. Floyd Columbus Parrill, Burlington, W. Va., operating a Kenworth 350 dump truck, was moving west followed by a 1974 White Road Boss truck. Operator of the second truck was David Edward Dent, Pine Grove, Pa. Both were driving slowly due to high winds and blowing snow when Parrill stopped due to poor visibility and began to slide backwards, striking the other truck in the front end. Tfc. Dale K. Williams made no charges.

At 12:45 on the 16th, two approaching cars collided on State Park Road .4 of a mile from Glendale Road. Jeanne Stuart Nichols, Swanton, was northbound and applied her brakes as she approached a car operated by Donald E. Little, McMurray, Pa. The Nichols car slid on the icy roadway and the left rear stuck the left front of the Little car. Tfc. J. E. Foley made no charge.

Two of three operators involved in a collision January 15 on Mayhew Inn Road were charged by Tfc. C. H. Hinnant. According to his report, Robert Paul Moore, Jeannette, Pa. was eastbound on Mayhew Inn Road at a speed too great for existing conditions. Upon observing an oncoming car driven by Mark Steven Sugar, Mt. Lake Park, he applied his brakes and began to skid on the snowcovered road, striking an unattended car belonging to Stanley Wayne Tasker, Oakland. He then slid across the center of the roadway and struck the Sugar car headon. Moore was charged with failing to drive on the right side of the roadway and Tasker with stopping his car on a traveled portion of the roadway.

About 8:30 the morning of the 12th, a SHA snowplow was struck by a vehicle operated by David G. Thomas, Salisbury. The plow was being driven west in the left lane of the Freeway, plowing snow with the side wing plow down. As Thomas attempted to pass on the right, he applied his brakes, skidded on the snowy road and struck the plow on the right side of the sidewing.

Tfc. R. C. George made no charges.

Winter Still Grips Area

King Winter held sway over the Mountain Top again the past week. Another 9 inches of snow has fallen and the mercury has stayed below the freezing mark. School has been closed four more days.

Ice under the snow has made driving and walking very treacherous. Even with the added snow, state highways have been open to two-way traffic. Some County roads have been blocked only temporarly.

Schools have been closed four more days bringing the days to be made up to seven as of today. The only days they were open this week were Monday and Tuesday.

Winds this past week have not been as strong thereby lessening the possibility of drifting except a few places last night. With less wind, the chill factor has not been so low.

The continued cold has also caused freeze-up of service water lines to a number of houses in Oakland.

This is considered by many to be the coldest and snowiest January since 1936. According to comparison of precipitation and temperature averages, this could possibly be true.

Temperatures during the past week have averaged 12.2 degrees below normal. Highs averaged 24.9 degrees or 14.9 below normal. The highest was Monday's 31 degrees. Lows averaged 9.3 degrees or 9.5 below normal. The lowest was Tuesday's minus 10 degrees. It was 11 degrees this morning. Yesterday's high, 28 degrees, was late last night before a new storm broke dropping temperatures rapidly.

Naturally all precipitation this past week has been in the form of snow which amounted to 8.7 inches. The heaviest was late Sunday night and Monday, five inches. Precipitation, the melt-down of the snow amounted to .39 inches.

Local Residents Impressed By Inauguration

It was a happy experience for residents of the Mountain Top on Inauguration Day. Among those who received inaugural invitations from the area were: L. to R. - Mrs. William H. Welch, Ada Mae Welch, Annie Welch, Jerry Stonham, and Jo Ann Raynovich.

By Jerry Stonham

"I pray heaven to bestow the best of blessings on this house and all that shall hereafter inhabit it. May none but honest and wise men ever rule under this roof." These historic words are part of a letter John Adams wrote as the first president to occupy the White House. It was later carved into the mantel in the State Dining Room.

On January 20, 1977, James Earl Carter, was sworn in as the thirty-ninth president of the United States. The South had indeed risen to the occasion, as was the case with every sector of the fifty free states being counted among the hundreds of thousands who filed into Washington, D.C., to be a part of history at its best.

As inaugurations go, it was generally the same, with a notable exception being the walk by the new President from the capitol building to the White House. Secret service agents were intense and sharpened their eyes even more to guard the nation's number one resident.

The icy streets and sidewalks hampered none of the parade entrants nor visitors who adorned themselves with red, white and blue pennants, scarves and hats.

During the inauguration, many Americans could be seen on bended knee with tears streaming down their cheeks. Along midway of the playing of the Battle Hymn of the Republic, small children could be seen gazing at their parents who held hands, exchanged whispers and bowed their heads in quiet prayer. Warm and patriotic feelings swept even below-freezing temperatures away for the unforgettable morning.

Halfway through the swearing-in ceremonies, a husband was overheard saying to his wife, "We could have stayed home to watch this." His young wife responded with "We had to be here — we just had to." Their voices gave way to the twenty-one gun salute so ordered for the outgoing President, Gerald Ford. Washington trembled with every resounding cannon boom.

It was about 5:15 in the morning when a group of five local residents filled a jeep to head for the occasion.

From Loch Lynn, three generations of Welches had received invitations to the event. Mrs. William H. Welch, her daughter, Ada Mae and daughter, Annie. They had packed peanut butter sandwiches for the trip. What else?

In addition, Jo Ann Raynovich of Oakland and Jerry Stonham, of Deer Park, had received the invitations.

Approximately thirty-five persons from Garrett and Allegany counties accompanied them on the Willetts' bus special to the Capitol.

When the bus pulled into the district, all eyes focused on the milling throngs who had gathered outside the Lincoln and Jefferson memorials. Suddenly, the bus became only a speck among the hundreds of others that circled the streets and avenues. Pennsylvania and Constitution Avenues were already jammed with excited crowds. The military was well in front of everything, from the Army pitching tents in the mini parks, to the Cavalry strutting up and down the barricades, to scores of special units adjusting Colonial garb for the day's events.

Along the parade route, came the special float that the state of Maryland had entered. It was a huge replica of the state's flag measuring no less than twelve feet high and approximately twenty feet in length. According to Ada Mae, the cost was placed at around $10,000.

Following the end of the parade, Mrs. Welch, Ada Mae, Jo Ann and Annie paid a visit to Congressman Goodloe Byron's office. It was the perfect way to wind up the day in Washington.

Not being able to get through to the presidential party was not altogether disappointing though. At the climax of the inauguration ceremonies, and before the party from Oakland reboarded the bus home, Tip O'Neill, Speaker of the House, nodded hello from a parked limousine.

Each time the bus stopped to unload passengers in Frostburg and Cumberland, a farewell was heard from remaining passengers and a "We'll see you in four years," echoed from seat to seat. It was surely a soul lifting experience that the Welches, Mrs. Raynovich and I were glad to have been a part. And, yes, we will probably do it again at the end of four years.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Sir:

On 2-8-77, the Friendsville citizens will decide whether or not the town water supply will be fluoridated. This has been a controversial issue for years and, as more people who are knowledgeable of fluoride effects on the human body denounce its use, it becomes apparent that we've found yet another way to poison ourselves.

Perhaps the most significant pronouncement on fluorine comes from the International Society for Research on Nutrition and Vital Substances, an organization composed of the world's leading physicians and scientists. A resolution adopted repeatedly by their annual meeting states, "The Scientific Council of the International Society for Research on Nutrition and Vital Substances recommends that all governments, state parliaments, and city councils refrain from fluoridating drinking water."

This society says that where water is fluoridated, the average person ingests 5 miligrams or more of fluorine daily. The United States Food and Drug Administration has repeatedly warned that the average per capita intake of fluorine from all sources should never exceed 2 miligrams a day. Also, the American Medical Association has in its Journal declared that fluorine does not prevent tooth decay.

I hope that everyone who reads this letter will do research on the subject - it may vitally affect the lives of everyone.

Sincerely,
C. O. Ross, Jr.

SATURN'S MOONS

Saturn's satellites, Tethys, Dione, Rhea, and Iapetus are covered with water ice. Two teams of astronomers at the University of Arizona using different observing techniques independently made the same observation. Iapetus varies in brightness. It is apparently not uniformly covered with ice. This discovery confirms the general theory concerning the composition of bodies in the outer solar system. Bright satellites with densities less than two grams per cubic centimeter are composed primarily of water and methane.

Waxing all week, the moon passed through its First Quarter phase at eleven minutes after midnight this morning. Moonset varies from fifty-eight minutes past midnight this morning to 5:58 a.m. Wednesday morning.

Tomorrow at 1:00 a.m. the moon will be at its greatest distance from earth 404,350 kilometers (251,300 miles). This apogee is the only one to occur in January.

Venus, Jupiter and Saturn are visible to the unaided eye. Venus is the brightest planet visible in the west for four hours after sunset among the stars of Pisces. Jupiter, the second brightest planet is among the stars of Taurus visible until midnight. Saturn is among the stars of Cancer rising near sunset and visible most of the night.

Wednesday, Saturn will be in opposition. This means that Saturn will be directly opposite the sun as viewed from earth.

Twelve more minutes of daylight will be available Wednesday than there were today. Sunset today is seven minutes later than on Wednesday. Sunrise will be five minutes earlier. On Wednesday the sun will rise at 7:24 a.m. and sunset will occur at 5:36 p.m.

...learn how to land

It's easy to jump. Just leave the solid trail behind you and soar into space.

But before you jump – learn how to land! One man can alight gracefully and continue his course. Another will wrap his skis around his head and end up in the hospital.

There are important life-decisions we often describe as "taking the leap." Going to college, choosing a career, getting married – these are just a few. And these "leaps" lead to happiness for some – and tragedy for others.

The Church with its program of worship and religious education makes essential contributions to our life. For what happens after our major "leaps" depends on the character which has been instilled in us, and on the principles by which we live.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

THE EXORCIST

Lesson for January 30, 1977

Background Scripture: Mark 1:21-39; Luke 4:31-44
Devotional Reading: Psalms 103:1-5

Several years ago there was a frightening motion picture called "Rosemary's Baby," then later "The Exorcist," and as I write this column there is "The Omen." Each of these motion pictures deals with the question of the reality of the demonic. When "The Exorcist" burst upon the scene in all of its commercialized success, many people were surprised to find that the story was not pure fiction, but based upon an actual case. They were even more amazed to find that the Roman Catholic Church had a little-known rite of exorcism which, under stringent supervision, is used when, in the judgement of clerical authorities, it is necessary.

Rev. Althouse

An unclean spirit

Whatever else we might say about "The Exorcist," novel or movie, it was a forceful depiction of the struggle between the power of God and the power of evil in the life of one tormented individual. The writer, Peter Beatty, argued strongly for the reality of the demonic. The close of the story left many in doubt as to the resolution of that struggle.

"The Omen," obviously an attempt to capitalize on contemporary society's continuing preoccupation with the demonic, goes even further. It suggests that the power of evil is pervasive, virtually indestructible. It is, perhaps, the gloomy conclusion of a society that has grown cynical and frightened by a technology that spawns a Dachau, a Hiroshima, and the threat of an ecological disaster of cosmic proportions.

They obeyed him

The writers of the Gospels believed in the reality of the demonic, as did most people in Jesus' day. Thus when a demented man bursts into the synagogue at Capernaum and confronts Jesus, he is described as "a man with an unclean spirit," meaning that he was possessed by something evil and destructive. Today such a man would be judged mentally ill and sent to a hospital or clinic for therapy.

The man's challenge to Jesus is not a mere coincidence. This is a significant challenge to the power of the Nazarene. He has healed many sick people, but what can he do with someone who is possessed by an evil spirit (or even a psychosis)? It was a monumental challenge to Jesus for mental illness is much more resistive to therapy than that which we call physiological illness. Even today the rate of cure is anything but impressive.

Jesus does not meet this challenge with an elaborate ritual, but says simply and authoritatively, "Be silent and come out of him!" And that's what happened: the powerful power of the demonic could not prevail against the power of God in Jesus. "What is this?" the people want to know. "With authority he commands even the unclean spirits, and they obey him!"

Yes, I believe in the demonic and its amazingly destructive power. But more than that, I believe also in the even greater, invincible power of God in Christ.

Hunting License Bill Introduced By Del. Bolden

Delegate DeCorsey E. Bolden (R-Garrett 1A) along with the Allegany County Delegation introduced a bill that would provide for separate special stamps to hunt deer and turkey.

"Many hunters," Delegate Bolden stated, "have objected to the necessity of buying the combination stamp for a fee of $5.50 in addition to their $8.00 stamp for a hunting license. Their objection lies in the fact that they have to buy one or the other stamp and the fact that they may not hunt that particular game."

The new bill provides for a reduction in cost to $3.10 for either stamp and $1.10 for those persons over 65 years of age. The Wildlife Administration will undoubtedly object to the bill because of the reduction in revenue projected, however, Bolden stated that he believes their estimates of over $76,000.00 loss is exaggerated and that he will work to pass the bill.

Maryland Traffic Deaths Lowest In 12 Years

State Police statisticians report that 672 persons were killed on Maryland highways during 1976 which represents the fewest number of fatalities in the past twelve years. However, Troopers are preparing to launch a new statewide enforcement campaign to further impact problem areas.

This is the third year in a row for a dropping death rate in Maryland. The first reversal came during 1974 when 737 persons were killed. This reduction was primarily attributed to the energy crisis and reduced driving.

The year 1975 recorded 691 deaths following a stepped-up speed enforcement program by State Police that started in late July.

Emphasis continued during 1976 by the State Police on enforcing the speed limit and speed-related fatalities dropped by 4.4% as compared to the previous year.

A disturbing upward trend was shown in alcohol-related crashes. Preliminary analysis of 1976 data indicates that the contributing factor of alcohol increased by 19.5% as compared to 1975.

An evaluation by State Police shows that speed and alcohol continue to be the two major contributing factors in serious highway accidents. Studies show that probably two out of every three persons killed on Maryland roads had been drinking and that speed is involved in three out of five fatalities.

State Police Superintendent Thomas S. Smith feels that the death count is still unacceptably high and has directed his commanders to launch a special statewide enforcement program on February 1, 1977.

Details of this new program will be announced at a press conference at State Police Headquarters in Pikesville on January 31.

The new enforcement campaign will involve many additional Troopers to patrol Maryland's highways in an attempt to reduce serious accidents.

Police Remind Drivers Of Snow Emergency Rules

The Maryland State Police are reminding motorists that various rules go into effect when the snow emergency plan is activated.

According to Sgt. Howard Graham, two sections of the Annotated Code of Maryland refer to the snow emergency plan. These rules are enforceable on all State Highway Administration routes and also on all county roads designated snow emergency routes. The term "highway" includes the shoulders of the roadways.

The law says that "After a highway has been designated a snow emergency route and the snow emergency plan has been declared, it shall be unlawful for any motor vehicle to travel or attempt to travel upon such highway unless it is equipped with chains or unless both driving wheels are equipped with snow tires of an approved type.

"It shall also be unlawful to park a vehicle on such a highway during the period of the emergency, and the State Police or police of any county or municipality of this state are hereby authorized to have such vehicles so parked towed from the highway."

The snow emergency plan can only be declared by the State Police in conjunction with the SHA. Maximum fine for violations could be $500. The court recommended fine is $30 plus court costs.

Sgt. Graham feels the best thing people can do to insure their vehicle safety is to make sure vehicles are in good working order and have good snow tires. Chains are also very helpful.

He recommends that if a driver gets stuck along the highway, to prevent accidents, he should make every attempt to get out or if all else fails, call a tow truck. Drivers should leave the parking lights on if they must leave their vehicle. If an operator cannot immediately get a car off the traveled portion of the roadway, they should notify the state police where the vehicle is and where they will be so that when the SHA or county roads department is working in that area, the driver can be located right away.

Shrub Seedlings Offered By DNR

In an effort to improve wildlife habitat in Maryland, shrub seedlings are being offered in packets and bulk quantities under a Wildlife Administration program, it was announced by the Maryland Department of Natural Resources. The seedlings offered, when mature, will provide both food and cover for most wildlife species.

The Wildlife Shrub Program is a cooperative effort between two Department of Natural Resources agencies, the Wildlife Administration and the Forest Service. It provides the landowner with an opportunity to improve his land for wildlife by using shrub packets and, on a larger scale, with bulk order of shrubs.

Shrub packets will cost $2.00 each and contain seedlings approximately 12" tall. The 8 seedling packet will be comprised of 2 dogwood, 2 autumn olive, 2 crabapple, and 2 Scotch pine.

Individual $2 shrub packets will be distributed on the third Saturday of March, March 19, 1977, from 9:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. at various distribution centers by Wildlife Administration personnel. The distribution center for Oakland is the Mt. Nebo station on U.S. Rt. 219 North.

Correction

It was reported incorrectly in The Republican last week that Bob Coddington, of Shady Acres, was attempting to thaw frozen water pipes with a kerosene burner which resulted in a trailer fire last Tuesday morning. Mr. Coddington in fact, was not home at the time and therefore, was not responsible for the fire. The Oakland Fire Department was called to the scene. There was little damage.

The recent cold snap has doubled the tow truck business.

VOLUME 106 OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD., THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 3, 1977 PER COPY 15c NUMBER 49

No Makeup . . .

As of today Garrett County students are going to have to make up 16 days of school this year. That is, unless some changes are made in Maryland state law.

We wish to make it clear that Delegate DeCorsey Bolden has our wholehearted support in his efforts to force legislation allowing the State Board of Education to waive in Garrett County the state law that requires 180 school days each year. Once again the flatlander legislators seem to forget about certain problems specific to Garrett County.

Most teachers will admit that after the first of June, attention spans of students begin to run extremely short and the degree of actual teaching is minimal. Prolonging the number of June school days is asking for increased resistance to learning on the students' part and an increase in the likelihood of an ulcer for the teacher.

Teachers are required so many hours of summer school every few years in order to hang on to their teaching certificates. The first session of summer school at most colleges including Garrett, Frostburg and WVU begins in June.

Parents of some students perhaps have already made vacation plans for the month of June. In some employment situations vacation time must be scheduled early in the year.

Many students look forward to camp, whether it be church, music, athletic or whatever. Several such camps begin the middle part of June.

In some states emergency weather situations are classified as Acts of God. Why should Garrett County students be "sentenced" to summer school for something which certainly is not their fault? — D. W. S.

ALTHOUGH METROPOLITAN newspapers and television stations seem to want to give the impression that Garrett County is in a state of suspended animation during the winter, this unretouched photograph shows that the situation is well in hand for most residents. Although this picture is obviously posed, residents are not all huddling in fear of storms but continue to go about their daily business much as usual. More pictures on page 12.

Unemployment At 1,000 In This Area

The ranks of unemployed are expected to reach over 1,000 persons in the local area this week, according to Mrs. Mary Browning, manager of the Department of Human Resources office in Oakland.

Usual number of unemployed at this time of year is between six and seven hundred persons. Most of these unemployed are out of work due to weather conditions which affect the strip mining, logging, lumbering, and construction industries.

Applications in the state as a whole are expected to climb this week, with thousands thrown out of work because of curtailment in natural gas supplies.

Garrett county is luckier than most, since Bausch and Lomb and Hachman-Walker Refractories both have alternative means of keeping their plants in operation. Both have fuel oil systems installed, and have switched to this means of energy following gas curtailments.

Francis A. Kenney, director of unemployment insurance for the state, said he expected the state to receive more than 10,000 original applications by the end of this week. If that many are filed, it will represent 300 percent more than were filed during an average week in November.

Last week, 9,000 claims were received at state offices throughout Maryland.

Both Local Banks Cut Back Hours

Courtney Tusing and Scott Shaffer, presidents of the First National Bank of Oakland and the Garrett National Bank, respectively, have issued a joint statement that both banks will be open from 9 a.m. until 2 p.m. only, Monday through Friday, with no Friday night or Saturday hours until further notice. Their decision was made based on the weather conditions and the energy crisis and will become effective Monday, February 7. These hours also apply to all branch offices of the two banks.

Wayne Hamilton Is Named To Governors Education Agency

Garrett County Commissioner Wayne R. Hamilton has been named to the Governor's Commission on Funding for Public Education.

Mr. Hamilton will be the lone Western Maryland representative on the 21-member commission, to be chaired by Dr. R. K. Barnes, state Secretary for Budget and Fiscal planning.

The commission is charged with making recommendations on how the state should participate in an equitable fashion regarding funding of basic education in Maryland in future years.

An organizational meeting of the commission will be held in the near future, according to Mr. Hamilton.

Columbia Gas Asks Continued Conservation

Columbia Gas of Maryland reported early this week that it will probably be necessary for its industrial and commercial customers in Western Maryland to continue conservation efforts at least for several days.

Residential customers are being urged to continue to keep their thermostats cut back.

Gov. Marvin Mandel, saying Maryland faces a severe natural gas shortage for four to six weeks, asked citizens to turn down their home thermostats to 65 degrees and even to 60 if they can stand it.

There is no question there is a severe energy problem," Gov. Mandel told reporters after a closed-door meeting at the Governor's mansion with state officials and representatives of Maryland's natural gas and petroleum suppliers.

The Associated Press reports that Gov. Mandel said homes consume about 40 percent of the natural gas used in Maryland that voluntary compliance by citizens is needed.

Locally, John S. Wilson, area manager for Columbia Gas, said gas pressures continue to hold steady as a result of the total industrial curtailment and continued conservation efforts by most Columbia customers.

Federal Flood Insurance Now Available In Garrett County

Thousands of property owners in coastal and inland communities are faced with the threat of losses from destructive and possibly devastating floods each year. Hundreds of millions of dollars worth of property losses are suffered annually. While flood insurance coverage has virtually been non-existent in the past, it is now available for sale to interested citizens within Garrett County in the form of federally subsidized flood insurance under the National Flood Insurance Program according to Jim O'Neill of the Garrett County Planning Commission. The Flood Program was established by the National Flood Insurance act of 1968 to make specified amounts of flood insurance, previously unavailable from private insurers, available under Federal auspices.

All areas within Garrett County with the exception of Deer Park were made eligible to participate in the Federal Flood Insurance Program last year. Through the efforts of the Garrett County Planning Commission staff, resolutions adopting the rules and procedures of the Flood Program were prepared and presented to all municipalities and the County Commissioners because Garrett and its incorporated Towns are participating in the flood insurance program. flood insurance policies may be purchased at the subsidized rate from any property and casualty insurance agent or broker licensed to do business within the State of Maryland. Deer Park refused to adopt land use and control measures which are a prerequisite for entry into the federal flood insurance program.

All structures used for residential, business, religious, or agricultural purposes, structures occupied by non-profit organizations, and structures owned by State or Town governments or agencies thereof are eligible for subsidized flood insurance coverage. Under this phase of the Flood Program, rates for new and renewal policies for residential structures are $0.25 per year per $100.00 coverage on a structure. Coverage is also available for contents of homes. Rates for new and renewal policies for non-residential structures are $0.40 per year per $100.00 coverage on a structure. Coverage for the contents of non-residential structures is also available. Mr. O'Neill said.

Shaun Sanders, Manager of the Garrett Soil Conservation District, advises that if Garrett County experiences a quick thaw this spring that there is a good possibility of flooding in certain flood-prone areas of the county. In its frozen state the ground is unable to absorb water run-off as it normally does thus causing the flooding.

Because of the 15-day waiting period required to process all flood insurance policies, it is recommended that citizens interested in purchasing subsidized flood insurance contact their insurance agent within the next 2 or 3 weeks to ensure that coverage is effective prior to any thaw.

Information concerning Federally subsidized flood insurance and flood-prone areas may be obtained by contacting your local insurance agent or by calling Jim O'Neil of the Garrett County Planning Commission office.

A FROZEN WAVE? — Sculptured waves of snow stood ready to roll across U.S. Rt. 219, north of Oakland during recent snow storms accompanied by high winds. Garrett County schools have been closed for weeks due to such drifts.

January Rated Coldest Month In Weather History

January was the coldest on record. Temperatures averaged 12.7 degrees, colder than even 1912 when a temperature of minus 40 degrees was registered. The next coldest was in 1940. Precipitation, all but a very little bit, has fallen as snow.

Temperatures moved slightly above the freezing mark only on three days during the month, the highest being only 40 degrees on the 28th. The high for the 17th was a frigid minus two degrees.

Potomac Edison Seeks 16 Percent Rate Increase

Continuing inflation and the need to attract hundreds of millions of investment dollars to build facilities to meet electrical demand were listed as principal reasons for a Potomac Edison rate increase filed today with the Maryland Public Service Commission.

PE is seeking a 16 percent rate increase. For a residential customer using 500 kilowatt hours a month (not including electric heat or water heating), the requested increase would amount to $5.58 a month. For an electric heating customer using 2,500 kilowatt hours a month, the increase would be about $6.70 monthly.

The utility's last rate increase in Maryland became effective slightly more than two years ago. The average residential rate per kilowatt hour for electricity supplied by the local company is now the lowest of any major utility in Maryland and lower than the national average for all investor-owned companies, according to J. M. McCardell, PE executive vice president and general manager.

McCardell said PE is continuing to study and improve operating efficiency, which was ranked among the highest in the country in a 1975 report made for the national association of regulatory commissioners. In spite of these

Governor Names Southern Band State Envoy To Florida Parade

Governor Marvin Mandel has named the Southern Senior High School Band as the official representative of the State of Maryland at the famed Festival of States springtime celebration here March 21 through April 3.

In a proclamation signed by Governor Mandel he describes the band as a "symbol of superior performance in marching and music" and declared the band has gained "for the state of Maryland the reputation of developing in its young people a bountiful image of our state's future through youth of high moral character and fiber."

Oakland's award-winning band, which was invited to participate in the 56th Annual Festival, will be competing with bands representing 18 other states during the two weeks of festivities that annually star more than three thousand teenagers.

The Maryland band will be competing for the three top Festival awards, the Governor's Cup, awarded annually to the best out-of-state band in the famed Parade of States, viewed last year by more than 300,000 spectators; the Mayor's Trophy, which goes each year to the best out-of-state band in the popular standing-room-only Champions on Parade, a three-hour nighttime extravaganza; and the Heart of St. Petersburg Plaque, presented to the band whose members "win the heart of the city" by promoting goodwill between their home state and the people of the Sunshine State.

As honored guests of the 56th Annual Festival, the Southern Highlander Marching Band will be almost constantly in the limelight performing at various service and civic clubs, in churches, hotels and at St. Petersburg's famous downtown bandshell at Williams Park.

In addition to the competitions, the concerts, and personal appearances, the Festival gives the Southern Highlander Marching Band a chance to make new friends from among band members representing other States.

In their spare time they will get a chance to visit Florida's beautiful West Coast beaches on the Gulf of Mexico, and the many attractions that abound in and around the Sunshine City.

Hundreds of thousands of tourists and Tampa Bay area citizens will be watching the Southern Highlander Marching Band when they march in the Ninth Illuminated Night Parade on March 29th, and the two-mile long Parade of States down the St. Petersburg waterfront, which climaxes the Festival's 200-event, two-week springtime celebration, on April 2nd.

Bolden Introduces Legislation To Waive 180-Day School Law

Delegate DeCorsey E. Bolden (R-Garrett and Allegany) has introduced an emergency bill that would provide that the State Board of Education may waive the provision of the state law that requires 180 days of school in a ten-month period. This waiver is dependent upon written request outlining valid reasons by the local Boards of Education.

This legislation was prompted and requested by many citizens, teachers, parents, bus drivers and students because of the unusual cold weather in our county and across the state that has caused the schools to be closed for an extraordinary number of days that is generally required to be made up at the end of the regularly scheduled school period.

This is a state-wide bill because even though other counties have not experienced what Garrett County has, but in the unforeseeable future occasions may arise from time to time where this problem would occur in other counties Delegate Bolden stated that many students are needed at home for spring farm work and other students have summer jobs that they must begin, and teachers are committed to summer school, so this consequently creates a very difficult situation. Also in the latter weeks of June the weather outside is beautiful and the birds are singing and the flowers are growing and it is very difficult for young people to concentrate on their education and what's going on in the classroom. So for these reasons the bill has been introduced to allow the waiver of the provision of the 180 days.

Delegate Bolden further stated that he is confident that the bill will receive favorable consideration by the entire legislature. The bill is co-sponsored by Delegate Frank Robey from Baltimore City who is an educator and principal of Patterson High School and who is a very capable and persuasive legislator in the metropolitan area. He is also chairman of the sub-committee on which Delegate Bolden serves.

"Ministering Angel" Has Three Minutes To Make Delivery

Mrs. Nancy Graham was the ministering angel of the Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad Monday shortly after noon when she delivered a son for Mr. and Mrs. Fred VanSickle who live in a remote area off the Claude Pike Road, in the Beer Creek area.

Mrs. Mary Jane VanSickle first called the Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad, and then called Mrs. Graham, a squad member who lives not far away.

Mrs. Graham hurried over and arrived approximately three minutes before Jason VanSickle was born. Not ten minutes later, a crew from the rescue squad pulled up and helped complete the delivery process. Members of the crew were Jeffrey Fratz, Helen Gardner, Saundra Buckel and Rev. Fred Illick.

Mr. VanSickle was present during the excitement and rather dazedly helped carry his wife and newborn son to the ambulance. They were transported first to Dr. Dan Nutziger's office in Grantsville, where he pronounced both mother and child in good condition and praised Mrs. Graham and the squad by saying he couldn't have done a better job himself.

The VanSickles were then taken to Meyersdale Community Hospital.

Senior Citizens Center To Oper

The Oakland Senior Citizens Center, located at the former Center Street Elementary School, will be made available for use by the senior citizens of Garrett County beginning Monday, February 7, according to Robert Ford, chairman of the Garrett County Commission on Aging which is sponsoring the project. The Center will be open daily from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Monday will be Visitors Day and senior citizens are invited to come and see the Center and socialize with others. Refreshments will be served.

Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 Mrs. Debbie Marrero will be at the Center to discuss an arts and crafts program.

Wednesdays will be "Movie Days." The first showing, according to Mrs. Mary Browning, Senior Aide in charge of the Center, will be a full-length feature entitled, "It's a Wonderful Life," starring James Stewart, starting at 1:30. This will be a weekly feature at the Center.

Thursday is set aside for Games, cards, checkers, dominoes, etc. Groups may meet at the Center.

Friday afternoons there will be Bunco, but due to the holiday on the 11th, this program will not get underway until Friday, February 18.

Mrs. Browning is being assisted in this endeavor by Ms. Alice Billingsley, administrative aide and programmer assigned to the Commission on Aging office. Mr. Ford regrets that the opening of the Center has been delayed due to frigid weather conditions, but now invites senior citizens to participate in the planned activities. Mrs. Browning or Billingsley may be reached at 334-6514.

Gas Company Has Suggestions If Service Is Lost

Columbia Gas Company has issued several suggestions on how to protect homes and other facilities should gas service be interrupted for an extended period of time with temperatures below freezing.

These include turning off the main water valve, opening all water faucets and draining the hot water heater so pipes will not freeze and burst; drain or sponge water from commode water closets and traps; drain water from all sink traps or fill with anti-freeze solution diluted approximately 50 percent; drain all hot water heating systems, and store all canned goods or jars that could freeze near a drain in the basement.

If gas service is lost and if a customer leaves his residence, the company requests that a tag or note be attached to the front door stating where the customer can be contacted when gas service is ready to be restored.

Letters To Editor

Dear Sir:

On February 8, 1977, the voters of Friendsville will decide on the important issue of fluoridation which, if affirmed, could greatly improve the dental health of the children of the community for years to come.

Today, two out of three major cities in the United States has controlled fluoridation of their water supplies with a resultant decline in the incidence of tooth decay problems. Nearby communities currently fluoridating their water supplies include Oakland, Accident, Terra Alta, Kingwood, Rowlesburg, Masontown, and Morgantown. Experiments conducted in several communities have concluded: The optimal fluoridation of water supplies in the United States at about 1 ppm fluoride decreased the decayed, missing and filled rate of about 60 percent in children who consumed the treated water during the period of tooth formation. Further experimentation and population studies have tended to confirm these results. The United States Public Health Service along with the American Dental Association, the Allegany - Garrett Dental Society, the Garrett County Medical Society, the Garrett County Health Department and the Maryland State Department of Health and Mental Hygiene have recently endorsed fluoridation as a means of providing better and more effective dental care for the community.

There are few public health measures which have ever been tested for safety as thoroughly as fluoridation. Its beneficial effects are more well known than those of almost any preventive. Its effects as ultimate are known for better than the effects of the treatment about everyone we accept or even demand in our food or water. Fluoride is now incorporated in over one half of the American people's drinking water with no apparent ill effects. As with any substance consumed daily by so many persons, research must be and is being carried out to assure the continued safety of fluoridation.

Fluoridation of public water supplies is the best possible means for incorporating the right amount of this important nutrient into the diet at the smallest cost and effort. Compared with the cost of repairing decayed and damaged teeth, community fluoridation is the cheaper alternative. At no time in the future will the cost of implementing fluoridation for the Town of Friendsville be at a lower figure since grant money for the funding of 50 percent of the project may soon be approved. On February 8th, we encourage the Town of Friendsville to vote YES on the question of fluoridation to improve the dental health of the community for years to come.

Dear Sir:

It is a sad day when juveniles and young adults are detained in the county jail, in lieu of posting bond, for a victimless offense such as possession of marijuana while suspected child rapers, murderers are allowed to roam freely among us without posting bond as far as time I might add.

This is another example of "justice" in Garrett County. We are expected to have respect for the people who are responsible for making such asinine decisions as these. Well I for one have as much respect for these decision makers as they have for the public they are sworn to protect and provide safety for.

NONE, ABSOLUTELY NONE!

Let the pot smokers out of jail or put the supported child abusers in! This is ridiculous. Where do you have your head?

Robert Johnson
Oakland, Md.

Dear Sir:

I was intrigued by the "Elements Take Over" comments on Page 10-B, The Republican, January 13th, '76. The underlying message seemed to succinctly point up the fact that the winter storm's vicious brutality was intentionally tailored to engender some sort of rededication to humbleness among Garrett Countians. This causes me to wonder whether the storm successfully generated a satisfactory amount of gloat in The Great Snow Maker's efforts to accomplish the utmost in suffering and inconvenience among struggling Mountaintop earthlings" if not, there no doubt will be retributive opportunities.

Mark Twain, Jefferson Memoirs, Vol. 4, P. 326; Shelley, Byron, Voltaire, Steinmetz, Ingersoll, Shaw, Russell, Barbara, and many other great men have commented on such vindictive onslaughts by Nature (so-called).

One wonders whether The Great Snow Maker also masquerades as The Great Tornado Maker, The Great Earthquake Maker, The Great Drought Maker, etc. Or perhaps even The Great Plague Maker (Bubonic Plague wiped out 20,000,000 cringing earthfolk — a barbaric atrocity that must have induced a tremendous surge of humbleness, particularly among those unruly miscreants who had somehow managed to disengage their "free-will" shackles!). If pride was to be had in such diabolical acts, then pleasure derived therefrom in The Place of Origin must have been far too great to measure.

Sincerely,
Wilbert N. Savage,
Connellsville, Pa.

Dear Sir:

I read in the paper where the courts are going to be rough on men and women who have to pay support payments. Three years ago I was ordered out of my home by a city police officer. I was told at this time to either get out or go to jail. Now what right does anyone have to make a working man get out of his home? And then welfare steps in to help his wife and kids.

I believe the courts should hear both sides of the story. If the judges and welfare and law officers would help the family stay together, then the courts would not have to worry about the taxes paying welfare.

Not one lawyer or judge would hear my case, but they make a man pay support for his family. They don't worry about getting the family together, just as long as they can get the support payment out of the man.

Welfare is being used in a wrong way. It's for people who are sick and need help, but a person who needs help doesn't get it. But as soon as the welfare agency hears about a family having problems they are right there.

So if the courts want the taxes to come down, they should tell welfare to stay out of family problems. If it was not for welfare, more homes would be together.

Sincerely,
Robert Earl Savage

Blue Grass Versus Winter Blues

Jack and Diana Omenitsch, a Mt. Lake Park couple, are pictured among trophies and awards won on tours in and around Garrett County, for Banjo playing. "Freddie," the cat, examines the latest catch.

By Jerry Stonham

For some, the winter seems never-ending, relentless in its yield of snow, and tiring in its demand for problem solving and general weather hassles. For others, such as Jack and Diana Omenitsch, of Mountain Lake Park, it is merely another season to enjoy good blue grass music, add to their newly-wed album and stoke up a blazing fire in the Benjamin Franklin stove.

Why blue grass? Well, according to Diana, "blue grass offers a wider range of sounds in that it comprises not only folk type melodies but it also touches on classical tones."

"Besides," she went on, "the blue grass festivals are a great place to meet people with similar interests." Jack approved and pointed to several ribbons and trophies Diana had earned while playing the banjo.

The remarkable achievement is not that Diana plays the banjo but that she has mastered the instrument in just three short years of playing. Last year, Diana finished first in the Maryland championship banjo competition held during the Autumn Glory Festival in Oakland.

In that performance she plucked, strummed and generally beat out a number of gifted "blue grass" performers.

Shortly after Diana discovered the banjo, she reluctantly entered the Mt. Heritage Festival held in Elkins, West Virginia. That was in 1974. To her surprise, she had placed in the finals and in the trophies. It was there that Diana found her true love for the blue grass sounds.

Jack and Diana express great interest in the creation of virtually new songs from antiquated jazz tunes and seem to prefer these sounds over the more current store-bought music.

"Music comes easy," Jack went on, "whenever a group of blue-grassers get together."

Jack prefers the bass as a musical instrument and often accompanies Diana on touring engagements. They are currently supplying a Deep Creek Lake restaurant with plenty of their good sounds. Crowds continue to respond to their plinks and it is no wonder that they are so special in the followings of western Marylanders.

Of course, they are quick to point out their other involvements. While relating to some of these experiences, they mentioned the West Virginia Arts and Humanities Council, which often books them into various settings to provide entertainment in hard-to-get-to-places. Diana spoke, "It's not too unusual for us to travel dirt roads to a single room schoolhouse to play to a handful of children who cannot attend city performances."

"We never get discouraged though, because we feel they love the music and that we are performing a service to those less fortunate," she added.

Jack and Diana were married in June of 1976, at her parents' home in Mountain Lake Park. The setting for the wedding was on the beautiful sloping lawn that faced the B&O Railroad Trail and Backbone Mountain-Terrain, and was the kind of wedding one might see in a national magazine, all equipped with velvet gowns and strumming guitars.

Besides their interest in blue grass music, they possess other talents such as painting and cabinet-making.

Diana likes to dabble in acrylics, pencil and ink sketches, and portraits. A small, life-like protrait of her husband, Jack, is pinned on an adjacent wall surrounded by other sketches of family members.

Jack mixes colors in another craft. He is a creator of beautiful, hand crafted cabinet pieces and finds it an interesting way to spend time in the winter months.

"Together," Diana continued, "we play with the idea of perhaps owning and operating our own craft shop one day, but it is only an idea for the present. Maybe in a few years we will reconsider the thought."

To add to their credits, most recently they restored to perfection, a 1957 Ford pick-up truck that looks as if it might well have been driven off a show room floor.

And, so it goes. The room is filled with treasures they either made, found and put together again or simply enhanced with their special talents. Before I left they showed me one of the handmade engraved wedding invitations on white birch wood, and lettered in gold paint.

As I left the house I had almost forgotten how high the snow was and I was grateful for the experience.

Potomac Edison

efforts to control expenditures, construction costs and operating expenses continue to grow more rapidly than revenues. As a result, McCardell explained, rates currently charged by the company are not permitting Potomac Edison to achieve a rate of return on investment at even the level already granted by the PSC. The erosion in earnings from previously authorized levels can be halted only by increased rates. Moreover, present authorized levels must be increased further to attract savings from the public in the vast amounts of dollars necessary to build facilities to meet electrical demand, McCardell continued.

Environmental protection is one of the principal factors in the high cost of generating stations, where the cost per installed kilowatt has increased about four times since 1971, according to McCardell.

Generating stations needed to meet customer demand by the mid-1980's will cost about three-quarters of a billion dollars. About 60 percent of this amount and of the additional cost of other facilities needed to meet our customers' electrical demand will have to come from investors, McCardell continued.

"The individuals who must supply these millions of dollars," McCardell said, "are people just like you and me from all over America, indeed from all over the world, who have thousands of choices of places to invest their hard-earned savings. It is sheer folly to expect that they will continue to risk their savings in any regulated business unless they are permitted an adequate rate of return."

January Rated

Highs averaged only 22 degrees or 17 below normal. On several days the high was only a single digit number. Lows averaged 3.4 degrees or 16 below normal. The low was minus 21 degrees on the 13th. This was the coldest in a number of years. The mercury dropped to zero or below on thirteen other days, and on all but two days dropped below 20 degrees.

Precipitation amounted to only 1.7 inches, 2.68 below normal. A trace or more of precipitation as snow fell on 25 days. Only on the 14th did a small amount of precipitation fall as sleet but then turned to snow. Total snowfall for the month totaled 27.5 inches. A slight bit of the snow melted the 28th when the mercury hit the 40-degree mark. Snowfall for the 1976-77 season to January 31 totaled 69.2 inches.

High gale-force winds caused much drifting, closing or at least partially closing roads many times during the month. These high winds also took the chill factor many degrees below zero, adding to discomfort often during the month. This chill factor often reached 50 degrees or more below zero.

Winter Slackens Some

Other than the blizzard last Friday snowfall has tapered off somewhat, but temperatures averaged lower. Schools have remained closed.

Clear skies of last Thursday morning gave way to mostly cloudy Friday. The storm hit shortly past noon Friday. After dark skies began to clear, the storm being less intense than expected. Saturday was clear but with high winds. Light snow flurries with moderate winds continued through Sunday. Monday began with partly skies turning clear with high winds. Snow was flying again Tuesday with more high winds. Yesterday was mostly clear and winds mostly calm. Winds had picked up this morning under mostly cloudy skies.

Temperatures averaged 16.2 degrees below normal. Highs averaged 26.1 degrees or 13.6 below normal. The high was last Friday about noon, 40 degrees. The mercury than dropped to minus 4 by late afternoon. Temperatures then remained in the teens until yesterday's 34 degrees. Lows averaged just zero for the week or 18.8 degrees below normal. Police Snowed Under By Accidents In Friday's Blizzard

Accidents occurred faster than members of the Maryland State police could hope to investigate during Friday's blizzard-like conditions.

Between 1:45 p.m. until 4:45, accidents were cropping up all over as the storm reduced visibility to zero.

Many accidents were not investigated by the harried state police, as the drivers settled matters between themselves, according to Cpl. S. M. Russell.

The first of those reported to the state police happened at 1:45 on Maryland Route 42 and resulted in injury to a Uniontown woman.

Jean Paula Thomas, Uniontown, was traveling south and failed to observe that Charles R. Fisher, Markleysburg, Pa. had come to a stop. Mrs. Thomas' car struck the rear of the Fisher vehicle. She was transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by members of the Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad. Mrs. Thomas was enroute to Hopemont State Hospital at the time of the accident.

At 2 p.m. another rear-end collision occurred when Thomas Robert Dobyns, Frederick, was stopped in the southbound lane of Route 219 .2 of a mile from Glendale Road. His vehicle was hit by one operated by James Thomas Gallagher, Lima, Ohio. Tfc. C. H. Hinnant made no charges.

Forty minutes later, on Route 135 thirty feet from Youghiogheny Drive in Mt. Lake Park, a car skidded on the icy highway and struck a car traveling in the opposite direction.

Jack Wellington Paugh, Deer Park, was eastbound following a vehicle which had stopped to turn. To avoid striking that vehicle, Paugh applied his brakes and skidded across Route 135 striking a westbound car driven by Lorenza Carl Cosner, Oakland.

Tfc. E. J. Upole did not make any charges.

A McHenry woman was injured at 1:30 p.m. that day when her vehicle was struck from behind. Joyce Eileen Skidmore, McHenry, was headed north on Route 219 about one-half mile from Fourth Street when she lost sight of the roadway because of blowing snow. She stopped her car which was then struck by one driven by David Ronald Enlow, Bittinger. Cpl. R. S. Lewis did not charge either driver involved. Mrs. Skidmore was taken to the hospital by members of Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad.

At 4:45, a Pennsylvania woman failed to keep her car right of center on Old Route 219 near McHenry Road. Cornelia V. Welch struck a car operated by Kurt O. Lear, McHenry. Both were injured and were transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by the Southern Rescue Squad. Cpl. S. M. Russell made no charges.

Schrocks Released Pending Hearing

Schrock, the child's stepfather, is charged with manslaughter and child abuse, and Mrs. Schrock, 20, is charged with child abuse.

The victim, Quincy Allen Ervin, was found dead at his home January 25. The couple had been held in default of bond, but Judge Lewis R. Jones released them at a bond review hearing Thursday pending the preliminary hearing.

Deep Creek VFD Douses Fire From Overheated Furnace

Members of the Deep Creek Lake Volunteer fire company were called about 5:35 p.m. Sunday to a cottage behind the Dreamland Motel at Sand Flat to douse a fire believed to have started from an overheated oil furnace.

Extensive damage was done to the kitchen, bathroom and hallway of the dwelling, owned by Mr. and Mrs. William A. Dolan. There was some heat damage to other parts of the home.

Deep Creek responded with 17 men and three pieces of equipment. They also radioed Oakland's company to bring their tanker for assistance. The Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad was also called, but its services were not needed. Deep Creek returned to the fire hall about 7:45 p.m.

The Dolans, owners of the Dreamland motel, are currently staying at their motel.

Value of the items was $10, according to Marilyn Judith Yommer, Grantsville, who reported the incident. Owner of the tavern is Willard F. Yommer, Columbia Station, Ohio. Tfc. G. A. Berkebile is assigned to the case.

Rinard Praises National Guard

G. Bradford Rinard, executive director of Garrett County Community Action Committee Inc. praised today the efforts of Company C of the 121st Engineer Battalion of Oakland of the National Guard for their assistance in snow removal at Bradley Manor and in a number of emergencies handled by CAC in supplying fuel oil, food and medical supplies to a number of stranded countains.

Rinard said that Bradley Manor residents were left without snow removal when the town of Oakland could not commit their equipment to the housing development on Liberty Street and the county would not assume responsibility.

Rinard contacted Capt. Kenneth Metheny who ordered a front end loader and two man crew into the housing project to clean the access road and the parking areas.

Community action personnel have delivered a number of emergency food baskets and barrels of fuel oil to a number of needy residents of the county.

Rinard offered the Garrett County Commissioners and Civil Defense personnel, equipment and vehicles to combat the problems caused by the recent severe weather.

Fires continue to plague the mountaintop, but fortunately all were minor this past week.

Oakland firefighters responded to three alarms within three hours on Monday afternoon and evening.

At 4:45 p.m. a trailer owned by William Thomas on U.S. Rt. 219 south caught fire as a result of a short in a heat tape. There was minor damage as only some insulation was burned.

At 8:50 p.m., Oakland was called to Backbone Village, owned by Keith Casteel, also on 219 south, to extinguish a flue fire. The fire was out on arrival and there was no damage.

Oakland was then summoned to Crellin at 9:30 p.m. to extinguish a trash fire after neighbors saw the blaze and assumed it was a structural fire.

On Wednesday, Oakland was called to 18 West Center Street at 4:45 p.m. to extinguish a car fire. The car was owned by Clarence Cogley and was out on arrival. There was minor damage.

Many Cars Overturn On Treacherous Roads

Heavy snowfall and treacherous, unyielding snowdrifts helped cause several vehicles to end up upside down during the past several days, according to reports of the Maryland State Police.

On January 29, Franklin Pierce Martin, Silver Spring, was eastbound on Route 48 about 9:45 a.m. when a vehicle directly ahead of him lost control. Mr. Martin applied his brakes, lost control of his vehicle and skidded into a snowbank, overturning and coming to rest on the car's left side.

Mr. Martin was injured in the mishap and was taken to Memorial Hospital in Cumberland by members of the Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad. Tfc. Dale Williams made no charges.

About 7:30 p.m. on the 27th, again on Route 48, Derek Anthony Bragdon, Bakertown, W. Va., was attempting to pass a tractor-trailer rig when he skidded on the snowy road, struck an embankment and overturned. Tfc. R. C. Georg issued no citations.

Swallow Falls Road was the scene of a similar accident January 27 at 8:30 p.m., when Marsha Lynn Windell, Oakland, lost control of her Honda Civic on a downgrade, ran up an embankment and overturned. Tfc. L. N. Smith investigated but made no charges.

Winding and narrow Savage River Road was the scene of a two-vehicle collision on the 26th about 2 p.m., when one car struck another, forcing it over the edge of an embankment.

Robert Emerson Wilt, Swanton, was eastbound on a downgrade and approaching a curve. Robert Harry Rizer, also Swanton, was westbound and negotiating the curve. Wilt applied his brakes, lost control and struck the Rizer car which continued to the edge of an embankment and on over the edge, coming to rest on its top at the bottom of the road embankment.

Tfc. L. N. Smith again made no charges against either driver.

At 2:20 a.m. January 23 Thomas William Jackson, Oakland, was driving south on Route 219 near Sand Flat Road when he attempted to pass another vehicle. He skidded, ran off the road, hit an embankment and flipped over. Tfc. J. E. Foley investigated this one but made no charges.

Again on Route 219, this time on January 20 about 11:25 p.m. near the Friendsville-Hoyes Road, a driver lost control of his vehicle, ran off the right side of the road and overturned. This time the operater was Herbert Edward Dyaack, Monroeville, Pa., who was not charged by investigating state police Tfc. Larry Rosage.

W.O.W. Chooses Delegates

The Woodmen of the World Camp No. 41 met at the Woodmen Hall on Monday evening. James Gutherie, president, presided.

Delegates for the Sixth Biennial Jurisdiction Convention were chosen as follows: Alice Younkin, with Patsy Pope alternate; Harold Butler and Lillian Gutherie. Thomas Bender and Phillip Bender, and James Gutherie and Hollie Atwood.

The convention is open to all Woodmen. Sovereign J. E. Williams from North Carolina and George H. Bradley, Jr. from New Mexico will be the National officers attending.

Frozen water lines were reported in the basement. Lillian Gutherie won the door prize and refreshments were served.

Personals

Dale Savage, Middletown, spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Martin and family.

Clyde Bowman has returned home from the Meyersdale Community Hospital and is recuperating.

Four Cars Have Chain-Reaction Collision Friday

Three cars stopped on Route 219 north of Oakland Friday due to an earlier accident were then involved in a chain-reaction pileup with a fourth vehicle.

Cars operated by Charles Wayne Mayne, Rowlesburg, William David Dressman, Oakland, and David Pleasant Fisher, Kingwood, W. Va. had already stopped due to a two-vehicle accident up ahead. Kenneth Michael Beachy, Grantsville, did not see the stopped vehicles during the height of Friday's blizzard conditions, and his vehicle collided with the rear of the Fisher vehicle. Fisher then struck the Dressman car, and Dressman hit Mayne.

Tfc. C. H. Hinnant did not charge any of those involved due to the extremely poor visibility.

Amtrak To Reconvene

Unless unusual circumstances occur, Amtrak will reconvene its regular schedule to Oakland on February 15, according to information received by Linda Whalen, of the Ven-Salem, Pennsylvania Central Reservation Office.

According to Mrs. Whalen, official announcements of the decision to reconvene will be aired on radio and television and will also appear in various news medias.

APPLICATION for NATIONAL POLLUTANT DISCHARGE ELIMINATION SYSTEM (NPDES) PERMIT and STATE DISCHARGE PERMIT to DISCHARGE to STATE WATERS

Public Notice No.: MD-0101

Public Notice Issue Date: January 27, 1977

The following company has applied for a State Permit and an NPDES Permit to discharge the described wastes into the described receiving waters. On the basis of approved discharge restrictions, the State of Maryland proposes to issue a State Discharge and NPDES Permit as provided in the Memorandum of Agreement between the Maryland Water Resources Administration and the United States Environmental Protection Agency.

Application Numbers:
State: 77-DP-1139
EPA: MD-0050058

Appalachian Construction Co. & Associates, McHenry, Maryland, has applied for a State Permit and an NPDES Permit to discharge controlled wastewaters into the waters of Maryland. The applicant proposes the strip mining of coal. The discharge described in the application will be effluent from a silt trap collecting strip mine drainage. The discharge will be to an unnamed tributary of Youghiogheny River, south of Friendsville, Maryland. The receiving water is classified as natural trout water.

On the basis of preliminary review and application of lawful standards and regulations, the Maryland Water Resources Administration proposes to issue a State Discharge and NPDES Permit subject to certain effluent limitations and special conditions. These proposed determinations are tentative. The Maryland Water Resources Administration (Water) will hold a public hearing at the time and place stated below.

Date: Wednesday, March 9, 1977

Time: 12:00 a.m.

Place: Westernport City Council Meeting Room, City Hall, Westernport, Maryland.

Persons wishing to comment on the proposed determinations are invited to submit a statement to the Maryland Water Resources Administration, Water Quality Permits Section, Tawes State Office Building, Annapolis, Maryland 21401 with a carbon copy to Water Resources Administration, Naves Crossroads, Box 613-B, Cumberland, Maryland 21502, no later than five days following the public hearing, or to be present or represented at the public hearing, or both. All comments and suggestions will be considered in the formulations of final determinations regarding the application. Parties making presentations at the hearings are urged to address the issue stated in this notice. Oral statements will be heard, but, for the accuracy of the record, all important testimony should be submitted in writing. Oral statements should summarize any extensive written material to allow time for all interested parties to be heard.

The application, fact sheets, related documents, proposed effluent limitations and special conditions, comments received, and other information are on file at the office of the Water Resources Administration, Department of Natural Resources, Highland Estates, Naves Crossroads, Cumberland, Maryland. These documents may be inspected, and arrangements made for copying between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday except during State holidays. Fact sheets and further information may be obtained by writing to the above address or by calling 301-724-8530. A copying service is available for public use at a charge of 2¢ cents per copy.

Register of Interested Persons

Any person interested in a particular application or group of applications may leave his name, address, and phone number as part of the file for an application. The list of names will be maintained as a means for persons with an interest in an application to contact others with similar interests.

FLOOD INSURANCE

FLOOD INSURANCE is available in Garrett County. To assist you there follows a table setting forth the limits of Federally subsidized coverages and rates:

Type of Structure	Structure Coverage Up To	Structure Rate Per $100	Contents Coverage Up To	Contents Rate
Single family Residential	$ 35,000	$0.25	$ 10,000	$0.35
All other Residential	$100,000	$0.25	$ 10,000	$0.35
All Nonresidential	$100,000	$0.40	$100,000	$0.75

The policy covers losses resulting from a flood, which is defined in the flood insurance policy as "a general and temporary condition of partial or complete inundation of normally dry land areas from (1) the overflow of inland or tidal waters, (2) the unusual and rapid accumulation or runoff of surface waters from any source, or (3) mudslides which are caused or precipitated by accumulations of water on or under the ground." The policy does not cover water or mudslide damage which results from causes at the location of the insured property or within the control of the insured.

We called Hugh A. Mallon, Jr., Maryland director of the National Flood Insurers Association and requested that he send The Republican newspaper more data for Garrett Countians, which he has promised to do. Remember there is a fifteen day waiting period after application. Remember, too, there is a lot of snow that must go somewhere.

HALE LIGHTWEIGHT GENERATORS

New Design Saves Weight, Increases Dependability

1. Instead of electromagnets used in conventional generators, the Hale generator has powerful barium ferrite permanent magnets. No power is lost in developing a magnetic field. No heat is generated here.
2. Instead of mounting the magnets permanently and spinning the coils between them, the coils are stationary and the magnets spin. This reversal of conventional procedure means that electrical power flows directly from the stationary coils to the receptacle. There are no brushes, no slip rings. No problems of arcing, sparking, practically no repairs, adjustments or mechanical failures. More watts of power per gallon of gasoline than from conventional generators.
3. Spark plug shields for moisture protection. Super to-tone spark arrestor mufflers. Easy spin rewind starter. Dependable Briggs & Stratton engines.

News From Del Decorsey Bolden

Delegate DeCorsey E. Bolden (R-Garrett and Allegany 1A) in a statement from Annapolis stated, "One of the first tasks for the new Legislature which convened on January 12, 1977, was to consider the veto messages from the Governor from the previous session in 1976.

"One measure which was referred to as the "411" Bill even though the number of the bill was House Bill 1071 disallowed the C & P Telephone Company in Maryland from charging for information calls. The veto override was heavily lobbied against by the telephone company who felt that the abuse of information calls was a financial burden upon the company and they should be reimbursed for providing this service as they indicated that the ones that use information should pay for that information and it would be a saving to the residential user of the telephone."

Delegate Bolden continued, "I consider this charge equal to a rate increase and I voted to override the Governor's veto which would in effect have disallowed the C & P Telephone Company from making these charges. The veto, however, was sustained by six votes, it was necessary to receive 85 votes and the final count was 79 for the override against 49 to sustain the veto, but in spite of the majority vote it requires 85 to override the veto and this was not accomplished."

As a follow-up to this defeat of the veto override the main sponsor of the legislation, Delegate Raymond Dypski from Baltimore City, has introduced another bill that would prohibit the Public Service Commission from allowing the C & P Telephone Company from charging these rates and Delegate Bolden is a co-sponsor of this legislation.

Delegate Bolden went on to state that the C & P Telephone Company had the largest earnings of any corporation in recent history and to be able to charge for a service the people are deserving of is not in the best interest of the public.

The number of elderly people who have difficulty in reading the small print in the telephone directory and the number of disabled people who have problems in reading a telephone directory would be at a total disadvantage if this disguised rate increase is allowed. For these reasons, Bolden voted to override the Governor's veto to prohibit the phone company from charging these rates and he is now a co-sponsor of a bill to prohibit the Public Service Commission from allowing the telephone company to make these charges.

Delegate DeCorsey E. Bolden (R-Garrett and Allegany) introduced into the Maryland Legislature a bill that would require the Department of Natural Resources to reimburse annually out of the Forest and Park Reserve Fund 25% of the revenue derived from the State Forest or Parks located in that county.

The present law provides 15% of this money to be returned to the county. "The intent of this legislation," Delegate Bolden stated, "is to provide additional revenue to those counties that have an excessive amount of state owned property within their boundaries that the State does not pay real estate property taxes on, and in lieu thereof they remit back to the counties 15% of the revenues that is earned in that county from the sale of timber or from recreation in the state parks. This 15% is not sufficient and with the amount of money raised it is felt that at least 25% of this money should come back into the county."

Delegate DeCorsey E. Bolden (R-Garrett and Allegany) introduced legislation in the Maryland General Assembly that would repeal the manufacturers tax exemption provision of the Garrett County public local law.

This tax exemption is presently extended for seven years to new industries that invest over $100,000 and employ twenty or more people in their industrial plants. The Garrett County Commissioners feel and Delegate Bolden agrees that this incentive is no longer needed in our county due to the attractiveness of our open space, our highway system, and our availability of labor. The present law is discriminatory against ongoing established businesses that have been funded by private capital and are long established businesses in our community.

Sandra O'Connor Is President Of MSAA

Sandra O'Connor, Baltimore county, was selected president of the Maryland State's Attorneys' Association at the winter meeting of the group held last week at The Village Inn, McHenry.

Other officers for the coming year are Jack Hollyday of Washington county, third vice president; Richard Warren, Wicomico county, secretary; and Robert Rothenhofer, Frederick county, treasurer.

Associate Judge Fred A. Thayer of the Garrett County Circuit Court, a former member of the MSAA, was the guest speaker at the program last Thursday.

Approximately 80 prosecutors and their assistants attended the three-day program.

Try a new craft, learn a new language or cook a new dish with the help of library books, filmstrips and cassettes.

Blizzard Drops Temperatures, Hinders Traffic

Last Friday's blizzard tumbled temperatures 50 degrees with snow and gale-force winds. The storm was a duplicate of what the weather has been the past several weeks. The snow and driving winds made driving almost impossible.

The storm was not as prolonged as predicted but caused much difficulty. Skies cleared by night but high winds continued drifting the snow. Route 40 west of Frostburg was closed about 3 p.m. but was reopened a few hours later. Traffic was routed over Route 48 (the Freeway) by State Police escorts. Winds gusted to about 50 m.p.h. at times.

The Board of County Commissioners decided to pull road crews off the highways because of insurmountable drifting problems, according to Commissioner Wayne B. Hamilton. He said crews were standing by at all county garages for emergency calls and would resume plowing after the wind subsided.

Also, the county's Civil Defense Center set up several temporary shelters at fire departments throughout the county stocking them with food, cots and blankets in case stranded motorists needed lodging. Saturday eleven fire halls in the county were open to accommodate persons stranded on the highways or for residents who might run out of heating oil or other fuel.

Some highways affected by the storm were: Route 669 out of Grantsville; U.S. 219 south of Red house; part of Routes U.S. 40, and 50; State Routes 38, 495, 560, and four sections of Rt. 42. Two snow blowers, graders and plow equipped trucks were working on the latter.

Three snow-blowers and two plows from Allegany County were sent to the county. Three more snow-blowers were headed from the eastern part of the state.

Two Local Men Are In Accidents In West Virginia

Two local men were involved in accidents in neighboring West Virginia recently. Neither of the two were injured.

Cleon R. Turner, 32, of Oakland, was forced off the road by a on-coming vehicle in his 1969 White tractor-trailer rig on January 19 on West Virginia 72 near Preston. The accident resulted in $2,000 damage when Mr. Turner struck a tree after going over a small embankment.

Two coal trucks and a car were involved in a mishap January 27 about 10:40 a.m. on the Herring Road in Preston county.

A 1973 International truck driven by Steven Wilt, 19, Aurora, had just passed a state road grader in a no passing zone while traveling east on Route 7 and met a dump truck driven by Clarence Johnson, 35, Masontown.

Johnson went into a skid on the ice-covered road and the rear of his truck came around and the two trucks sideswiped.

Flying debris from the two trucks came back and hit a car following the Johnson truck. That car was operated by William Kurilko, 21, Kingwood.

The investigating trooper was unable to determine which of the two truck drivers were more at fault on the narrow roadway, so no citations for the accident were given. Wilt was cited for improper passing prior to the mishap.

Huskie Hoopsters Stop Mt. Savage In Overtime

The Northern Huskies put it all together in overtime and outscored the Mt. Savage Indians 12-4 to come out on top, 66-58, in a game Tuesday evening at Mt. Savage.

It looked as if Mt. Savage might have an easy evening, as the first period score showed them on top, 14-8. However, the Huskies came roaring back in the second stanza to out-score the Indians 22-8 and take an eight-point halftime lead, 30-22.

The third period belonged to Mt. Savage as they pulled to within one and the fourth was almost dead even as the score was tied, 54-54, at the sound of the buzzer.

Tony Doerr paced all scorers for the Huskies, finishing with 23 points. Barry Youmans added 19 and John Spear had 10 for the winners.

The Indians were led by Mark Lashley who hit for 20 points, followed by Dave Growden with 12.

Northern outshot Mt. Savage from the floor 23-23 and hit 18 of 29 foul shots compared to 12 of 22 for the Indians.

Southern Rams 4th In PVC Wrestling

Beall High School came out on top in the Potomac Valley Conference wrestling championships held last week, beating out former champion Keyser by just six points. Petersburg came in third with 119½ points and Southern High was fourth with 110½. Frankfort followed with 68½ and Franklin finished last with 17½.

The only Southern Rams to make it to the finals were John Toston, in the 138 pound class, and Ken Stinson, in the 167 pound class. Toston was decisioned by Treutle of Keyser and Stinson was pinned by Jim Blake of Beall, who is undefeated on the season.

Southern Girls Fail Twice

Netting 31 points by Sue Eberly couldn't even pull off a victory as Southern girls went down to defeat 61-48 by Lonaconing's Valley High girls. For the Valley hoopers, Brenda Mills and Kathy Devlin combined with 43 points to roll over Southern.

It was more of the same on Wednesday with the Northern High girls easing out over Southern 53-51. Susan Eberly again led her teammates with an impressive 24 points but it wasn't enough to combat Northern's Pam France who tossed in 19 and Brenda Yommer who scored another 14 points.

Southern Rams Rally To Defeat Allegany 72-70

In one of the finest two-minute rallys in Southern High history, the Rams dumped the favored Allegany Campers Tuesday evening, 72-70, on the Cumberland floor. With just two minutes to play the Rams were down by eight points.

Allegany held a 70-65 lead with 54 seconds left on the clock, when Ken Niner was fouled. He sunk the first shot, missed the second, but then grabbed the rebound and hit, closing the gap to 70-68.

With 25 seconds remaining the Campers turned the ball over for the final time. Ram Fred Griffith then misfired but Steve Liller grabbed the rebound and fed cousin Todd Liller who connected and was fouled.

Liller made good on the free throw and the Rams went on top by one, 71-70.

Allegany then made it down the floor but a shot by Rich Diamond failed to connect and Niner went up high for the rebound.

Fred Griffith was fouled with just three seconds remaining and converted one of two to round out the scoring.

The rally was attributed to a very effective full court press by the Rams and tough work under the boards. With only four minutes left, Allegany seemed to be walking away, 63-55.

The first period of play was even all the way, ending with a 15-15 tie.

However, the second stanza belonged to Allegany, who broke the Ram press and jumped to a 37-28 halftime lead.

The Campers maintained their edge through the third period but Southern closed the gap to eight as the period ended.

Once again, Ken Niner was high man for the Rams, netting 34 points on 15 goals and four for six at the foul line.

Steve Liller finished with 13 points and Steve Ritchie added 12 for the Rams.

Frank Puhalla paced the Campers with 19 as four other teammates also reached double figures. Danny Spangler and Todd Downz each had 15, Craig Ritter, 11 and Rich Diamond, 10.

An "Artice" On The Mats

Tony Artice, senior at Northern High School, exhibits his outstanding wrestling skills as he decisions Don Taylor of Bruce High School.

By J. L. Stonham

Local high school wrestling enthusiasts need not look too far to find one of the most outstanding wrestlers in the state. Tony Artice, senior at Northern High School, beyond a shadow of a doubt, fills that category.

Artice has enjoyed wrestling as his favorite sport since early in the eighth grade, since which time he has achieved an amazing four-year record of 62 wins, 2 losses and one tie. He has succeeded in pinning his opponents more times than winning by decision.

Tony, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Artice, of Elder Hill, became a member of the Northern Matmen in the ninth grade, the first year he really became exposed to the sport. He finished the season with a 12-1 record. His sophomore and junior years were just as successful, ending up with 19-1 and 19-0, respectively. Presently his senior statistics show another undefeated mark of 12-0-1 in the 140-pound weight class.

He has twice been chosen for the Tri-Valley All Star team and has won the Thomas Davis Memorial Tournament two times.

Tony has not only excelled on the mats, but also experienced an outstanding year on the Northern football field this season, walking away with first team honors again as a Tri-Valley running back.

When asked whether or not he has had any college offers for athletic scholarships he replied, "I have received several phone calls, but I am not prepared to accept an offer at this time."

As a sign of dedication, he said, "We spend an average of three hours a day on the mats in preparation for the next meet."

The hours have apparently paid off, as Northern now holds an impressive season record of 5-2-1.

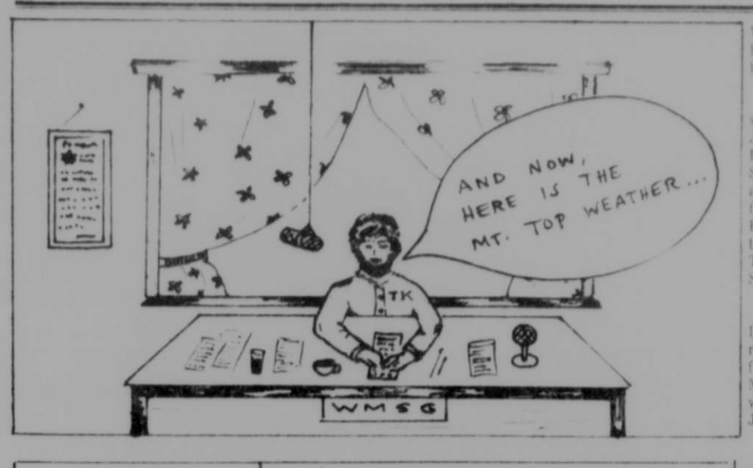

Tony feels that the high school athletic programs could be improved the most with the purchase of some new equipment and a showing of greater interest on the part of the faculty.

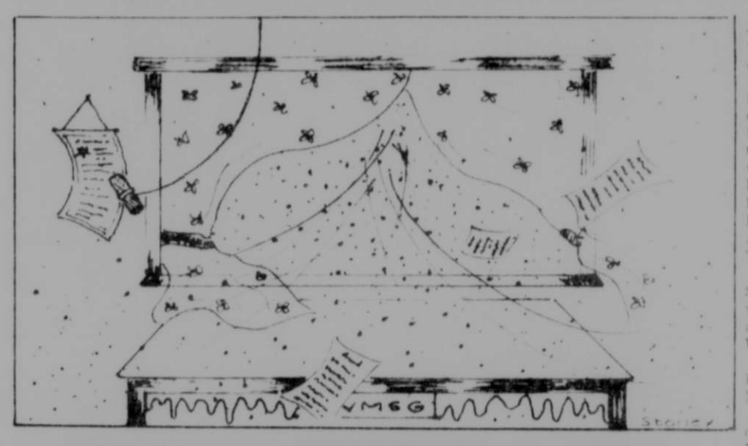

Northern's next meet is scheduled for tonight against Meyersdale on the Pennsylvanians mats at 7:30 p.m., unless adverse weather changes the picture. If you are an avid wrestling fan, Tony Artice is one to watch.

A lesson from the natives

How To Survive A Mountaintop Winter Without Losing Your Comfort, Or Your Cool

Few things can give a feeling of security better than a well-stocked woodpile. Far-seeing residents with fireplaces or coal and wood stoves have been cutting wood since last summer in preparation for a winter such as the one we are currently experiencing.

Hibernation may be for animals only, but it definitely is a cozy feeling to sit before a fireplace with a seed catalog and dreams of warmer weather. Most local residents begin preparing for winter very early, say late January when the seed catalogs arrive to tantalize, then progress through plowing and planting of gardens, crop harvesting and preserving. Rural residents seldom go hungry if space is available for a garden. Shown in both pictures above is Baity Ridder, Silver Knob Road.

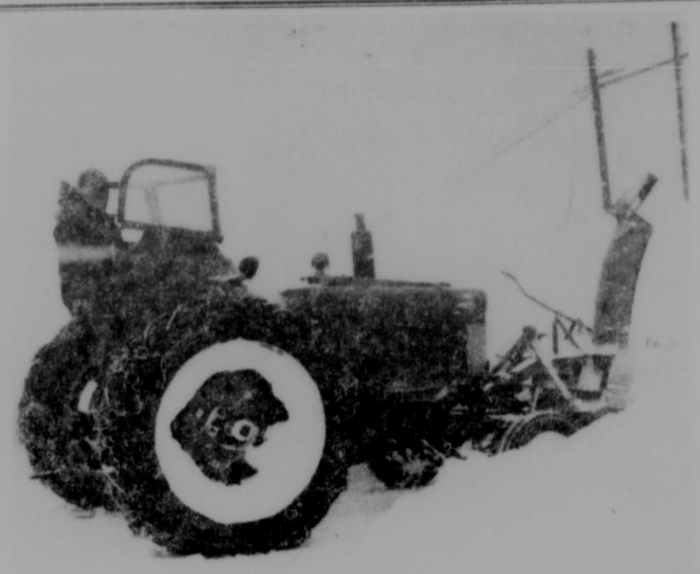

A one-quarter acre garden space can yield ample food to last a family through a winter, as demonstrated by the delicious array of fruits and vegetables canned by Mrs. Harold White of near Gortner. Mrs. White is like many local residents who know winter always comes and tries to prepare for it by stockpiling needed items such as flour, sugar and syrup, as well as filling her freezer and jelly cupboard with edibles. Mrs. White likes to cook, and cans, freezes and makes jellies "more or less as a hobby" so she may always have a variety of foods to choose from. Specialities include zucchini pickles, beets, applesauce, juices for jellies, chicken broth, spaghetti sauce, pumpkin for pies, and mint jelly. She also freezes lots of bread and milk for emergency use. In the foreground are boxes of home-canned foods such as green beans which cannot find room on the well-stocked shelves.

Comments by flatlander newspapers and other media to the contrary, we've noticed how people in this area seem to take foul weather in stride, accepting the elements with little more than an occasional grimace or gripe. Perhaps it's because they have learned through the years to expect the worst from Mother Nature, and then get ready.

There is no secret formula for getting along with winter, but there are two factors necessary to insure a measure of comfort . . . preparedness and self reliance. Preparing for next winter begins even before the present winter has ended.

Relying wholly upon utility companies and government agencies for basic necessities can prove to be a grave error. Those conveniences which we so often take for granted can play havoc with us during times of foul weather. Many families have learned to avoid disaster through the use of an alternate heating plant, kerosene lamps, food and water storage, and their own snow removal equipment.

If you've found yourself suffering for lack of the essentials in recent weeks, perhaps you should start planning for a more comfortable winter next year. Should your well-laid plans, and preparations for self reliance fail, however, you're still more fortunate than your city cousins. You can always depend on your neighbors for help. And just that knowledge can take a lot of the chill out of the wind.

Many local farmers and town residents have found snow removal equipment a wise investment, especially this current winter. Rocky Swiger, a farmer who lives south of Oakland, was a good Samaritan this week as he plowed out driveways for neighbors before tackling his own, which has been solidly blocked by snow for several days. Rocky's alternate route is through a field near Pleasant View Baptist Church, at least until the wind dies long enough to permit him to open his own roadway.

Proctor Kildow Post Nominates Officers

Officers for Proctor Kildow Post 71, American Legion, were nominated Monday evening, January 31, at the regular meeting of the organization. Earl Wolfe and Dayton Alexander were named to fill the commander position.

Other officers nominated included Harold Gower, first vice president; Earl Boyce, second vice president; Donald Hinebaugh, adjutant; Tom Bittinger, post service officer; James Helbig, finance; Randall Kahl, historian; Ward Ashby, chaplain; and Rick Mattingly, sergeant at arms.

Two executive committeemen will be chosen from the three nominated: Lonnie Marsh, Jonas McKenzie and Ralph Humberson.

Votes will be taken for commander and committeemen at the next meeting scheduled February 21 at 8 p.m. at the Legion home. Officers will be installed at the following meeting.

Few Cases Reported To Sheriff's Office

Bad weather must be keeping criminals holed up, since very few cases have been reported recently to the Garrett County Sheriff's department.

Two incidents occurred January 31 on Fingerboard Road, both involving parked vehicles. Clarence Leroy Mellinger reported that someone unlocked the passenger door of his Ford pick-up by forcing the vent window open.

Once inside, the would-be thieves attempted to remove the CB radio but were unsuccessful. They also apparently tried to hot wire the ignition but once again were defeated. Estimated damage to the window and wiring was $20.

Roger C. Kitzmiller notified the department that his car had been unlocked, probably through use of a coat hanger or other object and approximately $60 worth of 8-track tapes and a pair of binoculars were missing from his glove compartment.

Military pension costs have risen to more than many active services of the Armed Forces.

Secondhand Appliances

Appliance hunting?

The less-than-new appliance market in your town probably has some very good bargains—if you know where to find them and how to eliminate the "clunkers."

One of the best places to seek out used appliances is in your newspaper classified section. These ads tend to offer the newest model appliances at the lowest prices. One warning, however. Guarantees from private families can rarely be considered binding.

Appliance and department stores often offer surplus appliances at very good prices. These may include freight damaged equipment, demonstrator models or older but unused appliances.

Ads that state "Still in the original crate" usually refer to models just a year or so old.

Often, surplus appliances are sold with a new guarantee yet carry a worthwhile discount.

When shopping in the used market, look for:

- The UL safety seal.
- Cord, plug and wiring insulation without any breaks.
- Parts and finish in sound condition, showing no signs of rust or other deterioration.
- Indications of previous good care and cleanliness.

Mainly Bad Check Cases Are Heard

Several cases of worthless checks and one of disorderly conduct were heard in District Court Monday by Judge Lewis R. Jones.

B. J. Haisey, Star Route, Oakland, was charged with two worthless checks. George E. Rohrbaugh, Sr., Star Route 2, Oakland, had been charged with a worthless check, as was Martha Friend, RD 2, Deer Park. Linda Rodeheaver, Mt. Lake Park, had been charged with three worthless checks. All of these cases were dismissed as restitution had been made.

Don E. Kuhn, Mt. Storm, W. Va., has been charged with passing a worthless check. His case was settled with payment on account.

Jack Treasure, Bradley Manor, Oakland, pleaded not guilty of disorderly conduct in October and his plea was sustained.

Ice Causes Rash Of Car Accidents

Maryland State Police continue to investigate many minor accidents throughout the county as winter refuses to loosen its icy grip on highways.

Tfc. E. J. Upole was called to Savage River Road about 4 p.m. January 29 to investigate a two-car collision. Sharon Ann Preston Barton, was northbound on the narrow road and met a car operated by James Stanley Murry, Piedmont, W. Va., on a curve. There was not room for two to pass without colliding and neither driver was injured.

At 4:50 a.m. January 27, two other cars collided on a curve on the Accident-Lonaconing Road. Involved were Sylvan Edward Wiland, who was southbound, and Thelma Bethune Weir, Lonaconing. According to the police report filed by Tfc. G. A. Berkebile, Mrs. Weir failed to keep right while rounding a sharp curve and collided with the Wiland car.

At 10:10 p.m., Tfc. R. Westmoreland investigated a two-car pileup on Route 560 two miles from Garrett Road. Bonnie Jean Winters, Oakland, was southbound followed by a car operated by Donald Lester Gallis, Mt. Lake Park. The Winters vehicle came to a stop due to poor visibility and was struck from behind by the Gallis Datsun. No charges were made by the investigating officer.

Not quite one hour later, Tfc. Westmoreland reported to the Bruce Lonaconing Road two thousand feet from Bittinger Road, where two vehicles had collided.

Dale Eugene Stephens, Star Route, Oakland, was southbound and Michael John Sobczak, Baltimore, was heading north. At this point, there were large drifts and the roadway was closed for single vehicle traffic. Sobczak tried to avoid the Stephens car while passing but was unable to do so. Tfc. Westmoreland again made no charges.

A two-car collision occurred January 26 at 5:49 p.m., when the mirrors on two vehicles struck. James Harry Garner, Oakland, was southbound on Herrington Manor Road fifty feet from Leighton Drive, when he met a car driven by Warren Clyde Teets, Oakland. The roadway was narrowed by drifts and the cars' mirrors hit. Tfc. E. J. Upole filed a report but made no charges.

Two Collisions at Rosedale

Two collisions occurred at the intersection of Oakland-Rosedale Road and Route 39 on January 25. At 1 p.m. Paxton Glenn Arnold, Deer Park, was westbound on Route 39. Joan Margaret Stump, Deer Park, was attempting to make a left turn from the Rosedale Road to proceed west on Route 39 and failed to grant the right of way, striking the Arnold Oldsmobile and pushing it into the guardrails.

Tfc. L. N. Smith charged Mrs. Stump with failing to yield right of way.

At 5:20 that afternoon, Michael Earl Hartsell, Terra Alta, was having a hard time getting onto Route 39 from the Rosedale Road intersection. He finally got onto Route 39, pulling in front of a car driven by James Frank Cox, Independence, W. Va. Tfc. E. J. Upole made no charges.

Donald William Smith, Swanton, ran into the guardrails on Swanton Hill Road about 8:20 a.m. January 25. According to the police report, Smith had been moving downgrade when he met a snowplow. He guided his car to the right, into the deep snow which pulled his vehicle into the rails. Tfc. L. N. Smith did not make any charges.

Snowplows Have Accidents

Two snowplows were involved in minor accidents during the last several days. Clyde Edward DeWitt, Oakland, operating a plow for the town of Mt. Lake Park, was backing onto E Street shortly after 8 p.m. the 24th and struck the parked, unoccupied car of Donald Wetzel Stull, Mt. Lake Park. Mr. DeWitt apparently failed to see the Stull car as the backup light on the right side was not functioning. Tfc. C. H. Hinnant did not issue any citations.

On the 24th at 1:35 p.m. Joseph Daniel Tichinel, Swanton, was northbound in a county roads snowplow on Lake Shore Drive when his plow blade struck the solid part of an embankment, throwing the front of the truck to the left. The blade then struck a car parked in a private driveway. Owner of the parked, unoccupied vehicle is Gretchen Lee Maunder, Crofton, Md. No charges were issued by Tfc. L. N. Smith.

A driver attempting to avoid a stopped school bus on January 24 about 3:55 p.m. skidded on the icy road and struck a car operated by Walter O'Neil Herring, Oakland, who was stopped in a private drive prior to turning onto Route 219. Mary Margaret DeWitt, Oakland, was southbound on 219 when her car skidded and the mishap occurred. Tfc. Hinnant made no charges.

Guardrails came in for more attention from the SHA on January 23 after a 1:45 p.m. mishap on Glendale Road. Derek Luke Sweene, Dennisport, Mass., was eastbound and applied his brakes for the bridge approach, then skidded on the icy road, went out of control and hit the guardrails. Tfc. G. D. Broadwater did not make any charges.

Carol Jean Nusbaum, Silver Spring, struck a SHA steel post while traveling east on Route 50 January 22 at 8:05 p.m. Ms. Nusbaum failed to reduce speed for a turn and collided with a post on the left side of the roadway twenty feet from the bridge over the Potomac River. Tfc. Hinnant did not make any charges.

Icy road conditions caused a two-vehicle mishap January 23 on Mt. Zion Road a little more than two miles from Route 135. John Ervin Paugh, Swanton, was eastbound on an S-curve and approached a vehicle driven in the opposite direction by Clarence Harding Biser, Keyser. Paugh attempted to drive into a snow bank to avoid the collision but was struck by the Biser car which was unable to stop due to ice. Tfc. Smith again made no charges.

Muddy Creek Falls Stops Falling!

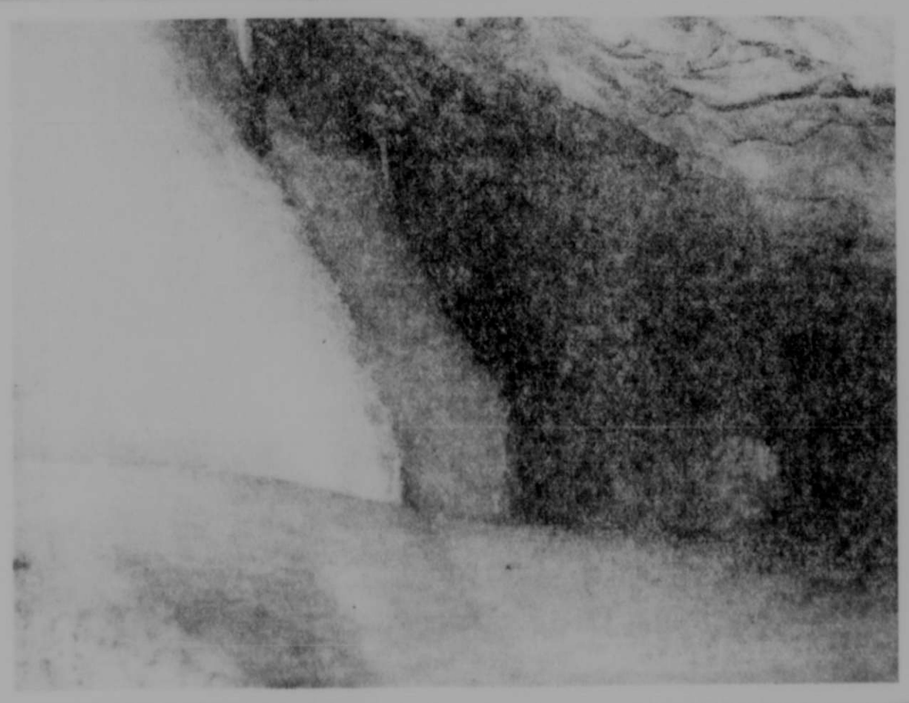

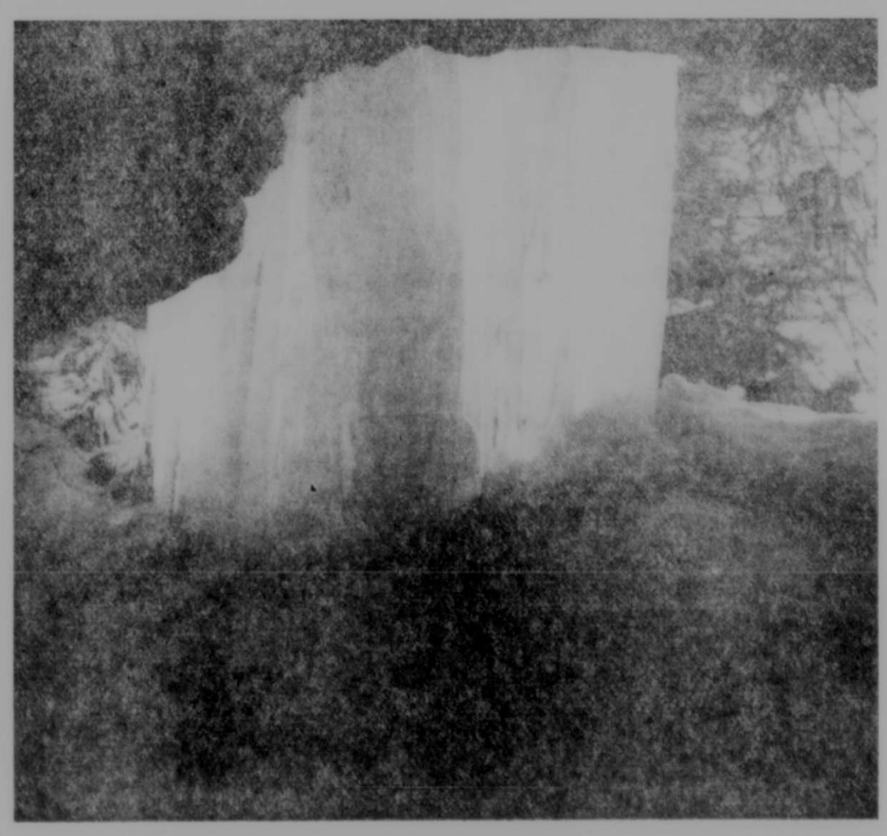

Muddy Creek Falls, now in its solid state, should be considered one of Garrett County's winter wonders. Weeks of sub-zero temperatures have turned the falls into an unbelievable spectacle, covering the entire width of the precipice with literally tons of ice. Some water continues to flow, however, behind the massive curtain as shown directly below in a shot taken just above the falls. The two photos at the bottom of the page were taken behind the falls, the one on the left looking down between the ice and the cliff, and the one on the right looking out from behind the falls. The flow below the falls is also frozen completely across the creek, allowing the photographer to take shots from angles which would normally require hip boots or scuba gear.

Getting to the falls from the road required wading through deep snow and sliding down a sheet of ice or two, but, in our opinion, it was well worth it.

IT'S PERSONAL

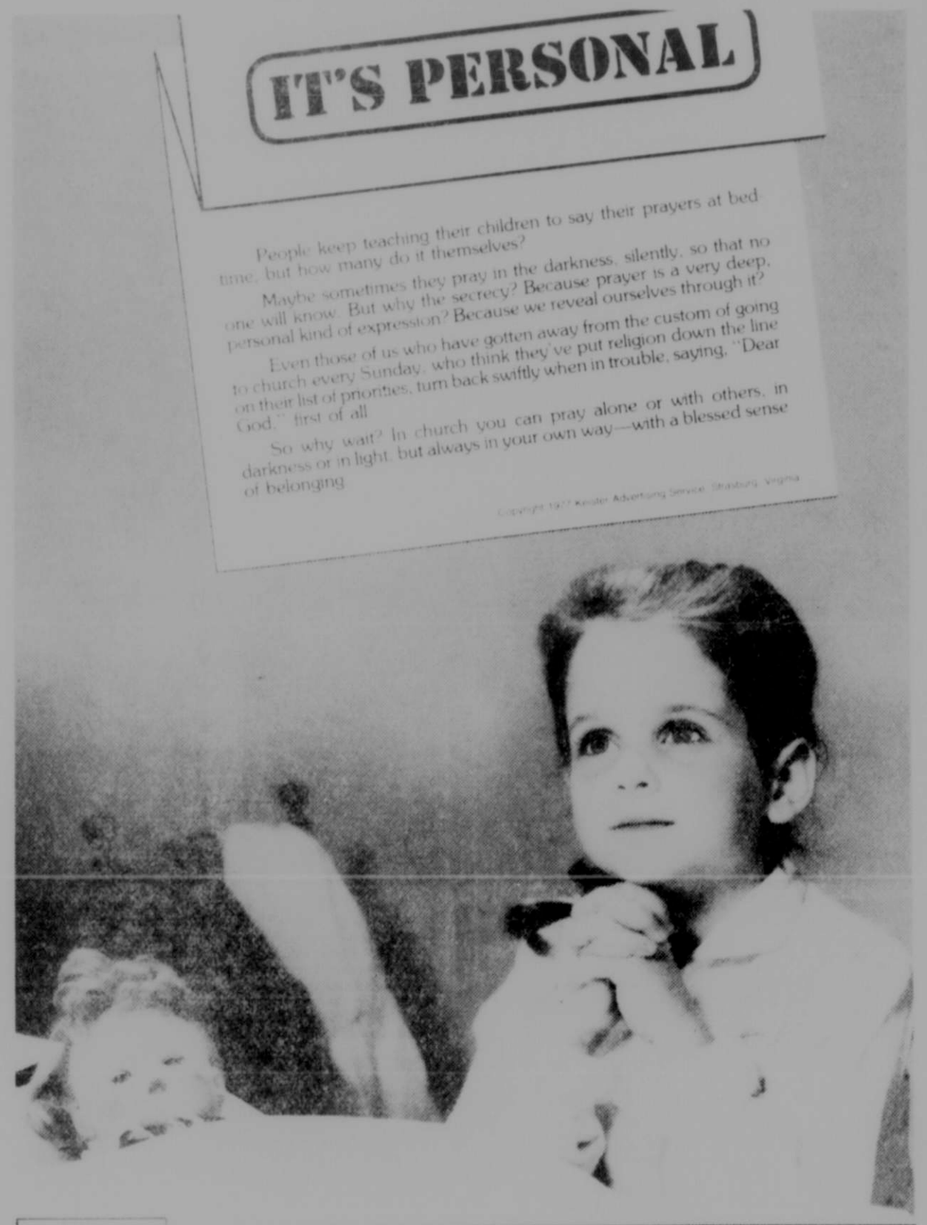

People keep teaching their children to say their prayers at bed time, but how many do it themselves?

Maybe sometimes they pray in the darkness, silently, so that no one will know. But why the secrecy? Because prayer is a very deep, personal kind of expression? Because we reveal ourselves through it?

Even those of us who have gotten away from the custom of going to church every Sunday, who think they've put religion down the line on their list of priorities, turn back swiftly when in trouble, saying, "Dear God," first of all.

So why wait? In church you can pray alone or with others, in darkness or in light, but always in your own way—with a blessed sense of belonging.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

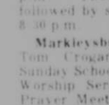

THE CREDENTIALS

Lesson for February 6, 1977

Background Scripture: Mark 5:21-43; Luke 7:1-23
Devotional Reading: Luke 7:1-10

"Are you he who is to come, or shall we look for another?"

This question, sent to Jesus by the imprisoned John the Baptist, seems astounding. Is this not the same John who once stood by the River Jordan and, looking at Jesus, proclaimed, "Behold the Lamb of God, who takes away the sin of the world" (John 1:29)? Is this not the same John who testified of seeing "the Spirit descend as a dove from heaven" upon Jesus, who protested that Jesus should be baptising him instead (Matthew 3:14)?

Rev. Althouse

Are you the one?

Yes, it was the same John the Baptist, but, no, it was not. People change; they are subject to moods of depression and inspiration, faith and doubt. John the Baptist, the fiery prophet in the wilderness, was now John, the prisoner of Herod, shut up in a dark, filthy dungeon and near the end of his brief life. He remembered that great day by the Jordan when Jesus had come to him for baptism; he recalled the exaltation of that moment when God revealed to him the identity of his Son, the Messiah; he could see in his mind's eye that scene when Jesus came up out of the river, himself caught up in that ecstatic moment.

Now, however, he seemed far away from his beloved wilderness. A tiny, putrid cell was his unseeing window on the world. He was tired from the deprivations and cruelty of his imprisonment. Now, in the darkness of his captivity there came a nagging doubt. Am I sure that Jesus is the one, or did I make a mistake?

If John's faith wavered in Herod's fortress, we cannot blame him or be surprised. It is understandable that he should want reassurance from Jesus, some indication that if Herod took his life, he had not failed in his mission.

What you have seen?

To this important, legitimate question Jesus gives a most significant answer. One might expect that Jesus would send John an outline of his teaching in order to authenticate his credentials. This would have been the time-honored method of the rabbis. But Jesus said nothing about his teachings in his reply.

Neither did Jesus produce a selection of scriptural passages to prove his identity as the one "who is to come." Although the use of scriptures probably would have been convincing to John, and although Jesus was very knowledgeable in the holy writings, he made no reference to them to John's disciples.

We might expect that Jesus would produce a genealogy similar to what Luke and Matthew provide in their Gospels, which would authenticate him as the Christ. But Jesus made no reference to his lineage. Neither did Jesus ask the crowds for a testimony, nor the religious authorities for their stamp of approval.

What, then, were his credentials?

Tax Assessment Appeals Face Filing Deadlines

With the recent mailing of property reassessment notices for the 1977-1978 tax year, many porperty owners have filed protests with the local assessment authority.

William A. Badger, Administrator of the Property Tax Assessment Appeal Boards located in each of the Counties and Baltimore City, urged taxpayers to become familiar with the time limits involved in the appeal process. Under state law, property owners who are dissatisfied with an assessment enjoy the right of hearings before the local Supervisor of Assessments, the Property Tax Assessment Appeal Boards, the Maryland Tax Court, as well as the regular Courts of Law. "The important thing," Badger explained, "is to understand that the law imposes specific time limits for the filing of appeals and failure to file within the allowed period will cause the proposed assessment to become final."

Every taxpayer is entitled to protest his proposed tax assessment by checking a box on a detachable section of the reassessment notice and returning it to the local assessment office within thirty days. The assessment office will then schedule a meeting to review the assessor's "worksheet" that contains information on the taxpayers property and is used in computing the market value. Property owners are entitled to a copy of the "worksheet." Mr. Badger said that "while attendance at this meeting is not mandatory, it is desirable since it permits the property owner to bring to the attention of the Assessor matters which were perhaps not previously known or other factors which should be considered in reflecting a lower market value."

Property owners who have received a "Final Notice of Assessment" following a protest to the local Supervisor of Assessments have thirty days in which to appeal to the Property Tax Assessment Appeal Board. The Board is an independent agency operating under a peer concept, and is responsible for determining if assessments recommended by the local Supervisor of Assessments are fair and equitable. The three-member Boards are composed of citizens appointed by the Governor and who have been recommended for their positions by the Mayor, in the case of Baltimore City, or the County Commissioners, County Executive or County Council for the other subdivisions. A taxpayer may also appeal an unfavorable decision by the Appeal Board to the Maryland Tax Court provided such appeals occur within thirty days of the Appeal Board decision.

The Appeal process is a relatively simple one," Badger said, "informal and free of any charges, fees, or requirement for legal representation." The Appeal Board staff is available to assist the property owner in preparing the necessary filing papers, to explain general procedures followed in the appeal process and to review the type of factors which are general material in any consideration by the Appeal Board for an assessment reduction.

DNR Publication Features Garrett Forest Activities

The Maryland department of Natural Resources forest service advises those interested in winter recreational pursuits to visit the State forests in Garrett County.

In the winter, snowmobiling, cross-country skiing and snowshoeing are activities commonly occurring on Savage River State Forest, Potomac State Forest and Garrett State Forest (formerly called Swallow Falls State Forest).

The winter 1977 edition of Maryland Forestry contains pertinent information about snow sports in Western Maryland.

Other articles in the current issue of Maryland Forestry contain facts about how to build a safe fire in your fireplace. First and foremost, make sure the room is well ventilated, the damper open and the flue unobstructed before lighting your fire.

The Bicentennial year has passed but Bicentennial trees remain. Nearly 300 trees were designated Bicentennial trees in Maryland. These trees were found to be at least 200 years of age. The official County Bicentennial trees are listed in the winter newsletter.

These are but a few of the interesting articles found in the Winter edition of Maryland Forestry, the quarterly newsletter of the Maryland Forest Service.

To receive this free quarterly publication, send name and address to: Maryland Forest Service, Department of Natural Resources, Tawes State Office Building, Annapolis, Maryland, 21401. It's printed on 100% re-cycled paper.

CRELLIN

Mrs. Lucy Fike, who was a surgical patient and spent six weeks in the Garrett County Memorial Hospital, returned to her home.

IN LOVING MEMORY

In Loving Memory of Gaye Lou Thomas Paul, who met a tragic death 1 year ago, February 4, 1976.

The blow was hard, the shock severe.
We never knew your death so near.
Only those who have lost can tell,
The pain of parting without farewell.
We lost a loved one with a heart of gold.
Who was more to us than life untold.
The shock we received that morning
No one will ever know.
God gave us strength and courage,
To fight that sudden blow.
We often sit and ask why
You had to leave without a good-bye.
In our hearts comes a longing,
If you were only home.
We lost, but God has gained
One of the best the world contained.

Sadly missed by
Daughter, Billie Joe,
Mom, Dad,
Brothers and sisters

Four Die On State Highways

Four persons lost their lives on Maryland Highways according to the weekly news release compiled by 2nd Lt. M. L. Morgan of the Maryland State Police. Of those killed two were drivers, one was a passenger and one was a pedestrian.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our thanks and appreciation to all our friends and relatives who sent food, flowers and sympathy cards, to Rev. Robert Wilson, Kamp Central Ambulance Service, Dr. Thomas Haymond, and the Browning Funeral Home following the death of our loved one.

If you are skidding more and enjoying it less these days, check your tires for a deep tread. Have your brakes adjusted so all four wheels brake the same. There may be a mechanical problem that led to skidding. The biggest problems, however, are speed too fast for conditions and driver error. Slippery streets can require seven times as much distance for stopping at 20 miles an hour, and higher speeds require even more room. Take your time, not a life.

There have been 30 persons killed through January 30 of this year compared to 42 for the same period in 1976.

Traffic deaths in Maryland in 1976 were the lowest in 12 years.

Operation Yellow Jacket

STATE POLICE TO "STING" SPEEDERS AND DRINKING DRIVERS — This new "Yellow Jacket" decal is the symbol of the State Police campaign to zap speeders and drinking drivers on Maryland highways. Many additional Troopers will be patrolling high-accident locations in these specially marked cars in an attempt to cut down on fatal and serious injury accidents.

The State Police have launched Operation Yellow Jacket to crack down on speeders and drinking drivers in Maryland.

Many additional Troopers are being used to supplement regular patrols in this new enforcement effort, designed to reduce the number of deaths and serious injuries resulting from highway accidents.

The program is funded by a one-year $180,000 highway safety project administered by the Transportation Safety Division of the Maryland Department of Transportation. The enforcement operation features the use of off-duty Troopers who are being paid on an overtime basis to selectively patrol high-accident locations throughout the state.

These additonal patrols will be specially-identified with a highly-visible "Yellow Jacket" decal which is both the symbol and name of the new enforcement campaign.

Colonel Thomas S. Smith, superintendent of the State Police, said in announcing the program, "When you see the Yellow Jacket teams working you will know they are primarily after speeding and drinking drivers."

State Police statisticians have found that speed and alcohol are the two highest contributing factors in fatal and serious injury accidents. A study of Maryland traffic fatalities indicates that speed is involved in three out of five deaths and that probably two out of every three persons killed had been drinking.

A State Police inter-disciplinary management group, working with specialist from the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, analyzed Maryland traffic accident reports for the past four years. Every road in the state was computer-searched for speed and alcohol-related accident experience.

Investigators found the county-by-county high accident locations. Analysis showed that accidents involving speed or alcohol tend to cluster along small segments of roadways. For example, a thirty-mile-long highway might have only a five-mile segment where most of the accidents occur.

In further refining the data by the use of high-speed computers, other vital information was developed including the season of the year, day of week and time of day that the accidents occurred at these cluster locations.

Armed with this information, the State Police Yellow Jacket patrols will concentrate on high-accident sites during predicted high-accident times.

State Police have formed an alcohol-speed enforcement unit, headed by Sergeant John O. Himmelman, that will direct and supervise the additional Troopers patrolling target locations.

New long-range radar sets are being used by the team to help detect speeders. The Troopers have also received special training in the identification and apprehension of drinking drivers.

According to Colonel Smith, "We have asked for the cooperation of the state's attornies, District Court judges and the Motor Vehicle Administration to deal quickly and severely with speeders and drinking drivers."

IN MEMORIAM

Our mother, grandmother, great-grandmother, and great-great-grandmother, Mrs. Emma Bickford, died January 7th, 1977. She is survived by her children, Mrs. Fannie Green, Mrs. Pearl Perrin, Mrs. Albert Bickford, Swanton, Md., Mrs. Jenny Otto, Mrs. June Otto, Mrs. Evelene O'Donnell, Baltimore, Md., and Mrs. Zelda Blocher, Detroit, Michigan. Our mother was 93 years old, and lived a long and happy life, but her time did come and she is greatly missed. We feel our mother was a very remarkable woman for she had 41 grandchildren, 90 great-grandchildren and 15 great-great-grandchildren which we think sets and all time record.

Tag Renewal Dates Set By Maryland MVA

The Motor Vehicle Administration will begin mailing 1977 license tag renewal applications to Maryland's 1.9 million passenger car and motorcycle owners Friday, February 11. Validation stickers will be available at all MVA offices beginning Monday, February 14.

Ejner J. Johnson, MVA Administrator, said, however, that about 90,000 motorists will not receive their tag renewal applications because they either failed to pay parking tickets or comply with safety equipment repair orders by December 1.

Instead, motorists holding outstanding parking tickets will receive a "flagging" letter, similar to a warning letter they previously received, informing them that their tag applications have been withheld, or "flagged," and spelling out the procedure for making payment. Motorists with unsatisfied repair orders already have been notified.

Only after a motorist has cleared up all outstanding parking tickets and repair orders will the MVA issue him a tag application.

Johnson also reminded Maryland motorists that under the state's compulsory insurance law, every motor vehicle registered in the state must be insured in the minimum amounts of $20,000/$40,000 for bodily injury, $5,000 for property damage, and $2,500 for economic loss. For motorcycles, however, economic loss coverage is not compulsory.

"Motorists," Johnson said, "who have had their policies cancelled or have been rejected by at least two private companies may apply to the Maryland Automobile Insurance Fund, but in any case, they must have the necessary insurance coverage before they can receive their validation stickers."

Noting that the vast majority of Maryland motorists return their tag renewal applications and receive their validation stickers by mail, Johnson pointed out that many others fail to heed this advice and find themselves standing in line at an MVA office as the tag expiration deadline approaches.

"Motorists," he said, "need only complete the application form and return it by mail with the required fee and insurance information to receive their stickers within a week or two, and without inconvenience."

But he cautioned that applications received later than March 20 may not be processed in time to meet the March 31 deadline.

Vehicle owners who do not receive their tag applications by the end of February should contact the MVA immediately, giving their present tag number, the vehicle title and vehicle identification number (serial number), full name and present address.

This information is necessary to enable the computer-printer to print correct applications. For further information motorists should contact the MVA branch office in their vicinity or they may call the Glen Burnie tag renewal information number, 768-1800.

Validation stickers may be purchased from MVA Headquarters in Glen Burnie or at any MVA branch office from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. weekdays. Motorists are reminded, however, that most State offices, including the MVA, will be closed in observance of Washington's birthday, Monday, February 21 and Maryland Day, Friday, March 25.

A MVA branch office is located at: Cumberland, Route 53, Winchester Road.

For the convenience of Maryland motorists, validation stickers may also be purchased from County Treasurers in Anne Arundel, Calvert, Caroline, Cecil, Charles, Dorchester, Garrett, Harford, Kent, Montgomery, Prince George's, Queen Anne's, St. Mary's, Somerset, Talbot and Worcester County.

Motorists are cautioned against displaying validation stickers before March 1 and reminded that the stickers must be displayed in the upper right-hand corner of all passenger vehicle tags and the lower right-hand corner of all motorcycle tags by midnight, March 31.

The Bill alleges in substance that Opal Weaver is the owner of Lot 14, Kitzmiller, Maryland, and she and her predecessors have held possession of said lot, adverse and hostile to the Defendants for a period of over 20 years or more.

The relief prayed in the Petition is substantially as follows: That an Order of Publication be issued against Manolis Challoris and/or the heirs of him warning them the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, shall pass an Order to Quiet Title to Lot 14, Kitzmiller, Maryland, in Opal Weaver and to vest in Opal Weaver fee simple title against the Defendant or any claiming under him.

WHEREUPON, it is ordered by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, this 11th day of January, 1977, that the Complainant cause a copy of this order to be inserted in a newspaper published in Garrett County, once a week in each of four successive weeks, before the 11th day of February, 1977, giving notice to said Defendant of the object and substance of the Complaint and warning them to show cause, if any there be, on or before the 15th day of March, 1977, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

AIRBORNE ASTRONOMY

NASA modified a C-141 jet transport for carrying a 36-inch telescope. The facility is called the Gerard P. Kuiper Airborne Observatory. The telescope is used for infrared astronomical research. The aircraft flies at an altitude of 12 kilometers (39,000 feet), higher than 99 percent of the water vapor in the atmosphere. Water vapor interferes with infrared wavelengths. 85 percent of the observers are from universities and the others are from either NASA or government agencies.

Man Jailed In Court Contempt

A Swallow Falls man was committed to the Garrett County Jail in contempt of court, following a hearing before Assoc. Judge Fred A. Thayer, Tuesday morning.

Delmos Ray Warnick was found in contempt of court by failing to comply with a decree of the court set down September 29, 1976.

Warnick failed to comply by not conveying certain titles and personal property to Ruth Elaine Warnick. He also failed to provide $50 per month for the support and maintenance of two infant children as required.

After a re-order of the court of November 10, Warnick still failed to comply. Judge Thayer, after hearing testimony of both Ruth E. Warnick and Delmos Warnick, Tuesday, was of the opinion that Delmos Warnick, was in fact, in contempt of court for failure to comply with the order of September 29, and of the re-order of November 10.

Warnick is to remain in jail until he complies with the orders of the court. He is to execute and deliver titles of a 1963 Vindale mobile home and a 1968 Plymouth Fury to Mrs. Warnick. Warnick did not indicate specific willingness to convey, as required, certain personal property to Mrs. Warnick. This includes: a television with rotor and aerial, movie projector, camera and light, slide projector, screen, lawn chairs and lounger, snowmobile suit and boots, and children's fishing equipment and bike helmet. As of January, he is to make payment for the two children, in the amount of $200 to Mrs. Warnick. He indicated desire to support the children but did not. Warnick is to be released from jail on fulfillment of these requirements.

Judge Thayer indicated he will follow the same policy on any similar case now and in the future and anyone involved in such cases should take heed.

THE REPUBLICAN

VOLUME 100 OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD., THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 10, 1977 PER COPY 15c NUMBER 50

Another Snow Job . . .

A $13,000 pay raise for Maryland's congressional delegates is now in the making and will probably go into effect February 19. Six state delegates oppose it, three favor it and one is undecided. Their present salary is $44,500.

Senators and Congressmen are elected by us, they work for us and they are paid by us, through our tax money. The problem is, many times we have no real way of knowing whether or not they are earning their pay.

A comment by Congressman Clarence Long (Democrat) taken from an article in Tuesday's Cumberland News has to be one of the most absurd of all times. He is all for the pay raise, claiming, "I deserve it . . . I'm not claiming I'm starving to death . . . but some of these young ones who have children are trying to live off it ($44,500 a year.) . . . They're just having a desperate time . . .

"Trying to live off it . . . having a desperate time . . .

Mr. Long, we're not sure what standard of living you are talking about, but if you congressmen are

County Roads Adds Three Front-Mount Blowers

The Garrett County Roads Department reached a major snow-fighting decision last week, resulting in the addition of three new snow blowers to the county's equipment total.

The three blowers, ordered last Friday from Dubuque, Iowa, were expected to arrive today. Each of the blowers will mount on a front-end loader already owned by the county. Cost of each blower was $5,500, paid for with monies from the general equipment purchase fund, a part of the budgeted allocation for the county.

Purchase of the snowblowers will mean the county cannot now afford to replace three of the older trucks scheduled for replacement this year, according to Herbert McCrobie, county administrative engineer.

In other areas of county roads budgeting, it will not be known until after today how the remainder of the budget is standing up to the drains made by the present severe winter. It is known that in some areas funds have been completely spent such as in the general equipment area.

It is also known that the road maintenance budget is already $250,000 over the two-year average of funds from fiscal years 1974-75 and 1975-76. Exact standings in the various areas should be computed by next week.

The week took another toll of aged equipment used by the county, when two front-end loaders went down for major repairs. Engine repair is needed for these machines headquartered at Accident and Grantsville. Two graders are also down, along with several trucks which require major repairs.

Mothers' March Of Dimes Cancelled

Mrs. Carma White, chairman for the Mothers' March of Dimes for 1977, has announced that, due to weather and road conditions, the march for this year has been cancelled.

Those who would like to mail contributions may send them to Lynn Beckman, treasurer, at the First National Bank of Oakland, Oakland, Md.

Byron Supports Mandel's Request

Congressman Goodloe Byron announced this week that he has sent a letter to President Carter, dated Tuesday, February 8, supporting Governor Marvin Mandel's request that Garrett County be eligible to receive federal disaster aid.

Congressman Byron stated that extreme cold and snow conditions have endangered the residents of Garrett County. He said that state and local workers are doing their best, but federal assistance is necessary to ease the situation. He hopes the request will receive real consideration.

He also sent a copy of the letter to the Federal Disaster Assistance Administration.

Congressman Byron To Visit County

Congressman Goodloe E. Byron will meet with citizens in this county today and tomorrow, meeting and talking with residents at various post offices.

He is to visit the Grantsville post office today at 2:30 p.m., then the Accident post office at 4 p.m. and McHenry post office at 5 o'clock.

Friday, February 11, he is scheduled to visit the Oakland post office at 10 a.m., then travel to Kitzmiller's post office at 1 p.m.

Topics of discussion may include construction of county buildings, new coal mining development projects, cuts in CETA funds, the National Freeway, water pollution control projects, and flood control.

Guilty Plea Made In Fraud

An Oakland area man pleaded guilty of fraud at a trial before Judge Fred A. Thayer in Circuit Court last Thursday.

Richard V. Jackson, pleaded guilty of two charges of fraud. Jackson was sentenced to the Commissioner of Correction for six months on each charge. Both sentences were suspended and Jackson was placed on unsupervised probation for six months. The two sentences were to run concurrently.

Jackson was charged with selling certain equipment mortgaged by the First National Bank of Oakland without obtaining written consent in May 1975.

OVER THE HILLS AND THROUGH THE WOODS — Tuesday's comparatively balmy weather was just enough to inspire "sunshine bam" to attempt a barbecue in the park. Under the picnic basket is a cool layer of snow that measured nearly thirty inches.

Fluoridation Rejected By Friendsville

In the town election held yesterday in Friendsville, voters rejected the addition of fluoride to the town water supply by a two-to-one margin.

Mayor James Ross, Sr., said that 61 voters were against the question while 30 voted in favor of fluoridation.

Three councilmen were also elected for two-year terms, putting present councilmen John C. Lefferts, Gene Sines and Rose Selby, who will serve one more year.

James Spear, Raymond McCullough and Charley Miller were elected to fill these new seats.

The breakdown of votes is as follows: Spear, 60; McCullough, 56; Miller, 55; Norma Frazee, 35; James Lininger, 32; Jon Garner, 17; and Terry Spear, seven. There were three receiving written votes, Ken Friend, one; Ralph Murphy, one; and Floyd Baker, two.

Oselane Fisher, chairman of the election committee, stated that 162 of the 219 registered voters turned out at the polls.

Gas Curtailments Eased Yesterday

Columbia Gas of Maryland announced Tuesday that its industrial and large commercial customers would not be required to remain at plant protection curtailment levels after 8:00 a.m., yesterday.

The company pointed out, however, that previously announced seasonal curtailment levels of 100 percent of all industrial boiler loads and other industrial loads of a million or more cubic feet per month with alternate fuel capability would remain in effect through March 31.

In easing the severe curtailment which has been imposed since January 28, the company stressed the natural gas supply problem facing the state is not over. It cautioned the more severe plant protection curtailment levels probably would have to be reimposed if severe weather conditions recur, if customers do not continue to conserve, or if there is any reduction in available gas supplies.

The company continued to urge all customers — including residential users — to keep thermostats at 65 degrees or below and to make every possible effort to hold gas consumption to a bare minimum.

It became possible for Columbia Gas of Maryland to relax the facility protection curtailment levels after the company's supplier announced it would no longer limit Columbia Gas of Maryland and other companies to only residential and essential needs gas after 8:00 a.m. yesterday.

Rifles And Ammo Taken From Naylor's

At least 20 high-calibre rifles and an undetermined amount of ammunition were stolen sometime Wednesday night from A. D. Naylor's hardware store on Liberty Street in Oakland.

More than 20 rifles were missing from racks in the sports department. Entry to the building was made through an upstairs window.

Members of the Oakland City Police and the criminal investigation department of the Maryland State Police are investigating, but would release no information concerning the theft.

Thawing Pipes With Welder Said Dangerous

Attempting to thaw frozen water pipes with an arc-type welder or similar equipment can cause homeowners serious electrical problems, according to an urgent advisory from Potomac Edison.

During the present prolonged and severe cold weather, many of Potomac Edison's customers have experienced frozen water lines. We have learned of cases where attempting to thaw frozen water lines with welding equipment has caused serious problems for homeowners," reports G. P. Bohn, Potomac Edison Director of Customer Services.

"A building's electrical system must itself be grounded for safety and to operate properly," Bohn explained. "But it is a requirement of the National Electric Code that a building's electrical system also be connected to the water system as a safety precaution. It is this tie in between the two systems that leads to the problems when trying to thaw the water pipes."

For example, when an arc welder is hooked to water pipes in an attempt to heat them enough to thaw a blockage, a high current is passed through the pipe. This current can pass into the electrical AWAITING ERRANDS OF MERCY, this National Guard helicopter assigned to Garrett County this week perches at the Armory in Oakland. Pilot Major Clarence Calhoun, of Bel Air, flew several such missions, including two on Monday night. His crew included CW2 Michael Seeger, co-pilot, and Sgt. Bill Brown, crew chief. The chopper was also used in many reconnaisance flights over the county after heavy snows and high winds caused this area to be designated as a "disaster area" by Gov. Mandel.

School Board Will Examine 180 Day Year

Extreme weather conditions the past month, blocking many roads and creating hazardous driving conditions, have caused school authorities to close schools approximately one-ninth of the total student year. Current state law requires schools to operate 180 days in a ten-month period. The state law does not permit Saturday school nor does it specify schools may make up time lost by lengthening the school day.

The concern that have grown out of Garrett County's inability to have school such a large number of days will be a major item of business for the Garrett County Board of Education at their regular meeting today.

Different groups of individuals have been invited to present their point of view on the matter at that time. It is also expected that the State Board of Education staff will be represented at the meeting.

Dr. William H. Buser, Superintendent of Schools, says the problem will cause serious consideration this year by the Maryland Legislature relative to the best way to deal with such problems. He also indicated the State of West Virginia was re-evaluating its current "Act of God" legislation because of a similar problem.

Ross Elected To Top Community Action Position

Friendsville attorney Charles Ross, president of the Garrett County Community Action Committee, Inc., board of directors, has been elected president of the Mid-Atlantic Community Program Directors Association. The election of Ross marked the first in the nation that a board president has been elected president of a major group serving community Action agencies.

In a statement delivered at his installation recently in Washington, Del., Ross emphasized the necessity for involvement of many more people on a volunteer basis in the work of Community Action agencies on behalf of the poor. He especially established a priority for rural development.

"Our rural areas are the future sites for development and we must prepare now to control that inevitable development so that the rich heritage of our rural environments will not be lost," Ross stated.

His emphasis is backed by recent efforts to write and have supported a major addition to the Federal law, which, if passed by Congress, would give rural poor protection.

Ross, a member of the Drafting Committee and chairman of the Rural Affairs Sub-committee of the National Legislative Forum, says the proposed legislation, a revision of the Title III for rural and small town housing and community development, received three significant endorsements on a recent nine day trip that he made with G. Bradford Rinard, executive director of Garrett County Community Action Committee Inc.

"The next step is to promote passage by Congress of the revisions and additions to a new proposed Community Services Act," Ross concluded.

Ross was admitted to the Maryland Bar in 1974 and currently is assistant State's Attorney for Garrett County. He serves on the advisory council to the Maryland Service Corps, the state agency on volunteerism.

Festivities will begin Thursday, March 3, with the queen coronation dinner, which will feature Jack Bogut of KDKA as guest speaker. Cooperation Helps "Disaster Area" Out From Under Paralyzing Snow

A federal disaster inspection team toured Garrett County Wednesday in attempts to discover how the county is now faring after more than 30 days of continuous severe winter weather.

Their trip was made in the wake of declaration of the county as a disaster area Friday afternoon by the county commissioners.

That declaration made the county eligible for additional assistance through the office of Governor Marvin Mandel and state and county Civil Defense networks. One member of the inspection team was a representative of the federal disaster assistance agency.

In addition to dispatching National Guardsmen to the area, over the weekend, Gov. Mandel requested federal disaster aid for the county from President Jimmy Carter. In a letter to the president, the governor said that winter conditions are so severe that over 500 miles of county roads are impassable and that the county and state government can no longer solve the problems.

To tackle the immediate problems of road clearing, some 61 National Guardsmen were mobilized, including 39 from Company C, 121st engineering battalion, in this area. Other men were assigned from Ellicott City, LaPlata and Waldorf, working with local men on eight bulldozers, seven front-end loaders and six ten ton tractors with lowboys to haul equipment. The men are also utilizing three one-and-a-quarter ton trucks and a 10-ton dump truck in clearing efforts.

From Saturday until midnight Tuesday, the guardsmen had worked to clear 40 roads, with all road clearing done at the direction of the county roads department.

Guards have been staying at the Armory, working shifts from 7:30 a.m. until approximately 9 p.m.

According to a spokesman at the Armory, the Guard operation may phase down this weekend, if weather conditions permit. However, the equipment will be left up here so that only the men need to be recalled if road conditions again deteriorate. The local Guard was first mobilized in January to aid the county roads department.

George Comp felt the Civil Defense team, expanded to include workers from the Social Services department and the Community Action Agency, turned out a real good operation" especially in view of the fact the the CD has never before utilized the snow disaster plan drawn up for the county.

The Civil Defense office was manned 24 hours a day until Tuesday, taking information and making referrals for citizens who required help. There were 11 calls for food, 42 for fuel, 21 road openings which were referred to the county roads, and ten medical cases, usually concerning elderly persons.

Many more calls, most of them dealing with road openings, were solved without need for additional action. The Civil Defense office maintained a list of private individuals or companies in all segments of the county which were providing road-opening services.

In several cases of farmers requiring feed for livestock, the situations were also able to be resolved by telephone referral.

Another invaluable source of help to Mr. Comp and his assistant, Ken Kromer, were the members of the Vacationland Ch Search and Rescue unit, under the direction of Bill Murphy. These people kept three snowmobiles, four four-wheel drive vehicles and manpower available at all times to provide assistance. The members delivered coal and groceries as well as providing visits to elderly to see how these people were faring.

The Community Action Committee, in addition to furnishing a staff member at the CD headquarters, also had emergency food rations available for delivery, and a ten-ton supply of coal donated by Buffalo Coal Company.

Social Services department also provided a staff member

Arts and crafts is one way to help eliminate that "bottled-up" feeling one can experience during school cancellations. These children are shown cutting and pasting pictures on discarded bottles at the Zion Lutheran Church in Accident. Interested persons have created a "Spirit Program" at the church to act as an outlet for shut-in students during the lengthy cold wave in Garrett County. Below, clearing a path for the "Spirit Program," is Rev. Fred Illick, Dave Davis and Mark Illick. There was plenty of the white stuff to shovel in front of the Lutheran parsonage located on U.S. Rt. 219.

Zion Lutheran Entertains Bored School Students

Pastor Fred Illick, of the Zion Lutheran Church in Accident, assisted by parents and teachers in the Accident area, have organized a "Spirit Program" to help alleviate the frustrations school children are experiencing while the continued cold front is stationary.

The two-hour program is supervised by Rev. and Mrs. Illick along with instructors, Mrs. Nancy Frank, Mrs. Twylah Stewart and Mrs. Betty Wellborn.

Other interested persons active in the program include: Mrs. Phyllis Vitez, Mrs. Jo Ann Ringer, Mrs. Sandy McClintock, and Connie Hutzel.

The program, located in the classrooms at the church, offers an assortment of activities. In one room, children were involved in painting and decorating old bottles while another group of children were singing and participating in arts and crafts. All were generally happy because of the availability of the program.

The "Spirit Program" is offered between the hours of noon and two p.m. at the church. According to Mrs. Frank, "Those are the warmest hours of the day."

For further information about the program you may inquire at the Zion Lutheran Church on Rt. 219 in Accident.

The cold spell has caused farmers to dip heavily into food and forage supplies.

Two Charged With Fratz' Store Larceny

Two men from Uniontown, Pa., are lodged in the Garrett County jail in lieu of $10,000 cash bond each on charges of breaking, entering and larceny.

William Emmett, 26, and Harold Crossland, 29, were jailed February 8 following their arrest at Fratz' Store in Accident. Members of the Maryland State Police and the sheriff's department are continuing their investigations into the cases.

The two are also implicated in a breaking, entering and larceny which occurred at the Fratz Store last week. The building was watched at night since that larceny, resulting in the arrests this week. Value of items taken last week was set at $2,000.

Jerry Cline, 25, Oak Park, was lodged in the county jail February 8 on charges of larceny brought by a former landlord, C. C. Mason, of Mt. Lake Park. Cline was released on his own recognizance pending a hearing.

On February 6, William Wagner, West Salem, Illinois, was traveling on Route 219 north of Oakland, near Foster Road, when his 1977 Blazer was pelted with snowballs. One of the missiles contained a rock which broke the windshield in his vehicle. Value of the broken windshield was set at $140.

Elected President Of State Assoc.

The longest serving executive director of a Community Action agency in the East, G. Bradford Rinard, of Oakland, has been elected president of the Maryland Community Action Directors Association. Rinard who has been executive director of Garrett County Community Action Committee Inc. since its inception in 1965, was chosen at a recent meeting at the Chesapeake Inn in Queen Anne's County.

Rinard's election came just two days before Charles Ross, local CAC board president, assumed the top post in the Mid-Atlantic Community Action Program Directors Association in Wilmington, Delaware. It is the first time ever that two men from the same organization have held the top posts on a regional and state level.

Rinard will guide the association comprised of executive directors and board presidents of 13 different agencies in the state. Rinard was formerly vice president of the Mid-Atlantic group covering a five state area, Maryland, Delaware, Virginia, Pennsylvania, and West Virginia.

Rinard is serving as a member of the Region III Community Services Administration advisory council and of the National Legislative Forum Committee for rural housing and economic development.

Letters To Editor

Dear Sir:

This letter is in reply to your editorial, dated 2/3/77, regarding the proposed legislation exempting Garrett County school personnel and students from the State law requiring 180 days of school attendance.

As the legislation now stands, it would eliminate an amount of time that children who attend school normally use for learning, socializing and individual growth without providing an alternative plan; such as alternate Saturday attendance, a mini-semester during the month of July, non-structured courses/learning situations, etc. I believe that my children, as well as most of the students in the county, will be educationally handicapped if a reasonable alternative is not designed and put into effect, providing them with additional opportunities to reinforce their basic learning concepts and stimulating their physical, emotional and mental growth.

Until school resumes on an uninterrupted basis, I suggest that teachers and administrative personnel contact the parents of each student to learn what their feelings are about the matter and what they would like to see planned, if anything.

There are many individuals like myself who place a high value on education and learning. There are some Garrett County residents who do not share that value but for those who do, I would ask our legislators, administrators, school personnel and teachers to please hear our concerns on this matter and produce wise decisions which reflect and demonstrate intelligence, sensitivity and responsibility in caring for and educating our children.

Any consideration given to these obvious needs, will sincerely be appreciated.

Charlotte Sabino Griffith

Sir:

I would like to express my view on the bill Del. DeCorsey Bolden is introducing concerning waiving the 186 day school year.

As of now my children have missed almost a month of school due to the weather. I agree that they should not have to attend school all summer; as they would not learn much for wanting to be outside. But a lot of learning has been missed too! A lot of material, which should have been taught and learned will be lost if this bill is passed as it stands.

I believe it would be in the all around best interest of the children to require they go till June 30th (but no longer) if need be; as hot summer weather in this county usually does not arrive here till July.

As far as children being needed to help on farms, what will the farmers do, if like some states, which are considering this, our children are required to attend school in summer with a winter vacation instead?

This if passed like it is makes it too easy for road officials to close school at the expense of our children's education.

Sincerely,
Norma Tasker,
Rt. 5, Box 172
Oakland, Md.
21550

P.S. If this should pass then teachers should be paid on a day to day basis instead of salary.

Dear Sir:

After reading the letters to the editor for Feb. 3, 1977, I find it hard to decide what I am most outraged about.

First, we have a letter from Dr. Pope, twice as long as is The Republican's policy to print, supporting the poisoning of community water systems. He neatly sidestepped the fact that the recommended dosages were exceeded, by not even mentioning it.

Second, we find a letter that takes the part of "Pot Heads" as a victimless crime. There are no victimless crimes. The whole of society is the victim.

Third, we have a letter stomping the Almighty and His wisdom. What kind of judgment can we expect?

And fourth, but not least, we find a letter about the "Home Wrecker Agency". Mr. Savage's case is not the only one with similar circumstances. Some cases deserve Judge Thayer's action, but the across-the-board fear tactics being used are not right. I wonder what happened to Women's Lib? This sounds like discrimination against the men.

Dear Editor:

On Monday, February 7th, we held a very successful fund raiser to support our band. The fund raiser, held at Southern High, was to provide money to send the Highlander Band to the Festival of States competition, where they will be our State's official representative.

The success of this affair was, however, marred by an unfortunate incident. The incident was the result of a misunderstanding through poor communication.

We regret that the incident occurred and hope that everyone involved will remember that each of us was volunteering our time for a good cause — our teenagers and our community.

Harold Trickett, Pres.
Southern High Band Boosters

Dear Editor:

Midway through participating in and watching the various events put on by the Southern High Band Boosters held Monday evening at the Southern gym, I overheard a group of persons commenting that several members of the Southern Garrett Rescue Squad had been charged admission. Frankly, I found it difficult to believe but after inquiring in the lobby I found it to be true. I got no boost at all when I left the games.

for the headquarters, who proved of value in taking calls and determining what types of help were required by some of the nearly-frantic people who called the office.

Although the situation has relaxed somewhat, Mr. Comp said, a major problem remains with blocked lanes and driveways. These continue to keep the fire situation "very serious", as fire trucks would still be unable to travel drifted roadways to fight the fire. Another winter storm would put conditions right back where they were last weekend, agreed both Mr. Comp and the National Guard public information officer.

Two helicopter rescues were accomplished with the National Guard helicopter which was assigned to the Armory in Oakland. Both calls were answered Monday night.

Two members of the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad, Morgan France, a Cardiac Rescue Technician, and Roslyn Rodeheaver, an Emergency Medical Technician, along with Capt. Ken Metheny of the National Guard, joined the helicopter crew to rescue Norma Friend, O'Haver Road, who was having difficulties with internal bleeding.

Later, Floyd Baker of the Northern Rescue Squad called Civil Defense to ask help in taking a heart patient to the hospital from a remote New Germany area. Clarence Clark, 70, was carried on a stretcher by squad and crew members to the hovering helicopter which had only five minutes of fuel left by the time the rescue was completed. The helicopter was left in the vicinity of the Twin Churches Road, where the Northern Rescue ambulance was waiting to transport the patient to the hospital. Fuel was trucked in from Cumberland the following morning and the chopper then returned to the Armory.

Crew members include Major Clarence Calhoun, Bel Air; co-pilot Michael Seeger, and Sgt. Bill Brown, crew chief.

National Guardsmen in charge of the digging-out operations included Col. Bernard Feingold, Lt. Col. Herbert Grymes, and Major General Edwin Warfield III.

Maj. Calhoun had visited this county late last week and took several video tapes of weather conditions to show guardsmen assigned here from the eastern part of the state, so these men would know what types of weather conditions to expect.

system through the ground connection and cause potentially serious problems.

"We have learned from neighboring utilities of several cases of fires as well as damage to service entrances, wiring, and electric appliances in homes caused by welding equipment being used to thaw pipes," Bohn added.

"Also, there is the possibility of causing damage to the pipes themselves, especially lead pipes which cannot withstand the temperatures generated to thaw frozen water," said Bohn. He also cautioned that thawing pipes with an electrical current cannot successfully be done if any of the water system contains plastic or other non-conducting pipe.

For these reasons, Bohn stressed that any such efforts should be undertaken only by those who are thoroughly familiar with all aspects of the equipment, plumbing and wiring systems.

Senior Citizens Center Opens On Schedule Monday

The Oakland Senior Citizens Center at the former Center Street Elementary school opened Monday on schedule. The number of those visiting the center was a little less than hoped, due to adverse weather conditions.

This coming Tuesday, February 15, at 1:30, Mrs. Debbie Marrero, who is in charge of arts and crafts, will demonstrate the art of making jewelry and requests that those interested bring a box of paper clips and one-half yard of plain contact paper. The contact paper should be cut in 1-inch squares, with the backing still in place.

On Wednesday, the film will be "The Hound That Thought He Was A Raccoon," which will also begin at 1:30. Thursday is fun and games day and groups are welcome to make up their own tables. Bingo is planned for Friday, February 18.

having a desperate time on $44,500 a year, how do you suppose the rest of us folks are even surviving. The average income of Garrett County families is roughly $8,000, less than 1/5 your present income, and $5,000 lower than the raise you are seeking! A pay raise for you will ultimatley lead to higher taxes for the taxpayers who can barely keep up with the bills now. The tough winter, rising unemployment and higher taxes make things more and more difficult every month. We, Mr. Long, the low and middle income families, are the desperate ones!

Many government officials feel these huge pay raises are justified, saying they must put in a lot of tough hours and contend with extreme pressure. Thousands of individuals put in many tough hours a week and may have to contend with more pressure than any congressman in the country, all for at far smaller salaries and most without travel pay and free meals.

Congressmen Newton Steers, Robert Bouman, Marjorie Holt, Barbara Mikulsli, Gladys Spellman and, Garrett County's friend, Goodloe Byron, are opposed to pay raise. This newspaper thanks you.

Senators Mathias and Sarbanes and Congressman Long, your future votes may be in real jeopardy.

DISTANT PLANETS

Pluto, Neptune and Uranus are not easily visible to the unaided eye. Pluto, the most distant known planet is among the stars of Virgo. This planet is a difficult target in moderate-sized amateur telescopes. Neptune appears as a bluish-green disk in a telescope. It is among the stars of Ophiuchus, just north of Scorpius. Uranus can be seen under a clear dark sky with the unaided eye, if one has good eyesight. Through a telescope it is a greenish disk. This planet is among the stars of Libra.

The moon will pass through its Last Quarter Phase at 11:07 this evening. Moonset varies from 10:56 a.m. today to 4:42 p.m. next Wednesday. A waning crescent will be viewed all week.

Venus, Jupiter and Saturn are the visible planets. Venus sets about four hours after the sun. It is in the constellation, Pisces. Jupiter, against the background of Taurus, sets about midnight. Saturn with the stars of Cancer, rises as the sun sets.

Fourteen minutes more daylight will be available Wednesday. Sunrise was at 7:17 a.m. this morning. Sunset will be ten hours thirty-one minutes later. Wednesday the sun rises ten hours forty-five minutes before it sets at 5:54 p.m.

I NEVER KNEW HOW

I WOULD PROVIDE FOR MY RETIREMENT UNTIL I STARTED MY I.R.A.!

Now, I'm saving for the future with money I used to pay in Federal and State* Income Taxes.

If you are not now covered by any type of a pension or profit-sharing plan, you should consider providing for your retirement years with an Individual Retirement Account.

If you had started an I.R.A. last year you would be allowed another deduction on your 1976 tax return. The law allows you to deduct up to 15% of your taxable income (not to exceed $1,500 or $1,750 where there is a non-working spouse who will benefit).

Why not consider opening an I.R.A. at our bank? Maybe you can use your tax refund this year to make your first contribution. Remember that we pay a good rate of return and your I.R.A. interest earnings are tax-sheltered too.

DISCUSS OUR I.R.A.'s WITH ANY OF OUR OFFICERS OR BRANCH MANAGERS TODAY.

*Maryland allows I.R.A. deductions as reported on Federal Returns.

Utilities Must Notify Customer Of Disconnection

Because of the abnormally cold weather conditions during the recent months, the Public Service Commission of Maryland has directed each gas and electric utility subject to its jurisdiction personally to notify the occupant of a residence prior to disconnecting service for non-payment of a bill.

This directive was occasioned by the Commission's concern over the possibility of unintended consequences resulting from utility disconnections to persons such as the elderly, the infirm, the aged, the sick, the blind, persons dependent upon life support systems, or persons otherwise incapable of handling their own affairs should their service be disconnected at a time when bitterly cold weather exists or has been forecasted.

If service is disconnected, each gas and electric utility effecting such denial of service must, by affidavit of a responsible acent of the utility, acknowledge that personal notice was given to the occupant of the residence and affirm that the utility has taken proper measures to avoid endangering life, health or property, particularly to those types of persons previously mentioned, in appiying disconnect procedures during this emergency period.

Marylanders Are Now Eligible For Disaster Tax Relief

State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein announced recently that Marylanders who are able to declare disaster losses on their 1976 Federal income tax returns are also eligible to declare those same losses on their Maryland state income tax returns.

Seventeen of Maryland's twenty-four political subdivisions were declared disaster areas by President Carter, enabling residents of those areas to declare the property losses on their 1976 Federal and State income tax returns, rather than waiting to claim a loss on their 1977 tax return.

"Any Maryland income taxpayer eligible to claim a disaster loss who has already filed a State income tax return may file an amended return for 1976 and claim the loss. Instructions for filing an amended Maryland income tax return may be found on page 16 of the instructions in the Maryland tax packet. Individuals may avoid delay of any refund already in progress by waiting for it to arrive before filing an amended return," Mr. Goldstein said.

In addition, farmers and watermen who did not make their fourth quarter estimated tax payment due January 17, 1977 can still avoid any late payment interest or penalty by filing their 1976 State income tax return by March 1, 1977 and paying the total tax at that time.

"It is advisable to print the word 'disaster' at the top of your Maryland income tax return, if you are claiming a disaster loss," Mr. Goldstein said.

The areas declared disasters by President Carter include Anne Arundel, Baltimore, Calvert, Caroline, Cecil, Charles, Dorchester, Harford, Kent, Queen Anne's, Somerset, St. Mary's, Talbot, Wicomico, and Worcester Counties, Baltimore City, and Garrett.

Meeting Cancelled

The American Association of Retired Persons meeting scheduled for Wednesday, February 16, in the Oakland Fire Hall has been cancelled due to inclement weather, it was announced by Robert E. Lee, President.

The next meeting will be Wednesday, March 16, weather conditions permitting.

Spirits Revenue Checks Mailed

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein announced today that checks totaling $1,743,955 are being mailed to Baltimore City and Maryland's twenty-three counties, representing the local share of distilled spirits tax revenue collected during the months of October, November, and December 1976. "This distribution, for the second quarter of Fiscal Year 1977, is 1.23 percent larger than the amount returned to the subdivisions for the same quarter of Fiscal Year 1976," Mr. Goldstein said. The largest check for $375,204 was sent to Baltimore City; followed by Prince George's County with $297,712.50; Baltimore County, $292,095.50; Cecil County, $164,240.50; Montgomery County, $143,141.00; and Anne Arundel County, $136,570.00. Garrett County received $5,270.00.

Each political subdivision receives $.50 for each gallon of distilled spirits delivered to licensed retailers within its boundaries.

The $3,007,441 distributed for the first half of Fiscal Year 1977 reflects a growth of .62 percent over the comparable period of Fiscal Year 1976. Worcester County has received $32,412.00 to date this fiscal year, a growth of 20.56 percent over the first half of Fiscal Year 1976. Distribution to Kent County has risen 12.76 percent and Wicomico County has received 11.68 percent more than it did for the first six months of Fiscal Year 1976.

Gary Yoder Carves A Name For Himself

PROUD AS A PEACOCK, but holding a Heron, is Gary Yoder of Grantsville. This fine example of workmanship is typical of his collection of wildfowl creations.

Gary Yoder is whittling out a name for himself in creating superb wildfowl objects in his workshop. Having travelled to various state meets as well as ones in New York, he is rapidly gaining recognition for his talent in woodcarvings.

Seven years ago, Gary became interested in the fine art of woodcarving and first experienced a feel for the craft when he carved out a couple of pieces of chess figures. He keeps them among the many award-winning objects as a kind of reflection of his current achievements in capturing awards in and out of state exhibits.

Armed with only a few lessons from the Penn Alps Shop in Grantsville, Gary has become a master at wildfowl creations that seem to make the eye wonder as to whether or not a taxidermist has created it instead.

Gary graduated from Northern High School in Accident last year and plans to continue his teaching of basic woodcarving in the Penn Alps Shop. He has had a program there in the center during the summers and will again be on hand when the calendar says it's summer.

The annual and very competitive Salisbury World Championship Woodcarving Meet is scheduled for April 23 and 24 this year and Gary is hoping to place in the event. Currently he is involved in adding the finishing touches to two wood displays he will enter in the Spring meet. One is a handsome blue heron Gary is shown holding in the photograph. The other entry is a mounted pair of cardinals on a small tree branch for which Gary has been offered a nice sum of money.

When asked what kind of wood he preferred to work with, he responded with, "Basswood. It is the softest and has very little grain. However, I do use other types of wood such as, cherry, walnut and infrequently, pine."

Besides his accomplishments in woodcarving, he also spends a great deal of time pencil sketching, oil and water coloring and reading.

Most of his spare time is used in research of which he relies on an assortment of national magazines to choose his next subject matter. Gary commented that, "approximately forty hours a week are needed in researching to adequately attack a new project."

"This year," he went on, "will be no exception as the competition is growing increasingly more difficult as thirty eight states will be represented in the Maryland exhibit."

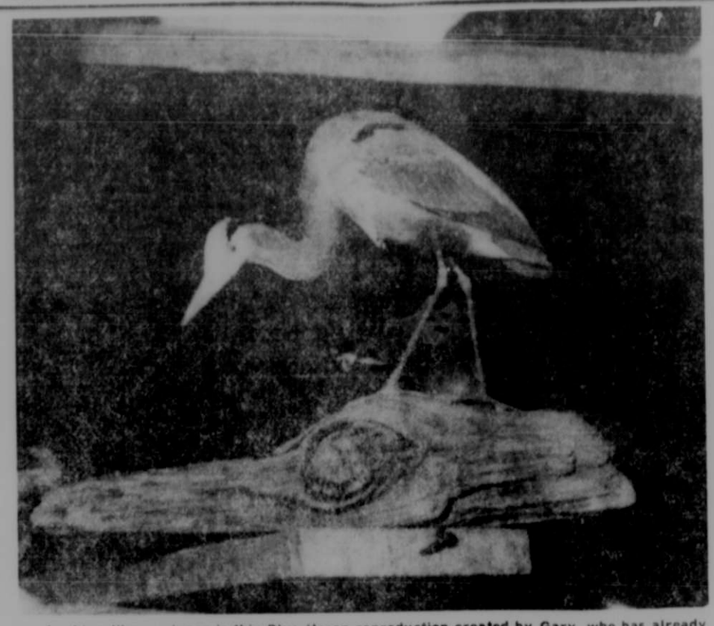

At Salisbury he has entered many open competitive meets and has enjoyed a consistent record of winning either first or second place in his category. Noticeably evident on his workshop walls are blue, red and yellow ribbons and even more noticeable is his collection of the blue ones.

Looking ahead at the grand prize of ten thousand dollars offered this year in the meet, one need only glance at his fine workmanship to realize his potential in placing at the top.

Another important exhibit is scheduled later in the spring on Long Island, New York. His brother, Dwayne will accompany him on the venture. Gary commented, "I certainly wouldn't want to be a judge at the exposition. Some of the entrants have really created some outstanding pieces of work as is depicted in the magazines on my workbench."

The pictures point out some of his competition to be viewed at both meets but if his wall of blue is any indication, he need only be there with bird in hand to continue the winning streak.

—Stoney

Looking like a winner is this Blue Heron reproduction created by Gary, who has already placed first and second in state competition in his age category.

This Blue Heron is Gary's current work which he plans to exhibit at the Salisbury World Championship Wildfowl Competition in March. Also on display will be his pair of cardinals which he will feature at Salisbury and at an exhibit being held in New York later in the spring.

Six Youths Found To Be Delinquent

Judge Fred A. Thayer heard 7 juvenile cases yesterday. Six were found to be delinquent and one was dismissed.

Two youths, 16 years old and another 17 were committed to the Maryland Training School for Boys. One male 12 years old, one 14 and another 15, were placed on probation for an indefinite period. The case of a male 15 years old was dismissed. He had been charged with being delinquent.

Officials, Sportsmen Discuss Antlerless Deer Season In '78

More than 40 sportsmen and wildlife officials of the state Department of Natural Resources met last Wednesday at Barton's African Trophy Room on U. S. Route 220 to discuss a proposed limited season on antlerless deer in Western Maryland.

Robert Miller, director of the forest wildlife program for the Wildlife Administration, showed slides and also gave a report on the analysis of deer kills in Maryland for the last five years.

Mr. Miller pointed out that the last antlerless season in the three western Maryland counties was in the fall on 1967. At that time the harvest of antlerless deer was too high.

The average weight of buck deer killed in the last five years has declined and a season on antlerless deer was recommended for fall 1978. Most sportsmen at the meeting voiced opposition to the antlerless season, however.

Meanwhile, an aerial survey in a state police helicopter was made over Garrett County Wednesday to check the deer herds and how they are faring in the deep snows.

Edward Golden, district wildlife manager for Garrett county with headquarters at the Mt. Nebo office, made the flight with other wildlife personnel.

A total of 104 deer was spotted in bottom lands among hemlock forest which they use as cover. The deer feed on rhododendron in these areas if other food is not available. The deer seemed in generally good condition. Another check will be made by wildlife personnel by way of snowmobiles.

Wild turkeys spotted by the aerial survey also seemed in good condition.

South Dakota

Capital, Pierre; Governor, Richard F. Kneip, Democrat; flower, American pasqueflower; bird, ring neck pheasant; tree, Black Hills spruce; song, "Hail, South Dakota;" entered union, November 2, 1889, 40th state; motto, Under God People Rule; nickname, The "Coyote State" or "Sunshine State;" largest city, Sioux Falls.

South Dakota is a rectangle split down the middle by the Missouri River and a chain of huge lakes formed behind dams on the river. In the far west are the Black Hills with Harney Peak 7,242 feet, the highest peak east of the Rockies. The state has 8,400 square miles of Indian Reservation. Most of the nearly 30,000 Indians in the state are Sioux.

Indians and buffalo roamed the land for hundreds of years. The Verendrye Brothers who claimed the land for France in 1743 were the first known white men. French fur traders coming up the Missouri River settled here before the explorations of Lewis and Clark in 1804 and 1805. It was not until 1861 that the Dakota territory was created. Gold discovered in the Black Hills in 1875 brought a rush of adventurers. Homestake Mine, still leads in U. S. gold production. The mine is the largest gold mine operating in the Western Hemisphere and accounted for 35 million dollars income in 1974.

The "Great Lakes of South Dakota" are four reservoirs created behind Oahe, Big Bend, Fort Randall, and Gavins Point Dams. The Congress passed this basin project in 1944.

The history of South Dakota reads like an adventure story. Included are such colorful names as Calamity Jane, George A. Custer, Sitting Bull, Preacher Smith and Wild Bill Hickok. While playing cards Wild Bill Hickok was shot in the back by a Jack McCall. He was buried in Deadwood. Sitting Bull, the great Sioux leader, was killed near Little Eagle in 1890 by Indian Police who came to arrest him. He is also buried in Deadwoods Boot Hill Cemetery.

Mount Rushmore, in the Black Hills has an altitude of 6,200 feet. Sculptured on its granite face are the heads of four presidents, Washington, Jefferson, Lincoln, and Theodore Roosevelt. These busts by Gutzon Borglum are proportionate to men 465 feet tall. Heads are 60 feet high. Rushmore is visited by about 2 million persons annually. It is sometimes called the "Shrine of Democracy." He began this sculpture in 1927 on February 27, 1973 militant members of the American Indian Movement took over the Pine Ridge Reservation Village of Wounded Knee. The militants held the village for 71 days. The 250 Indians involved finally left the village after the Federal government promised to look into charges of discrimination on reservation by both Indian and government leaders.

The worst drought and grasshopper plague in history of the state began in 1930. The drought lasted 10 years. It was accompanied by great dust storms called black blizzards.

About nine-tenths of the state is covered by farms and ranches. More South Dakotians work in agriculture than in any other occupation. Livestock and livestock products provide three fourths of total income in the state. The state usually ranks first in U.S. in size of its rye crop, and high in spring wheat, flaxseed, oats and barley. In 1974 the state ranked 5th in sheep, 8th in cattle and 10th in hogs. Mining and lumbering are large natural resource industries. Forests cover 1,760,000 acres or 3% of the state.

Today missile sites dot the western part of the state. They are directed from Ellsworth Air Force Base near Rapid City.

More than 5 million tourists visit South Dakota yearly. Most of them tour famous Black Hills. Great numbers of hunters hoot many kinds of game birds and animals each autumn. White tailed deer live in all parts of the state. Antelope roam the land west of the Missouri River. Bighorn sheep, elk, and Rocky Mountain goat live in Black Hills. About 2,000 buffaloe, the nations largest herd, roam Custer State Park in the Black Hills.

Many South Dakota communities stage pioneer celebrations, rodeos, stagecoach races and fairs. The famous Black Hills Passion Play is staged at Spearfish annually.

Badlands National Monument is a desolate area in southwestern South Dakota, they are weirdly beautiful. Water and wind have worn away the land, leaving deep ravines, steep ridges, and colorful cliffs. One of the states most interesting lakes is Medicine Lake near Florence in Codington County. The lake has a salt water content of more than 4%. Sea water has 3½ percent. its water was once believed to have medicinal qualities.

The state does not tax personal or corporate incomes. In 1970 a new 4½ million jet airport opened in Sioux Falls. The geographic center of U.S. is in South Dakota, 17 miles west of Castle Rock.

Famous South Dakotians include Sakajawea, Sitting Bull, Crazy Horse, Calamity Jane, Gutzon Borglum and Dr. Ernest O. Lawrence.

Next state in this series is Tennessee.

Donna Shaffer Shows One More Way To Write Out Ol' Man Winter

Donna Lee Shaffer, daughter of Elliott Shaffer, Loch Lynn, prefers jade-green meadows to snow filled valleys. To prove this point, simply travel into a few verses she has written over the last few years and allow the mind to thaw a bit. Some ski, some play, some simply watch the clock tick away. Prose is one avenue of diversion Donna prefers.

Donna is one of many on the mountaintop who enjoys prose as an outlet of creativity as this summary of words illustrates:

Thoughts
A winter blizzard
Outside my house,
Snow, drifting deep,
Does not know
That my mind
Is running
In jade-green meadows.

Note the optimism in the lines found in the composition, Thoughts. It is a welcome relief to see them in print. Sometimes we fail in our daily appraisals of the twenty-four hour day and rather point out only the drab, tedium of the ever constant tick-tock on the wall.

Donna chooses prose as opposed to the rhyming kind of poem because, "I find it difficult to rhyme simply for rhyme's sake. And, quite often a thought is lost while waiting for the magic word to emerge."

Miss Shaffer's first published poem was, "Autumn Glory." It appeared in the Poetry International '71 Publication and has since found its way into other publishings.

Another example of her writing is of a winter evening, a topic often selected by poets. However, Donna has chosen a brief and interesting assemblage of words to capture a full picture.

A Winter Evening
A flaming red sunset
Against the sparkling white snow
Silhouettes
Stark, bare branches
Against the sky.
Evening is here.

After a successful entry in the '71 Poetry International Event, her work was published by Regency of London and more locally in the Dominion News of Morgantown.

Miss Shaffer has many hobbies and interests but her favorite is traveling. For the past several years she has collected postcards from all over the world. "Friends often send me postmarks from tiny countries that are seldom even heard of," she continued. "I suppose I have postcards from all of the fifty states and quite a number from Canada, Africa, England and the orient."

Another favorite pastime is her interest in antiques. But, she is quick to admit she is still a novice.

When we returned to prose Donna explained that she will eventually publish a book of her favorite verses. And, if her pages are filled with equal achievement as are the ones offered at this time, the verses found in "Thoughts", will help to ease a lingering winter.

Kitzmiller VFD Has Flue Fire Sunday

Members of the Kitzmiller Volunteer fire company were called to a flue fire at 1:55 p.m. Sunday at the home of Mrs. Hazel Shore. Her home is located about three miles west of Kitzmiller, off North Hill Road.

The company responded with a pumper and equipment truck, and doused the fire with minimal damage. Five men and the tanker were on standby at the station in case additional help was needed.

The firemen were routed to the Shore home by way of a driveway next door, on the property of J. C. Myers, as the Shore driveway was blocked by snow.

Mathias Proposes Fuel Stamp Aid

Senator Charles McC. Mathias, Jr. (R-Md.) today said that he would introduce legislation to establish a national fuel stamp program that will help persons on limited or fixed incomes to obtain home heating fuel. At the same time, Mathias called on President Carter to cooperate in speeding this action, saying, "In the rush to assure sufficient fuel to save lives and property, we may be overlooking a related hardship. That fuel which is available costs so much that some families may have to sacrifice food for fuel. This situation strikes most severely those that are least able to afford both the price of the fuel and the loss of the nutrition."

Mathias said a fuel stamp program could operate like the food stamp program already in effect. It could use existing food stamp machinery to help the elderly and other persons on limited or fixed incomes to obtain the fuel they need to stay warm enough to keep alive and healthy.

The food stamp program works through local welfare offices, but the Maryland Senator said the fuel stamp program should also include persons on fixed incomes — those on Social Security, retired military or civil servants, or beneficiaries of other pension programs.

Senator Mathias noted that many states are facing emergency conditions, including Maryland, and said, "I know President Carter will share my concern. I introduced this idea in 1974, and the FEA has had plenty of time to study and consider it. Now, we're ready for action."

Lakers Pick Up Three Wins

The Garrett Lakers experienced another highly successful week, picking up three wins and no losses.

The Lakers traveled to the eastern shore last Saturday and defeated the Chesapeake Skip-Jacks in a JUCO conference contest, 57-52.

This was the second win over Chesapeake this season, but it was not as easy as the first game last month which ended 73-47.

The Skip-Jacks were down by nine at the half but cut that lead to three early in the third period with the use of an effective full court press. Coach Paul Holzshu called time and instructed his team to pick up the tempo, which they did.

Bill McGarvey led Garrett's scoring with 13 and Dave McPherson added 10 points.

Walton Burke had 19 tallies for the losers with Rick Patterson chipping in 13.

The win stopped a three-game losing streak for the Lakers and upped their record to 11-6.

Garrett had a 23-22 edge from the floor and converted 11 of 18 from the foul line compared to eight-for-eight for Chesapeake.

The Lakers moved on to Beaver Community College Monday and again walked away with a victory, 71-64.

The win came about on an outstanding comeback effort for the Lakers who were down by as many as 16 in the second half. With slightly over four and a half minutes remaining, the Lakers went ahead for good. As Beaver attempted to take possession, they fouled and Garrett took full advantage of the free throws which meant the difference.

Garrett was outshot from the floor, 26-23, but hit 25 of 34 from the line compared to a 12 for 23 effort for Beaver.

John Guadagnino was high man for the Lakers, hitting 17 points. Three other teammates were also in double figures. Bill McGarvey had 13 and Bill McPherson and Tom Comiskey each hit 12.

Ben Hogan led all scorers for Beaver, sinking 28 points.

Garrett's fine play continued last night as they dumped Cecil Community, 80-63, at Cecil, in a Maryland JUCO contest.

The Lakers led by only three at the half, 37-34, but came out in the third stanza and hit four quick buckets. Any hopes for a Cecil comeback were dashed.

Tom Panther paced Garrett with 14 points and four other Lakers reached double figures.

Dave McPherson, Bill McGarvey and Tom Comiskey all finished with 12 points and John Guadagnino chipped in ten.

Gary Brown led the way for Cecil with 15, followed by Derrick Hammick with 14. Steve Oliver and Jim Parker each had ten.

Garrett's record is now 13-5 overall, with a 7-4 JUCO mark.

Rams Fall To Petersburg, 68-57

Gary Eversole's outstanding play in the fourth quarter proved to be too much for the Southern High Rams Tuesday evening, as they fell to host Petersburg, 68-57. Eversole scored all but two of his total 18 points in the final eight minutes of the contest on 12 free throws and two buckets.

The areas second leading scorer, Ram center Ken Niner, paced all scorers with 27 tallies while teammates Fred Griffith and Steve Liller each netted 12 in the losing effort.

The Vikings' six-point halftime lead dropped to only a two-point lead at the end of the third stanza, 38-36. However costly mistakes and misfires on the part of the Rams in the most important quarter proved to be fatal.

Petersburg's Terry Mayle shared scoring honors with Eversole by hitting 18 tallies also. Scott Gossard added 16 and Ott Mongold chipped in ten points.

Southern lost the game at the foul line as they matched goals with the Vikings, both teams hitting 26 from the floor. Petersburg converted 16 of 20 attempts compared to a five-for-eight effort by the Rams.

The loss dropped Southern's season record to 8-7. The Rams face another tough PVC test this Friday night at home against Bishop Walsh, whose record stands at 16-2.

Donna Ringer Advances In Hoop Competition

Donna Ringer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ringer of Accident, won first place in the Tri-State Elks Free Throw Hoop shooting Contest held last Saturday at the Naval Academy in Annapolis. She took the honor in the age 12-13 girls' competition.

Jim Sisler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Sisler of Friendsville, took second runner-up honors in the 10-11 boys' group.

Both youngsters qualified for the event after finishing first in the Western District finals competition on Sunday, January 23 at Frederick Community College.

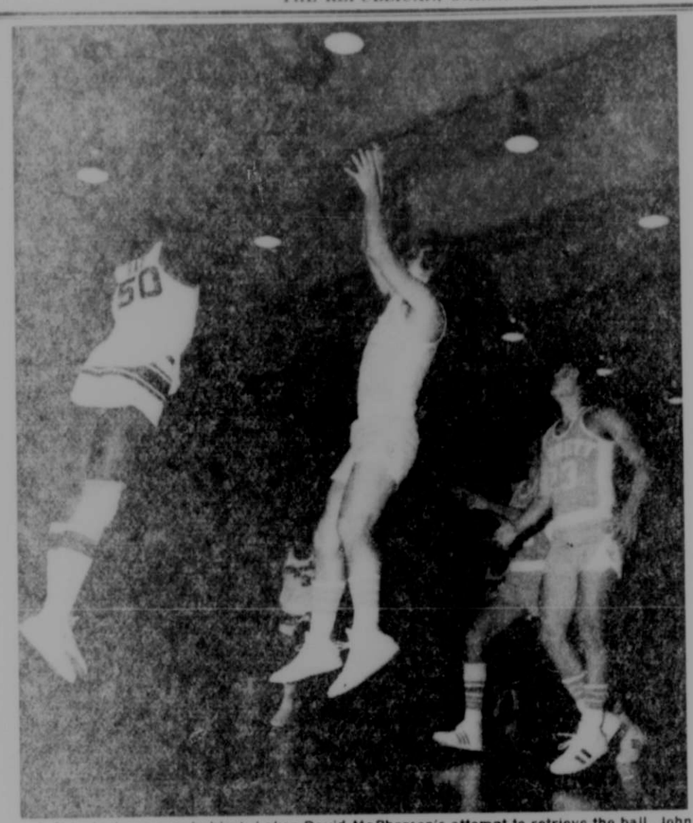

The Tri-State finals included contestants from all over Maryland, Delaware and Washington, D. C.

Donna will travel to Morgantown this Saturday to compete in the Eastern Regional division and, should she come out on top again, she will go to Kansas City in March for the National Finals competition.

Donna and Jim are being sponsored by local Elks Lodge #2481, as were all other youth who competed in the local free throw contest on January 15.

To Sponsor Dance

The Northern Jr. High School Cheerleaders are sponsoring a Sadie Hawkins Dance on Feb. 11, immediately following the Northern-Turkey Foot Basketball game being held in the Northern gymnasium. Admission is 50 cents single, 75 cents per couple. Terry King, of WMSG, will provide the music for the evening in the school cafeteria. The dance will continue until eleven-thirty p.m.

A Skip Jack goes up to block Laker David McPherson's attempt to retrieve the ball. John Guadagnino, No. 23, closes in for support. The Lakers stayed with it to down the Chesapeake crew, 57-52, for a conference victory.

Tom Panther, No. 31, is not impressed with a "Globetrotter" tactic during a Skip-Jack, Laker game. Bill McGarvey, No. 43, however, keeps his eye on the maneuver.

Huskies Win One Game, Lose Two

Northern High School's season record dropped to a disappointing 4-9 last Thursday afternoon as they lost a heartbreaker in overtime to Turkeyfoot on the winner's floor, 74-73.

The contest was nearly even all the way, with the Huskies leading by one at the end of the first period, 17-16, and at the half, 31-29. Turkeyfoot pulled ahead in the third stanza and led 47-43 going into the final period. Northern fought back in the fourth, knotting the score at 64-64 as the buzzer sounded.

Turkeyfoot outscored the Huskies by a 10-9 margin in the overtime period.

Rod Youmans and Tony Doerr shared high game honors for Northern, each netting 21 points. Donnie Paugh and Alan Skidmore added 13 and 12 tallies respectively. Rick Parnell led the winners' scoring with 26 points.

Both teams netted 31 field goals, but Turkeyfoot picked up one more than the Huskies at the foul line, hitting 12 of 25 free throw attempts compared to 11 of 18 for Northern.

The Huskies came roaring back Friday night, however, and stopped Oldtown, 70-56, on the West Virginia floor.

Rodney Youmans and Tony Doerr combined for 43 points, netting 22 and 21, respectively, in the contest which improved the Huskies record to 5-9.

Northern held a three-point lead at the end of the first period, but stretched that lead to 36-27 at intermission. The Huskies were ahead 56-39 at the close of the third stanza.

Alan Skidmore added 13 tallies for the winners while Greg Robinson was high man for Oldtown with 12 points, followed by Greg Keister with 11.

Northern outshot Oldtown from the floor, hitting 30 field goals compared to 24 for the losers. The Huskies connected on 10 of 29 free throw attempts to Oldtown's 8 of 22.

The Northern Jayvees fell to the Oldtown Jayvees in the opener, 50-40.

Northern's success at Oldtown did not go with them last night as they traveled to Bruceton Mills and were defeated, 84-80.

Rod Youmans played a fantastic game, netting 29 points and three other Huskies reached double figures, but it was not enough.

Bruceton led at all three quarters by scores of 20-17, 37-35 and 63-55. Northern stayed within an armslength throughout, but never managed to go ahead.

Tony Doerr, one of the area's leading scorers, hit for 21 tallies followed by Alan Skidmore with 12 and Donnie Paugh who had ten.

George Hileman paced Bruceton with 25 markers.

Northern, whose season record now stands at 5-10, will go back into action Friday night, hosting Turkeyfoot.

Southern Garrett Athletic Assoc. Adopts By-Laws

The recently formed Southern Garrett County Athletic Association met Wednesday evening at 7:30 p.m., at the community room located in the First National Bank building, Oakland.

Opening the session was the president, Fred Colaw, who threw open a discussion from the floor.

Approximately thirty members were present for the meeting and all adopted a set of by-laws that were read by Ron Stemple, secretary pro-tem, for the club.

A general discussion followed on, "What the club can do for you." It was during this period that Helen Rostosky spoke on behalf of her girls' j.v. and varsity teams, of which she stated there was no allotment of funds for the team's support. Helen commented that, "All our support comes from selling candy and sponsoring sock-hop dances, unlike the boys' teams which are automatically funded."

A motion was discussed and approved to include students into the association membership. The dues are, $5.00 for adults and $3.00 for those under the age of eighteen.

The club members discussed various ways to improve sports in general of which included a better drainage for the baseball field, a brand new track and field area and overall improved sports equipment for wrestling, basketball, girl's sports and a host of other sports activities, ranging from Baseball, Volleyball, and Soccer.

The next regular meeting will be held on March 9 and members will be advised of the meeting place in advance.

Skiers Reminded Of Feb. 12 Race

Skiers still may enter the "family fun" cross country ski race being sponsored by the Department of Natural Resources on February 12.

"Entries will be accepted until noon on race day," said Harry W. Hunter, DNR's chief of Recreation and Leisure Services, "but it is desirable to pre-register. Those who pre-register assure themselves a spot in the race while those who haven't signed up by race day possibly might not be able to enter because the field is limited to 250 people."

For registration forms and further information, skiers should write: X-Ski, Office of Recreation and Leisure Services, Tawes State Office Building, Annapolis, Maryland 21401.

The race, 7.5 kilometers over relatively easy terrain, will begin at 1 p.m. with prizes going to winners in several categories including fastest overall, children, juniors, adults and seniors.

The race will start in New Germany State Park in Garrett County and wind over Meadow Mountain in Savage River State Forest.

Mr. Hunter warned skiers to dress for the weather remembering that Western Maryland mountain temperatures can be significantly lower than in more eastern sections.

Women Lakers Meet Chesapeake In JUCO Contest, Lose 72-31

Taking a long trip to Wye Mills, located near the Eastern Shore, with a woman's basketball squad proved to be both interesting and informative. The almost brand-new team, coached by Lisa Chaney, braved what turned out to be a sixteen hour venture to lose 72-31, to an experienced Chesapeake crew.

Interesting was the fact that most of the team members were new to the court game and informative was the discovery that some had not even chosen basketball as their elective.

According to Chaney, "Recruiting is the name of this game. We simply need to beef up our squad with experienced players. Some of our girls have only met recently."

When the Lakers left the McHenry campus before noon Saturday, blowing winds had reduced visibility to a near-zero level. Upon arrival at the campus that morning, Chaney remarked, "This is ridiculous! It took me nearly an hour to drive only ten miles."

That's the way the day went. The bus pulled up to the gymnasium and it appeared as a blur. Both men and women Lakers boarded the bus and headed towards Chesapeake.

A few miles past the town of Accident, a two-car collision had occurred and the Northern Garrett Rescue Squad was already on hand assisting. As many as fifty cars and trucks were lined up behind the accident and some were pulled over to the side awaiting the wind to subside.

The trip was fatiguing and almost six hours passed before the Chesapeake campus came into view.

After finding their gear, they located the gym and settled down with their coach to "talk strategy."

The game got under way and before two minutes of play had ticked away, Carolyn Harris, of the Lakers suffered a sprained ankle.

The Skip-Jills, experienced and ready with another set of six players on the bench, shot out onto the floor and stampeded to a 22-point lead when the first half buzzer sounded.

Efforts by the Lakers were everywhere and at times even the opposing bleachers could be heard cheering the young squad on.

During the first half activity Sue Payne had found the basket for eight points while teammate, Kendra Fratz added another four to the score. In sharp contrast, the Skip-Jills Nonie Thomas and Kathie Hemler had racked up twenty one between them.

It was from the beginning a two-to-one margin being handed the Lakers by a seasoned crew from Chesapeake. At half-time the score read, 34-12.

The hour long meet lasted and lasted until the final score was a disappointing 72-31. Within seconds both teams had cleared the court for the men's match which was a different story, as the men's squad from Garrett outplayed the Chesapeake team, 57-52.

The Laker's team had spirit, sportsmanship and guts. A better playing team, you'll find an ample supply. A better group of people, you won't find any where.

The return trip home was equally tiring and to add to the weary atmosphere, the heating system was inadequate and the bus felt like a deep-freeze.

Everyone was happy for the victory the Laker men had achieved, but it was not enough consolation to combat the chill factor during the long journey home.

The Lakers are a great bunch to travel with and to watch. Whether they win or lose, they represent this county to the fullest measure in sportsmanship.

The team members included: Karen Dickie, Dorien Friend, Mel and Kendra Fratz, Sue Payne and Carolyn Harris.

When the bus pulled into the campus driveway, someone noted the time as four-fifteen a.m. A few groans sounded and, one by one, they disappeared in the windy snow storm.

Statistics are one part of a game. Togetherness is another.

GCC Girls Dumped

Monday evening at the GCC Laker's hardwoods, Allegany Community College stomped over the Laker girls, 83-26.

Lakers Fiscus, of the Trojanettes put 20 points on the board and teammates, Carol Klosterman added 18 with Sally Snyder getting 16. For the GCC Laker women, it was another defeat at the hands of the experienced, but Sue Payne did manage to eke out eight points for her squad.

MAKE IT HAPPEN, MEL! — Kendra Fratz, No. 22, looks up to the hoop as Mel Fratz, No. 14, attempts to score. Dorien Friend, No. 12, moves into the inner circle in hopes of grabbing the rebound. The Women Lakers went down to defeat by Chesapeake, 72-31.

Garrett County Teachers Support Bill To Waive 180-Day Law

KRISTIN MILNE
Garrett County
Teachers Assoc.

The current prevailing thought in the minds of all Garrett County citizens can best be stated as a question: how will this year's devastating winter affect our schools, our businesses, our lives? Unfortunately, the immediate answer is all too obvious, but still the hardships remain. Coping with a crisis situation and its aftermath require much more than immediate solutions to immediate problems, as we may be confronting more severe winter conditions in the future.

The question of requiring make-up time for days lost in education is creating great concern among members of Garrett County. The Garrett County Teachers association, a non-profit organization which represents 70% of this county's teaching force, has issued a statement on their position relating to make-up time. The following is an open letter from Judith France, GCTA President and spokesperson, addressed to citizens of Garrett County.

Dear Teachers, Students, Parents, and Citizens:

As of this writing, the school year will be extended through June 29 in order to meet the required 180 student day year under state law.

With teachers involved in summer school requirements and parents and students involved in early summer responsibilities, this extension of the school year presents many problems for all concerned.

Delegate Bolden and Delegate Robey, Baltimore City, are sponsoring emergency legislation to allow local school boards to obtain a waiver of the 180 day student school year requirement from the State Board of Education because of extreme weather conditions or other emergencies.

This bill, House Bill 932, deserves unqualified support of all teachers, parents, students and other citizens adversely affected by the present extreme extension of this school year. Additionally, there's every reason to believe more school day closings are possible. Since H. B. 932 is emergency legislation its passage would provide immediate authority for the local school board to seek a waiver for this school year of the 180 day requirement.

We urge you to indicate strong support for this bill to Delegate Bolden, Delegate Robey, and especially Delegate Ben Cardin, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, whose committee will initially act on this bill. Write personal letters, Mailgrams or Public Opinion Messages via Western Union or make a personal phone call to Annapolis in support of H. B. 932. Bolden's Annapolis number is 269-3364, Cardin's number is 269-3255 and Robey's number is 269-2570. Their legislative address is c/o House Office Building, Annapolis, Md. 21404.

The Association also asks that you solicit support for this bill from your friends and neighbors, local parent-teacher organizations, community-civic groups, and, of course, members of the local school board.

If all of us do all we possibly can in a concerted and concentrated effort to get this bill passed as soon as possible, a very real problem can be avoided with the least amount of difficulty for all involved, including the students.

GCTA will advise you of further contacts that may be needed as H. B. 932 moves through the legislative process. We shall do all in our power to prevent such an imposed extension of the school year due to extreme weather conditions and other related factors in our county this winter. With your help we can succeed. Thank you for your support.

Sincerely,
Judith B. France
President

Mr. and Mrs. George Sisler and Annette, of Cranesville, are staying with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Spaid, in Aurora during this stormy period.

Also away from their home because of the weather are Mr. and Mrs. David Layman and Jim, of Eglon, who are staying with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sheridan Layman near State Line.

Hancel Teets remains a patient in WVU Hospital but is reportedly recuperating steadily. Harry Evans is also progressing well in Cumberland Memorial Hospital and is expected to return to his home this week.

Two deaths have occurred this weekend in this area. James "Jim" Arbogast died Saturday evening at his home at Mt. Grove. On Monday morning, Omar Shaffer was found dead in his home at Brookside.

Again, only primary roads are open and many of them only one lane. With broken down equipment, the State Road Commission is unable to help and only through the emergency services are some people being kept alive as well as a lot of livestock.

To compound and confuse things, a great many numbers in the Aurora and Eglon telephone area were changed last week and the operators do not yet have the new listings. If you are calling long distance, you have probably had a confusing situation. A lot of the lines are not working and some people are without communication of any kind. For any of you in the local area who may want to call news, our new number is correct in the new phone directory. Many in the area are not correct as listed, as you will find. Try to check with someone who might have the correct number to make local phone calls.

Tri-County Council Budget Is Discussed

The fiscal 1978 planning and administrative budget for the Tri-County Council for Western Maryland was presented by Edward Heath, executive director of TCC, at an afternoon meeting of the group Wednesday in Cumberland.

After the budget was presented, the council's planning, administrative and budget committee was scheduled to review the proposal during February and March. The committee's recommended budget will then be presented to the full council for action.

Information concerning a new monthly publication, "Resource Bulletin," to be published by the council staff, was discussed by Raymond Carignan, TCC economic development specialist. The informational newsletter would be distributed to numerous agencies, individuals and organizations throughout the region.

The publication would contain up-to-date information on grants, programs and other items of interest.

James Rowe, another economic development specialist, reported on the council's involvement in attempting to secure funds for the acquisition and start of a woodworking and furniture production facility in Grantsville. This was an outgrowth of a feasibility study previously completed by TCC.

Mathias Proposes Fuel Stamps For Needy Households

Senator Charles McC. Mathias, Jr. (R-Md.) has introduced a bill to help low and fixed-income families meet the rising cost of fuel bills. His bill, "The Home Heating Stamp Act of 1977", amends the Food Stamp Act to establish a Home-Heating Stamp Program within the Department of Agriculture.

Senator Mathias was joined in sponsorship of the bill by Senator Howard Baker. The bill provides immediate implementation of a fuel stamp program, requiring that the existing administrative structure be used for this purpose to reduce the delay.

Mathias noted that the existing machinery — "will be the means to help the elderly and other persons on limited or fixed incomes to stay warm enough to keep alive and healthy."

The bill represents the culmination of a study by the FEA and HEW which resulted from a Mathias amendment to the Energy Supply Act of 1974. The bill is based upon the findings and recommendations of that work.

Winter Holding On Mountain Top

More snow with high winds and sub-zero temperatures held away until some moderation set in the last two afternoons and this morning. Tuesday was the coldest of the season, minus 22 degrees.

Clogged and snowcovered roads again hampered vehicular traffic throughout the county, especially over the weekend. Another four inches was blown into higher drifts. Tuesday, skies were clear all day. Mostly cloudy conditions prevailed yesterday until mid-afternoon when skies cleared.

Temperatures averaged 13.4 degrees below normal for the past week. Highs averaged 28 degrees or 12 below normal. The high was yesterday's 37 degrees. Sunday, the high was only 9 degrees, with Monday not much better at 15 degrees. Lows averaged 3.8 degrees or 14.4 below normal. Tuesday's minus 22 degrees is the lowest so far this season. Sunny skies quickly brought it above the zero mark and on up to the day's high of 34 degrees.

Precipitation amounted to .39 inch with all of it producing 6.2 inches of snow. The heaviest snow was Saturday's three inches. Snowfall for the season is now 75.9 inches.

A high pressure system passing off the east coast promises a moderating trend by bringing in a south and southeast flow of air. For the past six to eight weeks the area has been under the influence of frigid Arctic air being funnelled down from Canada.

This morning was quite a different story from the recent past. The mercury stood at a mild 35 degrees, even three degrees above freezing. Skies were mostly cloudy.

Schools were still closed this morning.

The melt down of all the snow on the ground since the more recent storms began Christmas, amounts to about 3.24 inches. Much of this moisture is locked in high drifts which could reduce the amount of water released at one time and in turn reduce possible flooding.

HANG ON TIGHT AND FOLLOW THE LEADER! — That request might sound easy to any number of skiers at the Wisp, however, for these students from the Maryland School for the Blind, the call at the tow lift means caution and confidence. Last Tuesday a small group from the school donned their ski gear and hit the beautiful slopes at the Wisp Ski Area to learn the art of skiing by seasoned instructors. The afternoon sun made it a perfect comfort zone for the ski experience and the outing was just another part of the school's effort to place the students into the "mainstreams" of life.

Jay Kamineck, McHenry, a talented instructor for the small group, was instrumental in the organizing of the outing as well as acting as coordinator for the venture. Included in last week's roll call at the Wisp was Dannie Baker, Debbie Oliver, Dwayne Garber, Cecilia Duncan, Ed Yakabuski and Kevin Norris. The program began in 1973 at Wisp and is sponsored by the Deep Creek Lake Lions Club.

On April 6, 1964, the Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce Development Trust No. 2 was created to help raise an amount of money necessary to purchase property for an industrial park and erect a building, as part of the Chamber of Commerce's overall plan to create jobs in the Oakland community.

At that time, several of the local businesses associated with the Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce made a canvass of the area and raised $54,200, an amount sufficient to make Trust No. 2 a reality. Since that time, interest has been paid bi-annually at the rate of five percent.

Now the land has been sold in its entirety and among the buyers were Sylvan Manufacturing, IBMI, Allegheny Welding, Wood Products and most recently, Mineral Development Company.

This week, it is being announced by the trustees of the Development Trust No. 2 that the stock certificates issued in this trust may be redeemed at the Garrett National Bank in Oakland until March 31 of this year. In charge of transactions at the bank will John Kahly, commercial teller.

The present trustees are Emile Germain, I. R. Rudy, Jr., and Robert E. Proudfoot.

Further development projects will be discussed at the next meeting of the Chamber of Commerce.

FORCING THE SEASON, MANNING? — Unlike the front page photograph which shows a questionable barbecue in progress, this outdoor grill happening was for real at the Rev. Manning L. Smith home in Oakland last Tuesday evening. After the photographer had caught him in the act, Rev. Smith looked up and said, "You're not really going to print it, are you?"

State Income Tax To Be Discussed In Radio Programs

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein will be joined by George H. Spriggs, Jr., Chief of the Maryland Income Tax Division, to discuss 1976 Maryland income tax in two radio programs, to be aired on WMSG (Oakland) on Sunday, February 13 and Sunday, February 20, both at 6:35 p.m.

Among the major points the two men will discuss are how changes in the Federal form affect Maryland taxpayers, who must file an income tax return, which form to use, special features affecting senior citizens, and important features on the 1976 Maryland tax form.

The Comptroller noted that "one innovation which appeared on last year's Maryland income tax form and is still important to note this year concerns estimated tax payments. Maryland law requires taxpayers to file Declarations of Estimated Tax if they earn $500 or more per year which is not subject to withholding. Line 25, at the bottom of the 1976 Maryland income tax form, offers estimated taxpayers the opportunity to apply part or all of their refund to be applied to their 1977 estimated tax account."

Mr. Goldstein added that taxpayers who want detailed assistance and help in preparing their 1976 Maryland income tax returns should come in person to the State Income Tax Building in Annapolis, to the Baltimore State Office Building at 301 West Preston Street, or to any of the nine other branch offices listed on the back of the income tax packet.

Goldstein Sends Reps To Aid In Tax Preparation

If you can't get to one of the eleven permanent Maryland income tax offices to get help in filling out your 1976 Maryland State return, don't worry, says State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein, because representatives from Maryland's Income Tax Division will come to you. Beginning Tuesday, February 15, 1977, representatives of the Maryland Income Tax Division of the State Comptroller's Office will be visiting localities throughout Maryland to offer assistance to taxpayers preparing their 1976 Maryland income tax returns. Comptroller Goldstein today announced the schedule of visits to convenient locations for periods ranging from one day to three weeks.

"Our representatives will prepare Maryland income tax returns, free of charge, distribute needed forms, and provide information requested by taxpayers," Mr. Goldstein said.

In addition to the local assistance program, Maryland State income tax personnel will offer the same services throughout the filing period in the State Income Tax Building in Annapolis, the State Office Building at 301 West Preston Street in Baltimore, and nine other branch offices throughout Maryland and Washington, D. C., listed on the back of the 1976 Maryland income tax packet.

Citizens wishing to take advantage of the State income tax preparation service should bring a copy of their completed Federal income tax for 1976 and copies of all withholding statements with them.

"Remember, the deadline for filing your 1976 Maryland State income tax return is Friday, April 15, 1977," Comptroller Goldstein said.

Representatives will be in Garrett County at the Oakland Courthouse on Tuesday, February 15.

Church Women Set 90th World Day Of Prayer March 4

The 90th World Day of Prayer observance will be celebrated by Church Women United on Friday, March 4. On this day, women in thousands of local communities across the nation join in a chain of prayer that links the first voices at dawn in the Pacific with the last prayers said in the islands off the coast of Alaska.

In the Oakland area, the service for adults will be held in St. Peter's Roman Catholic Church at 1:30 p.m. Mrs. James Panther will serve as chairperson.

The Swanton area service will be held in the Otterbein United Methodist Church Thursday, March 3, at 7:30 p.m. with Mrs. Orval Teets as chairperson.

In the Bittinger area, there will be an all-day service beginning at 10 a.m. in the Glade Mennonite Church. Mrs. Elmer Maust will serve as chairperson.

Two services for children and youth will be held. In Oakland, this service is scheduled for St. Paul's United Methodist Church from 3:15 to 5 p.m. March 4. Mrs. John McLaughlin will be in charge.

In Swanton, the service will be held in the Otterbein United Methodist Church Thursday, March 3, from 6:30 to 7:30 with Miss Barbara Rexrode in charge.

This year's worship service, prepared by the women in the German Democratic Republic, reflects their hope that all women together will "strive to find ways for 'Love in Action'." This theme challenges members of Church Women United to discover those who may be neighbors who have been overlooked, and offer support to those in need who may be far away.

Church Women United, designated as the official sponsor of the World Day of Prayer in the United States, has continued this tradition since 1887 through Intercontinental Mission, a fund for administering the nation-wide offerings.

This year grants will be made to meet the needs of people on six continents, in the areas of spiritual growth, community and family services, education, health programs, and peace building.

Church women of all faiths are invited to attend these services, according to Mrs. Mae DeBerry, acting publicity chairman for the local women's group.

Dance Cancelled

Due to emergency housing being given the National Guard Troops at the Oakland Armory, various functions that were previously scheduled there have been cancelled. One such event was the February 12, Cupid Caper Dance sponsored by the Oakland Jr. Woman's Civic Club.

The Club has announced that a new date for the dance is scheduled for April 23, thus becoming their "Spring Fling."

Ever talk, really talk, to someone who's blind? Someone who depends upon their fingertips to get the message, and knows that it's late afternoon only when the warm sun kisses their cheeks?

You may find that they "see" a lot more than we do!

In a dark world, people come to the truth by the sound of voices, the feel of things, the touch of others. Much of life is a sham. Hairstyles don't matter, nor the kind of car someone drives, or the cost of their clothes, or the lavishness of their home. It is the person who counts.

A blind person knows faith, too, because he has needed it desperately because he's had to grope for it, because it's become very tangible, very precious, when finally he has found it.

We could take lessons.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

THE WOMAN WHO CAME

Lesson for February 13, 1977

Background Scripture
Mark 2:1-12; Luke 7:36-50
Devotional Reading
Mark 2:1-12

Many people remember the late actor Monty Woolly best for his title role in the motion picture "The Man Who Came To Dinner." It is the story of what happens when an arrogant man comes to dinner, is injured in the course of the evening, and has to remain in the home for an extended period to recuperate. "The Man Who Came To Dinner" becomes the man who changes everyone's lives.

Rev. Althouse

A tainted woman

In a sense this is what happened when a prostitute crashed a dinner party for Jesus that was being hosted by a respected Pharisee of a certain city. Luke does not name the Pharisee and tells us little about him or even where he lived. Yet, although we have little factual data about him, as the brief story unfolds, we get a pretty clear picture of what sort of man he was.

Let's try to picture the scene in Luke 7. The Pharisee is probably a prosperous man in the community, so we can envision a typical Palestinian house with a large courtyard and garden in the center. It is in this courtyard where the low table is spread. The custom is to recline at the table and we can assume that Jesus and the Pharisee are joined there by a few other guests.

Suddenly, the host is aware of the presence of a notorious woman. Almost oblivious of everyone else, she has entered quietly and gone directly to Jesus. Then, bending, she begins to anoint his feet with a costly ointment, weeping silently as she does, and from time to time kissing them.

The Pharisee says nothing aloud, but to himself he is expressing outrage and indignation. Almost with self-satisfaction, he tells himself: "If this man were a prophet, he would have known who and what sort of woman this woman is who is touching him; for she is a sinner" (7:39). It is interesting that the indignation is directed solely to Jesus rather than the woman. It is as if he is secretly glad to find that Jesus is not what people claim him to be.

She loved much

Up to this moment, no one has spoken a word. The host has kept his feelings to himself, but Jesus is gifted in reading people and he knows what is racing through the mind of his host. Calling the Pharisee, he tells him a parable and asks him to provide the answer for the question with which it concludes: "Now which of them will love him more?" (7:42).

The Pharisee could hardly fail to give the right answer: "The one, I suppose, to whom he forgave more" — the "I suppose" probably indicates that he realized the point of the parable and knew he was incriminating himself. The question Jesus was saying is not who is the greater sinner — the woman was obviously way ahead on points — but who is the most humbly contrite?

Up to this moment, the Pharisee had always thought of himself as an upstanding, righteous man who proudly — and smugly — kept the law in great detail. But now, because of this woman who had crashed his dinner party, his self-image could never again completely escape the humbling reproach of Jesus.

Yoders, Incorporated, Honor Fourteen Employees

In recognition of long-term service, fourteen employees of Yoders Incorporated, Grantsville, Maryland, were recently honored at the annual company dinner. Paul Yoder, secretary of the corporation and personnel director, presented the awards consisting of a plaque and cash gift. In his opening remarks, he noted that the tenure of these employees has spanned much of the growth Yoders has experienced from a small slaughter house to one of the largest packers in this area.

Seven employees received recognition for twenty years of continuous service. Bertha Beitzel, Grantsville, works as a wrapper in the custom beef cutting room; Albert Killius, Springs, in the curing department; and Elmer L. Maust, Grantsville, as a beef or pork boner in the packing plant. Verda Tice, Grantsville, and June Wiley, Springs, are employed in the canning and ready-to-eat department, while Darlene Miller, Grantsville, and Edward Yoder, Meyersdale, head the grocery and meat departments, respectively, in the country market.

For fifteen or more years of employment, seven additional persons were honored. Hilda Bowser, Bittinger, and Fern Yoder, Springs, are wrappers in the custom beef cutting room, and Allen Maust, Meyersdale, works on the kill floor. Mildred Teets, Helen Yoder and D. Virginia Yoder, all of Springs, are employed in the canning and ready-to-eat department, while Elam Yoder, Grantsville, heads the shipping room.

Yoders, incorporated in 1974, has grown from a small butcher shop on the farm Eli Yoder operated, to a firm employing as many as 85 persons. The company's major divisions are the country market, the packing plant, and the locker plant. Mr. Yoder still heads the company as president, with sons Henry, vice-president and treasurer and Paul, secretary, active in managing the business.

In commenting on his time at Yoders, Elam Yoder noted the specialization which growth has caused. He pointed out that the work done fifteen years ago in the beef cutting room where he started, today is divided into at least four separate operations.

The presentation of the awards followed the annual company dinner served at the Grantsville Fire Hall by the Firemen's Auxiliary.

To Be Speaker

Henry E. Yoder, vice president of Yoder's Inc. of Grantsville, will be the speaker for the Meyersdale Area CBMC on February 12 at Penn Alps in Grantsville. Mr. Yoder is a native of Somerset County. He attended school through the 7th grade and took several correspondence courses since that time. He has traveled to Israel and attended two National CBMC Conventions. Presently he is president of the board for the Mt. View Christian School near Salisbury. He is the father of six children.

All interested men are welcome to attend the dinner meeting which starts at 6:30 p.m. on Saturday February 12.

Yough Group To Meet

The Youghiogheny River Association, Inc., will meet Friday, February 11 at 7:30 p.m., at the Garrett Community College auditorium. Delegate DeCorsey Bolden will be the guest speaker.

Audubon Society Says Weather Definitely NOT "For The Birds"

The National Audubon Society has issued an emergency plea to residents in the winter disaster areas to put out food for birds.

Not all kinds of birds eat the same foods. Bird seed, for example, is no help to the woodpecker that normally lives on grubs and bugs. However, there are many ways to feed wild birds and here are some suggestions and cautions from the society.

Standard "wild bird seed" mixtures will aid many species of songbirds. The more expensive sunflower seed is particularly good, but wheat is cheaper and even crumbled bread is better than nothing.

Fruits and berries are the normal food of some woodland species. For them, put out currants, raisins or chopped-up pieces of apples.

Suet, available without charge from butcher shops and at a low cost from most supermarkets, will serve well for the woodpeckers and other grub-eaters. Hang it from a branch in a mesh bag, such as onions are sold in, and let it hang down far enough so that a squirrel can't make off with it.

For seed and fruit, a standard feeder has the advantage that squirrels and other animals won't eat up the whole supply and leave none for the birds. If you have no feeder, seed can be scattered on the ground, but place it in an open manner away from any possible danger from a lurking cat.

Water may even be more critical than food. Put out a bowlful and bring it in when the water freezes. Also break the ice on a pond or a section of a fast running stream.

The wintering woodland birds — chickadees, finches and others — are a somewhat different case. For these smaller birds, the general rule of the society is to feed the birds all winter or not at all, since they may become dependent on man.

However, in this exceptionally cold winter, the society urges all persons to put out food for these smaller birds now and help them survive the worst of the bitter cold even though it may not be possible to continue feeding until spring.

Ninety-five Municipal Programs are acceptable; 54 Municipal Programs are unacceptable; 19 County programs are acceptable; four County programs are unacceptable; one Bi-County utility (Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission) is acceptable; two State Agency programs are acceptable; one State Agency program is unacceptable.

Most counties and municipalities have actively sought the Water Resources Administration's assistance and for the most part are working toward an effective sediment control program. The Water Resources Administration program evaluation does note, however, that the inspection and enforcement portion are weakest due to either 'lack of manpower; lack of proper training; or, lack of administrative support or consistent administrative policy."

The State Sediment Control Act of 1970 requires that each jurisdiction develop and implement a program for sediment control. The Water Resources Administration, Department of Natural Resources is charged with the responsibility of assisting in the development of these programs and with the evaluation of the success of these programs.

Those programs that have been deemed unacceptable will receive within several weeks notice to attend a public hearing as required by the Sediment Control Act. At the hearings the jurisdiction must show what actions will be taken to correct the program.

The Administration within 30 days of the hearing may exercise anyone or combination of the following actions:

"a. Issue an order requiring that necessary corrective action be taken within a prescribed time.

b. Issue an order requiring such county, municipality or the Commission to refrain from issuing grading, building or similar permits, or to refrain from authorizing any activity requiring an approved sediment control plan until the necessary corrective action is taken.

c. Assume administration on a pro tem basis following appropriate notice to the sediment control program in such county, municipality or the Commission. In the case where a municipality has not adopted and received approval from the Department for the required grading and sediment control ordinance and the respective county grading and sediment control ordinance is acceptable, administration of a municipal sediment control program shall be accomplished in accordance with the provisions of the respective county grading and sediment control ordinances."

Dr. Solomon Says 65° Thermostat Setting Healthier

Marylanders who are keeping their home thermometers at 65 rather than in the 70s are living under healthier conditions than those who continue to overheat their dwellings, says Dr. Neil Solomon, Secretary of Health and Mental Hygiene.

The Secretary explains that studies have shown that heating of homes and offices removes moisture from the air and that the higher the temperature the dryer the air. This dryer air, he said, can contribute to a dry throat or nose and can cause coughs, as well as dry itchy skin. This dryer air aggravates bronchial conditions and causes other respiratory problems.

Further, he pointed out the respiratory system does not adjust well to sudden changes in temperature, so that moving from a room with the temperatures in the 70s into the outside cold affects the body more than leaving a room in the mid 60s. This adverse effect on the body can cause coughs and respiratory problems, Dr. Solomon said.

Nine Lose Lives On State Roads

Nine persons lost their lives on Maryland Highways according to the weekly news release compiled by 2nd Lt. M. I. Morgan of the Maryland State Police. Of those killed five were drivers, three were passengers and one was a pedestrian.

Four of the deaths in the opinion of the investigating officer could have possibly been prevented had seat belts been in use.

With the record-setting cold nights we have been experiencing a lot of "cold-faithful" cars balking at facing a new day. The standard tips about keeping the battery charged and perhaps hooking it up to a trickle-charger overnight, all help. The annual warnings regarding carbon monoxide in exhaust gasses have been issued — but there are a couple of tips that need repeating. They cost nothing, could save you heavy repair bills or even funeral expenses.

Start your trip to work or the store early. Allow time to make sure your defroster is doing its work before you tackle traffic. Clear all snow and frost from windows. It is important to see clearly in all directions before you move out into traffic. Just clearing a little spot on the windshield means you will see only part of what is ahead, and nothing of what might be coming from behind or on the side. Unseen danger can not be avoided.

So far this year, 29 persons have been killed in state highway accidents compared to 52 for the same period in 1966.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Russell Ray Lawson who passed away 2 years ago, Feb. 7th, 1975.

The blow was hard, the shock severe
We never thought his death so near Only those who have lost can tell the pain of parting without farewell
We never thought, when leaving home, that he would never return
That he so soon in death would sleep without getting to know the little ones he loved so much
God knows how much we miss him
Never shall his memory fade
Never will we forget the soft-spoken ways or the hand that always seemed to be around our shoulders
Loving thoughts are always with his name and to the spot where he is laid.

Loved and sadly missed by Mother, Reba Lawson, wife, Freda; sons and wives, Martin and Lena, Gary and Judy and Larry; grandchildren, Sherry, Nancy, Mark, Michael, Debbie, Tammy, Cheryl, David, Lisa, Greg, Lori, Terri and Kathy; great-grandchildren, Stacy, Tammy, Jeremy and Carrie.

IN MEMORIAM

In remembrance of Clarence L. (Shorty) Taylor who passed away Feb. 4, 1975.

We miss your smile, your laughter and all the happiness you gave. Our memories are more dear with each passing day. Our hearts still ache and our eyes fill with tears. We are still lonely as the time moves quickly into years. Friends often say he was well thought of. Only he's gone. One question is always asked, Why? God only knows best, on this we must rely.

Sadly missed by son, David Taylor and family

HALE LIGHTWEIGHT GENERATORS

New Design Saves Weight, Increases Dependability

1. Instead of electromagnets used in conventional generators, the Hale generator has powerful barium ferrite permanent magnets. No power is lost in developing a magnetic field. No heat is generated here.
2. Instead of mounting the magnets permanently and spinning the coils between them, the coils are stationary and the magnets spin. This reversal of conventional procedure means that electrical power flows directly from the stationary coils to the receptacle. There are no brushes, no slip rings. No problems of arcing, sparking, practically no repairs, adjustments or mechanical failures. More watts of power per gallon of gasoline than from conventional generators.
3. Spark plug shields for moisture protection. Super hi-tone spark arrestor mufflers. Easy spin rewind starter. Dependable Briggs & Stratton engines.

County Resident To Participate In Nationwide Satellite Program

By Kristin Milne
Garrett Co. Teachers Assoc.

Mrs. Dorothy Leighton, a resident and native of Oakland, will represent the national parental opinion toward teacher-parent communication on a nationwide televised satellite program. The program, the first of a series concerning American education, will be aired on Tuesday, February 15, 8:00 p.m., at Garrett Community College. The public is invited to attend a viewing of this program to be followed by a question-answer discussion period.

The program is sponsored by the Appalachian Educational Satellite Project based in Lexington, Kentucky. For the past year, NEA has been using two of NASA's experimental satellites to conduct teleconferences for teachers in 23 sites: 12 in the Pacific, 4 in Alaska, 6 in Appalachia, and an additional site at Goddard Space Flight Center in Greenbelt, Maryland.

In order to carry out the demonstration, a Pan-Pacific Satellite Project was created which provides a unique means for providing cultural interchanges and professional development opportunities for teachers in remote areas.

The NEA 1977 satellite television series, Helping Teachers Teach, will begin in February and will bring together teachers in the 15 Appalachian sites in an information sharing process and will provide training opportunities for NEA's elected leadership in each of the 15 sites.

The four scheduled programs include the following topics:

Improving Communication Between Teachers and Parents, February 15, 1977.

Discipline: Gaining Insight into Student Behavior, March 15, 1977.

Current Federal Legislation: Its Impact on Teachers, April 19, 1977.

Program Development and Leadership Training, May 24, 1977.

Judith France, president of Garrett County Teachers Association, has been named as local co-ordinator of the McHenry programming site and will head the discussion period ensuing the February 15 program. Ms. France suggested Mrs. Leighton as parent representative on the basis of Mrs. Leighton's outstanding performance in the interest of better education.

Mrs. Leighton is a former music teacher receiving a BA degree in Music from Shenandoah Conservatory and a Master's degree from Northwestern University.

She is the mother of four children who collectively represent 16 years' experience in the Garrett County school system. The eldest, Barbara, is a senior chemistry major at Princeton University; Cathy is a pre-med student at the College of Wooster; Anne is a sophomore at Southern High School; Vernon is a student in eighth grade at Southern Middle.

Mrs. Dorothy Leighton

Mrs. Leighton has extensively volunteered her expertise and services toward the education process in several capacities. Among her achievements are: membership and leadership in local PTA Chapters; Vice President of the County Council of PTA; chairman of the book drive for Southern Middle School; participation with the School Study Committee of the League of Women Voters; service with the Re-Evaluation Committee of school staff and administrators in designing a revised teacher evaluation form. Mrs. Leighton also serves as the music director of St. Paul's United Methodist Church in Oakland.

Seeking Persons Interested In Art And Crafts

The Garrett County Community Action Committee is interested in having an Arts and Crafts Fair for local people who work with arts and crafts (at whatever skill level) to display and sell their creations.

Lynda McGowan, a VISTA volunteer working with the Garrett County Community Action Committee on this endeavor, has indicated some typical arts and crafts activities as: Quilting, Drawing, Pottery Making, Sewing, Decoupage, Wood Carving, Leather Working, Glass Blowing, Photography, Macrame, etc. Mrs. McGowan further points out that participation by craftspersons can be a means of supplementing income, expanding their knowledge of local crafts, and just enjoying a get-together with others of common interest.

Anyone engaged in an arts and craft activity who would be interested in displaying and selling his or her creations in a flea-market type setting is asked to contact Lynda McGowan or Ed Arnoldi at the Garrett County Community Action Center, Phone 334-9431.

Tutoring Program Being Developed By VISTA Pair

The Garrett County Community Action Committee is now recruiting volunteers for a tutoring program developed by two VISTA volunteers. The Community Action Volunteer Tutoring Project seeks to provide tutorial assistance to young people in Garrett County with widely varying educational difficulties, according to Dwight Harvey, Youth VISTA Worker.

The project was first conceived in August of 1976, by Program Planning at Community Action. Two VISTA volunteers were requested of the ACTION office of the federal government. The VISTA's, Dwight Harvey, and Carol Oliver, were assigned in November, 1976, and January, 1977, respectively, and began planning the tutoring project.

Mr. Harvey said that the ideal of the project is to take the needed tutoring services to the people, to meet them on their own ground and on their own terms. Many people who desire educational assistance either have no transportation to classes or feel uncomfortable in groups (or both). Many young people who live with poverty, disillusionment, and lack of communication become discouraged before they complete their education. The person-to-person contact of tutoring can provide the self-confidence and individual attention that some people need to succeed, he continued.

The Community Action Volunteer Tutoring Project seeks to provide help in three areas: (1) tutoring for youths having difficulty with schoolwork, (2) tutoring in basic reading and math skills, and (3) tutoring for those who are out of school and need help toward achieving a high school equivalence. The only requirement for volunteers is to desire to give of themselves and their time to help someone learn. A training workshop will be held to give volunteers the necessary information and skills to begin tutoring.

Those interested in volunteering to be tutors are urged to call the project co-ordinators, Dwight Harvey or Carol Oliver at 334-9431 from 9:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. weekdays. During the evenings or on weekends, Dwight can be contacted at 387-6423.

Association Meets

The Friendsville Professional Business Association met Tuesday, February 1, at Lininger Building, with Jon Garner, president, presiding with ten members present. Each member was presented with a copy of by-laws and they were discussed and approved by the group. The association agreed to approach P.R.O. and have certificates of membership printed.

In January Floyd Baker, Boy Scout Master, asked for Volunteer help to test the scouts and present their awards. At present time the Friendsville Fire Company has been considering this project. If they do not carry through, it was agreed the association would. One member spoke on the matter that there is a drug store in Oakland willing to locate a branch pharmacy in our area, if we should get a doctor. Another member stated that there is a doctor from Johnstown, Pa., very interested in moving here in July.

It was also made known that as of Feb. 1 the Northern Rescue Squad has placed an ambulance in the Friendsville area. It will be on call 24 hours, but you must still use the Accident No. - 826-8222, until further notice.

The President mentioned the Town Election on Feb. 8 and urged all to be sure to vote; and the group discussed the problems of water and sewage system; election day and fluoridation that will be voted on Tuesday and other problems in area.

At the March 1 meeting a committee will be appointed to go to the Town Council meeting on March 7.

The association meetings are open to the public and if you are interested in protecting and promoting our town, please feel welcome to attend the March 1st meeting at 8 p.m. at Lininger Building.

Firemen Review Fire Fighting Bills

Legislation in the General Assembly involving fire fighting was reviewed Sunday when the Allegany-Garrett County Volunteer Firemen's Association met at Corriganville.

Twenty-four departments were represented and 12 past presidents attended. Donald Broome, Bowling Green, presided.

Among the bills discussed were House Bill 37 which proposes a study committee leading toward establishment of a special license for emergency vehicle drivers so that traffic violation points are not assessed against driver's licenses of individuals.

House Bill 591 proposes to eliminate the fire marshal's office, the fire code and the fire prevention commission. House Bill 639 would require persons purchasing new homes to have a smoke detector installed before the property deed can be recorded.

House Bill 945 proposes to require the detector devices in all public places by 1978, and HB 948 goes a step further, proposing a requirement for smoke detectors in all residences by 1978.

House Bill 986 would require the state's ban on Fourth of July sparklers. The sparklers were permitted for the first time in a number of years last year and the state fire marshal reported that a number of children were burned by sparklers and at least one house fire was attributed to the sparklers.

Senate Bill 82 would make it a misdemeanor to turn in a false alarm for an ambulance or rescue squad, similar to an existing law for false reports to fire companies.

An attendant at pump islands of self-service gas stations would be required by SB 146. Senate Bill 229 seeks elimination of fire code requirements for remodeled buildings or houses.

The communications committee chose Donald Ware as its president and James Schell, Jr. was selected as secretary-treasurer. The committee, made up of all fire companies on the Civil Defense emergency communications system, will meet again on March 24 at the Baltimore Pike fire hall.

Plans were discussed for the 56th annual convention of the association to be held June 4 at the Bowling Green fire hall.

James Robertson, state fire marshal, attended the meeting and told of a new report originating in Allegany and Garrett counties which is now being used throughout Maryland. Statewide use of the forms was adopted after firemen in this area reported success with the forms. West Virginia and Delaware are also now using the forms in their fire fighting reporting procedure.

The Barton hose company was awarded the bid for the association's annual smoker on April 16. A meeting will be held Tuesday, February 22, at the Clarysville fire hall to discuss the region dance for the Maryland State firemen's Association on April 2 at the Clarysville Inn.

Water Resources Takes Action On Violations

The Water Resources Administration has taken enforcement action on various violations of the State's Water Quality Laws occurring in Garrett County, between December 17 and January 27.

The Union Coal Company has been issued a complaint for noncompliance with the restoration portions of the mining permit and has been ordered to cease and desist the hauling of material across this area until restoration has been completed under the terms of the permit.

Potomac Mining, Inc. has been issued a supplemental order granting a time extension to complete sediment control structures to prevent sediment from entering Steyer Run.

Will-O-Wisp has been issued a supplemental order granting a time extension to install the monitoring wells as required in the discharge permit.

Remember Valley Forge

One hundred, ninety-nine years ago this month 11,000 Americans under the command of Genera George Washington were encamped at Valley Forge, Pennsylvania. The men had little food and hardly enough clothing to protect themselves from the unusually bitter cold and deep snow that year. Some were barefooted. Extra supplies never arrived. Over 3000 died as a result of exposure, disease and malnutrition.

Despite the hardships of the winter, most of the men remained loyal to their cause and their commander. On June 19, 1777, Washington broke camp at Valley Forge, advanced against the British in Philadelphia and achieved a strategic victory over them on June 28.

According to the National Weather Service we are presently experiencing the coldest winter in our nation's history. It has been difficult for many people in a lot of ways.

However, when we consider the conditions endured by those dedicated soldiers at Valley Forge, we have certainly fared pretty well in comparison, and we're not even fighting a war in the meantime. Comparing our winter problems to those of Valley Forge is like comparing conditions in Palm Beach to those of the Bronx.

Let us be thankful for all the conveniences and comforts that are pulling us through this winter. Let us not be too quick to complain about the relatively minor inconveniences.

If we complain too loudly, many of those men who suffered at Valley Forge might turn over in their graves. Who are we to disturb the people who fought for and won our independence?

Yough River Bills Are Scheduled For Hearings Today

Hearings are scheduled today in Annapolis on several bills dealing with the Youghiogheny River's designation as a wild and scenic waterway.

Col. Richard S. Browning, president of the Youghiogheny River Property Owners Association, said this week that about ten representatives of the association were to testify today.

The first of the bills to be heard will be House Bill 782 by Del. DeCorsey Bolden (R-Allegany, Garrett), proposing to remove the Youghiogheny from the state Wild and Scenic Rivers law. The House Environmental Matters Committee was scheduled to hear the bill at noon.

At 1 p.m. another Bolden bill which is strongly backed by the property owners, House Bill 769, will be heard by the House Judiciary Committee. That bill proposes stiff fines for wanton trespassing and is designed to give the land owners a weapon in keeping their Youghiogheny property closed off to the public as a protest of state regulations for the river.

Meanwhile, two other bills dealing with the Youghiogheny controversy were to be heard at 1 p.m.

Both sponsored by Sen. Edward J. Mason (R-Allegany, Garrett), the bills propose to set up a negative easement system so that river property owners can receive compensation from the state if river regulations affect land use and values, and would require that at least two members of the Scenic and Wild Rivers Review Board be persons who own land continuous to the river.

Sen. Mason has said that there is little possibility for repeal of the Youghiogheny River law, therefore he decided to introduce his two bills to soften the effort of the law for landowners. SB461 provides for the easements and SB464 makes the board membership changes.

However, Col. Browning said he told that the property owners association will accept nothing short of an outright repeal of the law and is prepared to continue its fight against state regulations.

New Snow Blowers Arrive In County

The Garrett County Commissioners received word that the recently purchased snow blowers had arrived in the county on Saturday and are already in full operation cleaning up heavily drifted areas on county roads, which, though open, were still narrow in many areas.

The three new snow blowers and the one used blower will double the County Roads Department capacity for clearing deep snow and will greatly assist in future snow storms in keeping the roads open, according to the Commissioners office.

AN OFFICIAL SOUTHERN EXPOSURE — Mrs. Harold Trickett, representing the Southern High School Band Boosters, was presented an official letter from the County Commissioners designating the Southern Highlander Band as the official State Band to represent Maryland in the "Festival of States" next month in St. Petersburg, Florida. Left to right are Commissioners Wayne Hamilton and Don Bender, Mrs. Trickett, and George Edwards, Commissioner.

Two Jailed In Connection With Naylor's Larceny

Approximately 90 percent of the guns and other merchandise stolen from Naylor's Hardware Store in Oakland February 8 have been recovered, and two young men are currently in jail on breaking, entering and larceny charges.

Arrested late Saturday night in LaVale were David Lee Blank, 19, of Wellersburg, Pa., and Donnell Leon Wolfe, 18, Oakland. The two were originally charged with receiving stolen goods taken from the Naylor store after they were stopped by the State Police who were looking for two suspects in the armed robbery of the Trust Bank in the Narrows near Cumberland. The two youths were armed only with hunting knives at the time of their arrests.

They were held in the Allegany county jail in lieu of $5,000 bond each, although David Lee Blank was released for a time on his own recognizance until the larceny charges were filed. In charge of the case is Oakland police Sergeant Robert Shilladhorn, assisted by members of the Maryland State Police. The sheriff's department helped in the original investigations.

Some of the articles identified as being taken from Naylor's were in the car at the time of the boys' arrests. A total of $431 worth of goods, including four radios, 16 hunting knives and nine boxes of rifle and shotgun shells, was found in the boys' car.

A bond review hearing will be held today to determine if the bond may be lowered. Bond was originally set by Commissioner F. Allan Weatherholt, Sr., Cumberland, and they also later appeared before District Court Judge Miller Bowen.

At least 20 high caliber rifles and related hunting items valued at approximately $3,000 were taken from Naylor's Hardware Store on Liberty Street in Oakland sometime during the night of February 9. Entry to the building was made through an upstairs window.

Accident Man Is Indicted In Phony Football Bowl

A Garrett County man has been indicted by a Federal Grand Jury in Baltimore for allegedly preparing a phony college football bowl game.

The man was identified as Edward E. Proudfoot, Jr., of Street in Oakland sometime during the night of February 9. Entry to the building was made through an upstairs window.

The indictment says Proudfoot fraudulently sought authorization for the game from the National Collegiate Athletic Association and per-mitted athletic department needs and civic groups to take part in the scheme, pocketing the money they gave.

The indictment listed his victims as the NCAA, Radford College, the Town of Lake, the Akron, Ohio schools director, the principal of John H. Glenn High School in Huntington, N. V., and the Angola, Ind. Parents Music Club.

A spokesman said no trial date has been set.

County May Get Some Funding From Disaster Agency For Crippled Budgets

The wheels of federal funding assistance have begun to revolve in the wake of the designation of Garrett County as a disaster area, after six continuous weeks of abusive winter weather.

Guy Brackett, of the federal disaster administration, from Philadelphia, was among the men touring a tour of the county last week to determine what areas should be eligible for federal assistance.

Upon his departure, Mr. Brackett told the county commissioners he felt confident federal funds would be forthcoming, after the government officials saw the budget deficit. The entire county roads budget is not depleted, but will be before the end of the fiscal year thanks to the snowstorms.

Road maintenance costs have now soared at estimated $220,000 over the usual amount of money spent during a normal January.

Towns will also be able to qualify for funds, especially those municipalities which have been experiencing water line problems. Unincorporated towns such as Kempton, which was also having water difficulties, may apply for aid through the county commissioners' office.

The Maryland Manpower Advisory Board authorized expenditure of an additional $15,400 in the county to provide

Blaze Destroys Ridge Tavern

Firefighters from the Grantsville, Accident and Friendsville Fire Departments battled a blaze for nearly five hours last Thursday evening and Friday morning, which destroyed Ridge Tavern, located on Route 40 about one-half mile west of Keyser Ridge.

The fire was discovered by a passing motorist. He stopped at a residence nearby and summoned the fire department which arrived on the scene at 10:15 p.m.

High winds hampered firefighting efforts and the building was almost completely gutted. Water had to be transported from Grantsville.

The Deep Creek Fire Department was placed on standby to cover for Accident.

The building was owned by Willard F. Vonmeer and has been used as a residence by his daughter, Elizabeth A. Vonmeer, for the past six months. However, the tavern has not been occupied in recent months since Miss Vonmeer has been staying with her mother, Mrs. Marilyn Vonmeer, in the Jessups area.

Robert H. Shaner, fire investigator for Allegany and Garrett Counties, stated that all of Miss Vonmeers possessions had been stolen in a series of breaking and entering since December. This was confirmed by the State Police.

Forty-five men and 16 pieces of equipment were on the scene until 3:00 a.m. Friday morning.

Shooting Match To Be Sponsored For Heart Fund

A shooting match sponsored by Windy Knolls Steak House for benefit of the American Heart Association-Western Maryland Chapter, will be held Saturday, February 19, beginning at 1:00 p.m., at Windy Knolls, according to Shirley Hochstuhl, 1977 General Heart Fund Co-Chairman for Garrett County.

The match will be under the direction of Jim Stewart, with 12, 16 and 20 gauge shotguns being used. Hams, turkeys, bacon will be the prizes. Donations for the Heart Fund will be accepted.

Garrett School Officials Tell Woes To State

David Hornbeck, state superintendent of schools indicated Tuesday his support of and sympathy with the Garrett County Board of Education in trying to find a solution to the local dilemma over the 180-day school year law.

Garrett County children have now missed 29 days due to severe weather conditions.

Solutions to making up time to fulfill the current state law include lengthening the school day one hour, Saturday sessions, or both, or continuing school through June 30. The latter solution would still lack three days of meeting the 180-day law. Another alternative would be legislation to change the state law.

The state board may approve the longer school day, but legislation is required for Saturday school, or to modify or waive the law in the case of Garrett County.

Dr. William H. Buser, county superintendent of schools; Herbert Harman, president of the local Board of Education, and W. Brooks Hamilton, Board members, traveled to Baltimore Tuesday to meet with Mr. Hornbeck. Also attending the meeting were Joseph Shilling, deputy state superintendent of schools; and Malcolm Kitt, assistant to the Maryland Attorney General in the education department.

Mr. Hornbeck is presently talking to state Board members to determine the consensus of opinion on the amendment proposed by Del. DeCorsey Bolden and Del. John Ridley in the House of Delegates February 1, and a possible amendment to that bill.

An excerpt of their testimony bill is directed to the State Board of Education

Number of School Days and roads: The State Board of Education has the right to reduce or waive the minimum number of days required in a school year upon written application from any county Board of Education or the Board of School Commissioners of Baltimore City. The application shall contain a statement of the reasons for the request.

In any year where there is less than 180 school days, there shall be no diminution of education funding under the state formula.

The amendment would state the Board has the right to reduce, waive or modify the minimum number of days.

Sections of Article 77, Public School Laws of Maryland which determine calendar, school year and school day state that "All such public schools under the jurisdiction of Board of Education shall be kept open for not less than 180 actual school days during a ten-month period of each school year."

Two Charged With Murder To Have New Trial Here

Two men who were found guilty and sentenced to life in prison following a trial in Allegany County Circuit Court for the fatal shooting of a Hagerstown grocer on March 15, 1975 will be given a new trial beginning February 22 in Garrett County Circuit Court, Oakland.

Ralph C. Hull, operator of Hull's Market, Hagerstown, was fatally wounded while at his place of business.

Charged in the man's death are Isaac Newton Johnson, 25, Hagerstown, and Charles Terrell Walters, 28, Everett, Pa.

A motion for a new trial of Johnson was denied by Judge James S. Getty, presiding judge at the original trial. His judgment was affirmed by the Special Appeals of Maryland.

However on August 11, 1976, a hearing on a petition for post conviction relief was held before Judge Getty who granted a new trial.

The Court of Special Appeals granted a new trial for Walters. Judge Getty had denied a motion for a new trial.

Letters To Editor

Dear Editor:

In regard to school attendance ... Do the parents think the children learn so little while they are in school that they will fail if every minute is not made up? Do they have so little faith in their child's ability to learn? Or do the parents have so little confidence in their own abilities that they have to lean so heavily on the teachers?

Also, I believe school cancellations are made by the Board of Education and not road officials as stated last week. I do agree that the schools should ask all parents of children going to school to state their feelings on the matter and let the majority rule be their guide.

Pennsylvania students missed two months due to teachers strike and you don't hear anyone worrying about their students turning into morons.

Wake up, this is the space age and each generation is getting smarter.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Esther Thomas
Oakland

Dear Editor:

I am a tenth grade student at Southern High School and very much interested in all the talk about making up school.

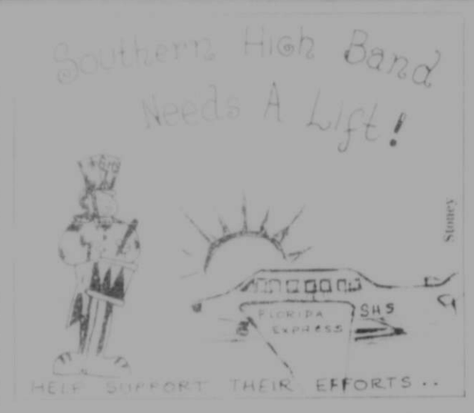

I am a very active and concerned student and I don't feel that we should have to make any days up after June 9th, 1977. Some students will become uncooperative with the teachers, and that will just make learning more difficult for the students who are trying to learn.

It's not our fault that mother nature wished it to snow this year. The crisis we have faced this winter has brought more people closer together by means of helping each other, and that's one thing we have never been taught in school.

What about the students who are planning summer jobs to make money to further their educations? Also, the school activities that start immediately following the dismissal of school?

I also live on a farm which will most definitely need my help come spring, and because I plan to make farming my future I feel it's much more important than making up 20 days of school. I'm not saying school's not important, but I and many others, I'm sure, don't think it's fair to the students or faculty.

Sincerely,
Susan Mason

Dear Sir:

Many of us will remember the winter of 1976-77 for years because of the snow and extreme cold in Garrett County, both of which were much harsher than that we have had in past years.

If we do, I hope we will also remember the dedicated and hard working men of the Garrett County Roads Department, who were out at all hours of the day and night, using the big yellow trucks and equipment to serve all of us over the county in sub-zero weather and driving snow.

Every man and woman in the department deserves our praise. Won't you join me in saluting each individual for a job well done.

Sincerely,
Robert L. Derrick
Grantsville

To the Editor:

At a recent meeting of the Northern High Athletic Boosters Club, Coach Mike Sines complimented your paper on its new sports page. We as an organization, and I personally feel that the sports page is one of the best things that could have happened to sports in Garrett County. It not only lets you find the sports news easily, but as Coach Sines commented, it brings out community pride.

We sports fans in Garrett County not only have one school we can be proud of, but two. I personally feel that the schools in Garrett County and the athletes are overlooked by the Cumberland Times. The athletes and school events don't receive as much publicity as they deserve. Your recent article on Tony Artice was excellent. The Northern Athletic Boosters Club want to compliment you on a great job and say, keep up the good work.

Yours in sports,
John G. Braskey

County May Get

short-term labor to help cope with the emergency situations. Sixteen people were hired through the program, administered by the Community Action Committee with funds from the Federal Labor department. Workers hired were preferably to be those out of work due to the weather conditions.

Additional funds were made available this week, to hire nine more workers. The funds must be used up by the end of February. These workers have been assigned to the Oakland, Friendsville and Grantsville towns to help thaw and repair water lines, and this week were also working in Kempton which had lost its water supply.

Mr. Hamilton, as Energy Officer for Garrett County, requested additional fuel supplies to the county January 20, when fuel usage was running approximately 30 percent ahead of normal winter consumption. He was permitted to draw upon the state's allotment reserve of fuel, which was then trucked from the various sources to the county.

The state also provided aid by mobilizing the National Guard with its men and equipment, who spent last week assisting the county roads department in opening rural roads.

Citizens Give "Thumbs Down" To Congressional Pay Raise

Trying to find a citizen who was in favor of the pending congressional pay raise became more than arduous after two days of questioning residents about the issue.

Recently, Congress proposed a pay increase for themselves that would add $13,000 to their salary of $44,600. Unless the proposal is vetoed by the new President, the pay increase will automatically take effect February 19.

This reporter took to the streets to find out from Mr. and Mrs. John Q. Public, just exactly how they felt on the controversial subject.

Bud Shaffer, maintenance man for Alpine Village, was disappointed when he remarked, "I say, no. We can hardly keep up with the rising cost of living now. They're pushing us up against the wall."

Bertha Sanders, of Oakland, responded with, "I think it's ridiculous! Look at the average pay in the county. It's hard to believe they would push for a raise in salary at this time. It's just hard to believe."

A similar criticism came from Dorothy Alexander, clerk at the Army-Navy store on Alder street. "The timing is all wrong. The economic situation is too adverse to warrant a congressional pay raise at this time."

Margaret Mance, also of Oakland, gave a "thumbs down" gesture when she spoke of "congressional spending being too extravagant in areas of transportation." Miss Mance concluded by saying, "It just isn't justifiable at this time."

Harold Hinebaugh, of Crellin, said, "It's ridiculous. A petition should be circulated to stop the effort by congress before the bill is passed."

Near Swanton, the story is much the same. Hannah Green referred to the issue as "absurd," saying, "the taxpayer is already overtaxed and that it would only drain the burdened citizen even more."

After hearing citizens speak out on the issue, it became apparent that they simply couldn't fathom Congress suggesting a pay raise at this awkward time when the nation is enduring one of the worst winters in their history. Should the congressional pay raise be forced on the taxpayer at this particular time, it would only add to the already unbearable chill factor.

Garrett School

"Schools shall be kept open each day during the school year, except Saturday, Sunday and holidays, for not less than six hours."

This latter section does not prohibit local schools from remaining open more than six hours per day, but Dr. Buser has said there will be no change in the length of the school day until after the local Board meets March 10.

The possibilities for making up the 20 days lost due to snowstorms and road conditions was the principal topic of discussion at a well-attended meeting of the Board last Thursday in Oakland.

Among those present from the Board were Herbert Harman, president; Clarence Stem, vice president; Robert Diehl, Brooks Hamilton and Troy Gnegy.

Others present in official capacities were William Goldsborough, state Board of Education member; Dr. Richard Ahlberg, state superintendent's liaison to the county; Delbert Bittinger, president of the bus contractors' association; Kenneth Bittinger, representing the administrators and supervisors' group in the county; Mrs. Judith France, president of the Garrett County Teachers' Association; Mrs. Bobbi Genco, president of the county council of PTA's; Mrs. Frances Riley, on the transportation committee, and Mrs. Dorothy Leighton, representing the League of Women Voters.

There were also several other teachers and parents present, along with members of Dr. Lillian Mitchell's "Foundation of Education" class at GCC.

Dr. Buser began the meeting by explaining the sections of law dealing with the length of the school year. Others were then asked to present ideas for possible solutions to the present situation.

Mrs. France told the group that the teachers were most willing to cooperate in whatever ways necessary to get the required 180 days, but that if at all possible, their group would prefer to make up the time before the scheduled June 10 school closing date. Petitions are now being circulated in the county stating the teachers' position and requesting parental support on this issue.

Mrs. Genco sympathized with that wish, but stated that she felt closing schools arbitrarily on June 10 was unfair to the children unless all lost educational time had been made up.

Kenneth Bittinger expressed concern with lost time resulting in lost credit hours needed by high school students. Deb Bittinger, speaking for the bus drivers, reminded the group how unprofitable Saturday bus operation would be for a half-day of school.

Mrs. Leighton pointed out that she felt the issue is bigger than convenience or inconvenience, and that the group must first consider the education of their children. She also brought out that longer days are a hardship for the youngest students and for those who must board buses very early in the morning.

By the close of this topic of discussion, the group appeared to agree that an amendment to the Bolden legislation was the most appropriate and practical solution and this was broached at Tuesday's meeting with Mr. Hornbeck.

Senior Citizens Activate Program At Center Street

PIECING TOGETHER A SOCIAL PROGRAM are members of the Senior Citizens' Club. Shown holding a newly created quilt are Mrs. Tranum and Mrs. Mary Browning. Other members are caught in the act of making necklaces out of paper clips.

The Senior Citizens Center opened Monday on schedule at the Oakland Branch of the Garrett Community College, located on Center Street.

The center is open Monday through Friday from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. with special activities set aside for each day.

Shown in the photograph are, "Seniors" participating in an arts and crafts session, and in the background is a pair of enthusiastic members cutting out panel pieces to be used in the new kitchen.

Some members are currently involved in individual as well as group projects. Mrs. Tranum is finishing up last minute touches on a quilt, while others are busy creating necklaces out of paper clips.

Mr. Robert Ford urges others to participate in the program because of its availability and its usefulness in creating a social atmosphere for county residents.

Mrs. Mary Browning was very pleased with the program and said that better weather would improve the attendance at the center.

time getting them thawed, even with the use of welders.

Several more workers have been added to those fighting the frozen lines through the community Manpower Development funds currently being administered by the Garrett County Community Action Committee. These men are helping to thaw lines as well as carrying water to individual homes.

Mayor Swartzentruber stated that the workmen are doing everything humanly possible to restore service to those homes without water.

He also urged homeowners who still have water to leave a faucet open so that water can flow all the time, to help prevent the lines from freezing. freezeups are also urged to leave one faucet open, so that pipes will not burst when water is restored.

Some residents whose neighbors still have water have been able to run a garden hose from house to house, providing water to the residents who otherwise would be without. The hose should be insulated by covering with snow, and water should be left running so the hose will not freeze.

People with hot water heat in their homes should keep a watchful eye on the pressure gauge, and should also turn off the water valve on the furnace so pressure will remain fairly constant.

Mayor Swartzentruber reminds residents that the town is responsible for the main water lines only, and that lines frozen under home owners' properties is the individual's responsibility. Some homeowners have been hiring men to work to thaw their lines at the homeowners expense, but often these efforts are balked by the solidly frozen lines.

Mr. Swartzentruber and the town council have agreed to adjust the users' water rates for those who have kept their water running.

Additional Recent Mishaps Caused By Snowy Roads

Snowcovered roads caused some mishaps Sunday, February 6, at various locations.

A 'back-up' type accident occurred on Main street in Deer Park about 7 a.m. Marie S. Malarkey, Terra Alta, W. Va., had pulled off the roadway and stopped. She then pulled into a roadway and stopped again with the intention of backing onto a parking lot across the street. Dennis E. Savage, RD 1, Oakland, southbound on Main street was unable to stop on the snowcovered road and struck the Malarkey car. Tfc. C. H. Hinnant investigated.

Vernon A. Karst, White Hall, had stopped on McHenry road waiting to turn on to County route 343. John F. Maas, Baltimore, southbound on Rt. 343, attempted to turn left onto McHenry road, skidded on the icy road and struck the Karst car. Tfc. L. R. Rosage investigated the 11 a.m. mishap.

John R. White, RD 3, Deer Park, was eastbound on the Bethlehem road about 2 miles east of Md. 560 about 2 p.m. as Paul W. Campbell, Rawlings, was westbound. Both attempted to pass on the road narrowed by snow drifts. Campbell pulled into a snowdrift causing his car to swing around and be struck by the White car. A passenger in the Campbell car, Swan M. Campbell, Rawlings, was slightly injured in the accident investigated by Tfc. Rosage.

Cobey Yutzy, RD 2, Frostburg, was westbound on U.S. 40 at the Lower New Germany road about 11:30 a.m. He began to pass a vehicle on the right that had left turn signals flashing. The van truck operated by Stephen P. Klett, Adelphia, was unable to stop on the snowcovered road to turn and proceeded west on Rt. 40. Yutzy was unable to get back on the road or get stopped and struck a guard rail. Tfc. C. H. Hinnant investigated.

Automobile Tag Renewal Forms To Be Withheld

About 25,000 Maryland automobile owners will not receive their license tag renewal applications this year. These renewal applications are being withheld by the Motor Vehicle Administration because of unsatisfied safety equipment repair orders that have been issued by police.

Before a motorist with an outstanding equipment order can obtain a tag renewal form, his title file at the Motor Vehicle Administration must be cleared. This can be accomplished by certifying that the needed repair work has been performed and obtaining a release from the State Police Automotive Safety Enforcement Division in Pikesville.

If a motorist has lost his repair order, a duplicate copy can be obtained from the State Police. Any person needing assistance with the problem can contact any State Police installation or Motor Vehicle Administration field office for help.

Drunk Driving Draws $500 Fine

Two more were fined for drunk driving in District Court by Judge Lewis R. Jones, one paying a $500 fine. Two others stood trial during the week ending February 15.

Anthony Joseph DelSignore, Midland, pleaded not guilty of driving or attempting to drive while intoxicated. He was found guilty and fined $500 and costs.

Roy Weston Sweitzer, Mt. Lake Park, pleaded not guilty of driving or attempting to drive while ability was impaired by alcohol. He was found guilty and fined $100 and costs. Of the fine, $75 was suspended on condition he attend the DWI School.

Roy Emery Shaffer, Jr., Frostburg, pleaded guilty of driving a motor vehicle without a license and was fined $35.

Roy Dale Tharp, Frostburg, pleaded not guilty of permitting an unauthorized person to drive a motor vehicle. He was placed on probation before judgment and paid costs.

Three others forfeited collateral.

Exceeding the posted speed limit, $40: Jeffrey Lynn Grubb, Martinsburg, W. Va., and Robert N. Shocky, Daily, W. Va.

Failing to obey a traffice light (red), $15, Michael Eugene Evans, RD 1, Oakland.

Amounts shown include fine and costs unless otherwise noted.

Local Democrat Committee Fined

The Democrat State Central Committee of Garrett County and the Republican State Central Committee of Allegany County were two of a dozen state political committees fined by the Maryland Board of Elections for failure to file required reports on time from the 1976 general election.

Garrett County's unit was fined $70, the Allegany group $10.

A total of $1,000 in fines have been assessed under a new state law that went into effect January 1 and mandates fines for committees not filing campaign finance reports by January 3, 60 days after the general election.

State law requires reports on committees' fund-raising activities for candidates and their party, but Willard A. Morris, state supervisor of elections, said the law is widely ignored.

The new law gives the state the power to assess fines for late filing of the reports, but the penalties cannot be paid from party funds. The chairman or treasurer is personally responsible for the fines, which can be up to $250. "Only at this point have the local committees started to file reports that have been due for years," Morris said.

Nine of the 12 committees penalized are local county Republican and Democratic central committees.

Taxpayers Filing For Refund Checks Earlier This Year

"Maryland income taxpayers are filing for refund checks much quicker this year than in 1976, a good indication of the effects of the harsh winter on employment and earnings throughout Maryland," State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein said today. "We have sent out 58,484 refund checks already this year, a 14.44 percent increase over the number we had mailed by this date last year."

Comptroller Goldstein noted that the amount of the average individual refund check is currently $152.27, compared with an average of $131.12 at this time in 1976.

"We have refunded a total of $8.9 million thus far in 1977, compared with $6.7 million for the same period of 1976," Mr. Goldstein said. "Our computer center is operating 24 hours per day helping to process these refund checks and getting this money to our Maryland taxpayers and into circulation in our State's economy."

Maryland State and local income tax collections for Fiscal Year 1977 to date total $619,916,694, an 8.34 percent increase over the $572,165,932 collected for the same period of the previous fiscal year.

VA Offers Increase In Medical Care

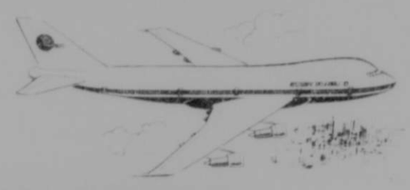

The Veterans Administration wants 400,000 disabled veterans to know they have potential eligibility for increased medical care from the VA as a result of recently expanded benefits included in the Veterans Omnibus Health Care Act of 1976.

Included in the new law was extension of outpatient care for treatment of any medical condition to veterans with 50 percent or more service-connected disabilities. Previously, outpatient treatment for any condition was limited to veterans with service disabilities rated at 80 percent or higher.

There are about 320,000 veterans nationwide rated at 50 through 70 percent on VA compensation rolls, according to VA Regional Director, John W. Rue. Each of these veterans will receive a letter advising him of the new outpatient eligibility.

Complete information on all VA medical benefits can be obtained from any VA office or hospital or from the major veterans organizations.

Field Of Seventy-Five Contestants Compete In Cross-Country Race

Cross country ski winners in Saturday's races at New Germany were, left, Doug Carlson, Alexandria, Va., 18-34 year-old class; and Paul Naylor, Oakland, in the 11-17 year-old class.

Local Youth Wins Class, Second Overall

Despite threatening skies and a false start last year, the First Annual Meadow Mountain Family Cross-Country race got underway in New Germany State Park, Saturday.

Topping the field of 75 racers was Doug Carlson of Alexandria, Virginia, with a time of 33 minutes, 48 seconds for the 7.5 kilometer course. Carlson currently with the U.S. Air Force, has been cross-country skiing for 13 years mostly in Minnesota. his stamina paid off to give him the fastest overall time of all classes. He competed in the 18-34 year old class.

Second overall, and winning the 11-17 year old class was Paul Naylor, who has been cross-country skiing only since Christmas. Paul's time was 36:48 for a little over four miles. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Naylor, Oakland, and a junior at Southern High School.

Established by the Maryland Department of Natural Resources last year, the Western Maryland event was cancelled due to the lack of skiable snow. This year, however, there was plenty of snow to cover the four mile track through the mountain terrain and over New Germany lake.

Of the 75 entrants about 65 racers completed the course.

The race is expected to be held again next year in Garrett County's mountains providing conditions are as agreeable as they were this year. Persons wishing to cross-country ski in Western Maryland should contact the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council in Oakland.

Lakers Whip Takoma Park

Last Saturday night at the McHenry campus, one more conference victory was added by the Lakers, whipping Takoma Park, 74-55.

The win gave the Lakers an 8-4 conference record with only three more games to play in the season, one of which was played last night.

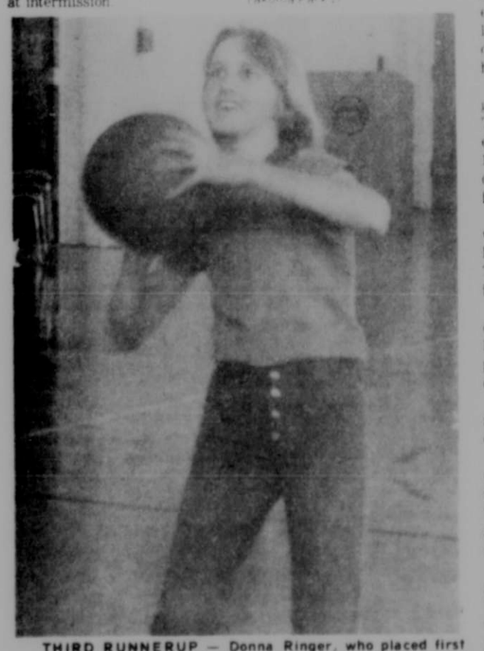

John Guadanigno, freshman at GCC, racked up an impressive twenty points to lead the Lakers, followed by Mike Grove who added 12 and teammate, Ed Danel netting 10.

For the Takoma squad, it was Lacey grabbing 14 and Smith and McGillicuddy marking 24 between them.

Coach Holzshu used every man in uniform in the second half after holding a 38-27 lead at intermission.

In addition to the Lakers meet last night with Dundalk, the McHenry squad will pair off with Beaver C.C. Friday at the Lakers gym and will wind up the season Sunday when they meet Howard at 2 p.m. on the McHenry hardwoods.

THIRD RUNNERUP — Donna Ringer, who placed first in the Tri-State Elks Free Throw Hoop shooting contest held at the Naval Academy February 5, traveled to Morgantown last Saturday to compete in the Regional Semifinals. Donna won third runnerup in that competition and received a plaque for her efforts. Had she won this competition, she would have gone to Kansas City for the National Finals. Donna was sponsored by the local Elks Lodge #2481. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ringer, of Accident.

Lakers Gain Revenge Over Dundalk

John Guadagnino beat the final buzzer out and scored a two-pointer that put the Lakers ahead, 62-61, last night at the McHenry campus against Dundalk.

The Lakers were trailing by as many as 14 points early in the first quarter of play and continued to trail Dundalk throughout most of the game.

The Dundalk lead dwindled in the final quarter of play and the contest became a clock-watch activity to see which team would wind up on top.

Several time-outs were called by Coach Holzshu and the Lakers seemed to calm down after each huddle. Shutting off Dave Hopla, of Dundalk was good strategy, and the Lakers were able to hold him to only 14 points.

Tom Panther paced the Lakers with 18 points while John Guadagnino added another 14 for the evening.

Bill McGarvey scooped in 12 and teammate, Mike Grove sunk another 11 for the team effort.

The Lakers outgoaled Dundalk, 29-26, and converted 10 of 13 foul shots compared to 3 of 6 effort for the losers.

Clark and Wright, of the Dundalk team, racked up a 32 point score for their squad.

John Guadagnino took aim with only two seconds left in the contest. The ball hit the backboard and fell through the hoop to score for the Lakers.

The final buzzer could not be heard as the energized fans spilled out onto the hardwoods where they raised the Lakers to the rafters.

The Lakers lost to Dundalk earlier this season.

Rams Upset Bishop Walsh

The Southern High Rams achieved one of the biggest area upsets of the season last Friday night on the home floor as they soundly defeated the Bishop Walsh Spartans in a Potomac Valley Conference contest, 85-71.

The loss was the first of the year for the Spartans in eight PVC outings, whose overall record was 16-2 before going into the game with Southern.

Southern maintained the lead throughout the contest, ahead 21-19, 39-35 and 58-52 at the quarters, and then pulling away in the final eight minutes.

Southern coach Don Stemple said that the Rams' outstanding rebounding and 81% shooting from the foul line were the deciding factors in the game. The Rams out-rebounded BW by a 48-23 margin.

Ken Niner was virtually unstoppable at the net and on the boards as he connected for 32 points and an unbelievable 24 rebounds, which was one more than the entire Bishop Walsh team.

Steve Liller also had a good evening, hitting 23 points and Fred Griffith added 13.

Four Spartans reached double figures. Andy Ingram tallied 21 markers, Kevin Carcella hit 18, Jim McIntyre, 14 and Larry Mead, ten.

Southern outshot the Spartans from the floor by a 34-31 margin and the Rams converted 17 of 21 attempts from the foul line compared to nine of 14 by Bishop Walsh.

The win improved Southern's season record to 9-7 and 4-3 in the PVC and avenged an earlier one-point loss to the Spartans this season, 67-66, in a January 14 contest.

Huskies Score Two Wins

After losing a one-point, overtime contest with Turkeyfoot on February 3, the Northern Huskies gained revenge last Friday evening as they downed the Pennsylvanians handily, 52-38, at Northern.

Throughout most of the game, it looked as though Turkeyfoot would again emerge victorious, as they led 14-8, at the end of the first quarter and by seven points at halftime, 25-18.

However, the second half was a different story as the Huskies came out and outshot Turkeyfoot 34-13 for the come-from-behind win.

Tony Doerr continued his outstanding play this season, leading Northern with 17 points. Rod Youmans was close behind, netting 16.

Carnell paced the losers with nine points, as no one hit double figures for Turkeyfoot.

The Huskies didn't cool down over the weekend and continued their winning ways Tuesday evening at home against Oldtown, handing the visitors a 94-82 setback.

Oldtown couldn't stop the superb offensive efforts of Tony Doerr and Rod Youmans who scored 34 and 31 points, respectively. Al Skidmore also turned in a good performance, netting 15 for Northern.

Northern was on top by only five at the half, but a 33-point final quarter produced the 12-point victory. Oldtown led 18-17 at the end of the first quarter.

Greg Keister paced all scorers with 35 and Rick Schaidt added 18 for the Indians.

The contest was loaded with fouls, the Huskies converting 32 of 48 free throws. Four of Oldtown's starters fouled out of the game.

This was the second victory over Oldtown this season by the Huskies.

Northern will return to action tomorrow night at home against Bruceton Mills. On February 21 they will face Beall, at home; February 25, Southern away, and will round out the season with Bruce on February 26 at home. Playoffs will begin the first week of March.

Susan Eberly Is Grand Achiever Whether On Or Off The Hardwoods

Susan Eberly takes a "last, serious look" at the hoop before getting ready for cross-county rival, Northern. The Southern girls went on to edge out Northern, 31-30.

Susan Eberly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Eberly, of Oakland, plays a "mean tune" on and off the basketball court.

Miss Eberly, a senior at Southern High School first discovered the hoop game in her sophomore year and has since racked up an impressive record of statistics for her team.

Susan is one of three Southern High girls who will be featured in this September's issue of "Who's Who In American High School Athletics." The annual publication is made up of outstanding students who have excelled in the sports arena. Teammates Mary Crumley and Pam Trickett will also be listed.

Susan is presently enjoying an average score of twenty points per game with a 64% free-throw average at the foul line. In rebounds, young Eberly grabs an average of nine per game for her team.

"With our coach, Helen Rostosky, we manage to practice approximately eight hours per week and often we meet on weekends in the gym to polish up before an important game," she explained. "This year, we have had a general hassle in re-scheduling postponed games due to bad weather on the mountaintop. We would get ready only to have game after game cancelled until a break in the weather occurred," Susan continued.

Returning to the season she spoke of the Southern team as, "The best."

"This year our team gave a good showing in basketball and our efforts were put to the test when we went everywhere for a victory. We have managed to build a very good base for next year's squad," she pointed out.

The pretty senior noted that other outside activities include skiing and music. Of music she said, "I like all types from rock and roll to classical."

As of this writing, Susan has been accepted at the Shenandoah Conservatory of Music located in Winchester, Va., and West Virginia University in Morgantown. Of the two, she commented, "I am now leaning to the Conservatory as they have both a good music department as well as a competitive basketball team. At WVU, the team for this year has probably already been decided, whereas at the conservatory, I would fair better in getting on the team."

One brother, John, is a student at West Virginia University, while a younger brother, David, is a sophomore at her alma mater, Southern.

For approximately ten years Susan has played the piano and flute with equal expertise. Locally, she alternates with Mrs. Donald R. Sincell, who plays the organ at St. Mark's Lutheran Church in Oakland. Often she is summoned to play for weddings and special occasions in the area.

As we concluded the interview, Susan asked, "Is that all?" She finished her glass of cola and left, adding, "Thank you."

Actually it is only the beginning. Besides her obvious ability on the hardwoods, scholastically the story is the same. Susan presently has a 3.4 average out of a possible 4.0 mark.

Whether Susan accepts the Shenandoah offer or the one from WVU we have not heard the last from Eberly.

Following the parade Saturday night there will be live entertainment at the Winterfest Dance celebrating the second day of Winterfest IV.

On Sunday the slalom and cross-country ski races continue, followed by one of the more unique parts of the Winterfest schedule, The Yakapa Parade, where skiers dress in zany costumes and parade down the mountain at 12 noon.

Mr. Lear said that the most exciting of all competitions begins Sunday afternoon at 2 p.m. with the snowmobile hill-climb. "This is a real test of man and machine pitted against the steep incline of the Wisp Ski Resort's famous Face slope. This grueling contest of endurance proved to be the most exciting part of last year's Winterfest."

Most of the events are designed for public participation, Mr. Lear said.

All proceeds will go towards community projects and the Lions' program for the sightless. For more information call (301) 387-5581 or for accommodations information call (301) 334-3888.

Area Weather Is Less Wintry

Less wintry weather was experienced on the Mountain Top during the past week. Temperatures were almost up to normal and only an inch and a half of snow.

Temperatures were so high that there was a little rain Saturday night. Skies had been mostly clear from Thursday up until cloudy conditions set in Saturday. Temperatures dropped Sunday with the rain changing to flurries. Monday morning was clear but this did not last long as clouds gathered bringing some light snow by night. Skies were variably cloudy Tuesday with a few light snow flurries. Skies were cloudy early yesterday with light flurries and then variably cloudy the rest of the day. This morning the sun was shining brightly. Precipitation totaled .3 inch, 1.4 inches as snow.

For the first time this year temperatures were almost normal, only 4 degree below normal. Highs averaged 40.1 degrees or .3 degree below normal. The high was a spring-like 56 degrees last Friday. It was 49 the day before. The mercury went above freezing every day but yesterday when it got up only to 21 degrees. Highs averaged 17.7 degrees or .3 degree below normal. The low was this morning's one degree above zero. From Friday through Monday low temperatures remained in the 20s.

Ed Beckman, member of the Deep Creek Fire Department, responded to the scene as the alarm was turned in to Deep Creek. He managed to shut off the power that fed the overheated stove which stopped any possible spread of the fire.

Blowing Snow, Slick Roads Cause Mishaps

Poor visibility due to blowing snow and slippery roads caused a large number of accidents last week and into Sunday. Several persons were injured.

Three mishaps were noted Sunday.

Dorothy J. Crawford, Uniontown, Pa., northbound on U.S. 219 near Bumble Bee road attempted to avoid a car parked on the shoulder of the road. Her car skidded on the snow covered road, and struck the unknown vehicle. The vehicle then left the scene of the accident investigated by Tfc. L. N. Smith.

The driver, Winona R. Alexander and her passenger Barry Ball, both of Alder Street, Oakland, were slightly injured in a mishap about two hours later than the above. The Alexander car and a pickup driven by Philson D. Hinebaugh, also of Alder Street, were southbound on U.S. 219 near the Jasper Riley road. The Alexander car was traveling slow due to poor visibility. Hinebaugh entering the gust of snow, could not see the car and struck it.

About the same time Debra J. Lounsburg, Bowie, was traveling west on U.S. 48 near the Finzel road. Her car skidded out of control, spun around, struck a guard rail, veered across the two west-bound traffic lanes and struck a guard rail on the median strip. Tfc. D. K. Williams investigated.

Two Friday wrecks were noted.

Paul F. Deal, Mt. Lake Park, was northbound on U.S. 219 just north of the Oakland town limits about 1 p.m. Bessie J. Canan, RD 1, Oakland, was pulling from a parking lot. A third vehicle was stopped on the northbound lane to make a left turn. Deal passed the stopped car on the right and was struck by the Canan car. Tfc. E. J. Upole investigated.

About two hours later Eugene L. Shreve, Mt. Lake Park, was westbound on Md. 135 at old 219 at Foodland. Margaret E. Robway, 10th street, Oakland, pulled from a stop sign on old 219 and into the path of the Shreve pickup. Salem Shreve, a passenger in the pickup and the Robway woman received slight injuries in the mishap investigated by Tfc. Upole.

Three wrecks occurred last Thursday.

About 9 a.m. two cars met on the snow-narrowed Accident-Bittinger road near the Ronald Georg road. Diana Sue Deal, Star Route, Accident, applied her brakes, skidded and struck the rear of the car of Raymond Bender, Collier Road, Accident. Tfc. R. C. Georg investigated.

About 1 p.m. the car of George A. Shimer was parked, headed east on the north shoulder of U.S. 40. Thomas D. Durst, Grantsville, attempted to park in front of the Shimer car but struck it and left the scene without identifying himself. Tfc. Georg charged Durst with failing to leave proper identification.

Just before 8 p.m. Richard I. Weeks, Roanoke Avenue, Loch Lynn, pulled from a private driveway on to Broad Ford road and into the path of a pickup driven by Thomas A. Allen, Baltimore. Allen was unable to stop due to the snow covered road. Weeks and a passenger, Donald Williams, were slightly injured.

Last Tuesday two cars met on the snow-narrowed Ben DeWitt road not far from U.S. 219. Alfred A. Moats, Rowlesburg, W. Va., was traveling east as Harold C. Pennington, Cresaptown, was driving west. Pennington stopped to allow Moats to pass. Moats skidded on the icy road into the Pennington pickup. Tfc. L. R. Rosage investigated.

Four mishaps were noted the previous day, Monday.

Ernest L. Metz, Jr., Rt. 219, Oakland, was westbound on the Glendale road near the Paradise Point road just before 3 p.m. and collided with a car of Grace L. Stutt, RD 4, Oakland. How the accident happened is not certain due to conflicting stories according to Tfc. E. J. Upole.

Susan V. Chiaramont, Woodlawn, was headed west on U.S. 48 about 3:20 a.m. She apparently fell asleep, ran off the road into deep snow, hit a guard rail and overturned. Tfc. G. A. Berkebile investigated.

Dewey L. Wakefield, RD 1, Friendsville, and Larry A. Reese, Bruceton Mills, W. Va., met on a sharp curve on the Foxter road near Md. 42 just after 1 p.m. Wakefield hit a snowbank and turned around into the path of the Reese car. Tfc. R. C. Georg investigated.

Two cars met at the intersection of Md. 135 and Main Street, Deer Park, about 8 a.m. Michael W. Howell, RD 1, Swanton, was westbound on Rt. 135. Linda S. Fitts, Kitzmiller, northbound on Main street attempted to cross Rt. 135 and was struck by the Howell car. View of the road was blocked by a huge snow pile according to Tfc. Rosage.

SOMETIMES... SO DARK

There is no denying that there's much sadness in the world. And if we let pessimism get the better of us—well, it gets mighty dark sometimes!

But some of the darkness is self-inflicted. The eyes through which we're trying to see are obsessed with our own problems. The light of hope is hidden by the frustrations of life.

Jesus Christ should never be thought of as a sad man—even though He was cruelly executed. And the apostles are seldom thought of as tragic figures even though they all became martyrs. And Christianity has been a source of strength and comfort to millions in time of suffering or sadness. It has always been hailed as a joyous religion!

Come with us Sunday and face the Light.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

TAKE ME TO YOUR HOUSE

Lesson for February 20, 1977

Background Scripture
Mark 9:33-50; Luke 19:1-10
Devotional Reading
Proverbs 3:7-14

Several years ago I arrived in the city of Jericho late in the afternoon following a long, hot, dusty drive across the Negev desert and along the Dead Sea. The familiar low skyline of Jericho was a welcome sight to me, for Jericho is actually an oasis in the midst of the barren salt flats surrounding the Dead Sea. I remembered that somewhere in the town center there was a little shop where the man would squeeze big, juicy Jericho oranges into a tall refreshing drink. As I drove down the palm tree-shaded streets of what many regard as the world's oldest inhabited city, it was easy for me to see Jesus walking along this same street and short Zacchaeus peering down from a palm tree.

Rev. Althouse

Zacchaeus, come down!

It occurred to me that Zacchaeus probably had to climb the tree not only because he was short in stature, but also because he wanted to avoid mixing with the crowds. It was no secret to anyone. Zacchaeus was a despised man with whom no one wanted to associate. He was after all a tax collector for the Roman and occupation government. There was no vocation more despised than his. Then too, he probably had a reputation for being a cheat as well. Yes, Zacchaeus was up a tree for more than one reason!

Yet though he had been written off by his fellow citizens of Jericho, Zacchaeus was not dead inside. Hearing of the approach of the much-heralded Nazarene prophet (and some said, the Messiah), perhaps Zacchaeus felt a small surge of hope for himself. At least he was curious enough to want to see Jesus for himself. Perhaps as the Nazarene healed people of physical ills, he could somehow make his life whole again.

But he got much more than he had bargained for. At most he had hoped for a healing glance or word or maybe a touch from the Master. Imagine his delighted surprise then when Jesus looked up and hailed him with "Zacchaeus, make haste and come down, for I must stay at your house today." There in front of everyone who despised him, who looked down upon him, Jesus looked up and announced that he would honor him by staying in his house!

They all murmured

The people were shocked. "He has gone in to be the guest of a man who is a sinner." Yes once again Jesus displayed that unpredictable tendency to go to people who needed him, not those who believed they deserved him. We can imagine that there were several people in that crowd who had hoped that Jesus might spend the night with them. Perhaps they were insulted that he chose a disreputable wretch like Zacchaeus.

As I sipped my orange juice in the cool of the shade of a towering palm, I smiled to myself as I put myself in Zacchaeus' place. How excited he must have been as Jesus entered his house. Assured that God loved him despite the hostility of the community, Zacchaeus' heart overflows in grateful commitment. He will return to anyone he has cheated four times what he took from them and he will give half of his wealth to the poor. There will be a new Zacchaeus from this day forward!

Have you considered what might happen if Jesus were to come to your house?

John Howell Named Resident Of The Month

John Howell, seated, was honored at the Cuppett-Weeks Nursing Home, for being selected as "Resident of the Month." Standing, from left to right, are members of his family, Fred Howell, son, Mrs. Mabel Friend, daughter, and Carl Howell, son.

At the Cuppett-Weeks Nursing Home, Monday afternoon, resident John Howell was given a party by staff and relatives to honor him for being chosen, "Resident of the Month."

The monthly honor is coordinated by Peggy DiSimone, Activities Director for the Nursing Home.

Mr. Howell, 87, was chosen by fellow residents at the center, because of his interesting background. Born at North Glade, near Swanton, he is the father of five children, fifteen grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren.

Most of his adult life was centered around the B&O Railroad, where he worked as a crew man in Keyser and in Terra Alta, and around logging camps on the Savage River.

"Mr. Howell has a remarkable knowledge of Garrett County and enjoys reminiscing about the 'Good Ol Logging and Railroad Days,'" stated Mrs. DiSimone.

State Senate Passes Helmet Law Repeal

Legislation to repeal the law requiring all motorcycle riders to wear protective crash helmets was passed by the Maryland Senate Tuesday and sent to the House of Delegates.

Final vote was 31-13. The legislation, sponsored by Sen. Peter Bozick, (D-Prince Georges), would not apply to bikers under 18 because people this age are legally not adults and should not be allowed to make such life-and-death decisions.

Older Americans Act To Provide Aid For Elderly

The Federal Government has authorized the State of Maryland to use its resources under the Older Americans Act to aid the elderly during the national weather crisis. Following a conference with Governor Marvin Mandel, Dr. Matthew Tayback, State Director on Aging, said: "The Governor has directed the Maryland Office on Aging to proceed immediately in implementing this Federal authorization in order to meet emergency needs of our older citizens."

Title III and Title VII funds of the Older Americans Act may be diverted to take care of critical necessities like food and fuel. Such aid may be extended to persons 60 and over. Elderly people in a serious state of emergency should contact their local units on aging who are working closely with county government agencies handling weather-related problems.

"Numerous emergencies experienced by our older people have been met successfully by organizations at the local level," said Dr. Tayback, "and Older Americans Act funds will supplement their activities. In some cases, Senior Aides who provide services to the elderly in their communities are extending their working hours to deal with urgent situations."

The authorization to use Older Americans Act funds comes from Arthur S. Flemming, Commissioner on Aging with the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

GARRETT COMMUNITY COLLEGE

The "Spring of '76"

By C.A. Lovett

Last August twenty-six-year-old Stan Romeka stopped by Deep Creek Lake, saw the Garrett Community College sign, and decided to enroll in the General Studies Program. Accompanying him were Charlie, his pet raccoon, and the "Spring of '76," his hand-carved sailboat.

Six years ago Stan designed the boat he had always dreamed of building. He began the "Spring of '76" in 1975 and worked a year and a half at a farm in Mt. Airy, Maryland, before she was ready for her maiden voyage, which took place Easter Day, 1976, on the Gunpowder River in Baltimore County.

According to Stan, his boat is constructed of woods that can be found only in Africa, China, and Russia. Leeboards are African Mahogany; the outriggers and the nine-foot hull are "polonia" or "royal emperest" from China — the pods of which have been used in the Orient to pack fragile items for shipping. The mast is Russian Larch.

Stan first used a chain saw to cut the log for the hull; then he used an adz for hollowing and shaping. The third tool Stan used was a hatchet to continue shaping the hull as well as the mast. A knife was used to hollow the front part of the hull (the bow) and for finish work. To cut the lengths and extensions of the outriggers, Stan chose a hand saw. Lastly, a torch was used to burn the interior and exterior providing a layer of carbon to preserve the wood from the elements.

The boat measures nine feet in length, 24 inches in width, has a ten-foot mast and six-foot outriggers. The main sail is 6'X9' and the jib is 30" X 7½".

"Spring of '76," along with her hand-made cotton sails, was returned to Baltimore after several enjoyable sails on Deep Creek Lake. Charlie (the raccoon), who served as Stan's "first mate," has also headed east. If you're interested in applying for Charlie's position, looking, or just talking with Stan about his work, contact him through GCC, as he plans to bring "Spring of '76" back to Deep Creek for spring and summer sailing.

Stan's talent in wood-working is no surprise since his father is a sculptor and designer of wood. Some of Bill Romeka's sculptures of "The Watergate Series" were shown January 29 at Goucher College in Baltimore. Watch for announcement of an exhibit showing works of Stan Romeka!

OPEN LINE

By
Congressman Goodloe Byron
Maryland—Sixth District

This regular column serves as another vehicle to keep in touch with all segments of my constituency. It is an open invitation for you to question me on issues, let me assist you with your problems, request information or comment on whatever happens to be on your mind. Letters should be sent to me c/o U.S. House of Representatives, Washington, D.C. 20515. While space is obviously limited for printing all replies, I shall make every effort to answer each person who contacts me.

The following questions were typical of the kind asked of me in recent weeks.

Heavy snows and sub-freezing temperatures have been a hardship on the people of Garrett County. Have you sought Federal Aid on their behalf?

I have written to President Carter urging his administration to approve Governor Mandel's request that Garrett County be added to the list of Maryland counties already proclaimed Disaster Areas. The President's approval in such a situation would open the way for loans from the Small Business Administration and from the Farmers Home Administration. Because of the closed roads and damage in Garrett County, I would expect some direct Federal aid to help the local and state governments in repair and clean-up operations.

After visiting our westernmost county this past week, I was anxious to urge the President to add Garrett to the list of other Maryland disaster areas.

Would you explain your proposal to support energy research through the Highway Trust Fund?

Currently, the Highway Trust Fund collects four cents on each gallon of gasoline sold in the United States. My proposal would create a trust fund for energy research by diverting one cent of those taxes now being collected. Using just one cent of the existing federal gasoline tax money would generate one billion dollars for energy research.

I believe an important point is that such an energy research trust fund would be funded from money we are already collecting and not require any new taxes. Diverting this one-cent per gallon to energy research would not harm the Highway Trust Fund.

The "Small Business Act" passed the House of Representatives recently. I own a small business in western Maryland and want to know what the bill would do for me if it becomes law.

I have always supported legislation to encourage and give incentives to small businesses. The SMALL BUSINESS ACT which I voted for and which has passed in the House would increase the Small Business Administration's authority to authorize loans and to guarantee surety bonds. Specifically, the bill authorizes SBA to make regular business loans to small homebuilders for construction or rehabilitation of buildings. It enlarges the eligibility for SBA compliance loans in order that the small businessmen will be able to meet the requirements of a federal law or state law or regulation.

Also, the measure authorizes SBA to make business loans to small concerns displaced by a state or local government project. The bill would also give the Small Business Administration authority to make economic injury loans, at the Governor's request, to small businesses in an area affected by a natural disaster.

As a 20 year-old constituent in the Sixth District, I want to know if I can expect brigher summer job opportunities this year?

Although we are still in the midst of a severe winter, now is the time for young people to start planning for their summer months. Along these lines, I am sponsoring legislation to expand the YOUTH CONSERVATION CORPS which would brighten the job outlook for young people in the Sixth District this summer.

Six years ago, when I first started representing your interests in the House, Congress created the YOUTH CONSERVATION CORPS. Under this highly popular and successful program, young people are provided summer jobs performing healthful outdoor work on public projects. However, the current program applies only to young people between 15 and 18.

The legislation I am cosponsoring is a major step forward. It would expand the YCC to employ young adults between the ages of 19 and 24 on a year-round basis. President Carter, incidentally, has referred to such a program as a possible solution to our present unemployment problem.

Do you support Congressional Veto legislation?

I not only support such legislation, I have co-sponsored a bill which will provide Congress with the authority to veto certain administrative rules and regulations issued by Federal agencies. Time and time again, the administrative agencies have usurped the authority of Congress through their quasi-legislative process of rulemaking. Congressional veto power is not meant to stymie the work of our Federal bureaucracy, but to make it more responsive and accountable to the people and their elected representatives in Congress. The procedure set forth in my legislation provides that whenever a rule or regulation is adopted by an administrative agency, it will be referred to Congress for 60 days before it becomes effective. If either the House or the Senate reject the rule or regulation, it becomes void.

Have you been appointed to any subcommittees yet?

Yes. With the Armed Services Committee, I will be serving on the "Seapower and Strategic and Critical Materials Subcommittee" and the "Military Installations and Facilities Subcommittee." As part of my service on the Interior Committee, I will also be a member of three subcommittees: 1. National Parks and Insular Affairs; 2. Public Lands — which includes jurisdiction over all Federally-owned lands; and 3. the Special Investigations Subcommittee.

Why do you want to raise Federal flood insurance limits?

Current law limits the amount of flood insurance which homeowners and small businesses are allowed to purchase. I feel that these limits should be raised in order to allow the residents of our communities to adequately protect themselves. The recent flood in Frederick illustrates the danger to a community if adequate protection isn't available. Without higher flood insurance limits, businesses will be reluctant to locate in some areas because of the risk of flood damage exceeding the insurance limits. Inflation has made the present limits of $35,000 for residential property and $100,000 for each small business out-of-date and I will introduce legislation to raise these limits to $100,000 and $500,000 respectively.

Glue Inhaler Gets Probation

A glue inhaler was placed on probation and another case was transferred to Circuit Court among action in District Court Monday.

Dannie A. Stemple, 22, Beuna Vista drive, Oakland, pleaded guilty of two charges of inhaling glue. Judge Lewis R. Jones sentenced him to four months in jail on each charge and to pay costs. The two sentences are to run concurrently. The jail terms were suspended and Stemple was placed on probation for 18 months under supervision of the Department of Parole and Probation. The incidents occurred in and near Oakland, one in October and the other in November.

A preliminary hearing was held Monday for Carl Dayton Schrock, RD 3, Oakland, charged with involuntary manslaughter and child abuse. Bond was continued, being released on his own recognizance, and the case was transferred to Circuit Court.

Junior Lee Guthrie, Mt. Lake Park, had been charged with obtaining liquor for a minor at Mt. Lake Park in January. Monday, the case was dismissed due to insufficient evidence.

Two cases of worthless checks were dismissed as restitution had been made. J. Cameron McClure, Mt. Lake Park, and Rosalee V. Reeves, Cumberland.

In the February 3 issue of The Republican it was stated George F. Rohrbaugh, Sr., had been charged with a worthless check. It should have been George F. Rohrbaugh, JR. The error on a form in District Court has been corrected accordingly.

Police Report Twenty More Die On State Highways

Twenty persons lost their lives on Maryland Highways according to the weekly News release compiled by 2nd Lt. M. I. Morgan of the Maryland State Police. Of those killed fifteen were drivers, four were passengers and one was a pedestrian.

Six of the deaths in the opinion of the investigating officer could have possibly been prevented had seat belts been in use.

Last week we spoke of the importance of allowing a time margin and clearing snow and frost from windows. The weekly statistics reflect the contributing factor of one fatal accident as "driver error" and "frost covered windows." Eight persons lost their lives in accidents in which the operator lost control on wet or icy roads.

If traffic permits, it is a good idea to test the road from time to time as you drive. Try the brakes, see how they act. You might find that the roadway has gotten slippery without your being aware of it and you will want to slow down. Your speed is a critical factor in winter driving. If you do skid into a crash the impact forces will be much easier to bear and injuries lighter at a low speed.

Match your driving to the weather. Changing conditions require changes in time schedules, speed and following distances.

The total number of deaths for the year stands at 59, five lower than for the same period last year.

DEER PARK

HALE LIGHTWEIGHT GENERATORS

New Design Saves Weight, Increases Dependability

1. Instead of electromagnets used in conventional generators, the Hale generator has powerful barium ferrite permanent magnets. No power is lost in developing a magnetic field. No heat is generated here.
2. Instead of mounting the magnets permanently and spinning the coils between them, the coils are stationary and the magnets spin. This reversal of conventional procedure means that electrical power flows directly from the stationary coils to the receptacle. There are no brushes, no slip rings. No problems of arcing, sparking, practically no repairs, adjustments or mechanical failures. More watts of power per gallon of gasoline than from conventional generators.
3. Spark plug shields for moisture protection. Super hi-tone spark arrestor mufflers. Easy spin rewind starter. Dependable Briggs & Stratton engines.

Faculty Forum

By Kristin Milne
Garrett Co. Teachers' Assoc.

On returning to school this week after the extended and controversial recess, the atmosphere pervading most teachers' lounges is a forensic paradise: no teacher is without definite opinion toward the issue of make-up time. The attitudes being voiced differ somewhat in language and intensity, but a common theme carries through every argument: no teacher desires a jeopardy of educational development of his or her students.

Too much time — nearly 1/9 of the school calendar year — has been lost to inclement weather. Education is a process which, like any other type of growth and development, requires persistent practice and supervision.

Some part of what your child gained before the "Big Freeze" may have been misplaced — if not forgotten — and needs to be unearthed once more. If any significant depreciation in learning has occurred, it is likely minimal and need not be written off as a total loss.

What does concern parents and educators most is the lack of time remaining that may be insufficient for the inclusion of various subject areas not yet pursued. "Make-up time" may in deed prove to be a misnomer for many students. They would not necessarily be making up lost lessons but reviewing what has temporarily been laid to rest.

Teachers are educators, first and foremost. Maryland state law demands our active services for 180 days per year. However, in a region declared a disaster area for all concerned, why must teachers be penalized in terms of salary, summer employment, and graduate education for circumstances entirely exempt of human control? Why should families be subject to the same inconveniences? There should be no scapegoats!

The following statement by Judith France, GCTA president, addressed to the Board of Education on February 10, further clarifies the adamant belief of county teachers that yes, 180 days of instruction are necessary, but the extension of the calendar year beyond June 10, 1977, is not viable alternative are urgently sought as a means of satisfying educational priorities.

To: Garrett County Board of Education

The teachers of Garrett County do not object to teaching 180 days of school per year because we do believe in education; however, due to the closing of schools in Garrett County because of extremely severe weather conditions, we believe that the school year needs adjustment this year.

The Garrett County Teachers Association thinks that ending the school year on June 10, 1977, as previously scheduled, would cause the least inconvenience to all concerned. Students and parents have already planned summer vacations, summer job schedules, and summer camps and schooling. Extending the school year beyond June 10, 1977 would necessitate rearranging the activities or withdrawing the student from the last two weeks of school. We do not think it is fair that students and parents be inconvenienced by ending school later than June 10.

Teachers and administrators will also be adversely affected by extending the school year beyond June 10, 1977. Many teachers and administrators are already committed to graduate programs which begin in the middle of June. Some teachers need these graduate hours to complete state certification requirements and to complete their masters degree programs. Forcing these teachers to cancel their plans for further their education would be detrimental to the Garrett County School System.

We urge the Garrett County Board of Education to support Delegate DeCorsey Bolden's bill to allow the State Board of Education to waive the 180 day requirement, and we ask the Garrett County Board of Education to request that the State Board waive the 180 day requirement for Garrett County.

If this reduction in the school year is not possible, we request that the Garrett County Board of Education consider the following alternatives to extending the school year. Either extend the school day by one hour or have school for half a day on Saturdays until sufficient clock hours have been achieved to grant full credit to all students.

The Garrett County Teachers Association acknowledges the importance of the continuing educational process, and if our opinion were solicited concerning 180 days of school per year, our answer would be yes, 180 days are essential! However, considering the severe weather conditions this year, we think that imposing 180 days of school on students, faculties, and supportive personnel would produce undue hardship on all concerned. We urge the Garrett County Board of Education to reduce the school year!

Sincerely,
Judith B. France
President, GCTA

Miss Lilja Speaks To Elks Auxiliary

Members of the ladies Elks auxiliary met Tuesday, February 8, following a dinner prepared and served by the Elks.

Guest speaker was Elisabet Lilja, exchange student from Pitea, Sweden.

The next meeting is scheduled March 8, and will feature an Easter auction.

Public Hearings Slated For C&P Rate Increases

Public hearings are scheduled late this month and throughout March for the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company's application for authority to increase and restructure its schedule of rates and charges.

Hearings will be held before the Public Service Commission of the state of Maryland. The one nearest this county is planned Monday, February 28, at Fort Hill High School auditorium, Cumberland.

The company has filed an application before the Commission to increase and restructure its schedule of rates and charges, together with revised rate schedules designed to produce an additional $82.3 million in gross annual revenues.

The rates and charges to be increased are under the categories of residence and business main stations; business message units; local coin telephone service; service charges; residence extensions, long distance calls within Maryland; key telephone equipment; PBX and Centrex service; channel services, and auxiliary and other service.

Any customer wishing to testify should register prior to the hearing between 7 and 7:30 p.m. If necessary, time limitations of five minutes for group representatives and three minutes for individuals will be imposed. All testimony should relate to the company's present application for permanent rate relief.

Anyone unable to attend the meeting but wishing to express his view may write to the Public Service Commission, 301 West Preston Street, Baltimore.

The office of People's Counsel to the Maryland Public Service Commission will represent the interests of the public in general and will participate in these hearings.

The Company's proposed changes in the schedule of rates and charges are available for inspection at 200 East Alder Street, Oakland. The Company's application and testimony are also available at this location.

SIA SKI INDUSTRIES AMERICA

There is a mythical belief that skiing is a rich man's sport, affordable only by the most affluent members of society.

Let's set the record straight. Most skiers are not wealthy. Far from it. They come from different walks of life and different economic backgrounds, ranging from students who are still in school or struggling to meet next semester's tuition to retired people living on fixed income.

The simple fact is that you can learn to ski in a week and enjoy a vacation and do it as little as $100, and that you can continue to ski for less than you would ever believe possible.

A random approach to learning to ski can cost both time and money, but if you follow a few basic rules you'll enjoy lots of inexpensive good times on the slopes in the years to come.

Rent Your Equipment

The new skier should not buy ski equipment until he knows what types of skis best suit him, what boots are most comfortable, what ski poles are the right length.

Most good equipment professional at a ski area that knows what kind of a skier you are. You should be outfitted with equipment designed specifically to make it easier to learn to ski. If you rent from a ski school that specializes in teaching beginners, the chances are the rental fee will be part of the instruction cost, and that saves you money.

Don't start by buying fancy clothes. You don't need them. Fashionable ski wear comes later, after you have earned the right to wear it by learning to ski.

When you go skiing for the first time, try to go skiing for a week, Monday through Friday, at one resort on a ski vacation package, not a weekend if you can help it, but for 4 or 5 days mid-week. Select a resort that offers a ski vacation package designed for beginners. The most complete ski vacation packages will include:

1. A week of ski lessons — two hours or more a day for five days, and sometimes using helpful videotape reviews.

2. Ski tickets for five days, good on all lifts.

3. Rental of ski equipment (if you need it, and if you do, short skis probably).

4. Lodging and meals.

5. Most ski resorts even throw in free evening parties and other fun.

Next, look at the price. A ski week can be purchased for as little as $100 at small or medium-sized areas, higher at areas with more facilities. You really can learn to ski for $100. That means $20.00 a day for five days.

Don't forget the ski resorts that are close to you. The chances are there is a ski area nearby that has a very good ski school and will teach you quickly and efficiently. You might even decide to commute to avoid lodging expense.

Driving Is Cheaper Than Flying

Driving is cheaper than flying. So are the bus and the train.

Two can often ski cheaper than one. Four can ski for less than two, etc. One trick is to rent a condominium, with beds for eight, for five days which can cost as little as $5.00 a day per person. You cook your own meals eating what you want, when you want, and saving a lot too.

Mind your lunch and after-ski costs. A cafeteria lunch at a ski resort for a family of four can run at least $5.00. A lunch of homemade sandwiches, a thermos of soup or hot chocolate can save more than half of that.

As to after-ski, if you have a condominium, you can save money in entertainment. And don't forget the free parties offered to skiers by the ski area.

The family, couple or single who wants to learn to ski should follow these rules until they know for sure whether they really like skiing. Then they can buy the fancy, bright colored, high performing, exciting skis and boots, the beautiful clothes, and be one of the beautiful people. But chances are you'll end up like most of us — skiing joyfully and inexpensively.

Ski Club Members Go To Snowshoe, Plan Wisp Race

The pacesetter for the race was Jean Claude Killy, who is a past Gold Medal Olympic champion from France, as well as a promoter for the Snowshoe Resort. Several ski club members posed for pictures with Killy.

The Wisp ski club team did not place but Ann McIntire was a Junior Women's finalist with a 138.843 in comparison to Killy's time of 119.06.

Those going on the trip were president Ruth Umbel, Curtis Fox, Jerry and Nancy Geisler, Ann Elliott, Greg Hough, Jimmy Reckner, Liz Hinebaugh, Leisl and Ludwig Grimm, Ruth and Wendell Beitzel, Blair Bucket, Joy Llewllyn, Dana and Bill Thoman, Bill Elliott, Jeff Bell, Ann McIntire, Joan and Charles McIntire, George Collins, Doug McClide, Mike Walker, Bill Ravenscroft, Anne and Herbert Haller.

Emmanuel's Youth Ministry met Sunday afternoon at the parsonage.

Pastor Mitchell's study group will meet at Emmanuel on Friday at 8 p.m.

The Lutheran Church Women for Emmaneul met this month at the home of Mrs. Ralph Buckel, with fourteen members present. Mrs. Audrey Brenneman, president, conducted the business meeting, during which a budget for the year was adopted and goals for the year discussed. The group voted to host World Community Day Celebration for Church Women United in November, and to support the Community Service Center. Mrs. Ralph Buckel was leader of the topic "A time for renewal". Several members joined in readings and discussion. A special devotional booklet for Lenten home devotions was given each member. Mrs. Robert Buckel furnished special music, and Mrs. Ferne Beachy explained the project of making a friendship quilt by the entire congregations of the parish. Mrs. Buckel served refreshments to the group.

Wrong Woman Rescued?

It was mistakenly reported in last week's Republican that Norma Friend, O'Haver Road, was rescued by a National Guard helicopter crew and members of the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad February 7.

Erma Friend was the woman suffering from internal bleeding who was lifted out via chopper and taken to Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Fire Wood Available From State Forests

Those who have been purchasing fire wood for their fireplaces or stoves during this cold winter may get some for practically nothing from the state forests in Western Maryland.

George Gilmore, regional forester for Western Maryland, said a permit must first be obtained from forest superintendents or from the Maryland Forest Service at the Department of Natural Resources Center at Nave's Crossroads.

Each $1 permit is good for one cord of chopped wood, taken from dead or downed trees.

Mr. Gilmore said free firewood programs have existed for some time in Western Maryland and added that the response has been good this season with more than 100 permits being issued.

The permits may be obtained other than at the DNR Center from the park superintendents at Green Ridge State Forest, Potomac State Forest and Savage River State Park, New Germany, or the DNR office, north of Oakland.

Three From County Attend State B.P.W. Meeting Saturday

Three members of the local Business and Professional Women's club from Garrett County attended the spring state board meeting of the Maryland Federation this past weekend at Towson.

Attending were Mrs. Mildred Dunbar, Garrett BPW president; Mrs. Phyllis Trickett, past local and state president; and Mrs. Anne Conner.

The group left Friday for the Towson Quality Inn where the meeting was held, presided over by Mrs. Dorothy Barcliff, president. As a past state president, Mrs. Trickett was a member of the committee to rewrite the state by-laws.

The state convention this year will be held in Ocean City May 12-15.

The Garrett County delegation returned to their homes Saturday night following a dinner at the Inn.

Welsh Baptist Church To Host Music Festival

Welsh Memorial Baptist Church in Frostburg will host the annual Associational Music Festival for churches of Western Baptist Association on Sunday, February 27, at 2:30 p.m. Each year children's, youth, and adult choirs and vocal and instrumental ensembles from churches come together for an afternoon of singing and praise and at the conclusion of the festival, all choirs join together in a brief combined choir rehearsal and performance.

Western Baptist Association, in cooperation with the Church Development Department, Baptist Convention of Maryland sponsors the annual event, as well as several other music activities. The public is welcome.

Touring Choir To Visit Meyersdale Church

The 39-voice Touring Choir from Eastern Mennonite College in Harrisonburg, Virginia, will present a program of sacred music at 8 p.m., February 25 at Meyersdale Church of the Brethren, Meyersdale, Pa.

The choir, directed by Lowell Byler, chairman of the music department at EMC, will perform a variety of sacred choral literature from the Renaissance to contemporary times. Hymns and spirituals will also be featured in the musical worship experience.

The choir's appearance is part of a ten-day tour to schools and churches in five states.

CBers Urged To Obtain Licenses

Howard D. Wolfe, Executive Director of the International CB Radio Operators Association (Roanoke, Virginia), the nation's largest CB user organization, has called for all CB users to take advantage of the recent court decision that termed FCC collection of license fees "improper."

The United States Court of Appeals in Washington, D. C., just prior to Christmas, ruled that the practice of the FCC, to collect license processing fees for people and firms issued radio and television licenses by the agency, was not based upon proper Congressional authority. The court directed the FCC to return all large fees collected to date, but CB's $4.00 license fee will apparently not be returned.

"CB license fees have traditionally been low although they were $20.00 each as recently as three years ago," notes Wolfe. "When the FCC lowered the license application fee to $4.00, there was a sudden and dramatic growth in CB radio. Still, there were many people who bought their radios but did not bother to file for a license even with the low $4.00 fee," Wolfe points out.

"Everyone who uses a CB radio should understand that there are some pretty stiff penalties for operating the radio without a license. The FCC has the authority to fine a person up to $10,000 or throw him into the federal pokey for up to two years if he is caught without a license," says Wolfe. "With the license fee eliminated, it just does not make any sense for a person to continue to operate without a license — the risks are simply too great."

CBA points out that license application forms are available from any dealer who sells CB equipment, and by federal law every new CB set sold must have a pair of license applications packed into the shipping container. One of the two forms is a temporary license, which the user may put to use immediately. There is no waiting for an FCC license to operate the radio anymore, with the temporary permit system. The second form in the box is for a permanent, five year license.

"Because the forms were printed prior to the recent court decision, the instructions on them say to include a $4.00 fee for the license when submitting the application for a permanent license. However, people are advised to simply cross off that instruction line on the form, complete the form, and send it into the FCC's Gettysburg, Pennsylvania license processing center without the fee attached," explained Wolfe.

CB radio operators requiring help with this process are urged to contact CBA's "License Processing Assistance Center" at P. O. Box 1020, Roanoke, Virginia (24005).

FAMILY CIRCLE PRESS SERVICE

How To Give Your Headache A Helping Hand

Relief of headache pain is today available at the mere touch of your fingertips.

The secret: a few simple self-massage techniques developed by osteopath John E. Updegger for the current Family Circle, all of which can be accomplished in less than three minutes.

Lie flat on your back on a firm surface without a pillow.

Put your hands behind your head and place the middle finger of each hand at the base of the skull, extending your head a bit as if you were looking up. This lets your fingers slip into the groove between the base of your skull and neck.

Now, using gentle traction and rather deep pressure on the groove, spread the muscles at the base of the skull in a sideways direction. Apply the same pressure on both sides and go very slowly, using the crooked fingers as you would a hook. This action relaxes the muscles of the upper neck and relieves much of the pressure that contributes to headaches.

Repeat 'til muscles seem looser to the touch.

Apply a steady, constant pressure to any areas that are very tender to the touch when your fingers cross the groove at the base of the skull.

As the muscles relax and the groove deepens, your headache diminishes. Remember, it is important that you start this exercise as soon as possible after you notice the headache. Repeat, if the pain recurs.

Dr. Updegger also emphasizes that learning how to prevent headaches can be almost as important as knowing how to relieve them once they occur. A few pointers on how to recognize, and reduce, the neck and back muscle tension that often result in pain:

Once an hour every day simply stop what you're doing and become aware of your body. This takes only a minute or two.

Close your eyes and mentally picture your legs. Are any muscles tight? Which ones are the tightest? Now concentrate on those muscles and make them relax. It takes some practice, but you'll quickly learn how.

Now repeat the same procedure with your hips and pelvis. Again, concentrate on the areas in question, and relax any tight muscles of which you are aware.

Repeat the procedure with your shoulders, arms, and finally neck muscles. If you observe these methods deliberately every hour all day long for about two days, you'll soon notice that after a short while you'll begin to do them unconsciously. With faithful practice, moreover, not only should tensions disappear but also the pains they precipitate. If aches should persist, of course, see a doctor.

Plan To Alleviate Busing Problems Sent To Governor

Del. William B. Byrnes, chairman of the Allegany county delegation to the General Assembly, announced last week a plan is being presented to Gov. Marvin Mandel to ease state transportation restrictions on busing of school children in Allegany and Garrett counties during the four-month winter period beginning November 15.

The recommendations presented to the governor are: That in considering future funding of school bus transportation, additional exceptional reasons will be extended to include not only traffic conditions (as in the present law) but personally hazardous conditions and road limitations.

The plan, if approved, will ease the one mile distance restriction to a half mile, and result in additional funding for the two counties.

A conversation in Annapolis last Friday about the plan included Del. DeCorsey Bolden, (R-Garrett, Allegany 1A); Dr. Jack Kussmal, administrative officer for education on the Executive Department, Sen. Edward J. Mason, Sen. John Cordeman, and Delegates Casper Taylor, Jr. and Thomas B. Cumiskey.

Del. Byrnes said the delegation has been assured the governor will act favorably on the matter and "The delegation is gratified that the recent meeting with Dr. David Hornbeck, state superintendent of schools, and his staff has proven successful."

Del. Byrnes also said it is possible that when the governor approves the new recommendations, legislation already filed by the delegation concerning bus transportation may not be necessary.

He explained that "The exceptions proposed to state regulations will help us through hazardous winter conditions."

Maryland prosecution of drunk drivers is described as 'lax.'

Commissioners To Accept Long Distance Calls

The Garrett County Commissioners have adopted a policy whereby any Garrett County citizen can reach the Commissioners' office without having to pay long distance charges. The Commissioners' office will accept collect phone calls from citizens in the Grantsville-Finzel area who wish to communicate with the office on official business. Their phone number is 334-3917. Citizens in the Bloomington area may reach the Commissioners office by dialing 359-9694.

An Easter Sunrise Service is scheduled at Memorial Gardens in Oakland, and will be conducted by Association members. The Special Service will begin at 6:30 a.m., at the Memorial Gardens located on the Old Deer Park Road.

TRUMAN H. SAFFORD

This man at the age of nine years in not more than a minute gave the square of 365,365,365,365,365,365. He retained this ability as a lightning calculator all his life. Professor Safford was director of the observatory at Williams College in Massachusetts. His ability was partly attributed to his perfect memory. A five place logrithmic table was memorized as were the places of all the stars listed in the Nautical Almanac. Another of his feats was the reminding of a man who told him his birth date and requested his age in seconds that the man forgot the leap years in his own calculations. This was done in a matter of a few minutes by Professor Safford.

New Moon will occur at 11:37 p.m. tonight. During the week the moon is a waxing crescent. It can be seen near Venus during the first part of the week. Moonset varies from 4:42 p.m. today to 11:42 p.m. next Wednesday.

Visible in the sky to the unaided eye are Venus, Jupiter and Saturn. Saturn rises as the sun sets and is visible all night not far from the Beehive in Cancer. Jupiter sets about midnight with the stars of Taurus. Venus can be seen during daylight about fifteen minutes before sunset on Monday to the upper right of the moon. It sets about four hours after the sun.

Eleven minutes more daylight are available next Wednesday. Sunrise was at 7:08 this morning. Sunset will be ten hours forty-eight minutes later at 5:56 p.m. Wednesday the sun rises four minutes earlier and sets seven minutes later than it did today.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of the late Orpha C. Roy wishes to thank relatives and friends for the kindness shown during their recent bereavement; also to the doctors and staff of the Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Tobacco Revenue Checks Mailed

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein announced today that Baltimore City and Maryland's twenty-three counties will share the $3,830,930.99 tobacco tax revenue collected for local distribution during the second quarter of Fiscal Year 1977, (October, November and December 1976). Mr. Goldstein reported that checks totaling this amount are now being mailed to the subdivisions. The cigarette tax of $.15 per pack is collected by the State Comptroller's Office, and 30 percent is returned to the local subdivisions.

The largest check, $901,338.55 will be sent to Baltimore City. Prince George's County will receive $611,486.22; Baltimore County $577,904.46 and Montgomery County $519,596.76. Garrett County will receive $20,429.64.

The twenty-four political subdivisions have received $8,179,055.22 during the first six months of Fiscal Year 1977.

BICENTENNIAL FEATURE

TENNESSEE

Capital, Nashville; Governor, Ray Blanton, Democrat; Flower, iris; bird, mocking bird; tree, tulip poplar; song, Tennessee Waltz; entered union, June 1, 1796, rank 16th; motto, agriculture, commerce; nickname, Volunteer State; largest city, Memphis.

Eastern Tennessee is rugged country with the Great Valley separating the Great Smoky Mountains on the state's eastern border from the Cumberland Mountains. The Central Basin is a rolling area containing the famed Bluegrass country, from where the state slopes west to the bottom lands of the Mississippi Clingmans Dome in the Great Smokies is highest point in the state, 6,643 feet.

The Cherokee, Chickasaw, Muskhogan and other Indian tribes knew Tennessee long before Davy Crockett or Daniel Boone found the tranquil beauty and peace of the state.

Spanish explorers first visited the area in 1541. France, Spain and Great Britian all claimed the Tennessee region. First permanent settlement was by Virginians on the Watauga River, 1769. During the Revolution these colonists helped win the Battle of Kings Mountain; North Carolina and joined other eastern campaigns. The Civil War brought both fame and destruction to the beautiful natural land. More battles were fought here during the Civil War than in any other state with exception of Virginia.

Three men who became U. S. Presidents played key roles in development of the state. They were Andrew Johnson, James K. Polk, and Andrew Jackson.

Andrew Jackson

Davy Crockett, a colorful scout and frontiersman, won fame for his tall tales, and funny stories. He served terms in Congress from 1827-1831 and 1833-1835. Davy Crockett and Sam Houston, both great heroes of the Texas Revolution both grew up in Tennessee and both served the state. Every Tennessee Governor since 1923 has been a democrat.

There are 24 research centers including Oak Ridge, T.V.A. and Arnold Development Center. Oak Ridge called the "Atomic Bomb City" was began in 1942. The city and its Atomic bomb factory were kept almost a complete secret until after World War II. The Tennessee Valley Authority was established in 1933, built over 20 dams in the river valley to furnish electric power for Tennessee and six sister states and to control floods. The TVA produces more power than any other system in the country. Artificial lakes formed by these dams have more than doubled the inland water area of Tennessee. These lakes are often called the "Great Lakes of the South."

Tennessee's heart beats to music. The folk music that came over the mountains with the first settlers has led it to one of Tennessee's biggest economic industries. Nashville has earned the title of Music City, U.S.A. On May 26, 1972, Opryland U.S.A. was opened on 110 acres by the Cumberland River near Nashville. A large amusement park is also there.

The Cotton Carnival in Memphis is held annually the second Tuesday in May. "King Cotton" and his "Queen of Beauty" open the festival with an elaborate parade.

Tennessee ranks among the top states in tobacco production. Forests cover about 13,696,000 acres, slightly more than half of the state. Forest products provide full time jobs to 40,000 persons and contributing over 500 million annually to economy. The state is known as the U.S. hardwood flooring center. Tennessee leads other states in production of zinc. It is high in the production of marble. Bituminous coal mines operate in 16 eastern counties and produce 6 million tons a year.

Tennessee has a number of natural wonders, Reelfoot Lake, the reservoir basin of the Mississippi River was formed by an earthquake in 1811. Lookout Mountain is a rock-faced promontory carved by currents of the Tennessee River and overlooking Moccasin Bend, at Chattanooga. Fall Creek Falls 265 feet high, and the west half of Great Smoky Mountain National Park.

The Hermitage, 13 miles east of Nashville, home of Andrew Jackson, contains furniture and personal effects of the late president. The Ancestral Home of James K. Polk, in Columbia, has portraits, furniture, and articles used by the late President Polk in the White House. The home, tailor shop and grave of the late President Andrew Johnson are a national monument at Greeneville. The Parthenon, in Centennial Park, Nashville, is a full-size replica of the Parthenon of Athens, Greece.

Famous Tennesseans include, Jackson, Johnson, Polk, Davy Crockett, Sam Houston, Farragut, Cordell Hull, Grace Moore, Pat Boone, Dinah Shore, Dolly Parton, Lynn Anderson, Loretta Lynn, Elvis Presley, Minnie Pearl and many other famous Country-Western singers.

Next state in this series is Texas.

Saucy, Black And Beautiful

He is a native American who lives all over, in temperate East Coast forests, north to the Arctic Coast, and west to the dry plains, where he is smaller. He never bothers to migrate because he can remain at home, readily adapting to excess heat or cold, invading newly sprouted corn fields, finding the birds' eggs, and eating everything from toads or frogs to young chickens. Seeds, fruits, what have you, the crow likes all of them, and seems to thrive with any diet. Perhaps that is why it was the greedy crow in Jean de la Fontaine's fable which happened to have a cheese that he would not share until the fox tricked him by flattery.

All members of his family, which includes the jay, raven, and magpie, have an instinct for hiding bits of food. The male often undertakes the task of feeding the young birds, and will give other bird eggs to them, but he protects his own nest with valor.

You can hear him on the hottest summer day, screaming through the woods and orchards or over the meadows. You will also spy his fellows on city garbage dumps, searching for any bits of food. Then again, he may be on the branch of your tree nearest the house, looking over the snow, seeking out scrap morsels of the corn you have scattered for smaller birds.

The crow family, Corvidae, all have large feet that Nature endows well for grasping, perching, and running, but their toes are spread too far apart to permit true walking. You will see them invade a back yard, strutting possessively as they search the lawn, then take off with scolding cries if you walk near them or open a door.

Crows and ravens are rated well in bird intelligence, and will become pets, being taught to count or to fetch and carry. Owners must guard against pilfering of their small or shiny objects, however.

The scarecrow erected by the farmer seldom proves a menace to this bold black bird, which often perches on the clownish arms and jaws its semi-ownership of land to all. Farmers deplore him, but he is known, because of his destruction of weed seeds and insect pests, to outweigh his saucy depredation by helping man. And wonder of wonders, he was considered by Maryland authorities to be a candidate for an endangered species, being killed in excessive numbers by those who saw no good in crows.

Pest though he seems to be, the scene in our state would be incomplete without this aggressive bird, whose shiny black feathers reflect the broken-down sunlight. And who else would keep you company by following down the garden row eating your prize corn as you plant it?

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of Dora Marie Tasker who passed away Feb. 16, 1976.

Dear Dora is gone,
There's nothing left for me here but her vacant house and her empty chair.
One long lonely year and many tears.
May the Lord have mercy on her.
I pray, and let me meet her again someday.

Sadly missed by

Elk Garden Students To Go To Keyser For Two Months

Elk Garden School, the only school in Mineral county housing students from kindergarten through grade 12, has been closed down for two months in the wake of gas curtailment and a water supply problem.

The water problem occurred first night after the Christmas holidays, with a lack of water in the town reservoir. When that problem was temporarily resolved, heavy snow and impassable roads kept the children out of school.

Next, the gas-heated school suffered an 80 percent curtailment by Columbia Gas Company, forcing the Board of Education to move the students off the mountain and into Keyser area schools.

Right now, the elementary school students are bused each day to the New Creek School, while middle school students attend classes in the electrically-heated buildings on the Keyser High School campus. All high school students found space at the Vo-Tech School.

To help solve the water problem, Wayne Jones of Elk Garden offered water to the school from a pond fed by underground springs.

Superintendent Richard Campbell of Mineral county told the Board that he with the installation of a filtrator and chlorinator he believes the pond would be a reliable source of water for the school during times of water shortages in the community.

The school system has begun efforts to locate equipment for filtering-chlorinating.

VISTA Group To Research Housing

Due to the critical housing shortage, and the high cost of land and development, the Garrett County Community Action Committee, Inc. has organized a VISTA housing group to research housing in the area and to strive to meet the vital needs of the people in the community.

Their responsibilities are to determine land available in the area for housing developments, select local materials and resources that can be used in construction; establish a housing development corporation to own and operate rental units which would be located in different areas throughout the county; provide pre-purchase counseling; and inform renters of their rights and responsibilities. The VISTA housing group also wants to organize groups of families who would work together to build and own their homes. The group of families would also receive education on how to build and the proper use of tools and materials. This concept has been called the self-help program, and, according to the Rural Housing Alliance, can result in a 25 to 40 percent savings in the cost of buying a home.

Community Action Housing Group is trying to determine the number of people who would be interested in renting a house or an apartment in an apartment complex or those persons interested in building their own homes by joining a self-help program. Persons interested in more information can call Marcus Oliver or Jack Parsons at 334-9431.

In order to find out what the community preferences are, a response from the public is important.

Grantsville Water Troubles Solved — At Least For Now

Most of Grantsville's water problems have been solved, at least temporarily, says Mayor Fred Holliday. Sr. Mr. Holliday was speaking of the problems facing the town after six feeder lines froze solid during the past few days. He was also referring to a breakdown on the large pump which had been providing water to the town, from a mountain top well.

Four of the six lines were thawed Tuesday night, with the assistance of three welders from Beitzel Welding, Bittinger, and the Mayor. The welders stopped in the town Monday and Tuesday evenings after work to help thaw the lines.

One broken line, on Amish Road, has been dug up and repaired.

Three other feeder lines remain frozen, but are not considered critical as these serve vacant houses. In two other locations, temporary lines were laid until the underground lines can be thawed. Most homes and businesses on the north side of Route 40 were affected by the freeze ups.

As if frozen lines weren't enough, the huge pump which brings water from the well to serve the town has now broken down. Luckily, this breakdown occurred a few days after last week's thaw, so that the town has been able to switch back to its original water supply. Several springs had been providing the town with water until several weeks ago, when the deep frost line caused water sources to stop flowing into the springs. The pump and well were put into use as emergency measures at the time the springs became inoperative.

Grantsville school is now able to resume classes, after a shutdown Monday due to water problems. Teachers and students have been asked to be very conservative with water. Flushing Short Manufacturing is also being asked to conserve water.

According to Mayor Holliday, this winter is even worse than the one experienced in 1936, since the cold has remained continuous this year. He plans to ask federal disaster assistance funds for the town, since the emergencies have depleted the amount budgeted for the town's water needs.

Grantsville Baby Sustains Burns

A one-year-old Grantsville girl was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital in Cumberland after suffering burns in an accident in her home Monday.

Phoebe D. Hostetler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Hostetler, Grantsville, sustained burns of her face, ear and shoulder after coming in contact with a coal fire in the kitchen of her home. She was listed in satisfactory condition on Tuesday.

The infant was first treated by a physician in Grantsville and later transferred to Sacred Heart.

Where's The Stoplight?

Last Friday the Southern Rescue Squad was called to respond to a car accident at the intersection on U. S. Route 135 between Browning's Foodland and Heck's department store. One person was injured, painfully, but fortunately, not seriously.

It was only one accident in a series of dozens at that intersection over the past several years. Thousands of dollars in damage and medical bills have resulted from these accidents. More importantly, many people have undergone a tremendous amount of physical suffering and injury. Of all intersections in the county, that particular one is without a doubt one of the busiest.

With all this in mind, one must immediately ask the question, where is the stoplight?

Much of the injury and damage would not have occurred had there been a light at the intersection. The extra lanes that were added last year, in several ways, make the intersection even more dangerous.

Stoplights are often a real pain in the neck and sometimes placed in seemingly unnecessary locations. However, in this case, we feel it is a real necessity.

The State Roads Department stated that the light will be put in this summer, which is certainly good news. In our opinion, it is far too long in coming.

Lenten Services Announced By Local Churches

A series of worship services has been arranged by the pastors of seven local churches to take place on five Wednesday evenings during Lent, beginning next Wednesday evening, March 2, at 7:30 p.m., in St. Mark's Lutheran Church, Oakland. Taking part in these services will be the congregations of St. Matthew's Episcopal Church, St. Paul's United Methodist Church, St. Mark's Lutheran Church, St. Peter's Roman Catholic Church, Oak Park Church of the Brethren, Bethel United Methodist Church, and St. John's Episcopal Church.

In keeping with former Lenten series of former years, a special theme has been selected for the sermons given during the series. This year, the pastors have selected the Miracles of Jesus as the theme for their sermons.

This Wednesday evening, the guest preacher at St. Mark's will be the Rev. Manning Smith of St. Matthew's Episcopal Church. He has chosen the miracle of the Wedding Feast at Cana as the topic for his sermon.

Rev. Don Thomas Resigns As Pastor Of Lutheran Parish

Rev. Donald R. Thomas, pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church at Red House and St. Paul's Church at Aurora for nearly six years, has announced his resignation effective March 15.

Pastor Thomas has accepted a position at Holy Trinity Lutheran Church, Beaver, Pa. St. John's Church will have visiting ministers from the Synod area until a replacement minister can be found, probably by early summer.

Rev. Thomas had spent one year of internship at Dover, W. Va., following his training at Philadelphia Theological Seminary. He then took the pastorate at St. John's.

His wife Judy, a resource librarian at Red House School, has resigned her position with the Board of Education in preparation for the move. They have one son, Roy, age 8.

Relocation Of Route 219 To Be Discussed April 5

The proposed relocation of a part of U. S. Route 219 concerning an Oakland bypass will be the subject of a public hearing Tuesday, April 5, at 7:30 p.m. in the Southern High School cafetorium, Oakland.

A team from the State Highway Administration will describe the engineering, social, economic and environmental effects of each alternative that has been studied, including a "do nothing" alternative.

Information on the Highway Administration's relocation assistance program will be available.

The project involves relocation of about 7.5 miles of Route 219 from State Route 135 to existing Route 219, 3 of a mile north of Cherry Glade Run.

It is currently in the state's primary highway improvement program running from 1976 to 1980, although it is expected construction will take somewhat longer due to the time required to complete planning, design and acquisition of right-of-way.

The April 5 meeting is being held in compliance with state and federal regulations.

The public may attend the hearing and speak, although those individuals and representatives of organizations who wish to be heard should furnish their name, address and telephone number by March 30 in order to be placed on the list of witnesses.

That information should be furnished to Robert J. Hajek, director, office of planning and preliminary engineering, 300 W. Preston Street, Baltimore, 21201.

Others attending the hearing will be permitted to speak, but only after those who are on the list.

Written statements or other exhibits may be submitted to Mr. Hajek until April 18.

Maps, drawings and written views received on the project to date will be available to public inspection and copying beginning March 2 at the SHA district office, LaVale; the SHA resident maintenance engineer's office, South Eighth Street, Oakland, and the Ruth Enlow Library, Second Street, Oakland.

Commission Advises Master Plan Study for Garrett County Airport

A full-scale master plan study, to determine improvement or possible relocation of the Garrett County airport, has been urged by members of the Garrett County Airport Commission at recent meetings of that group.

The Commission had suggested to the Board of County Commissioners at the December 16 meeting that a study be instigated to weigh the possibilities in providing an airport adequate to present and future needs of the county. The master plan study would delve thoroughly into the issue, weighing an addition to the present runway against relocation of the entire facilities to another site.

The study will include site location, environmental impact studies, economic impact and costs.

The present runway is located atop a hill and has proved too short to allow use by larger planes. Costs may range in the neighborhood of $1,500,000 to lengthen the current runway, since there is a cliff dropping away at the northern end of the present pavement.

At the most recent meeting of the Commission, on February 8, the members continued to endorse that the County Commissioners request a master plan, including alternate site selection. Commissioner Hamilton pointed out the desirability of combining an industrial park and the airport in the same location, and possible locations were discussed, including use of state-owned land.

In applying for Federal funding for an airport master plan, several steps are involved in applying for Federal funding for such an airport master plan. First, documentation must be made of possible consulting firms, this documentation must be screened, at least five firms must present bids for the study, a request for bids submitted to the consulting firms, bids must be screened and a recommendation made for a consulting firm to do the study. After the firm is approved by the county commissioners, the application may be submitted for Federal funding to the Federal Aviation Administration.

FAA funding for master planning is not available until the next fiscal year which starts in September 1977. Funding for the local airport could be available from FAA as early as fiscal 1978, but any delays in requesting construction funding could result in substantial loss of funding from the federal level, since the FAA is decreasing the participation level from 90 percent in fiscal 1976 to 80 percent in 1979.

LET THE SUNSHINE IN was the cry of Garrett Countians this week as temperatures rose into the sixties. The warm rays were a welcome relief from the sub-zero readings of the past two months.

Hearings Planned On Revisions For "Wild" Yough

Two hearings will be held within the next several weeks on the proposed, revised regulations for the wild segment of the Youghiogheny River.

The proposed revisions will appear in the Maryland Register prior to the hearings. One hearing will be held in this county and the second hearing in Annapolis, sponsored by the Department of Natural Resources.

The major change, as stated by John Capper, DNR official, was that the corridor as defined in Appendix A, will be reduced to the original United States Forestry Service boundaries, a move which will reduce the land within the corridor to two-thirds of the present definition.

Another change states that land acquired within the scenic corridor prior to May 27, 1976 which does not meet the development and use specifications of the present regulations, shall be deemed a special circumstance and exempted under the Exemptions section.

The "wild" river segment of the Youghiogheny is between Miller's Run and the southern corporate limits of Friendsville, as defined in the Maryland Scenic and Wild Rivers Act. The remainder of the river in the county has achieved scenic river status.

Dates for the hearings will be announced later.

Heart Fund Drive To Be Extended In Garrett County

According to Shirley Hinebaugh and Charles B. Miller, co-chairmen of the American Heart Association-Western Maryland Chapter, Heart Sunday volunteer collections will be extended for at least the next two weeks in Garrett County.

The Chairmen said that because of the prolonged weather-related problems in the county, it has become necessary for the Heart Sunday Drive to be extended so that complete coverage can be obtained.

Any person wishing to give their annual Heart Sunday donation, and is not contacted in the near future by a Heart Sunday Volunteer, may make their check payable to the Western Maryland Heart Association and mail it to Bradley A. Stewart, Treasurer, c/o Garrett National Bank, Oakland. It is important that the donor designate the area from which the money comes.

Any volunteer having questions should contact their area Chairman. Area Heart Sunday Chairmen are Accident, Bittinger, Cove and McHenry, Mrs. James A. Wagner; Friendsville and surrounding areas, Mrs. Lucille Sines, Grantsville, Amish Road, Jennings and New Germany area, Mrs. Don Newman; Longstreth, Avilton and Finzel area, Mrs. Harold Crowe; Oakland and surrounding areas, Mrs. Barbara Steyer.

Standing guard over a new Plymouth Arrow is left to right, Steve Ritchie, Joni Simmons and Pam Trickett, members of the Southern Highlander Marching Band, and Bob Stuck, Representative of Oakview Motors. The brand new compact car was sold at cost to the Southern High Band Boosters by Oakview in a continuing drive to raise funds for their "Festival of States" journey to Florida. The car will be given away this Saturday at an auction sponsored by the Boosters at the Oak Street School, Oakland.

A lifelong resident of Oakland, Mr. Rodeheaver is a graduate of West Virginia Wesleyan College. He is married to the former Joyce Bond of Montpelier, Vt. They reside on M Street in Mt. Lake Park.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Rodeheaver, Oakland.

House Destroyed In Blaze

Four persons escaped without injury when a fire destroyed a frame house early Tuesday morning just off Foster Road.

The 100-year-old house was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Daniel S. Harvey, students at Garrett Community College. They and two others fled from the dwelling which was owned by James H. Garner III, when the blaze broke out in the kitchen. They lost everything but the clothes they were wearing.

The Oakland Fire Department responded to the scene at about 2:10 a.m. Tuesday with fifteen firefighters, a pumper and a tanker. Deer Park Department also dispatched a tanker. Firefighters were dismissed at about 5:30 a.m.

According to Robert Shimer, fire investigator in Allegany and Garrett counties, the fire originated around a wood stove which was located near a container of gasoline. The gasoline was being used to operate a chain saw which Mr. Harvey reported he had been using to cut wood for the stove.

The structure was completely involved upon arrival of the fire department and it was impossible to save anything. Lack of water and snow conditions also hampered firefighting efforts.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey are presently staying in another building owned by Mr. Garner in the Deep Creek Lake area. They are in great need of furniture and clothing, and persons having items to donate are asked to call Mr. Garner at 387-6412, according to Mr. Shimer.

Oakland firemen were called to two other house fires on Saturday, neither resulting in extensive damage.

At 4:46 p.m. a house occupied by David Paugh on Seneca Avenue in Loch Lynn caught fire between the floors around the flue. Damage was listed at $500. The house is owned by Vane Iden.

Firefighters were then called to extinguish a fire just after 10:06 p.m. at the residence of Walter Reed on Eighth Street in Oakland. Defective wiring was blamed as the cause of the fire which resulted in $300 damage.

GCTA Opposes Saturday School

The Garrett County Teachers' Association has said that it is supporting legislation waiving the 180-day school requirement rather than having classes on Saturdays and holidays.

Thomas P. Shaffer, UNISERV representative of the Maryland State Teachers' Association, released a statement explaining the Garrett association's position on how the situation of lost school days because of weather should be handled.

Two bills have been introduced in Annapolis concerning Garrett's problems with 20 snow days which closed school most of January and at other times this winter.

Del. DeCorsey E. Bolden has proposed to allow the state Department of Education to waive the requirement that school be held a minimum of 180 days. Sen. Edward J. Mason has taken an opposite approach, introducing a bill to allow classes on Saturdays and holidays to meet the 180-day minimum.

Mr. Shaffer said the Garrett County Teachers' Association position is that the state minimum school days requirement should be waived or suspended in light of the natural disaster in our county this winter that forced the closing of schools for 26 days.

He said Del. Bolden's bill, in view of the Teachers' Association, is the best solution to a difficult situation. It allows a local board of education to seek from the state board a waiver for valid reasons.

Extending the school year this year to such a drastic degree would present many problems, Mr. Shaffer said, commenting on the possibility of school being held as late as July.

Already scheduled education requirements of teachers, summer jobs and summer camp commitments, and student and parents' plans for work and vacation activities would be disrupted.

Experience has shown that scheduling Saturday classes is not a satisfactory alternative. Scheduling classes on school holidays such as Good Friday, Holy Saturday or Memorial Day would equally not be satisfactory, in our opinion. Extending the length of the school day as much as an hour, for instance, presents additional educational problems, especially with the elementary students.

We acknowledge the need for a continuing educational process and support the minimum school year requirement under normal conditions. We believe, however, in this present situation, when compared to school openings on Saturdays or holidays and extending both the school day and the school year, that an emergency waiver is the best solution for the majority of all concerned.

We further do not believe the students or school employees should be penalized in any way because of our recently experienced natural disaster in Garrett County, Mr. Shaffer concluded.

Winterfest Plans Now Completed For March 5-6

Mayor Stanley Jack Hoyer will be appearing at Deep Creek Lake to speak at the fourth Winterfest Kick-off dinner March 1 at the Wisp ski area. The feed is scheduled March 3-6, according to chairman Jack Leaf.

His appearance that Thursday will mark the beginning of Winterfest IV, an annual winter-oriented round of festivities sponsored by the Deep Creek Lake Lions club. Proceeds from the events are used to support club projects, principally the blind skiing program for the Maryland School for the Blind.

Mr. Hoyer has received numerous awards including Man of the Year in Communications from the Pittsburgh Jaycees, Outstanding Radio Performer in 1970 and 1971, and Commentator of the Year by the Greater Pittsburgh Board of Realtors.

He is an enthusiast of skiing, hunting and fishing, and now is an avid hooter. Born in Wall Flood, Montana, he grew up in the mid-west and came to Pittsburgh in 1962 to take over the Monday through Friday 6 to 10 a.m. slot on KDKA. His morning show is punctuated with down-home anecdotes, recollections from his childhood, stories from his home life and lots of sweet-talking.

He now lives in Upper St. Clair with his wife Joanne and their three children, Jack, Jr., Brenda and Lisa.

Another special guest from outside the county will be Miss Lynn Hore, (pronounced Orr), the present Miss Dominion of Canada, from Doncaster, Ontario. Miss Hore, an 18-year-old model and student, enjoys dancing, football and Chinese foods, and hopes one day to further her career and education in the legal field.

She will also be making an appearance at the kick-off dinner, and will participate in the coronation ceremonies for the 1977 Winterfest Queen to be named that night. Paul Horst is in charge of the Winterfest Queen contest this year.

Scholastic ski contests begin Friday at 2 p.m. with competition in slalom and fun contests. These races continue on Saturday at 10 a.m.

Activities Saturday include a Siberian sled dog team demonstration at 11 a.m. and the Woodsmen contest at 1 p.m. Traditional north woods skills will be tested, such as wood chopping and tree felling, log rolling competition and other lumberman talents.

New competitions this year will be two cross country ski races held Saturday and Sunday. Also added this year is a state police K-9 corps demonstration on Saturday at 4 p.m. Snow sculptures will be judged

Courthouse Projects Are Let For Bids

Two major projects concerning the renovation of the Garrett County courthouse and jail facilities were let for bids this week by the Garrett County Commissioners.

Separate sealed bids for general construction work for additions and renovations to the courthouse will be received until March 25 at the commissioners office.

Separate sealed bids will also be received for demolition of the existing jailhouse, garage and other selected site improvements. These bids will be opened at 2 p.m. March 14 at the commissioners office.

Complete federal funding for the courthouse renovation was received early this year by the Board of Commissioners, amounting to $1.4 million for the entire project from the Economic Development Administration.

The project includes construction of a plaza on the front of the existing building, under which the new sheriff and jail facilities will be located. The plaza will be landscaped as a downtown park site.

After completion of the plaza, the sheriff's operations will be moved from the present building and the old jail will be razed and office space and underground parking constructed to the rear of the courthouse.

The final phase of the project will involve a modernization of the interior of the courthouse and the preservation and revitalization of its historic character.

Work should begin early this spring and is scheduled to be completed in the fall of 1978.

The advertisements for bids appear in the legal notices section of today's issue of The Republican.

Commissioners Don Bender, Wayne Hamilton and George Edwards pointed out that the final design of the building proceeds in providing the new space without disturbing the historic character of the site.

During the design phase, the Commissioners solicited the advice of the State Historic Preservation Officer who reviewed the preliminary and final plans and commended the county commissioners for preserving the county courthouse.

On February 17, the State Historic Preservation Officer wrote a letter to the commissioners which reads in part as follows:

We are especially appreciative of the great care the commissioners, staff and architects have shown, not just in observing the regulations for review requirements but in addressing the much more real issues of life for the building and life for the city.

The Maryland Historical Trust and State Historic Preservation Officer have long urged the sort of action you have taken to revise and extend the utility of old buildings in our towns and cities. Your action is not only supportive of historic preservation, it goes to the even more fundamental issues of keeping Oakland's economy alive.

Bolden Introduces Two New Bills

Delegate DeCorsey Bolden has announced he will introduce two bills this week to increase both the State's Attorney salary and the Garrett County Commissioner's salaries.

The proposed increases are a part of Bolden's attempt to bring salaries up to par in this area. Allegany County is already enjoying the salary boosts.

Currently, the State's Attorney salary is $7,900.00 and the Assistant Attorney's salary is $5,000. The increases, if passed, would raise those figures to $12,500 and $10,000, respectively. The County Commissioner's salaries would be raised to $9,500, which is still below the Allegany pay scale.

The proposed increases would not take effect until next term, which is 1978.

Letters To Editor

Dear Editor,

The old adage, "let George do it, I can't be bothered, I don't want to be involved" cannot be applied to our good neighbors across the street on I Street in Mt. Lake Park.

Let me start at the beginning. The 11th of December my husband and I left Garrett County for Akron, Ohio, to spend Christmas with our son and family, intending to return soon after New Year's. The big snow storm forced us to remain in Ohio until the middle of February. During that time our good neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lee, 700 I St., looked after things in our home. They watered the house flowers, checked the heat, collected our mail, made phone calls, paid our utility bills, went to the bank, cleared our drive-way and even had a repairman fix the humidifier on the furnace. They refused any payment for their time and effort.

I'm writing this for your readers to know that Christianity is still practiced in this day and age and we want to publicly thank our wonderful neighbors on I Street, Mt. Lake Park, while we were stranded in Ohio during the blizzard of 1977.

Mr. & Mrs. Earl S. Lee
Mt. Lake Park, Md.

.....

Dear Editor,

The way we look at things can make such a difference, whether we look at this winter as an historical event, a human adventure, a terrible disaster or all of these.

Religion is not confined to the two hours we spend in church each week and education is not confined to the hours we spend in school.

If telephones are still working, teachers can keep children posted on assignments to do at home. Or, the radio station might give service time to the same purpose. Keeping records of temperatures and snowfall, helping parents with the extra work such weather brings, writing stories about their experiences, how they have managed and learned to make-do and how people have helped each other—all these things and more could enrich Garrett County children's learning; instead of depriving them.

Parents and children could consider how things were when people were not dependent on fuel companies, cars, etc., and what we could learn from the past and what we might have to learn for the future. The whole thing can be a learning experience.

Then, someday, when they are grown up, they can say, "I remember the winter of '77," and the stories of it can pour out to their children or grandchildren as an extraordinary event ... which it is, isn't it?

Sincerely,
Ira Hicks
Friendsville

.....

Mr. Editor:

Following are some thoughts regarding the furor of the 180-day school year.

A plan was devised several years ago to have school forty-five days and then have vacation of fifteen days, this to continue the year around.

This appears to me to have definite advantages; students would not get so bored in the learning process, the two weeks vacation would give them an opportunity to relax and recuperate, it would make for more efficient use of our vast investment in school equipment, student labor is not needed in the farm and little can be absorbed in the towns.

Vandalism of school property would be reduced. Such acts are less liable to be enacted if they are to be discovered the next morning.

I feel the Board of Education and Delegate Bolden would do well to give this plan careful consideration.

Sincerely,
Lee B. Shaffer

Dear Sir:

The addition of a sports page in your paper is a welcome addition to our local scene.

I appreciate the increased coverage of girls' sports. I especially appreciated the story about one of my girls, Susan Eberly. Susan is typical of the type of girl who is involved in sports. Sports are important, but they are only one phase in the life of a well-rounded girl.

Girls' athletics are rather new to Garrett County schools. volleyball had its first year this year and girls' basketball is only a little older. Interest shown in girls' sports by the girls involved, the school, parents and people in the community is very gratifying.

Sincerely,
Helen Rostosky

Editor:

Today the people of the United States are faced with a serious decision.

Should the able bodied men of our nation refuse to serve in the armed services and be free to enjoy the privileges when they have rejected the protection of the United States?

The dictionary defines AMNESTY as a general pardon for offenses against government.

Is it fair to grant amnesty to the deserter who has turned his back on his government and then return to become a favored citizen?

In the past our men and women have deemed it a privilege to serve their nation in giving up their lives or returning to enjoy their country.

I am enclosing a copy of a letter by my late husband, Irvin Lee Neville, to his parents as he was leaving France at close of World War I.

I would be glad for you to use it in The Republican.

Mrs. Irvin L. Neville
Former Garrett County Resident

I Am Proud

My dear Father & Mother:

This will be your last letter from me while in France. It has been announced that no outgoing mail will be accepted after tomorrow, likewise it concludes my services as a member of the American Expeditionary Forces which embraces practically a year's foreign service and almost three months of active combat duty in the final struggle for civilization.

One cannot help but feel proud to have been in the fight and it is extremely gratifying to me, as I know it must be to you, to know that I have performed the noblest act of manhood and citizenship. Going forth into battle we were actuated by high ideals of justice and service and so it was with that aim in view we achieved success.

I am also very proud to tell you that my service and record in the Army is without one single mark of discredit.

Every soldier has been put to a test not only in battle but for the maintenance of character and a clean life, both of which has required a like determination.

Soon I will return to take up some occupation in civil life.

I trust and well believe in coming back not only to be enriched in experiences for broadened in mind, with learned lessons of sharing and better prepared to live for those things for which we have fought and died.

With a feeling of deep concern for your future happiness and a longing desire to be with you again, I am

Your son,
Irvin L. Neville

Dear Editor,

Talk about an energy crisis: saving fuel, businesses cutting their hours, schools closing because of lack of fuel, thermostats set back in the 60s.

Guess what some citizens of Garrett County want to do. It has been suggested that we have school an extra hour each day and a full day on Saturday.

I'm sure President Carter would be overjoyed to hear of this project. Just recently Garrett County was declared a disaster area, and this is how the county plans to repay the government for its assistance. With thermostats remaining in the 60s the students will become sick with the flu and what will happen to school attendance then? Forget it. The parents will be spending their money on doctor bills instead of fuel bills.

Sincerely
David E. Thomas

Temperatures Are More Normal

Warmer temperatures the past three days have brought the average to more near normal. Another 4.5 inches of snow fell from late Saturday into early Monday. Yesterday was quite spring-like with a 61-degree reading.

Skies were clear last Thursday but clouds arrived late in the day and remained through Saturday. Some snow fell late in the day. There was some clearing Sunday morning. This did not last long as snow began to fall in the afternoon and continued into Monday morning. Flurries continued through the day and into the night. Skies cleared Tuesday and were variably cloudy yesterday. Skies were mostly cloudy this morning with a chance of rain. Fresh breezes were blowing Sunday, Tuesday and occasionally this morning. This morning's breezes were mostly southerly.

Temperatures varied greatly with the average being only 2.2 degrees below normal. This is quite a contrast from some recent averages of 16 degrees or more below normal. Highs averaged 37.9 degrees or 2.5 degrees below normal. The high was yesterday's 61 degrees and 52 the day before. The coolest day was last Thursday with only 21 degrees. Lows averaged 16.4 degrees or 1.8 below normal. The lowest was minus 4 degrees last Friday. Yesterday's low was just at the freezing mark. The greatest temperature variation was Tuesday when the mercury went from zero in the night to 52 degrees by afternoon.

Snowfall so far this month is 12.6 inches or 1.1 inch below normal. Precipitation so far is only one third of normal, 1.07 inches.

Wayne Hamilton Is Appointed To Health Council

Gov. Marvin Mandel has announced the appointment of Wayne Hamilton, of Red House, as a member of the recently-formed State Health Coordinating Council for a period of two years.

The State Health Coordinating Council, in compliance with Public Law 93641, is to function as a reviewing and advisory council to the State Health Coordinating Committee.

Their job is to review the plans being developed by the five state health systems agencies, and to point out ways to reduce the acceleration of medical and medical service costs, which are increasing at twice the rate of all other inflationary measures in the economy.

The Coordinating Council consists of four members from each health agency and 13 appointed members, including a representative from the Veterans' Administration. Each of the five areas provides two medical consumer members and two medical provider members. Mr. Hamilton, a member of the Board of County Commissioners, is considered as one of this area's "provider" members, as each of the commissioners is a member of the local Garrett County Memorial Hospital board of directors.

Friday Mishaps Injure Two

Two persons were injured in two of several accidents last Friday in different parts of the county.

Sherry Ruth Friend, Water Street, Oakland, was treated and released from the Garrett County Memorial Hospital, having been in a three-vehicle mixup at the Foodland corner. Sherry Friend was westbound on Md. 135 as Robert Ervin McRobie, Alder street, Oakland, was northbound on old 219. McRobie failed to note the Friend car, pulled onto Rt. 135 and struck it broadside. The Friend car was then pushed into a car of Darrell Ross Bolyard, Terra Alta, W. Va., stopped, headed south on old 219 waiting to enter Rt. 135. Tfc. C. H. Hinnant charged McRobie with failing to obey a stop sign in the 3 p.m. accident.

Herbert A. Wehrle, Hollidaysburg, Pa., was treated at the scene of the accident after his pick-up overturned in the Cove area. Wehrle was southbound on County Rt. 343 about a mile south of the McHenry road. He lost control of the vehicle on an icy road, ran off the left side of the roadway, struck an embankment and overturned. Tfc. L. R. Rosage investigated. This mishap occurred about 2:25 a.m.

Another accident occurred on the same road near the Sang Run road about 8 p.m. Bradley D. Upole, Star Route 2, Oakland in a pick-up, was stopped in the northbound lane of old 219. Deborah Dandrea, Brook Park, Ohio, southbound, attempted to stop due to a vehicle in front of her stopped. Her car went out of control on the icy road and struck the Upole vehicle. Tfc. L. N. Smith made the investigation.

Just past midnight Andrew S. Bruckey, Shallmar road, Kitzmiller, was southbound on the Kitzmiller road about a mile south of the Vindex road. The operator lost control when he attempted to avoid a dog, ran off the road and struck a fence. Tfc. L. R. Rosage made no charges.

A minor mishap occurred on the Altamont road about 9:30 a.m. Betty J. Brown, RD 4, Deer Park was making a left turn from an unnamed road on to Altamont road and noted the oncoming car of Roy R. Glotfelty, Star Route 1, Oakland. Glotfelty noted the Brown car attempted to stop but was unable to and struck it. Tfc. G. D. Broadwater investigated.

Two Thursday mishaps were noted.

A road narrowed by large amounts of snow was the apparent cause of a minor mishap in Friendsville shortly past noon, involving two pick-up trucks. David W. Taylor, Jr., Friendsville, was stopped northbound on Water street just south of Maple Street. He was waiting for Kenneth W. Fike, also of Friendsville, southbound, to pass. Fike went along side the Taylor vehicle and as he did his left rear slid around and struck the Taylor vehicle. Investigation was made by Tfc. Dale Williams.

A large snow pile is blamed on a minor wreck on U.S. 40 just east of the Pennsylvania state line about 7 a.m. Carroll E. Hanft, RD 1, Addison, Pa., was eastbound on Rt. 40. Charles Belch, McClellandtown, Pa., attempted to make a left turn onto Rt. 40 from a private drive. Belch's view blocked by a large snow pile, pulled onto Rt. 40 and was struck by the Hanft pick-up. Tfc. L. R. Rosage investigated.

IN MEMORIAM

In sad memory of our dear husband, father and grandfather, Harry Pysell, who passed away one year ago on Feb. 24, 1976.

February brings sad memories of the loved one laid to rest,
That will never be forgotten by the ones that loved him best.
To hear his voice, to see him smile, to sit with him and talk awhile,
To be together in the same old way, would be our greatest wish today.
Your end was sudden, you
made us cry,
But the saddest part, Dad, we didn't say goodbye.

Stolen Car Is Involved In Saturday Mishap

Two accidents occurred before dawn Saturday, one involving a stolen car south of Red House. The other occurred at the Glendale bridge.

A car belonging to Curtis Richard Clary, Mt. Lake Park, was involved in a wreck on U. S. 219 over the Youghiogheny river, south of Red House. The Clary car was being driven north on Rt. 219 by an unknown person, failed to negotiate a reverse curve at the bridge, and struck a guard rail. The car was reported stolen from Horse Shoe Run, W. Va., to the West Virginia State Police. The operator apparently fled the scene. Clary recovered the car at the scene and reported the recovery of the vehicle to the Garrett County Sheriff's office. Tfc. E. J. Upole investigated the 1:30 a.m. accident.

About an hour later a mishap occurred at the south end of the Glendale bridge. Paul Swartek, Chestnut Ridge, Pa., was eastbound on the Glendale Bridge road. As he was making a right turn onto the bridge, the car slid on the icy road and struck a guardrail. Tfc. Upole investigated this one also.

Deer Park V.F.D. Quenches Blaze At A&G Lumber Co.

Deer Park firemen were called out at 7:05 a.m. last Thursday, February 17, to the A. & G. Lumber Company on Route 135 to douse an electrical fire in the office building.

The fire was brought under control early by the eleven men who responded with two pieces of equipment, and damage was moderate.

Kitzmiller and Oakland were also notified of the fire, but were not needed to assist.

CARD OF THANKS

We would like to express our sincere gratitude to doctors, nurses, and aides at Garrett County Memorial Hospital for their love and concern while I was in the hospital.

Fire Levels Large Barn On Route 38

A fire of undetermined orgin leveled a large barn on the Spring Glade Farm on Route 38, property of Homer Bennett, Saturday evening.

Firemen from Deer Park were called out about 8 p.m. to fight the blaze in the structure, but the firemen were unable to save the barn. Deer Park firemen were assisted by Oakland, which sent a tanker and a pumper, and by Deep Creek firemen. Kitzmiller's company was on stand by for the Deer Park crew.

The barn was not being used at the time of the fire, and Mr. Bennett indicated that there was nothing of significant value in the barn at the time. The loss is covered by insurance, according to Robert Shiner, state fire marshal, who is investigating.

The structure was over 100 years old at the time of the blaze.

Friendsville Woman Is Hospitalized

A Friendsville woman was released from Garrett County Memorial Hospital, having been admitted following an accident February 13.

Patty Elaine McCrobie, Star Route, Friendsville, was released from the hospital the early part of the week. She was taken to the hospital by the Southern Rescue Squad where she was admitted. The wreck occurred on U. S. 219 about a half mile north of the Glendale road about 5 p.m. She was traveling north when her car ran off the road and struck a snow embankment. She stated an unidentified vehicle attempted to pass her and ran her off the road. Tfc. J. E. Foley investigated.

At one o'clock the following morning the driver in a one-car wreck on U.S. 48 near Friendsville was injured. Thomas Wayne Bacorn, Buckhannon, W. Va., was traveling west on Rt. 48 about two miles east of Md. 42 when his car ran off the road into the median strip. The car rolled over several times. The operator stated due to icy roads and high winds he lost control of the car. Tfc. Foley investigated this one also.

Later that same evening Gary E. Holland, Reese Street, Oakland, was westbound on U.S. 50 just east of U.S. 219 when he lost control of the pick-up. The vehicle went to the left and struck an embankment on that side of the road. Tfc. G. D. Broadwater charged him with failing to keep to the right side of the road.

Two cars were involved in a mixup on the Table Rock road last Tuesday afternoon. A third, unidentified vehicle, was a possible cause. Charles P. Evans, RD 3, Oakland, was southbound on Table Rock road just south of U.S. 50. He noted a vehicle stopped in the traveled lane ahead and was in the process of passing it. As he did, he noted a car driven by Robert D. Perkins, Clendenin, W. Va., northbound, and applied his brakes. His car slid on the snowcovered road and struck the Perkins car in the northbound lane. The stopped vehicle, a blue pick-up, left the scene after the collision. Tfc. C. H. Hinnant investigated.

Another accident involved an unknown vehicle about noon last Wednesday on Md. 560 just off Md. 135. Leo D. Holtschneider, RD 4, Deer Park and the unknown vehicle sideswiped as the unknown attempted to pass the Holtschneider car. The operator of the unknown vehicle stopped and gave Holtschneider $60 for damages and left the scene without identifying himself. Tfc. L. R. Rosage investigated.

Six ways to stop their fingers.
A quarter page display ad gives you the maximum impact. With plenty of space for single or multiple illustrations and for the kind of information your customers need to make a wise buying decision. In your favor. A quarter-page ad gives your business a look that inspires confidence and really stops those walking fingers—right in your territory.
You can tell the three sixteenths page display ad by its unique horizontal shape. A shape that can help your customers tell you mean business. So think of it as a billboard. With room for a wide, eye-catching illustration and a long, finger-stopping headline.
The one eighth page ad can stop their fingers fast. By spanning two columns with your message. That's enough space to tell the key features of your product or service and get the added impact of an illustration alongside.
The one-sixteenth page ad has finger-stopping space enough for a prominent illustration and a lot of the most attractive features your company has to sell.
The two and one half inch business card gives you a small but attention-getting location box to help customers focus on exactly who or where you are. Instead of walking on to the next listing.

If you have a product or service to sell, a display ad in the Yellow Pages can help you sell it better than just a listing can.
By stopping shoppers' fingers in their tracks.
Here are six ways to do it. Ask about the rest when your Yellow Pages representative calls.
Or, call The Reuben H. Donnelley Corporation and they'll help you pick just the finger-stopper your business needs. They're listed under "Advertising-Directory & Guide" in the Yellow Pages.

Salute To The Lakers

Tonight, the GCC Laker Basketball Team travels to Cumberland, where they will meet the Takoma Park squad at 6:00 p.m. in the ACC Trojan gymnasium.

The important match is the first of three that faces the second-place JUCO Lakers, in their continuing drive to the Region 20 Championships to be held in Kansas this year.

According to Coach, Paul Holzshu, "We have as good a chance as any to wind up champions in the Region this year. Our team has shown consistently that they possess the incentive, discipline and togetherness so important in winning."

"Tonight's game should be treated like any other we have played this season. With hard work, a cool attitude and a determined team effort, the outcome can only be good," the first year coach pointed out.

One need only to look back on the last four years of success stories the Lakers have mounted to feel a strong sense of pride for the county.

Garrett records the past four seasons are, 73-74, Coach Dennis Fearnow, 17-9, 74-75, Fearnow, 19-8, 75-76, 16-11, Coach Camp, and the success story is the same with 17-5 being logged for the Lakers this year with Holzshu at the helm.

"This year we will lose four superior ball players who will go on to play for other colleges and universities. Although we have a fine nucleus remaining, they will be missed," the coach added. The four leaving at the end of the term are, Tom Panther, Mike Grove, Ed Danel and Tom Comiskey.

"Right now," Holzshu continued, "our concentration is on recruiting for next season's team. Locally, we are interested in Southern's Ken Niner, but nothing definite has been decided as of now. Other outstanding players are also being considered."

The future of the Lakers is a part of our county's future. As the GCC Lakers grow, (and it looks as though there is nothing to stop them), Garrett County will continue to grow. Supporting the successful Lakers is one way we can assist them in their efforts to bring home victories. From the playing of the National Anthem, to the sounding of the final buzzer, the team in blue and white needs all the cheering we can give them.

At tonight's match in Cumberland, let's show them we appreciate their carrying the ball for us. Win or lose, they will know their efforts mean more to us than game statistics.

Lakers Finish With A Victory

The Garrett Lakers ended their regular season in fine style Monday evening on the home floor by dumping Howard Community College, 97-74.

Six Lakers finished the contest with double figures, led by Bill McGarvey with 16 points, John Guadagnino with 15, Dave Frost 14, and Tom Panther, Ed Danel and Mike Grove each hit for 12 tallies.

The Lakers were never threatened as they jumped to an early 22-8 lead and maintained a comfortable margin throughout. They led at the half by 13 points, 42-31.

Howard's Larry Coleman took scoring honors, finishing with 28 points. Rod Thrillerman added 16 and Frank Maranjo hit 14.

It was the final home game for sophomores Panther, Grove, Danel and Tom Comiskey.

The Lakers will take their 17-5 season record to Cumberland, tonight they will face Takoma Park in the opening round of the Maryland JUCO Tournament. Garrett finished in a three-way tie for second place in JUCO competition with Charles and Dundalk.

Coach Holzshu was pleased that his team did not look too far ahead and let down against Howard Monday night. He stated, "We're ready for the tournament."

Southern Rams Increase Winning Streak To Five

Southern High School continued their winning ways by downing the Bruce Bulldogs, 72-67, Tuesday night on the Southern Rams' hardwoods.

After first quarter activity ended it appeared to be a clear case of Rams' Ken Niner versus Bruce's Ron O'Reilly.

Ken Niner placed 31 points on the board, with Fred Griffith adding another 18. Steve Liller followed with 10 points for the Rams.

Ron O'Reilly shot from long distances to take home 26 points and teammate Rob Cleveland scored 14 points.

Southern converted ten of 17 attempts at the foul line compared to only three of five efforts being made by Bruce.

Bruce outscored from the floor though, as they managed a 32-31 margin against the Rams.

Southern stayed on top throughout the game as quarter scores read, 20-18, 35-24, and 54-41.

The win boosted Southern's streak to five in a row.

In a Potomac Valley conference meet, held last Friday night between the Rams and visiting Union High, the Rams went wild downing them, 108-65.

Southern placed five players in double figure scoring. Steve Liller was out front with 26 points, Ken Niner added 17 and Todd Liller got 15. Fred Griffith and Reg Messenger managed a dozen each.

The Rams converted 20 of 27 free throws to only 15 of 25 being made by the Tigers of Union.

From the field it was Southern scoring 44 points to the Tigers 25 points.

The Tigers had one superstar, Fred Durst, who netted a total of 50 points against Southern. The single effort was the highest score ever recorded against the Rams.

In last Saturday evening activity, the Southern Rams again racked up another win by defeating visiting Valley High, 72-61.

It was Niner again leading the pack by scoring 24 points, followed by Steve Ritchie's 19 points and Steve Liller's 17.

In third period activity, the Rams scored a whopping 80 percent with the trio of Niner, Liller and Ritchie, hitting eight of ten from the floor. With the exception being a sluggish second period performance the Rams held a comfortable lead throughout and the win gave the Rams a 12-7 overall record.

For the Valley Knights, it was Mark Spiker hitting 25 points with teammate Terry De Shong adding another 10 points.

Southern's last two games will be played at home beginning tomorrow night when they meet cross-county rival, Northern at 8:00 p.m. Petersburg will travel here Saturday evening and game time is scheduled at 7:00 p.m.

Lakers Drown Beaver, 88-66

The Garrett Community College Lakers appeared to have little more than a good workout as they coasted to an 88-68 win last Thursday night over Beaver Community College on the McHenry floor.

Five Lakers reached double figures, led by John Guadagnino who hit for 20 points on the evening.

Coach Paul Holzshu said the game was "as good as we've played all year," as his team shot 63 percent from the floor and hauled down a total of 37 rebounds.

Garrett led by 16 at the half, 42-26, and Coach Holzshu emptied the bench in the second 20 minutes, opening a 20-point gap.

The Lakers outshot Beaver from the floor by a 42-28 margin, but were behind at the foul line, converting only four of ten compared to 12 of 20 for the losers.

Laker Mike Grove tallied 16 points while teammate Tom Comisky hit 15. Dave Frost chipped in 12 and Ed Danel, ten.

Freshman Allen Lewis was lost by the Lakers for the season when he suffered torn ligaments of the ankle late in the contest.

Joe Hogan paced all scorers for Beaver with 22, while Jerry Miskulin hit for 13, Norm Baldwin, 11, and Bill Shepard, ten.

The victory was the sixteenth of the season for the Lakers against five defeats.

Huskies Avenge One Loss, Then Fall To Beall, 79-51

Rod Youmans and Tony Doerr combined for 60 points last Friday evening in leading the Northern Huskies to a 79-68 win over Bruceton Mills at Northern. Youmans hit for 34 points and Doerr added 26 as the Huskies avenged an earlier 84-80 loss to the West Virginians.

Also reaching double figures for Northern was Don Paugh with ten.

Youmans scoring came on 15 field goals and four for five at the line. Doerr hit ten from the floor, six of seven foul tosses, hauled down ten rebounds and was credited with nine assists.

Northern held a fairly close edge at the quarters by scores of 18-16, 40-34 and 52-48, but came on strong in the final eight minutes to outscore Bruceton, 27-20.

Hileman and Collins led the scoring for the losers, hitting 20 and 18, respectively.

The win improved Northern's record to 8-10. However, Monday night proved to be not nearly as successful for the Huskies as they were soundly defeated by visiting Beall, 79-51. Beall dominated the hardwoods throughout the evening, capturing a whopping percentage of the rebounds, with five Mountaineers reaching double figures.

The Mountaineers were out in front 19-12 at the end of the first period and then outscored Northern 22-9 in the second stanza to hold a 41-21 edge at intermission.

Beall lead in field goals by a 30-21 margin and converted 19 of 26 free throws compared to only nine of 24 for the Huskies.

Jeff Waites paced the winners scoring with 15. Bryan Arnone hit for 14, Ron Llewellyn and Brock Arnone tallied 12 each apiece and Dave Blank added another ten.

For the Huskies, it was Rod Youmans leading all scorers with 23 points. Don Paugh, the only other Huskie to reach double figures, scored 11.

Northern will face off against arch rival Southern tomorrow night on the Southern floor.

State Wrestling Finals To Be Held This Week

After the Region I Wrestling Championship Matches were decided earlier this week in North Hagerstown High School, only two Garrett County competitors remained eligible for the State Championship Matches to be held tomorrow in Catonsville, Maryland.

Tony Artice and Randy Broadwater qualified when they won their first matches held in Region I competition. Artice won by default over D. Framm from Churchill High, while Northern teammate, Randy Broadwater pinned R. Robinson from Blair High School.

Keith Kamp, an earlier Northern entrant was eliminated in the heavyweight division when he lost to S. Massingill from Seneca Valley.

Earlier hopes dimmed at Southern High when John Hayhurst was decisioned by Bruce Goss of Point Branch, Ken Stinson was decisioned by Springbrook's J. Ott, and Jim Clark of the Rams matmen was decisioned by D. Wilson of Sherwood.

Two days have been set aside for the state meet and Garrett County's hopes now rest on Artice and Broadwater. The meet days are February 25 and 26.

Senate Gives Tentative Okay To Yough Bills

Legislation to compensate Youghiogheny River landowners for loss of property rights because of state regulations was given tentative approval by the Maryland Senate earlier this week.

The Senate also gave preliminary approval to a bill requiring that the seven-member Scenic and Wild rivers Board for the Youthiogheny include two members who have land in or adjacent to the river's corridor.

Both bills are sponsored by Sen. Edward J. Mason (R-Allegany, Garrett), who is attempting to ease the burden of the state regulations governing use of the Youghiogheny.

The two measures should come up for the third and final reading in the Senate later this week. If passed, they will then go to the House of Delegates.

Hearings on the bills were held in Annapolis last Thursday and the Senate Economic Affairs Committee gave immediate approval to the measures. Sen. Mason said Monday that there were no objections raised on the senate floor and that the bills easily passed second readings.

Designation of 22 miles of the Youghiogheny in Garrett County as a wild and scenic river has brought on strict regulations promulgated by the Maryland Department of Natural Resources.

Property owners have long been protesting the state restrictions. Sen. Mason has said that if the state wants to impose stringent regulations on how the river land can be used, then Program Open Space funds should be used to compensate the landowners. To get these funds will require additional legislative action.

Meanwhile, the Youghiogheny River Property Owners Association is still waiting for the House Environmental Matters Committee to vote on a bill sponsored by Del. DeCorsey E. Bolden to repeal that part of the Wild and Scenic Rivers law which includes the Youghiogheny in the state system.

Col. Richard C. Browning, president of the Youghiogheny River Association, Inc. was among those from the county present at a hearing on House Bill 702 in Annapolis February 17.

In his testimony, Col. Browning pointed out that the Yough land use control is being accomplished through police power. He used several points of Constitutional law provides landowners with protection in land use and ownership against the state.

He concluded by saying "I see no reason why the Youghiogheny River property owners should have to go to court spending their money to fight their own tax dollars against a law which is obviously unconstitutional."

In introducing his bill at the hearing, Del. Bolden had termed the DNR regulations as a "confiscation of people's property without due process." He said that the river is now being overseen by "bureaucrats far removed from the scene," and added that the DNR has now requested another planner position for its new budget, intending to fill a new position at an annual salary of $12,079.

John Ross Sines, a river property owner and former county commissioner, also testified, as did Jean Frantz, who read a testimony prepared by her late father, Blaine Frantz. Mr. Frantz, owner of one of the largest properties along the river, had waged a bitter battle against those who had attempted to regulate his property.

Testifying against removing the Yough from state control was John Capper, of the DNR. He pointed out that the department is concerned that without regulations the 22-mile section of the Yough in Garrett County will eventually become overdeveloped.

He said that at one location two miles of river valley wall has been clearcut and homes can be seen from the river at this point, and said that this may be an indication of development to come.

Del. Catherine Riley repeatedly asked why the state would not be content with designating the river as "scenic" rather than as "wild and scenic" but Mr. Capper said there are few restrictions connected with the scenic designation and the DNR opposes enactment of the Bolden bill.

Sen. Steny Hoyer, chief architect of the 1975 legislation putting the river into the state wild rivers system, commended the landowners for the past preservation efforts, but said that at the same time it would be less than honest to not recognize that further preservation becomes more difficult as development pressure increases.

In continuation, he criticized the DNR for not communicating more effectively with land owners, and he said he has taken steps to insure that property owners' views are heard and considered.

Sen. Hoyer said that he is also supporting effort to pay for easements for river property because he believes the land owners deserve compensation in cases where state regulations strictly restrict the use of their land.

Murder Trial Is Underway Here

Nine witnesses for the state testified Tuesday afternoon in Garrett County Circuit Court at the outset of a new trial for two men who had been found guilty and sentenced to life imprisonment following a trial in Allegany County Circuit Court for the fatal shooting March 25, 1975 of a Hagerstown grocer.

The two men on trial for first degree murder are Isaac Newton Johnson, 25, Hagerstown, and Charles Terrell Walter, 28, of Everett, Pa.

The victim of the shooting was Ralph G. Hull, operator of Hull's Market in Hagerstown. He was fatally wounded while working at the market.

Some 56 prospective jurors were summoned for the trial and 14 jury members, including two alternates, were selected shortly after noon and the trial began.

The case is being presided over by Associate Judge Fred Thayer. Presenting the state's case are State's Attorney John Holliday and Darrow Glaser, deputy state's attorney for Washington county.

Walters is being represented by Paul M. Sandler and Luther West, Baltimore attorneys, and Johnson is being represented by Attorney John J. Padulah, Hagerstown.

There are quite an extensive number of witnesses and the trial may continue through Friday. The state is expected to rest its case today.

Deer Park Holds 4-H Club Meeting

The Deer Park 4-H meeting was held February 14, at the Deer Park Community Building. The main business of the meeting was the selection of public speaking representatives for the club. Selected were Jeff Browning, junior; Tom DeBerry and Kenny DeWitt, intermediates; and Rick Paugh and Sandy Schmidt, seniors.

Mrs. Jo Ann Harvey served as judge. Brenda Hinebaugh will be chairperson for the fund raising committee, it was announced.

Next month's meeting will be held March 7.

National FFA Week Noted By Local Chapter

Members of the Oakland Future Farmers of America (FFA) chapter join with over 500,000 FFA members in the United States in celebrating National FFA Week this week.

Throughout the week, the state's 64 chapters are planning activities to support the theme, "Agriculture's New Generation."

"The 49-year traditions of the FFA have held strong and produced a mighty force of food and fiber to meet the need of our nation and the world. Successful agricultural leaders of today are the testimony," according to Richard Bishoff, FFA advisor and vocational-agricultural instructor at Southern High School.

"Agriculture's New Generation" is in the making as FFA members today.

National FFA Week always includes George Washington's birthday in observance of his leadership in promoting scientific farming practices. Washington is considered the patron saint of the FFA and has come to symbolize the FFA treasurer.

According to president, Tim Skipper, the Oakland chapter has sold fruit baskets, poinsettias, farm gates, and wagons to finance the chapters activities, which include sending delegates to the National FFA convention in Kansas City, Mo., showing Beef and Dairy at the Garrett County Fair, and participating in the Maryland state judging contests and the state FFA convention at the University of Maryland.

The FFA, organized in 1928, promotes leadership, cooperation, and citizenship among students of Vocational Agriculture in local high schools.

Boat Operators Reminded Of New Requirements

The Department of Natural Resources advises Maryland boat operators to keep up to date on latest requirements for recreational boats.

Accordingly, the department's Licensing and Consumer Services unit is mailing the Coast Guard's pamphlet "Federal Requirement for Recreational Boats" to the state's 130,072 registered boat owners.

Mrs. Benny Bess Crandall, Director of the Licensing and Consumer Services, said: "The pamphlet is a good guide for safe boating Maryland. State boating regulations are virtually identical, only more restrictive as far as local application is concerned."

The pamphlet contains such requirements as: Numbering, Approved equipment, Flotation Devices, Rules of the road and Lighting.

Also, a number of safe boating tips are included.

Additional booklets may not be mailed, but may be picked up at DNR headquarters, Tawes Building, Annapolis or any departmental regional service center.

The Natural Resources Police Force also makes available a free home safe boating course which can be obtained by writing:

Hance Warns Against Phantom Pesticide Deals

Maryland Secretary of Agriculture Young D. Hance warns that fast-talking agricultural chemical salesmen are "at it again" in the state.

Mr. Hance says residents of Garrett County have reported instances of telephone calls to farmers from salesmen in the northern New Jersey area. The salesmen offer special deals on pesticides with fancy names — and, Mr. Hance says, "some fancy prices going as high as $25 per gallon.

"Based on the information supplied to us so far, none of the chemicals offered are registered for sale and use in the state of Maryland and, as a matter of fact, the ones we have checked out have never been heard of by people expert in the pesticide field.

"Apparently," Mr. Hance continued, "the names of the salesmen change every few days and the names of the products they are pushing change quickly too.

"Farmers should be suspicious of any chemical salesman who calls them on the telephone. To help us stop these practices farmers can help by getting as much information from the salesmen as possible particularly telephone numbers, area codes, shipping point information and chemical names so perhaps we can piece together a pattern and contact authorities in other states who can take action.

"If a farmer has the slightest doubt about a telephone salesman's product they should contact their local County Extension Agent and Maryland Department of Agriculture before, and I repeat, before, agreeing to purchase the product," Mr. Hance said.

Farmers with questions about agricultural chemicals offered for sale should contact Mr. David Shriver, Supervisor of Pesticide Regulations, Maryland Department of Agriculture, at 301-454-4635.

Serious Crime In State Drops

Serious crime dropped by 3 per cent in Maryland during 1976 according to a preliminary annual crime report just released by the State Police.

The most dramatic drop occurred in the murder category which was down by 19 per cent over the previous year.

During this past year, 234,705 serious crimes were reported to police in Maryland.

Most of these crimes occurred in the Baltimore-Washington metropolitan areas. Baltimore City reported 29 per cent of the total crimes and was followed by Prince George's County that accounted for 20 per cent of the crime. The third highest jurisdiction was Baltimore County that reported 15 per cent of the crimes. Montgomery County followed with 10 per cent of the statewide total and Anne Arundel County accounted for 8 per cent.

Violent crime decreased by 10 per cent. There were 12,322 reports of aggravated assault; 12,247 robberies; 1,327 forcible rapes and 352 murders.

Property crime decreased by 2 per cent with larcenies leading the list with 134,334 reported cases, followed by 56,351 breaking and enterings and 17,772 motor vehicle thefts.

Crime dropped by 4 per cent in the Baltimore and Washington regions. A 7 percent increase was reported in Western Maryland. Crime was also up on the Eastern Shore by 3 per cent and in Southern Maryland by 1 per cent.

These figures were compiled under a recently expanded uniform crime reporting system initiated in Maryland that was backed by a Federal grant through the Governor's Commission of Law Enforcement and the Administration of Justice.

Swanton Residents Hold Unusual Birthday Party For Ira Wilt

Several Swanton area residents held a rather unique belated birthday celebration for Ira Wilt on Sunday, February 13, at his home. Mr. Wilt observed his 75th birthday on January 26.

Mr. Wilt has lived on a farm near Savage River Dam all his life and his farm house maintains none of the modern conveniences such as electricity or running water. Located two miles off the county road, Mr. Wilt has been snowed in since before Christmas, his narrow lane blocked by the recent heavy snows and high winds.

Therefore, all persons attending the event were transported into the Wilt residence by snowmobiles. Running the snowmobile shuttle from the road to the farm house were Earl Wilt, Homer Wilt, Carl Spiker, Roger Rounds, Bill and Bob Green and Jim Sowers. Other guests included Louise Wilt, Patti and Karole Wilt, Margaret Sowers, Barbara, David and Ricky Sowers, Shirley and Scotty Spiker, Mike and Crystal Wilt.

The women prepared a dinner on a 71-year-old wood burning kitchen stove. The menu included homemade cornbread, one of Mr. Wilt's favorites.

Roger Rounds and Homer Wilt provided entertainment with their mandolin and guitar. The instruments also had to be carried in on snowmobile.

Mr. Wilt was taken for snowmobile ride and posed for several pictures. Some history was relived and related including some of Mr. Wilt's recollections of past winters.

The day's celebration lasted into the evening when the party guests bundled up for the return ride out from the farm to the road. Mr. Wilt, claiming it would be a day he would never forget, bid a waving farewell to the guests as they snowmobiled across his field.

Forest and Wildlife Personnel Make Life Easier for Deer Population

An example of browse lines is illustrated here by forest experts, Warren Groves, left, and Ed Golden. This particular sapling was felled two years ago in their efforts to create new feeding lines for the roaming deer herds. After the saplings are felled, new shoots emerge all along the top of the small tree as can be seen in the photo. The bent sapling then acts as a feeding trough throughout the woods.

Warren Groves points to other areas in the woods where new browse lines may be cut in order to assist the hungry deer herds in future feedings. Shown on his left is Randy Donham, behind him is Ed Golden and Terry DeWitt. George Zimmerman is holding the band saw in preparation to continue the cut lines.

It was a learning experience last week when this reporter accompanied two professional outdoorsmen into the Savage River State Park, where their colleagues were involved in deer feeding projects.

How many campers or hikers have ever heard the term, "Browse Lines," and knew what it meant? Not many, unless one of their friends happened to be employed by the Forest or Wildlife Services. Browse lines are a series of small trees that have been grooved approximately two feet from the base of the trunk. The trees are then bent to the surface of the earth which allows new shoots to emerge, thus providing more food for wildlife.

Ed Golden, Garrett County Wildlife Manager, and Warren Groves, Forest Manager for the Savage River State Park, pointed out several things that occur during severe winters that impede deer herds in their normal search for food.

"Because of the bitter cold our county and surrounding counties have experienced (and continue to endure), as many as thirty deer have been spotted in clusters, trying to survive on meager supplies of twigs, buds and foliage," Warren explained. "Browse Lines are an essential part of our efforts to ease the plight of hunger and the project usually services an area for two to three years."

All along the Savage River, the eye couldn't help noticing the bare trunks and branches of the rhododendron. Although deer prefer other, more nourishing leaves, the rhododendron is in ample supply at the river's edge.

"Feeding, even for bulk purpose, becomes a necessary thing for deer to do under austere conditions," Ed stated.

The average deer has to consume no less than six to ten pounds of victuals daily just in order to survive and maintain its own weight. The rhododendron and other tasteless morsels clearly emphasize the need for man-made action by the forest work crews.

"When this kind of evidence develops in the woods we know the deer are having a difficult time," Ed proceeded. "They're somewhere up in the hills now watching us, where upon when we've finished cutting new browse lines, they will wind themselves down to nibble on the new provisions," he added.

"Few people realize the fact that deer are simply a lazy creature and that when such extreme weather persists the food has to be put on the table for them —" concluded Ed.

Another reason the herds flock to the river's edge is that mobility is so much better. The high snows on the slopes are simply too deep at this time.

Rhododendrons are aesthetically attractive, but if a deer were able to comment on the situation, it might well be, "The heck with aesthetics. Bring on the grub!"

Both men pointed out that been enough for the deer to the period between now and locate nutritious morsels such late March is known as as acorns, apple twigs and critical. What few warm days greenbrier. Golden and Grove we've had so far haven't really explained.

At first glance, this picture might well be "taken" for just another snow scene, but at closer range, fresh deer tracks appear. Because of the extreme cold wind this winter, deer have been forced down from higher elevations to seek shelter in natural windbreaker areas.

At the mouth of Middle Fork, where we observed the new browse lines being created, one could see why the area offered the deer some break in the cold front. On both sides were natural windbreakers. However, though the area provides protection, man must put in what Mother Nature left out. In this case, it is red maples, more twigs and an abundant supply of tastier buds.

Eight Die On State Highways

Eight persons lost their lives on Maryland Highways according to the weekly news release compiled by 2nd Lt. M. I. Morgan of the Maryland State Police. Of those killed three were drivers, four were passengers and one was a pedestrian.

Driving in Maryland is safer than it was forty years ago. Many improvements have been made in vehicles, roads and laws, and most younger drivers have had some formal driving instruction. Today a record-high number of drivers drive more cars than ever before, more safely, but we still kill between six hundred and seven hundred people a year in Maryland traffic. Driver attitude is the big stumbling block to greater safety. Our attitude toward speed, drinking and driving, toward each other, toward traffic rules and toward granting right of way leaves something to be desired.

A total of 67 persons have died thus far in 1977, compared to 73 for the same period last year.

Alone

When we are young we have many carefree hours. We do not fully appreciate it at that time . . . but looking back we realize that today's generation has even more time on its hands. Beautiful time, yes! But we must help them fill it with a sense of responsibility and leadership.

Of course, our schools and communities offer every opportunity for healthy growth of minds and bodies.

But what about their spiritual development? Youth rightfully looks to us, who are no longer young, for guidance.

No, we cannot let them look for God alone. We must show them the way to Sunday School and the Church . . . where they can find Him. Then the years to come will be filled with spiritual strength and faith to live according to His will.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

THE WRONG QUESTION

Lesson for February 27, 1977

Background Scripture
Mark 2:13 through 3:6.
Luke 5:27 through 6:11.
Devotional Reading
Colossians 2:16 through 3:4.

One of the problems with the Pharisees as we find them presented in the four Gospels is that they seem to be forever asking the wrong questions.

Why do your disciples not live according to the tradition of the elders, but eat with hands defiled?" (Mark 7:5).

Rev. Althouse

"By what authority are you doing these things?" (Mark 11:28).

"In the resurrection whose wife will she be?" (Mark 12:23).

"Why do you eat and drink with tax collectors and sinners?" (Luke 5:30).

"Is it lawful for us to give tribute to Caesar, or not?" (Luke 20:22).

Actually, few of these questions were sincere requests for information, but attempts to trap Jesus into saying something that could be held against him. They are the kind of questions we ask when we already think think we know the answers.

So that they might accuse

This is true also when they ask Jesus about his activities on the sabbath. They would hardly have asked the questions if they thought he could give a satisfactory answer. The reason is that they knew that however much Jesus revered and obeyed the religious laws of the land, he nevertheless put something else higher than the law. God's gracious love and mercy.

He had demonstrated it when they brought to him the woman taken in adultery. He did not demean the law which provided a sentence of death by stoning, but he elevated instead the mercy of God. Therefore they believed that in any questions where his concept of love was in conflict with the letter of the law, his responses would always lean to the former — sometimes giving the impression that he was against the keeping of the law.

Nowhere was he more plainly vulnerable than in his attitude on the sabbath laws. The prohibition of labor on the sabbath was a foundation stone of the ten commandments, the basic law of Israel. Thus when they saw his disciples picking grain on the sabbath, they felt they had caught him in an untenable position. To their question, "Look, why are they doing what is not lawful on the sabbath?", there could be only one obvious answer.

Made for man

But Jesus seldom did or said the obvious. Instead he reminded them them that the revered King David himself had violated an ecclesiastical law when, starving, he entered the sanctuary and ate the sacrificial bread that was reserved solely for the priests. The need of David was of greater importance in God's sight than the ritual law.

Actually, the great principle he was attempting to establish was simply that the law is not God and we must look behind the law to the purpose of God which it serves. "The sabbath was made for man, not man for the sabbath." (Mark 2:27). The problem was not with the concept of the law, but that they had put the law before God.

It is still true that when religion goes wrong, often it is because men are asking the wrong questions and for the wrong reasons.

IS A LOW PRICE MOST IMPORTANT?

Not when someone is very sick and needs medicine. Then, you depend on a pharmacy like ours, where you get every possible service that can help you most.

It isn't difficult for any discounter to give you a less than needed price on a few of the fastest selling drugs. Part of the loss can be made up by also discounting service, the rest by high profit, unfamiliar-to-you-products. We offer no "bait bargains", just honestly fair prices, always, on everything we supply.

YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a medicine. A great many people entrust us with their prescriptions. May we compound yours?

Jacklighting Drops In Maryland By 23 Per Cent

Jacklighting, the crime of hunting deer with a light, dropped 23 per cent in Maryland during the last seven months. That is what figures compiled by the Inland Division of the Natural Resources Police Force show.

Lieut. Colonel Jack Taylor, Chief of the Inland Division, attributes the drop to intensified enforcement, widespread publicity as to the wickedness of the offense, and enactment of a law by the General Assembly prohibiting hunting with a light armed or not after certain hours.

From July 1, 1976 through January 31, 1977, Inland Division records show, the total number of cases tried for spotlighting while armed was 73.

For the same period a year ago, the total was 94.

That is a drop of 21 cases or approximatel 23 percent.

The so-called "no light law" not only was credited with contributing to the drop in jacklighting, but also to economies in time and money for the Inland Division.

The law prohibits searching for animals with a light between 10 p.m. and dawn. In Somerset County the prohibition extends from sunset to dawn.

Previous to enactment of the "no light" law, which became effective July 1, 1976, arrests were made only if spotlighters were armed.

Residents, seeing strange lights in wood or field, would notify the Inland Division. Often, the officers would arrive on the scene to find unarmed people with lights.

The time and gasoline consumed mounted up over a year.

With the law in force, Colonel Taylor estimates, there has been a 50 per cent drop in the number of "light" complaints.

As Capt. Robert S. Brown, Chief of the Western enforcement region, put it:

"This (the no light law) has eliminated a lot of wild goose chases, saving both time and expense and allowing more time for investigation of legitimate complaints."

Garrett County 4-He'rs Receive Safety Award

Two Maryland counties have won state honors and cash awards for outstanding 4-H programs in safety and conservation of natural resources.

Garrett County was selected by the Cooperative Extension Service as best in the state of its 4-H safety program, and Cecil County was cited for its 4-H conservation program.

Lawrence F. Little, Garrett County extension agent, accepted a $25 check donated by General Motors to be used for advancing 4-H safety activities in the county.

Bernadine Coleman, Cecil County extension agent, received a $50 award provided by John Deere for furthering countywide 4-H conservation activities.

More than 1,500 students in grades 1-6 were reached by a 4-H bicycle safety program in Garrett County. Youngsters saw movies and a series of color slides on bicycle safety. Summer campers also received instruction in bike safety and skill riding.

4-H hunter and rifle safety activities involved about 150 young people. And 4-H members took part in 10 programs to promote public awareness of safety hazards and remedies.

In Cecil County, more than 300 youths participated in conservation and nature study programs conducted at the county 4-H camp and summer day camps.

About 45 counties nationwide received conservation and safety awards in programs arranged by the National 4-H Service Committee.

VENUS' SURFACE

Radar maps of Venus show a basin the size of Hudson Bay and another area the size of Oklahoma containing long parallel ridges. Near the equator craters are found ranging in size from 160 kilometers (100 miles) to 35 kilometers (22 miles) wide and are only 500 meters (1,600 feet) deep. These maps have been made from information gained by the Goldstone and Arecibo radar telescopes.

The moon will be at its First Quarter phase at 9:50 p.m. tomorrow. Moonrise was at 10:18 a.m. this morning. It will not rise next Wednesday until 3:16 p.m.

At 10:00 p.m. this evening the moon will be 404,350 kilometers (251,300 miles) from the earth. This is the greatest separation between the earth and its satellite this month.

Venus, Jupiter, and Saturn are the visible planets this week for the unaided eye. Venus is visible for four hours after sunset. It is among the stars of Pisces. On Monday it will be at its greatest brilliance. Jupiter and the moon form an interesting arrangement during the next three days. This plantet is among the stars of Taurus not far from the Pleiades. Saturn is visible among the stars of Cancer near the Beehive Cluster all night, setting shortly before dawn.

There will be sixteen minutes more daylight next Wednesday than there was today. Sunrise was at 6:58 a.m. Sunset will be eleven hours six minutes later at 6:04 p.m. Wednesday the sun rises nine minutes earlier and sets seven minutes later than it does today.

Believe-It-Or-Not World Of Weather Forecasting

If you were among hundreds of persons who observed the squirrels gather nuts for the winter, and you predicted from their "haul," the severity of the winter, you could have been "putting someone on—" The quantity of nuts a squirrel gathers has nothing to do with weather. Whether you believe it or not, they simply had a good harvest of nuts to gather before winter arrived.

The "gathering of nuts," is one of many theories people have chosen to pass down through the ages as a means to gauge the impending weather scene. Some other notable examples of weather forecasts are equally fascinating and some are relatively accurate.

According to tradition, the groundhog (or woodchuck) comes out of its hibernation on the second of February. If it sees its shadow it scurries back into its hole where it stays for another six weeks, consequently predicting another forty-two days of winter.

Long ago, in Europe, Ground Hog Day was celebrated as, Candlemas Day, and the following proverb was composed:

If Candlemas Day be fair and bright,

Winter will have another flight;

But if Candlemas Day brings clouds and rain,

Winter is gone and won't come again.

The simple truth is that the presence or absence of sunshine on any given day can in no way determine the length of a winter.

An old superstition was about an oncoming rough winter and was seen by some when they measured the brown bands of wooly-bear caterpillars. If the bands were wide, the winter would be mild. But, if the bands were narrow, a rough and terrible winter season would be experienced.

Studies by various scientific laboratories disclosed after observing the caterpillars that there was no truth in the myth. They as much as said, phooey.

Some sayings, though, are quite reliable, as is the "year of snow, year of plenty" theory.

A continuous covering of snow delays the blossoming of fruit trees until after the probable season of frost is well over. It also prevents the alternate freezing and thawing of the ground which destroys the roots of many plants.

However, that the phenomena researchers have been unable to explain is the fact that the caterpillars have been found to be accurate in their predictions.

Another interesting fact is that the caterpillars are found to be accurate in their predictions.

Breaking In, Larceny Cases Heard Tuesday

Preliminary hearings were held in District Court Tuesday morning for two charged with storehouse breaking, grand larceny and being a fugitive. Another person has been charged with forgery and uttering. Judge Lewis R. Jones ordered all cases forwarded to Circuit Court.

Harold O'Neal Crossland, Jr., 29, and William Henry Emmett, 26, both of Uniontown, Pa., have been charged with storehouse breaking, grand larceny and being a fugitive. The incident involved storehouse breaking of the Fratz Store in Accident, about 6 a.m., February 7. Goods and chattels valued at $1,958.69 were allegedly taken.

The pair is charged with taking a CB radio, calculator, power microphone, toboggan, arctic gloves, (2) lawn mowers, (3) moto-tillers and (2) stereo's.

Emmett and Crossland had been charged with burglary, theft and receiving stolen goods in Somerset County, Pennsylvania, early this month.

They had been placed on $20,000 full bond on the larceny and fugutive charges February 10. At a preliminary hearing Tuesday, bond was reduced to $20,000 at 25 percent. In the storehouse breaking, bond had been set at $10,000, but was reduced to $10,000 at 25 percent at the hearing. These cases have been transferred to Circuit Court and the pair is being held in the Garrett County Jail.

Michael Roger Allison, 20, Reese Street, Oakland, has been charged with forging and uttering three checks one in Oakland August 30 and two in Mt. Lake Park on August 31. The checks totaled $120. January 21, bond was set at $10,000 full. At a bond review January 25 bond was reduced to $10,000 at 10 percent. At a preliminary hearing Tuesday, bond was held the same and the case forwarded to Circuit Court. Allison remained in the Garrett County Jail Tuesday, not having posted bond.

Laura Beth Stottlemeyer, Mt. Lake Park, was placed on probation for one year following a presentence investigation. She pleaded not guilty of possession of controlled paraphernalia at a trial January 10. She was found guilty and the presentence investigation was ordered. Last week the 'guilty' finding was stricken under the first offense article and she was placed on probation before judgment for one year under supervision. She is to avoid association of drug users and accept drug counselling as recommended by the supervising agent.

NOTICE ONLY TO GARRETT CO. PROPERTY TAXPAYERS

Have you called the Commissioners yet? They're working on the budget again and it's going up too!

Did you know that every wage earner in this county will pay about $850 toward the remodeling of the court house?!!! That's right. And you thought we were getting it free from the Govt. Most people are unaware that Federal money comes from you and me. From our taxes. The commissioners have decided (without our vote) that they're going to spend $3.4 million of your Federal money. Would an $850 tax cut help you pay your utility bill?

Did you know that the Commissioners are going to spend $50,000 for special floors and walls in the new school in the northern end of the county? We didn't get to vote on that either!! The state has specific guidelines on floors and walls and our commissioners feel that we need more luxury!! Call them and then join our forces.

GARRETT COMMUNITY COLLEGE

Art Show Set At Garrett

Monday, February 28, will be a special day at G.C.C. At ten o'clock that morning the largest art show and sale ever to be held locally will begin. Throughout the week, the college, in conjunction with the Roten Galleries, Inc. will present the exhibit of over 800 original prints on display in the Learning Resource Center.

All of these prints will be for sale, and the public is invited to come and browse. Most of the prints will be priced at less than $100 — some as low as $10.

A representative from the Roten Galleries, Inc., will be present on Monday to answer questions about the works. The Roten Galleries has a reputation for exacting standards. To be classified an original print by Roten, the work must have been conceived by the artist, the artist must have had a hand in the preparation of the plate, and all prints must have come from the original plate.

This will mark the first time a major gallery has brought an exhibit to Garrett County. It represents an excellent opportunity for the public to buy signed (in many cases), numbered, original prints at a very reasonable price.

The public is welcome to come to the campus any time during the normal operating hours of the Learning Resource Center — Monday through Thursday from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m., and Friday from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Students Visit Art Treasures Of King Tut

The study of Egyptian art came alive for students of Michael Zuckerman's art history and art appreciation classes last Wednesday when they traveled to Washington, D. C., to see the Treasures of Tutankhamun at the National Gallery of Art.

The exhibit contained fifty-five treasures of art on display from King Tut's board, including the solid gold funerary mask of the boy-king. Of major national interest, the exhibit will be shown in five other major cities later this year.

Southern States Dollar Volume Is Told At Meeting

Southern States Cooperative's dollar volume for the first six months of the 1976-77 fiscal year showed a 24 percent increase as compared with the same period last year, reported J. W. Montgomery, Jr., general credit manager of the cooperative, to the regional board conference of local leaders and young farmers held at McHenry on February 15.

Montgomery told the session that the cooperative's volume reached $145,042,600 for the first half of the fiscal year as compared with $116,744,000 a year ago.

Feed volume was up 14 percent over the 251,000 tons moved during the same period last year. Fertilizer increased 16 percent, seed, 12 percent; farm supplies 14 percent; and petroleum, 43 percent.

Grain marketing, with a fiscal year beginning June 1 instead of July 1, had a dollar volume increase for the first seven months of 4 percent, and the number of bushels increased 6.5 percent.

Following the operations report, the members and users of the cooperative voiced their judgments on its success in meeting farmer needs.

Rockslide Occurs On Route 135 Tuesday

Tuesday's thawing temperatures apparently caused a rockslide which blocked the westbound lane of Maryland Route 135 between Luke and Bloomington near the Garrett County line.

The slide occurred shortly after 8 p.m. State Highway Administration workers were dispatched to the scene to clear the road, and were able to shove the debris off the roadway.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our father and husband, Grover C. O'Brien who passed away 10 years ago, February 25.

February brings sad memories of a dear one gone to rest.

He will never be forgotten by the ones that loved him best.

Little did we know that morning the sorrow the day would bring.

God took you into Heaven to hear the Angels sing.

They say time heals all sorrows and helps us to forget.

But time, so far, has proven how much we miss you yet.

In our hearts your memory lingers sweetly tender, fond and true.

There is not a day, dear dad, that we don't think of you.

Sadly missed by wife,
Children, Grandchildren,
And Great-Grandchildren.

But its radiance brightens yet another place.
Heaven now has a grander view,
For He chose a rose when he chose you.

Mason Submits Hunting License Revocation Bill

State Senator Edward J. Mason (R-Western Maryland) this week introduced legislation permitting the State Department of Natural Resources to revoke a person's hunting license or deny a person the right to secure a license as a result of destructive, dangerous or harmful behaviour on the part of the person. The only provisions currently in the law for denial or confiscation of a license are for using or allowing a person to use a hunting license other than their own.

Senator Mason said that he was "amazed to learn that there is presently no authority for the department to assure that our hunters behave in a safe and courteous manner. A few individuals can continuously act in a rude and reckless manner, endangering the safety of others and giving a bad name to all hunters, knowing that they can not be punished. It is as if a drunk driver killed someone in an accident then was allowed to keep his driver's license so that it could happen again."

The bill gives the department the authority to hold hearings to determine the facts on the behavior of a hunter and based upon those findings to revoke or deny a license to hunt or trap for periods ranging from up to three years to indefinite revocations. In order to assure an equitable system of adjudication the bill also provides for the right of the person so penalized to appeal to the courts.

Reasons for revocation of licenses include mutilation and damage to real or personal property, causing a forest fire, hunting while under the influence of intoxicating liquor or narcotic drugs, assaulting a landowner or lessee, injuring a person with a weapon, negligence with a weapon, refusing assistance in a hunting or trapping accident, causing a hunting or trapping accident and fleeing from such an accident.

THE REPUBLICAN

VOLUME 101 | OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD., THURSDAY, MARCH 3, 1977 | PER COPY 15c | NUMBER 1

The First 100 Years . . .

Today The Republican begins a second century of publication. This newspaper has been issued every week for one-half the life of the United States. It has had a broad and colorful existence, witnessing much change, both locally and nationally.

The achievements and advancements of mankind in every field the past century are unsurpassed by any other hundred-year period in history.

The Republican had been a part of, or a witness to, five wars, the terms of 20 Presidents and the addition of 12 states to the Union. It has seen the invention of the telephone, the wireless telegraph, the television, the automobile and the airplane. At its beginning, people were carried about town in buggies. Today people are carried to the moon in rockets.

Closer to home, The Republican reported stories over the years concerning the Great Depression, prohibition, women's suffrage, the Gay Nineties and the Roaring Twenties. The list goes on.

The growth of a county newspaper is usually a good indicator of the growth and progress of the county itself. As a county grows, more news is made and more advertising is purchased. Over the past 20 years The Republican has grown by leaps and bounds to become one of the largest weeklies in the east.

While Garrett County has not grown so much in population, it has made tremendous gains economically, educationally and recreationally. Garrett County is constantly moving, creating better lives for everyone therein contained. This is unlike many other counties in the nation which have become stagnant.

May the next century continue to look with favor upon us.

The Republican Completes One Hundred Years Of Publication

Today's issue of The Republican, Volume 101, Number 1, marks the beginning of the one hundred and first year of publication of the weekly newspaper.

The first issue of The Republican rolled off the hand-fed press on Saturday, March 4, 1876, under the editorship of Captain James A. Hayden, in hopes that it would become "a permanent institution" in the county.

Captain Hayden, who became Major Hayden for his gallant conduct at the battle of Gettysburg, published The Republican for 13 years before selling out to Benjamin H. Sincell, an employe of Major Hayden at the time.

Mr. Sincell issued his first newspaper on July 11, 1876, his 21st birthday.

In 1911, Benjamin's son, Donald H. Sincell, at the age of twelve, began working at The Republican office. Donald assumed the position of managing editor in 1947, a position which he still holds today.

Benjamin Sincell remained editor until his death in 1947, when associate editor, George H. Hanst took over the position. Mr. Hanst served as editor for 30 years until his retirement this past January. His place was taken by Donald W. Sincell, great-grandson of Benjamin H. Sincell, grandson of Donald H. and son of Robert B. Sincell, production manager.

The circulation of The Republican is now approximately 9,000, reaching nearly every state in the union and various points overseas.

Youghiogheny Law Repeal Bill Killed

The House Environmental Matters Committee has voted to kill legislation taking the Youghiogheny River out of Maryland's Wild and Scenic Rivers system.

The vote was a major setback to Del. DeCoursey Bolden who had introduced the bill at the request of the Youghiogheny River Property Owners Association. The bill would have rid the landowners of stiff state regulations concerning land use along a designated wild river.

Del. Bolden said Friday that although the repeal move is now dead, the committee plans to amend other provisions in his bill with the intention of giving the landowners some relief.

The amendments would be similar to legislation sponsored by Sen. Edward J. Mason and will provide for easement payments to landowners whose property is greatly restricted by state regulations.

Sen. Mason's bill creating easement payments through the state Program Open Space funds and another bill to make certain that two members of the Youghiogheny River Advisory Board are landowners within or adjacent to the river corridor, have already passed the Senate. They are now in the House Environmental Matters Committee awaiting hearings.

Del. Bolden revealed that the 22-mile river corridor in Garrett County may be extended to the 68 Bridge in Oakland, a distance of another four or five miles.

He said the corridor extension apparently is supported by Sen. Steny H. Hoyer, Senate president and the chief architect of the Wild and Scenic River legislation.

While the House committee rejection of the Bolden repeal bill came as a blow to those who are fighting the state regulations, Del. Bolden conceded that he had virtually no chance of getting the repeal bill enacted.

He said that even if he had been able to push the legislation through the House, the measure was destined for defeat in the Senate because of Sen. Hoyer's opposition.

Del. Bolden also said that the House Judiciary Committee has not yet voted on a bill increasing the fine for wanton trespassing in the county from $100 to $500.

He stated that the measure is important to the river landowners because they plan to continue to keep their property closed to the public as a protest of the state regulations. He said the larger fine for trespassing will make the landowners' protests more effective.

George H. Hanst Honored At Dinner Marking Retirement

George H. Hanst, retiring editor of The Republican, was honored by 30 fellow employes and family members Monday evening, February 28, at the Sitzmark Room, Will o' the Wisp.

Master of ceremonies was Robert B. Sincell, production manager for Sincell Publishing Company, parent company for the newspaper. The invocation was given by Ben Ridder, advertising manager.

Seated with guest of honor at the head table were Mrs. Hanst, his wife of 45 years; Donald H. Sincell, managing editor; Mrs. Elsie Hanst; Sincell, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ruckert; Robert B. Sincell; Donald W. Sincell, the new editor; and Mrs. Donald W. Sincell.

Special guests were two of Mr. Hanst's three children, son George Henry Hanst, Baltimore, and daughter Mrs. Jane Burks, Elkins, W. Va.

Following the meal, Robert Sincell commented on the progressive changes wrought in the newspaper by Mr. Hanst, who assumed the position of associate editor in 1927 and of editor in 1947. He also brought out the changes in physical work occasioned by the mechanical progression of the newspaper plant.

Others making remarks were Donald W. Sincell, who told the group that the paper owed its success to efforts of Mr. Hanst over the years; Robert Ruckert, who brought out that an editorship is not an easy position to assume; and Donald H. Sincell, who recounted that Mr. Hanst first began working for the paper while still in high school, lured to the newspaper from the local bakery by "Mose" Sincell.

Others speaking were George Henry Hanst, Mrs.

Attached to the hoe was a check, to help purchase seeds for the Hanst garden, which is lovingly tended each summer by Mr. Hanst.

Accident Home Is Severely Damaged By Fire Wednesday

One of the landmark homes in Accident was extensively damaged by fire Wednesday afternoon. The three story, frame home of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Baumann, near the elementary school, sustained heavy damage to the upper two floors. The house is over 70 years old.

Mr. Baumann and Paul Hook had been working on the second floor and had left a rear room to go to a storage shed at the rear of the house. Mrs. Baumann, who was sewing on the first floor, heard a crackling sound, investigated and found the area to the rear of the second floor involved in flames.

Members of the Deep Creek and Friendsville fire companies were called to assist, with a total of 35 men and five pieces of equipment fighting the fire.

Damage from fire was extensive at the rear of the second floor, while the remainder of that floor had severe heat and smoke damage. The attic had fire, heat and smoke damage and the first floor sustained water damage.

According to Robert Shiner, investigator for the state fire marshal's office, the fire is believed to have been caused by an electrical extension cord being used to operate a power saw located in the rear of the second floor of the house. Mr. Baumann indicated he has insurance to help cover the damage caused by the blaze.

Man Killed, Two Injured In Rt. 40 Crash Last Night

Ralph F. Tilzner, 53, of McHenry, died about 8:30 p.m. Wednesday in a two-car collision on U.S. Route 40 about 100 yards west of Keyser Ridge.

The driver of the other car, Terrence M. Alexander, 32, of Frostburg, was treated and released at Sacred Heart Hospital. Mr. Tilzner's wife Elsie was also treated at the hospital, where she had been transported by members of the Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad. She remains a patient at that hospital.

According to Maryland State Police, Alexander was westbound on Route 40 when he crossed the center line on a curve, smashing into the Tilzner car.

The body of Mr. Tilzner was taken to the Newman Funeral Home in Grantsville. Funeral plans were not complete at presstime.

IT WAS A BLUE MONDAY for Gary O'Brien, Swanton, when a B & O Railroad train completely demolished his pick-up truck in mid-afternoon at the Oakland crossing. Mr. O'Brien was attempting to park his truck between the tracks and Gonder's Insurance Agency when the wheels became lodged in a mixture of blacktop. Suddenly, the railroad warning gates came down at which time O'Brien abandoned the vehicle. The Oakland Fire Department was called to the scene but there was no fire.

Mt. Lake Child In Intensive Care At Burn Center

A ten-year-old girl from Mt. Lake Park remains in the intensive care unit at Mercy Hospital Burn Center, Pittsburgh, after her nightclothes caught fire early Monday.

Sonja Lynn Peterman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy J. Peterman, was standing in her nightclothes next to the fireplace in the family's living room about 7:45 when her mother noticed that the child's clothes were smoking.

Just then the clothing ignited and the child ran toward the kitchen. Mrs. Peterman smothered the flames with a rug and took the child to Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

After treatment there, the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad transferred the child to the burn center where she is being treated for second and third degree burns over 20 percent of the back of her body. The girl is burned from her shoulders to her knees.

She is a fifth grade student at Denaret Road School.

According to personnel at the burn center, Sonja will be a patient there for a long time. She is on the first floor, intensive care unit, Mercy Hospital Burn Center, 1400 Locust Street, Pittsburgh, 15219.

Willis Found Not Guilty Of Murder

A Mineral County, W. Va. jury returned a not guilty verdict last Thursday evening in the murder trial of Francis Willis, 41, of Oakmont, who was charged with the fatal shooting October 25, 1976, of David Lee Willis, 18, of Elk Garden.

The jury got the case at 5:40 p.m. and reached a verdict at 7:45, after having returned to the courtroom once for more instructions from Judge C. Reeves Taylor, who presided at the two-day trial.

The state's case was presented by Milton Michael, prosecuting attorney. H. R. Athey was counsel for the defendant. The defendant, his wife, and 18-year-old daughter were among the defense witnesses who testified.

David was shot while riding in the rear of a four-wheel drive vehicle as it was pulling away from the Willis home following an argument between Francis Willis and Roy Willis, Dale Tasker and Donald Cook.

Francis Willis acknowledged he had fired three shots, but stated that he had fired in the air.

The body of an Oakland man was found Wednesday afternoon in a yard on Scott Street about mid-afternoon. Pronounced dead on arrival at Garrett County Memorial Hospital was Quinn Broadwater, 67, who was residing with Paul Yommer.

The body was found by Mrs. Betty Jean Corby in her yard. She called the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad which responded and transported the man to the hospital.

Mr. Broadwater was a native of Grantsville. His body will be at the Newman Funeral Home there, but funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Garrett County Board of Education Members Testify On 180-Day Bills

Garrett County Board of Education members Herbert Harman, Clarence Stem, and Brooks Hamilton traveled to Annapolis on Tuesday, March 1, where they testified on House Bill 932 and Senate Bill 741, both having to do with the 180-day school requirement. Under existing school law all public schools in Maryland are required to be kept open for not less than 180 actual school days during a ten-month period of each school year. With the loss of 20 school days due to snow and icy conditions in Garrett County, the only option open to the local Board of Education, under this existing law, is to add days beyond the original closing day of school, June 10. As a result of this problem, both Delegate Bolden and Senator Mason have introduced legislation in their respective Houses which attempt to alleviate this situation.

Both Mr. Harman, who spoke to the Senate Committee on Finance, and Mr. Stem, who spoke to the House Ways and Means Committee, prefaced their remarks by stating that the local Board of Education is considering this situation has to concern itself with three groups: first, the 5400 youngsters in the Garrett County schools who have lost instruction time; second, the taxpayers who provide the funding for the schooling of these youngsters; and third, the staff who have developed plans predicated on the June 10 closing date. More specifically, Mr. Harman and Mr. Stem indicated that the Board of Education would like a maximum degree of flexibility in attempting to meet the needs and desires of all. Although both bills originally introduced by Delegate Bolden and Senator Mason offered some degree of flexibility, both Mr. Harman and Mr. Stem noted that only by allowing local Boards the opportunity to consider Saturdays, holidays, and extension of the school day as make-up time in conjunction with the waiver of the 180-day requirement, would Boards of Education have adequate means to work out a reasonable solution to this kind of problem. Lastly, both Board members requested quick action on this legislation so as to, in turn, allow the Garrett County Board of Education time to resolve the local problem as quickly as possible.

Delegate Bolden Announces Panel

Delegate DeCoursey Bolden, of Garrett and Allegany Counties, announced that a five member panel will be named to head up a committee to study various pay scales in both counties and that recommendations would be forthcoming in January, 1978.

Alfred Kight, 58, Wins His First New Car Saturday

At age 58, Alfred (Fatty) Kight has become the owner of a brand new, yellow, no-mileage, 1977 Plymouth Arrow through the Southern Band Boosters' efforts to raise money for their Florida trip later this month.

Shown with him, above, are granddaughters Susan, left, and Tammy, both band members. Susan sold him the winning ticket, which was delivered by Tammy.

Mr. Kight, a self-employed mechanic who operates his own shop in Mt. Lake Park in addition to managing Kight's Trucking and Excavating, was employed as a mechanic for 25 years at Sharps Chevrolet in Oakland before going into business for himself.

A native of Pierce, W. Va., Mr. Kight has lived in Garrett County since he was six months old. He and his wife Betty have two children, a daughter, Mrs. Charles (Lorraine) Mason, mother of Tammy and Susan, and a son, Jack Kight. He is a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints.

The new Arrow will replace a 1967 Chrysler which now has a 120,000-mile odometer reading. Mr. Kight plans to use the Chrysler strictly as a work car now, to haul tires and parts.

The new car was donated at cost by Oak View Motors in Oakland to help benefit the Band Boosters' Florida fund raising. The car was awarded Saturday following the Band Boosters' auction in Oakland, which raised approximately $1,000.

Letters To Editor

Dear Editor:

For those of you who did not spend any time with Southern Band students and their band director over this past weekend, during their Band Marathon missed quite a session.

The students were well mannered, no loudness or disagreement, they were all in there working for something they really wanted to do for their school, County and State. The parents of these children are to be complimented on their behavior during this twenty-four hour period.

Too, the boys and girls who used their energies to entertain the students did a great service by adding a little fun to each hour.

Southern is fortunate to have a sincerely dedicated director that is responsible for partial moulding of these students' lives.

Wishing Southern much success in raising funds for the trip.

Sincerely,
Fannie Sullivan
Interested Grandmother

Dear Editor:

There is, Ecclesiastes reminds us, a time to keep silence and a time to speak. Sex, as God meant it to be, is beautiful, under the right circumstances, that is. I've seen and heard a lot of what is termed "The New Morality." However, I'm afraid our enlightened society has gotten their terminology mixed up as well as their values.

The "New Illiteracy" would be a better term. There IS no new morality! There is only one real morality, and that is the set of guidelines for moral conduct set down by God in the Bible, in which we are told not to commit adultery, incest or fornication.

Fornication (sex between unmarried partners) is the most popular of the three mentioned. I've heard college professors encourage it among their students as a way of letting off steam. They seem to have forgotten the psychological and physical after-effects of sin. For instance, look at the suicide and V.D. rates. Young people will tell you it's the grown-up thing to do. But rather than grown up conduct, I would consider it somewhere on the behavior level of an undisciplined, puberty-age child who has not learned to control his emotions.

What in the world has happened to good old-fashioned common decency and honor? How refreshing it is to see young men or women stand proudly by their convictions and say "No, thank you, I've chosen to live by the standards I was taught in Sunday school and church."

No one may compliment them on their choice, but there will be a gleam of respect in the eyes of their peers for that person who has shown Christian maturity and strength of character in the way they have chosen to conduct their lives. For as someone once said, "Each time a man stands up for an ideal — he sends forth a tiny ripple of hope. —"

Rosemary Lister

Dear Sir:

My wife and I have recently visited the recently established Senior Citizen Center at the old elementary school house on Center Street in Oakland. We were utterly surprised, the place is beautiful, although not completed according to Mr. Ford, the center is beginning to receive some recognition. Daily activities are conducted by Mrs. Mary Browning, hostess at the center who is a gracious lady who greets all with a smile, a cup of coffee or tea and snacks are always available. For out of towners, it is a wonderful place to relax and enjoy color television.

We want to congratulate Mr. Ford for his untiring efforts and sacrifices he has made in the interest of Senior Citizens of our County. He has worked on a voluntary basis for the past two years and continues to do so which shows his true interest in the welfare of the elderly.

It is my hope that the people in the Oakland area take time to visit the center and give Mr. Ford your moral support, better yet, some financial support. Let's get behind this dedicated man and give him the support he justly deserves.

Dear Editor:

In reference to Mrs. Rostosky's letter in The Republican for February 23, I would like to state that interscholastic volley ball is not so new to Garrett County's high schools. Of course, she may have reference to the schools now since we have only two.

I remember that when Garrett County had five high schools that is in the 20s we had volley ball for the girls and also soccer for the boys.

In other words this would just be a reintroduction to volley ball for the county.

I thought that I would set matters straight in this letter rather than to let this matter ride.

In those days we had five county schools, hence we had this rivalry between Grantsville, Friendsville, Accident, Oakland and Kitzmiller High Schools.

Sincerely,
Jacob J. Oester

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Carrie E. Mellinger who passed away one year ago, March 8, 1976.

The Golden Gates were open wide
A gentle voice said "Come"
And angels from the other side
Welcomed our loved one home.
Your gentle face and patient smile,
With sadness we recall
You had a kindly word for each
And died beloved by all.
The voice is mute and stilled the heart,
That loved us well and true.
Oh, bitter was the trial to part
From one so good as you.
You are not forgotten, loved one
Nor will you ever be
As long as life and memory last
We will remember thee.
We miss you now, our hearts are sore,
As time goes by we miss you more.
Your loving smile, your gentle face,
No one can fill your vacant place.

Sadly missed by her husband, children and all her loved ones

Motor Fuel Tax Collections At All Time High

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein announced today that net motor fuel tax collections for January 1977, reflecting sales made during December 1976, totaled $17,075,288, the largest single month's collections on record.

"This brings the total net motor fuel tax revenues to $112,900,450 for the first seven months of Fiscal Year 1977," Mr. Goldstein said.

The Comptroller noted that gasoline consumption for the month of December 1976 totaled 169,621,327 gallons, the second highest consumption in any month of Calendar Year 1976.

GARRETT COMMUNITY COLLEGE

Garrett Community College: Expanding Programs, Services And Opportunities

By Dr. Alfred O'Connell, President

Like many of its sister institutions around the State, when Garrett Community College first opened its doors in 1971, nearly 85 percent of the student body enrolled in the transfer arts and sciences programs. It is these programs which include the traditional and customary academic disciplines which form the core of any system of higher education. Garrett Community College students have transferred to dozens of four-year institutions over the past five years. The College's follow-up studies have consistently indicated that G.C.C. students do exceedingly well upon transfer.

While the arts and sciences courses have and will continue to serve as a major programmic thrust, the College has attempted to broaden the nature and scope of its offerings and services by introducing an ever-expanding number of occupational programs. In 1972 the College introduced degree and certificate opportunities in business and secretarial science. Other new occupational programs were added in response to the unique environmental needs and opportunities in Garrett County. The initial venture in this direction began with the introduction of the Environmental and Renewable Resources Technology Program, with an emphasis on employment in fields related to the natural resources of Garrett County and the surrounding region. Options within this program were developed in Wildlife Management Technology, Construction Technology and Agricultural Technology.

In 1975 G.C.C. introduced a Maintenance Technology program in response to local manpower requirements. This past fall we added a Wildlife and Fisheries Management sequence in cooperation with Frostburg State College and the University of Maryland. Students interested in this professional career field must complete the first two years of the sequence at G.C.C. Those who meet this requirement successfully are automatically admitted to the B.S. degree program at Frostburg State College. Frostburg also offers a masters degree in Wildlife and Fisheries Management through the University of Maryland's Environmental Laboratories located on the Frostburg campus. This consortium has the distinction of being the only such program which is fully accredited by the cognizant professional societies.

Additional occupational offerings are planned for the future. The College anticipates approval of a new veterinary technology curriculum for the fall of 1977. Initial enrollment in this program will be restricted due to the limited availability of clinical facilities. In September, 1978, the College also plans to introduce the first coal mining technology program in Maryland. Planning for this new undertaking, involving representatives of the deep mining industry in Garrett County, is already well underway.

In a county as overwhelmingly rural, it is understandable that the natural resources related occupational programs have proven to be very popular with both full and part-time students. These programs combine the advantages of post-secondary academic education along with training and skills that are immediately useful in the labor market. Today, enrollment is fairly evenly divided between the transfer-bound student and those who are seeking skills which lead to immediate employment.

Of the three elements symbolized on the seal of Garrett Community College — Community, Self and Vocation — it seems fair to state that the first was least clearly conceptualized when the College was founded. This is no way surprising since it is only recently that community colleges have begun to probe the implications of their "community" role.

Development at G.C.C. paralleled this movement elsewhere. The community services administrative responsibilities were originally shared by a number of individuals of the College. More recently, the community services activities have been combined and delegated to a full-time Director and staff of Continuing Education. This staff is located in Oakland at the old Center Street School which has recently been renamed the Oakland Center of Garrett Community College. Continuing education offerings include both credit and non-credit courses available at the Oakland Center as well as a number of other shared and temporary locations throughout the County. The Oakland Center also houses Senior Citizens' programs and activities on one end of the spectrum, as well as a very active Child Development program for pre-school age children. Non-credit offerings through the Division of Continuing Education are developed and started on a rolling basis throughout the year. Community reaction to the Oakland Center operations is evident from the fact that in the fall of 1976 enrollment at the Oakland Center alone was approximately 100 percent greater than the total initial enrollment on the McHenry campus when the College opened in 1971.

The College, in its brief history, has consciously tried to extend its programs, services and opportunities to an ever-increasing number of Garrett Countians. To illustrate by way of a fairly recent development, the Board of Trustees adopted a policy to admit to the College a selected number of high school students from Southern and Northern High Schools to take college-credit courses on campus concurrent with their high school classes. This year, by agreement between the Garrett County Board of Education and the College Trustees, selected high school seniors from both County high schools may enroll on a full-time basis to complete concurrently the senior high school year and their first year in College. Students who are successful in this early admissions program will receive their high school diplomas in June, along with a full year of college credit which may be applied at G.C.C. or elsewhere. For a selected number of students both the educational and the financial advantages of the early admissions program should be obvious. At the present time approximately ten high school seniors are enrolled fulltime at G.C.C. The College, in cooperation with the Board of Education, is anxious to extend this opportunity to any student who can profit from the experience.

Garrett Community College has something to offer everyone in the County, beginning with the high school junior interested in early admissions, on to the senior citizen seeking new avocational outlets. Students interested in the formal degree and/or certificate programs, including the early admissions applicants, are advised to contact Mr. Raymond Alexander, Director of Admissions at 387-6666. Information regarding continuing and adult education opportunities is available by contacting Mr. Lowell Bender at the Oakland Center, 334-8266.

You can make sure they do. By stopping their walking fingers with an ad in the directories of neighboring cities. Or in your city's suburban Yellow Pages.

And make it a display ad instead of just a listing. It's a proven fact that customers notice display ads first. What's more, three out of four customers end up choosing companies with display ads.

George H. Hanst Honored At Retirement Dinner

Honoring George H. Hanst, second from left, upon his retirement after 55 years with The Republican Newspaper in Oakland were, left to right, front row, Mrs. Polly Hanst, his wife of 45 years; Mrs. Elsie Sincell, his sister, an employe of the newspaper; Donald R. Sincell, managing editor of Sincell Publishing Company; second row, Donald W. Sincell, who replaces Mr. Hanst in the editor's chair; and Robert B. Sincell, production manager for the company and master of ceremonies at the retirement dinner Monday evening. Three generations of Sincells who work at the production plant are shown above, D. R. Sincell, his son Robert and grandson Donald W. Sincell.

By Carol Canan

George Herbert Hanst, editor of The Republican newspaper for the past 30 years, announced his retirement from that post effective in mid-January, bringing to a close a working career in which integrity, honesty, and devotion to duty ranked higher than any other considerations.

Mr. Hanst had been associated with the newspaper since 1922. He had accepted a position as associate editor in 1927 immediately following his graduation from West Virginia University with an A. B. degree, with a major in English and a minor in journalism.

Born in Philadelphia February 14, 1905, he is the youngest child of the seven born to Henry and Rose (Faber) Hanst. He spent part of his childhood in Kingwood, W. Va., before his family returned to Philadelphia. The family moved to Oakland in 1920. He is a graduate of Oakland High School, class of 1922, and was active in the Boy Scouts and church work.

He has earned one of Scouting's highest honors, the Silver Beaver award.

Soon after going to work for The Republican, Mr. Hanst began a column which led to a popular following in the weekly paper, and incidentally, a nickname for himself. Called simply "Scoop's Column," it detailed many of the happenings around Oakland, and once carried an especially memorable account of how Polly Johnson had done him the honor of consenting to become Mrs. Hanst.

This happy couple has been together for 45 years now, and are parents of three and grandparents of eight. Son George Henry Hanst is a court reporter with the Evening Sun newspaper in Baltimore. He and his wife Barbara are the parents of a son and a daughter. John and his wife Joan and their two daughters recently moved to Jacksonville, Fla., where he is employed as an engineer with the Offshore Power Company.

Their only daughter Jane Burks is combining motherhood of three daughters and a son with a career as nutrition coordinator for the schools in Randolph County W. Va.

A history of involvement with worthwhile projects has long been a trademark of George H. Hanst. While on campus he was a member of Mountain, a men's honorary organization; president of the Press Club; captain in the R. O. T. C.; a member of the basketball squad; and a member of Tau Delta Theta.

He was editor of the WVU newspaper, The Athenaeum.

Another feather in his cap was his selection as one of nine seniors to tour West Virginia high schools representing WVU.

In his community, he continued such works, serving on the draft board for more than ten years until it was discontinued. He was and is active in the Boy Scouts organization, serving for six years as a Scoutmaster and continuing until the present as a member of the Troop Committee.

A member of the Blue Lodge, he has served Oakland Lodge No. 192, A., F. & A.M. as Worshipful Master and as district inspector. He is presently treasurer of the Oakland Lodge. He has been a member of the Oakland Rotary Club for the past 20 years.

His church has always been an important factor in his life, so much so that he has taught a Sunday School class at St. Mark's Lutheran Church for over 45 years. Also, all during those years he has uplifted his tenor voice in songs as a member of the choir. He has served several times as president of the Church Council.

In his editorials, GHH has always been strong on promoting community betterment projects, including consolidated schools, and Garrett Community College. He is and always was supportive of youth and was always willing to donate column space to 4-H, scouting, and other youth groups.

In all ways, he took a firm stand for truth, integrity, fairness and patriotism. His editorials have been quoted in The Congressional Record and in many area newspapers as well.

Not only did his writings support projects, he was also willing to come down off the editorial stump to give deserving projects an actual helping hand. One such major task was chairmanship of the fund raising for the Garrett County Memorial Hospital when he helped raise the $100,000 needed to match the appropriations of George Loar and the Hill Burton funding act.

And just what are his plans now? Gardening, naturally, and sleeping late and as much traveling as possible, maybe revisiting Switzerland and Greece.

For those on the staff at the newspaper, he leaves a fine example of dedication and hard work without complaints. He earned a reputation for truth and fairness for the paper which has caused more than one individual to remark that "The Republican is one of the greatest forces in the community." As a fellow employe, an editor, husband, father, church member and community activist he had much to offer and always gave unstintingly.

May we, like George, be able to retire knowing we have the respect, admiration, and love of all those who are privileged to know us.

Senate Approves $200 License Fees For Deep Mines

The Maryland Senate has approved legislation requiring a $200 license for firms operating deep mines for coal.

To be issued by the state Secretary of Natural Resources, the license would have to be renewed annually at an additional $10 charge if deep mines continue in operation.

The legislation (Senate Bill 319) gives the Department of Natural Resources approval to require information regarding corporation information on officers, directors and principal owners when a firm applies for a license.

Also provided is that the state could deny a permit to firms or individuals who have failed to correct violations of existing rules and regulations governing coal mining or if a bond posted in connection with deep mining activities has been forfeited by the firm or individual.

The bill goes a step further in proposing license approval for corporations, stating that a license could not be issued if the applicant is an officer or principal owner of a corporation, partnership or association that had previously failed to comply with state regulations.

In another mining-related bill passed by the Senate, stiff provisions regarding enjoining of violations of strip mining laws and regulations is proposed.

The measure is Senate Bill 269 and in addition to setting down the enjoining procedures, the bill also proposes to allow the DNR to assess civil penalties of $500 but not more than $10,000 for violations which go uncorrected.

In determining whether to levy a civil penalty, the DNR would be required to consider the wilfullness of the violations, nature and extent of the damage or potential damage to land and structures, including adjacent land and buildings; whether general welfare, safety and health is affected; and finally the effect of the violation on the reclamation of the affected area.

Those assessed with a civil penalty would have to pay the fine to the state. Persons refusing to pay the fine would have interest added to the penalty as well as a lien placed against their property.

Money collected from the fines would be placed in the Open-Pit Mining Reclamation Fund.

Both bills are sponsored by Sen. Harry McGuirk, chairman of the Senate Economic Affairs Committee, at the request of the Department of Natural Resources. The bills now are in the House of Delegates for Action.

Robins Sighted

Spring cannot be too far away.

The first robins of the season have been spotted, according to reports from Roy Arnold, county dog warden. Mr. Arnold saw a flock early Wednesday morning on the golf course.

Let's hope these are not escapees from a Florida Asylum, and that the birds' arrival is not premature.

Health Dept. Has Heart Disease, Cancer Screening

The Garrett County Health Department is now making available an Adult Health Screening service to the adults of Garrett County. The screening program, a cooperative effort by the Health Department, the Cancer Society, and the Heart Association, will permit persons twenty-one years of age and older to be checked for cancer and heart disease. The announcement was made by James R. Stanton, Administrator.

This effort is in response to a growing need for such services to adults in the county, where the three leading causes of death have been diseases of the heart, cancer, and cerebrovascular disease (stroke). The latest population figures show that approximately one-third of the adults in the county are forty-five or older, and screening is most effective when available to the thirty-five and older age groups.

While the testing will be done by Health Department professional staff, it is emphasized that it is for screening purposes only, and if a positive result is found or suspected, referral to the person's private physician will be made. The tests are designed for both males and females, and include Hypertension (high blood pressure), the Guaiac test for stool blood, Tuberculosis test, Diabetes, Anemia, and Glaucoma. Special screening for women include a pap test and breast examination, and women are also taught breast self-examination.

The screenings are available throughout the county on a monthly basis, at the Friendsville Health Center (first Fridays); Grantsville Health Center (second Fridays); Bloomington Health Center (third Fridays); Kitzmiller Health Center (fourth Fridays); and the Oakland Health Center on the second and fourth Wednesdays.

The screenings are available by appointment only, which can be arranged simply by calling the Oakland Health Center and asking for an appointment for the Adult Health Screening program for the center which is nearest to the caller. A fee is charged of $1.00 for Maryland residents and $2.00 for out-of-state residents.

All adults are urged to use the program, and to continue periodic visits in order for them to monitor their health and allow for early detection and peace of mind.

Tag Stickers Now Available At All MVA Offices

The Motor Vehicle Administration reminded Maryland motorists today that 1977 tag validation stickers for passenger vehicles and motorcycles are available at MVA offices throughout the state.

"As of March 1, motorists may attach the stickers to the upper right-hand corner of passenger vehicle tags and the lower right-hand corner of motorcycle tags," a spokesman said. "The stickers are pressure-sensitive and should not be moistened."

Vehicle owners who have not yet received their tag renewal applications should contact the MVA immediately, giving their tag number, the vehicle title and vehicle identification number (serial number), full name, and present address. This information is necessary to enable the computer-printer to print correct applications. For further information, motorists should contact the MVA branch office in their vicinity or they may call the Glen Burnie tag renewal information number — 768-1800.

Validation stickers may also be obtained from the County Treasurer's office in Oakland.

MVA headquarters in Glen Burnie and all branch offices are open 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. weekdays. Motorists are reminded, however, that most state offices, including the MVA, will be closed in observance of Maryland Day, Friday, March 25.

Motorists renewing their vehicle registration by mail should do so no later than March 20 to allow time for the processing and delivery of the validation stickers.

Validation stickers, under the Maryland law, must be displayed in the upper right-hand corner of all passenger vehicle tags and the lower right-hand corner of motorcycle tags by midnight, March 31.

Two Men Given Life Terms For Grocer's Murder

Two men were given life sentences plus five years by Associate Judge Fred Thayer in Garrett County Circuit Court late Friday after a jury had found both guilty of first degree murder in the 1975 death of a Hagerstown grocer and five lesser charges.

The jury of nine men and three women deliberated about two and one-half hours before returning the verdicts of guilty to all six counts for Isaac Newton Johnson, 25, of Hagerstown, and Charles Terrell Walters, 28, of Everett, Pa., in the second trial.

Both men had been tried earlier in Allegany County Circuit Court and after having been found guilty of first degree murder received life sentences from Associate Judge James S. Getty. The Maryland Court of Special Appeals subsequently granted a new trial for Walters and Judge Getty then agreed that Johnson should be entitled to a new trial inasmuch as Walters was the owner of the .38-calibre revolver which was seized as the weapon which killed R. Charles Hull with a bullet in the chest March 25, 1975.

Mr. Hull was killed in his small grocery store on East Wilson Boulevard in Hagerstown when he walked into the store while two men were in the act of robbing his son, Stephen, who was working in the store.

Besides first degree murder, the Garrett County Circuit Court jury found the two men guilty of attempted robbery with a dangerous weapon, attempted robbery, attempted larceny, assault of Stephen Hull and use of a handgun in the commission of a crime.

Judge Thayer, presiding in his first major trial since assuming his post January 3, wasted no time in passing sentence on the two men. He gave both a life sentence in the custody of the commissioner of corrections. He also gave them each ten years concurrent on the attempted robbery with a dangerous weapon and decided that the second attempted robbery and attempted larceny counts merged into the second count. They received another five-year concurrent sentence on the charge of assaulting Stephen Hull.

Finally, Judge Thayer gave them an additional five-year sentence on the handgun charge to be served consecutively.

The court clerks said that the two men will have to serve at least 15 years before they would be eligible for parole on the life sentence. But then they would still have the additional five years to serve on the final count of use of the handgun.

Defense attorneys made no motions for new trials after the sentences were imposed and the defendants indicated they would not seek new trials.

The four-day trial was prosecuted by State's Attorney John S. Hollyday and Darrow Glasser, his deputy, both of Washington county. Paul M. Sandler and Luther West of Baltimore were attorneys for Walters and John J. Padulah of Hagerstown was attorney for Johnson.

Both men had been indicted in Washington county Circuit Court and their cases were moved to Allegany county after the defense attorneys moved for a change of venue. Associate Judge Harold E. Naughton signed the order last October moving the cases to Garrett County after the change of venue motion also was made here.

February Is More Normal Weatherwise

February averaged more near normal than did January by about 14 degrees. Precipitation fell far short, with most falling as snow. The snow that did fall was just about normal. Extremes in temperature helped to keep that item near normal. The monthly average was 25.9 or 3.9 degrees below normal.

Highs averaged 37.8 degrees or 2.6 below normal. The high was a spring-like 65 degrees on the 26th. It was 60 degrees the following day and 61 three days earlier. The first part of the month was the coldest as temperatures stayed near or below the freezing mark on nine days. The coldest day of the month was the 6th with a high of only 9 degrees.

Lows averaged 13.9 degrees or 4.3 below normal. The coldest was a minus 22 degrees on the 8th. That was also the coldest of the season. Temperatures dropped to freezing or below on all but two nights. Zero or below readings were recorded on eight mornings.

On the 27th temperatures dropped during the day with rain changing to snow flurries late in the day.

Precipitation for the month amounted to only 1.41 inches or 2.05 inches below normal. There was about a third of an inch of precipitation each on the 20th and 24th. ONE LOUSY POINT! — That seems to be what Garrett's John Guadagnino is saying following a last-second loss to Dundalk, 84-83, in overtime play in the Region XX Championship playoffs last Friday night. The game was held at the Allegany Community College Campus.

Huskies Stage Incredible Comeback Victory, 68-67

The Northern Huskies staged an incredible come-from-behind victory last night to eke out a one point win over the Hancock Panthers, 68-67, at the Hancock Gym, in a District I, Class C contest.

Throughout the first half of activity, the Panthers aggressively attacked Northern and kept them on the defensive while they mounted a 21-point halftime lead over the Huskies.

However, when the Huskies returned early in the third quarter, it was a brand new ball game.

It was only when the clock showed three minutes left in the game that Northern tied the score for the first time, 59-59.

Tony Doerr put Northern on top for the first time with a goal at the three minute mark. The edge was short lived though, as the Panthers went ahead to score six more points to make it 65-61.

Tony Doerr then completed a three point play with only 53 seconds left on the clock to reduce the lead, 65-64.

Huskies Don Paugh and Rod Youmans both suffered sprained ankles earlier in the action, but came back to stay with the drive and it was Paugh who added another two points at the free throw line to give it back to Northern, 66-65.

With 28 seconds left, Andy Day put the Panthers back on top, but when it came down to 10 seconds it was Jim Spear who lobbed in a quiet one-hander to give the win to Northern, 68-67.

With eight seconds showing on the clock the Panthers tried a long one but it missed the rim.

Tony Doerr finished with 25 points with teammate Rod Youmans adding another 16.

Lakers Win One, Lose In JUCO Bid

The Fourth Annual Maryland Division A JUCO Tournament got underway at the ACC gymnasium last Thursday evening, which featured four teams in a play-off to determine which two teams would meet for the championship. The Lakers' first match pitted them against a winless Takoma Park crew but a sluggish Garrett squad had to pick up last half steam to put them down, 93-67.

Contrary to first and second quarter activity, the Lakers bounced back with gusto to place four GCC men in the double figure scoring column. John Guadagnino walked away with 21 points to Mike Grove's 12, followed by Dave McPhearson who added 11 and teammate, Bill McGarvey scored 10.

The following night in Cumberland saw a mistake-riddled Laker team go into overtime to lose a heart-breaker to Dundalk. With only 11 seconds left on the official clock, the Lakers seemed to be assured of victory, leading 83-82 with their ball out. Dundalk picked off an inside pass to hit one final basket for the win.

Early in the first quarter of play, GCC's Frost, Guadagnino, McPhearson and McGarvey put points on the board to ease out an 8-2 lead over the Dundalk Lions.

The early lead didn't last though as the Lions took full advantage of a series of costly mistakes the Lakers made throughout the game.

What the Lakers managed to do in floor play and foul shooting, Hopla and Wright, of the Lions, accomplished from long distance shooting. The Lions pair scored a total of 40 points together to keep the pressure on the Lakers.

At half time, the scoreboard read Dundalk, 40 to GCC's 37.

In late third quarter activity, Dundalk increased their lead to a dozen points, but again the stubborn Lakers rallied and pulled within four points of the Lions. Final quarter play saw point for point being scored by each team until the buzzer sounded with an expected 74-74 tie. The game then went into overtime.

In overtime play, the Lakers had a six point edge with only 2:42 remaining on the clock. It was Dundalk's Hopla and Pullen again who gave the Lions another chance at a win, when another Laker mistake saw a Laker ball thrown away with only seconds left in the match. Tom Johnson nabbed the throw-away and scored an inside lay-up to give it to Dundalk.

The remaining three seconds on the clock was not enough time for the Lakers to reach the hoop.

In Saturday's meet, Allegany CC met Dundalk and lasted to win their fourth straight JUCO Tournament Championship, 80-67, after winning Friday night's match with Charles Community College.

Allegany Community College travels to Catonsville, Maryland tonight to face Prince George's Community College in the Region XX Championship Tournament. The ACC team is currently seeded second in the Tournament.

Southern Rams Open With Victory In Tourney Action

The Southern High Rams got off to a great start in tournament action Tuesday evening by downing Allegany High, 75-61, in the first District 1 Class B playoff at Garrett Community College.

It was Ken Niner leading the way for the Rams, as he has done so many times this season, netting 33 points on 13 field goals and seven of eight at the foul line.

The contest was extremely close throughout the first three quarters, with each team matching point for point until the final six minutes of play when the Rams pulled out the stops and coasted to a 14 point lead at the buzzer.

The Campers led at the end of the third period, 45-44, but once again it was some deadly foul shooting and efficient work from the field by Niner and Steve Liller to put the game on ice. Over the past three games, Southern is 45 for 52 at the foul line, for an astounding 87 percent.

Coach Don Stemple gave all his players an opportunity to play as he empties his bench in the final minutes of the game.

Fred Griffith added 14 tallies to the winning cause followed by Steve Liller with 13. Danny Spangler and Frank Puhalla hit for 16 and 14 points, respectively, for the Campers.

Southern outshot Allegany from the floor by a 28-26 margin and converted 19 of 23 foul shot attempts to compare to a 9-for-17 effort by the losers.

The Rams, hoping for a return trip to College Park, will face Frederick High tonight in Hancock at 7:30. Southern traveled to College Park last year and ended up number two in the state, Class B.

Coach Don Stemple stated that Frederick will undoubtedly be the toughest opponent for the Rams thus far this season. He said, "They have a big man on their team. But, then again, so do we." (Niner) The Frederick team has been scouted twice by the Southern staff.

Should the Rams win tonight, they will then face the winner of the Seneca Valley-Francis Scott Key game (which will be played Saturday night) in the Region I finals.

Southern Rams End Season With Two Victories

The Southern High Rams ended their regular season in fine style last week, picking up two final victories, and increasing their winning streak to seven.

The first of two wins was recorded Friday night on the home floor against cross-county rival Northern, 78-74.

The Huskies came to town with revenge in their eyes and played excellent ball, leading the Rams throughout most of the contest. The Rams were heavily favored going into the game, having defeated the Huskies handily in January.

Southern finally managed to pull ahead late in the third period and went into the final eight minutes with a two point lead, 56-54.

Hitting ten for ten from the foul line in the fourth stanza put the icing on the cake, for the Rams. Fred Griffith and Steve Ritchie each hit four shots from the line, with Griffith's coming in the final seconds.

Rod Youmans, who has come on strong in the past several weeks to become one of the area's leading scorers, hit 14 field goals and five for five at the line for a total of 33 points. Tony Doerr, another area leader, added 21 to the losing effort and Allen Skidmore chipped in 14 tallies.

Steve Liller and Ken Niner led four Rams who reached double figures, each netting 20 points. Griffith hit for 18 and Ritchie contributed 12.

The Huskies outshot the Rams from the floor, 33-32. However, Southern hit on 14 of 15 shots from the line compared to a six-for-ten effort by Northern.

The very next evening, the Rams continued the momentum and stopped a tough Petersburg team, 58-53.

It appeared early in the game that the Rams were turning the contest into a rout as they held an 18-point halftime lead, 32-14. However, the third quarter belonged to the Vikings as they hit for 22 points compared to only 10 for the Rams, closing the gap to six, 42-36. Coach Don Stemple attributed the third period slack to overconfidence by his starters.

For the second straight night some clutch foul shooting by the Rams led to victory as the Vikings continued to apply pressure in the final eight minutes. The Rams hit six of six in the fourth quarter and 12 of 14 on the evening compared to a 1 for 2 effort by Petersburg. Southern was out-gunned from the floor, 26-23.

Ken Niner was high scorer for the Rams hitting 22 points followed by Fred Griffith with 14 and Steve Ritchie with 11.

Ott and Skeet Mongold each netted 14 for the losers followed by Terry Mayle with 11 and Scott Gossard 10.

The win sent Southern into tournament action Tuesday against Allegany with a 15-7 record.

PRETTY WHEN IT FALLS, PRETTY WHEN IT MELTS — Not only does the snow produce beautiful formations as it falls, but also as it melts away. This op-art, natural creation was found along U.S. Rt. 219 north early this week. Although many drifts still remain in the county, warmer temperatures have made the fields and streets visible once again.

New Programs Added By CAC

A series of new programs have been added by the Community Action Committee, it was disclosed this week.

One of the new programs called Community Food and Nutrition, has been instituted at the center in Oakland for those having met state eligibility requirements. One of the features of the new program is the development of a mini co-op which will be shared by several low income families.

The mini co-op is in the experimental state but plans call for families eligible in the program to benefit from better foods and consequently better nutrition.

Another development is the new Winterization effort also being implemented at the center. For those who qualify, homes will be evaluated for possible insulation, including the addition of storm windows where needed.

It was also announced that several sites had been chosen around the county to stockpile wood in a continuing effort to supply those less fortunate the opportunity to locate and use the wood for heating purposes. The site locations are Deer Park, Mountain Lake Park, Friendsville and the Community Action Center situated on West Liberty Street in Oakland.

Health Department Offers Pregnancy Information, Help

To encourage women to find out early if they are pregnant, and then to assist them to get early medical care, the Garrett County Health Department has set up a special telephone number and convenient locations and times where women may confidentially discuss their symptoms, have pregnancy tests and learn about alternative sources of medical care.

Several important diseases of pregnancy and the newborn can be prevented by early prenatal care; in the past, women in Garrett County have been relatively late in seeking prenatal care. The special number for an appointment is 334-8500.

Appointments may be scheduled Monday through Friday at either the Oakland Health Center near the hospital, or at the Youth Counseling Center in downtown Oakland. Confidential service is available for anyone, irrespective of age or marital status.

After discussion with the nurse or counselor and urine test, the person will be advised if she is probably pregnant, and the alternative sources of medical care that are available to her. The referral of her choice will be arranged.

ASCS Offering Aid To Farmers

Because of this winter's heavy snowfall, and the accompanying damage to farm fencing the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) is offering assistance to farmers in rebuilding and repairing permanent fencing damaged by the snow. Under the provisions of its Emergency Conservation Measures Program the ASCS is now accepting applications from affected Garrett County farmers.

G. P. Halterman, local ASCS director, announced that this program, effective immediately, would be available by individual sign-ups through March 25, 1977. It was also emphasized that this program is being coordinated with the Garrett County Roads Department and the State Highways Administration which are referring all farmers with fence damage created by snow removal operations to the ASCS office.

The Blessing

Not many people say "Grace" anymore. They sit down and eat. Often they don't even eat together, as a family unit. Sometimes the TV set is the mealtime focus of attention.

When you do go to a house where people say Grace, it can be uncomfortable. You fold your hands and lower your head, but you feel foolish.

Why? Giving thanks to God is a habit that goes awayback. So is going to church.

If we turn away from good habits, things that have endured, could it be that we're the losers?

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

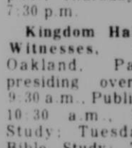

MISSING THE POINT

Lesson for March 6, 1977

Background Scripture: Mark 10:35-45; Luke 10
Devotional Reading: Luke 10:30-37

The request that James and John made of Jesus is almost unbelievable — at least until we remember that audacity has never been in short supply, even in the church. Nevertheless, James and John still tend to shock us:

"Teacher, we want you to do for us whatever we ask of you" (Mark 10:35).

Rev. Althouse

That by itself would be sufficient to cause our jaws to drop how presumptuous to even make such a request, regardless of what they would ask! But their audacity seems to know no limits, for when Jesus responds with, "What do you want me to do for you?" they answer:

"Grant us to sit one at your right hand and one at your left, in your glory" (Mark 10:37).

Imagine! Just a little favor, Lord, make us Vice Presidents in the Kingdom — First and Second Vice Presidents, that is!

You do not know what you ask

There is but one thing that we must hand these two men: they were certainly candid about their desires. In fact, it is probably this innocence mixed with their brashness that softens Jesus' reply: "You do not know what you are asking. Are you able to drink the cup that I drink, or be baptised with the baptism with which I am baptised?" (10:38). And the breezy assurance with which they answer indicates that they really do not know what they are asking: "We are able."

Jesus' patient forbearance is almost as impressive as their arrogance is shocking; for instead of a stinging rebuke, it is a patient explanation which he gives to help them understand the issues they have raised. If Jesus had responded with some irritation or annoyance no one could have blamed him.

To us, of course, it is quite apparent that they did not understand what they were asking. For one thing, they apparently did not understand what Jesus meant by the Kingdom of God. They are still holding the traditional and popular concept of a temporal kingdom with secular power, military might, and a royal court. Somehow, they had missed the point: the kingdom of God was really the kingdom within, a kingdom of man's spirit, of God's rule in the heart.

Not so among you

Secondly, they obviously misunderstood what discipleship meant. They seemed to think it meant being in on the "ground floor" for status and power in the kingdom. They thought in terms of rank, whereas Jesus emphasized not rank but service: "... whoever would be great among you must be your servant" (10:43).

Thirdly, they did not comprehend the kind of power which would bring in God's kingdom. They thought of power that would compel with force, whereas Jesus spoke of the power of love and self-denial: "For the Son of man also came not to be served but to serve, and to give his life as a ransom for many" (10:45).

From our vantage point, we wonder how James and John could have so badly missed the point; for to us it seems so obvious.

Can it be that we still miss the point?

HOW TO ADMINISTER EYE DROPS TO CHILDREN
It is sometimes a difficult task to administer eye drops or other opthalinic preparations to children. This is especialls so when it has to be done without assistance. Recently a new method has been developed.
The parent sits on the floor or a flat surface. The child's head is placed firmly between the parents thighs. The parent then crosses his/her legs over the child's lower trunk and legs. In this manner, the parent's hands remain free to open the child's eye lids and administer the medication.

It was a super evening last Monday at the Sitzmark Room, on Deep Creek Lake, when a host of family members and friends gathered there to pay tribute to George H. Hanst, retiring editor of The Republican newspaper.

Robert Sincell hosted the affair to perfection recalling the 'good ole days' when George and Mose Sincell worked long days and nights to get the paper out.

It occurred to me as the evening clock ticked away, that the job of being an editor is not an easy one and that the honorable Hanst deserved all the credit and praise the speakers allotted him.

The following morning, I began paging through some of the old copies of The Republican and discovered a unique reading column called, "Scoop's." The column was a conglomerate of important issues of the day, interesting goings on around the county, and general tidbits of knowledge about people, places and things, written by George Hanst.

In the February 22, 1934, issue the following sentences appeared under a heading called, Joy of the Columnist. It was only one of many creative articles that Scoop put together.

Getting out this column is no picnic.
If we print jokes, people say we are silly.
If we don't, they say we are too serious.
If we clip things from other papers, we are too lazy to write them ourselves.
If we don't we are stuck on our own stuff.
If we stick close to the job all day, we ought to be out hunting up news.
If we do go out and try to hustle, we ought to be on the job in the office.
If we don't print contributions, we don't appreciate genius.
And, if we do print them, the paper is filled with junk.
If we make a change in other fellow's write ups we are too critical.
If we don't we are asleep.
Now like as not someone will say we swiped this from some other paper.
We did.

And, as did the great Hanst, so shall I on occasion. This column will hopefully appear each week providing there is enough news to fill its requirement of space. It is only fitting that the first should be dedicated to Scoop himself, George H. Hanst. My only hope though is that while I cannot duplicate his style I can at least share in the rockpile of knowledge he left in this office.

Girl Scout Sunday Scheduled March 6

Sunday, March 6, is Girl Scout Sunday, and to commemorate the 65th birthday of Girl Scouting, the Oakland Service unit of the Girl Scouts of America invites all Scouts, their families, friends and especially former Girl Scouts to gather for a non-denominational worship service.

The Service is scheduled this Sunday, March 6, at 2 p.m. at St. Peter's Catholic Church in Oakland.

The service has been planned and will be conducted by Rev. Martin Feild and the senior, Cadette and junior Girls Scouts, using the Shawnee Girl Scout Council theme, "Family Reunions."

Refreshments will be served following the service.

The Girl Scouts also are expressing appreciation to those who supported their annual cookie sale. The girls will be delivering the cookies between March 21 and April 2.

Notice Only To
Garrett County Property Taxpayers

Did you know that the staff salaries of the Garrett County Commissioners increased from $27,650 to $47,500 in one year between 1975 and 1976? This is a 71% increase in one year. Maybe this is why the commissioners want a bigger 3.4 million dollar courthouse renovation.

Did you know that between 1974 and 1975 the base (upon which you are taxed) increased 32%? Over a two year period the base has increased 51%. Do you realize that if the commissioners do not slow down on spending that your tax will be double in another year?

Call the County Commissioners and then join the Garrett County Taxpayers Association.

VERY LARGE ARRAY

Twenty-eight radio antennas are being assembled on the Plains of San Augustin in New Mexico. The antennas can be moved along a Y-shaped set of railroad track. When fully operable the VLA will have a resolving power equal to that of a paraboloidal antenna seventeen miles in diameter. Radio maps made from the information gained from the VLA will be comparable to photographs taken with the 200-inch Hale reflecting telescope at the Palomar Observatory.

Full Moon phase occurs at 12:13 p.m. Saturday. Moonrise will be at 4:19 p.m. this afternoon. Next Wednesday moonrise will be at 11:08 p.m.

Tuesday the moon will be at the closest distance to the earth that it gets this month. This perigee occurs only 366,450 kilometers (227,750 miles) from the earth.

Visible this week to the unaided eye are Venus, Jupiter and Saturn. Venus sets about three hours after the sun. Jupiter may be observed in Taurus not far from the Pleiades. It sets shortly before midnight. Saturn is among the stars of Cancer. It is visible most of the night setting before dawn.

Daylight exists eleven hours twenty-four minutes today. The sun rose at 6:48 a.m. and will set at 6:12 p.m. Wednesday, daylight will be fifteen minutes longer with sunrise nine minutes earlier and sunset six minutes later than today.

Smoking Withdrawal Clinic Is Scheduled

A smoking withdrawal clinic will be held at the Grantsville Health Center beginning on Monday, March 7, according to Gerald Beachy, member of the Board of Directors of the Center, and member of the Allegany-Garrett Council of the Lung Association.

The Clinic will run for five consecutive evenings with each starting at 7:00 o'clock.

The clinic will feature the modification behavior technique of quitting. Individual evening programs will cover such topics as diet and weight control; second-hand smoke; and diseases associated with cigarette smoking.

Sterling Processing To Donate Chicks Again For 4-H, FFA Broiler Program

The 4-H/FFA Broiler Program will be placing its order for chicks with Sterling Processors this Friday, March 4, in anticipation of the 1977 Broiler Show scheduled for May 21 at Southern High School, according to Vo-Ag Instructor, Dick Bishoff.

Interested youth should phone the Extension Office at 334-2145 immediately to order their Broiler Chicks. Participants may order chicks in multiples of 25 birds up to 100 per family.

Sterling Processors will furnish the peeps free of charge again this year. Broiler participants will however, pay a $2.00 or $3.00 charge to cover the cost of shipping the birds to Oakland, where they may pick up their birds, tentatively scheduled to arrive on Wednesday, March 23, at the Extension Office.

To acquaint youth with the broiler project an introductory meeting will be held at Northern High School on Tuesday, March 15, at 7:00 p.m. A similar meeting will be held at the Southern High Vo-Ag Center on Wednesday, March 16, also at 7:00 p.m. At these introductory meetings the youth will learn how to feed, house and care for their chicks. They will have an opportunity to learn how to keep accurate records on the feed consumption and growth rate of their broilers. In addition a broiler dressing demonstration is tentatively scheduled for the Southern Vo-Ag Center for Tuesday, May 17, from 6:00 to 8:00 p.m., to help youth learn how to dress out and properly display their broilers for the Broiler Show.

The Garrett Co. 4-H & FFA Broiler Program invites participation from any youth who may not currently be a member of these organizations. For further information contact Mr. Richard Bishoff, Vo-Ag Instructor at Southern High, Harold Loughrie, FFA Advisor at Northern High School, or 4-H Agent, Lawrence Little at the Extension Office at 334-2145 to order broiler chicks.

Junior Rifle Club Receives Check From VFW Post

At a recent meeting of the Garrett County Jr. Rifle Club, Commander James H. Weeks of Garrett Memorial VFW Post 10077 made a $200.00 contribution to further the Junior Rifle Club's program of instruction in the Safe Handling of firearms.

VFW Member Earle Boyce who functions as the Jr. Rifle Club's Chief Range Officer remarked that he was proud of the youths accomplishments in learning how to improve their shooting and hunting skills in a safe manner. It was pointed out during the presentation that the VFW has been a long-standing supporter of the Rifle Clubs program of instruction through the NRA Basic Rifle course, as well as the Maryland Safe Hunter Program. Jr. Rifle Club members noted that the VFW has been the most consistent supporter of firearms safety programs in Garrett County in terms of financial support. Currently these firearms safety classes meet each Thursday night at the Oakland Armory.

Hunter safety instructor Geep Halterman thanked the VFW representatives on behalf of the Jr. Rifle Club youth and stated that the generous contribution would be utilized by the club to purchase hunter safety films, training aids and other equipment which will be used in the Maryland Safe Hunter Program.

As many Garrett youth are becoming increasingly aware of the Mandatory Hunter Safety legislation which becomes effective July 1st of 1977, the Maryland Safe Hunter enrollment continues to grow. All youth under the age of 18 years will need a Hunter Safety Certificate or possess a certificate from a parent or guardian to the effect that they have received instruction in conservation, competency and safety in the handling of firearms and have successfully completed such a course. Youth under the age of 18 will need this Hunter Safety Certificate to obtain a Maryland Hunting License after July 1st.

Hunter Safety instructor Marvin Guthrie related that the next Maryland Safe Hunter course will accept registration of new students at the Oakland Armory on Thursday, March 24th at 6:00 p.m. Interested persons may contact the Extension Office at 334-2145 for further information.

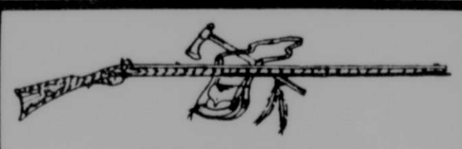

Jaycees Make Two Donations

The Southern Garrett Jaycees are presenting a check for $60 this week to the Victor Cullen Center for Retarded Adults in Sabillasville, Maryland. The center serves retarded adults from Garrett County and was earmarked last year to receive a donation from the Jaycees' aluminum recycling drive.

At the regularly scheduled meeting last Thursday, Bruce Hall, Jaycees president, announced that the Jaycees had recycled three-fourths of a ton of scrap aluminum. In collecting the aluminum, the Jaycees received the help of several local businesses: Story's and Deep Creek Lodge in McHenry, Little Henry's in Accident, Glotfelty's and Ward's in Oakland, and Harley's Pond Run Tavern.

Half of the profit from the aluminum sale, another $60 has already been presented to the Southern Garrett Rescue Squad.

The Jaycees are setting up a schedule of activities for 1977. Another aluminum drive is planned for this year.

Mark John Johnson, RD 1, Friendsville, pleaded guilty on the same count. The verdict was withheld under the first offense provision. He was placed on probation for 18 months under supervision.

Francis Wade Hinebaugh, Swallow Falls, pleaded not guilty of assault and battery on Deborah Ann Hinebaugh at her residence. He was found guilty and fined $50 and costs.

Terry Garlitz, Star Route, Kitzmiller, pleaded not guilty of assault and battery on Richard E. Tasker at Kitzmiller January 27. Garlitz was found guilty and fined $25 and costs.

Hunting Fee Bill Defeated

The House Environmental Matters Committee has decided that the $2 fee levied by the Department of Natural Resources for hunting on public land should be kept.

The committee voted 11-9 to defeat a bill sponsored by the Allegany County delegation to repeal the charge.

The Department of Natural Resources opposes elimination of the fee, saying it will lose $100,000 a year in revenue if the charge is dropped.

The bill's sponsors, however, say that the fee is discriminatory and hunters should not be charged for using state parks and other public lands.

During a hearing on the bill Del. DeCorsey E. Bolden asked the Environmental Matters Committee, "If the hunters are made to pay the fee, why not begin charging other park users such as cross-country skiers, birdwatchers, fishermen and the like?"

Two Elected To Southern States Advisory Board

Elwood Sanders of Oakland and Richard Helbig of Deer Park, were elected to the local Advisory Board at the Southern States Annual Membership meeting held in Mt. Lake Park last Saturday. Over 150 stockholder-members and their families attended the session.

W. Brooks Hamilton of Oakland was named chairman of the local board while Mr. Sanders was picked as vice-chairman.

Elected to the local Southern States Farm Home Advisory Committee were: Mrs. Lee Shillingburg of Deer Park, and Mrs. Evelyn Wildesen of Oakland. Mrs. Shillingburg was chosen as chairperson of the Farm Home Advisory Committee while Mrs. Wildesen was named secretary.

Elected as Delegate and Alternate to a District Election meeting to be held in Winchester, Va. this fall, was Mr. Helbig named as delegate and Mr. Sanders was named as alternate.

Wayne Harmon of Clarksburg, a regional staff representative of Southern States Cooperative, in reporting on the overall operations of the co-op for the past year, told the session that volume was over $322 million. Faculty Forum

Garrett County Teachers Association
By Kristin Milne

One of the more frequently voiced laments of parents and teachers concerns the area of parent/teacher communications: why do the two factors appear so often diametrically opposed? Are teachers really too busy or unconcerned to contact the parent of a student in academic trouble? And why does it seem that all a teacher can do is criticize rather than compliment? What about the parent who blames the school for every problem his or her child encounters in and outside of school? How many parents take the initiative to quietly observe Mary or Johnny's class, talk with the teacher, and examine textbooks and assignments?

These questions and a host of others were foremost in the minds of four panelists discussing the successful and unsuccessful endeavors of teachers and parents to communicate with each other. In the first of a series of televised (via satellite) programs on Helping Teachers Teach, Mrs. Dorothy Leighton, Oakland resident and concerned parent active in the educational community, brought her years of experience as both teacher and parent to confront what has been debated endlessly by anyone involved in teaching and/or parenting: what can be done to create a unified, greater understanding of our children?

The three other contributors to the panel discussion were Donald Blakeslee, co-chairperson NEA Standing Committee on Institution Instruction and Professional Development; Mary Hatwood, president of Virginia Education Association; and Robert Hay, student at Hayst High School, Hayst, Virginia. The opinions of professionals, parents, and students were adeptly represented during the discussion prompted by first viewing a videotape entitled "The Parent Crunch," dramatizing the many-faceted problem created when teachers and parents arrive at an impasse in communication.

Mr. George Binder, NEA Uniserv Director, acted as moderator for the program, which included a question and answer period. Inquiries into the art of communication were received from viewers in all areas of Appalachia, and the response from the panelists proved most enlightening in their suggestions for improving the quality of Home vs. School communication.

Q. What does a teacher do when a problem with a child is apparent, but the parents can not or will not acknowledge it?

A. Counseling services staffed by trained professionsals are the most beneficial when it comes to acknowledging even a crisis situation. Also, co-operation by parents with school administrators is necessary to provide a solid link between home and school which is mutually reinforcing.

Q. How can teacher avoid pitfalls during conferences with parents?

A. Developing good rapport with the home requires more communication than simply sending progress reports or ominous-sounding notes. Telephone calls, meetings in the home environment, and special, personal invitations often develop a positive relationship with parents. Sharing positive as well as negative feelings are crucial, especially started early in the school year and maintained throughout.

Q. Should parents help their children with homework?

A. All too often when a parent is sought for help in assignments, one of two things may occur: either the parent doesn't understand the assignment and, in an attempt not to appear "stupid," refuses to lend assistance, or in the frustration of trying to help the child learn something new and different to the child, the parent angrily gives up or teaches the child something entirely apart from the objective of the lesson. The greatest help parents can give students with homework is to establish firmly a time to be set aside for homework only, not in front of the television or any other distraction. Parents are also urgently needed in Parent Volunteer Programs, especially in reading. Parents are trained to teach children, giving themselves an even greater appreciation of the teacher's role in the intellectual development of his or her child.

Q. What approaches can parents take in seeing realistic expectations of their child?

A. So much depends on healthy teacher/parent communication! School systems are partly at fault in becoming too lax in public information programs. This weekly column only begins to enlighten the public on actions and attitudes of educators. A concentrated effort in issuing memoranda, brochures, or any outlet of information is vital in educating parents about educational programs. Law suits have been filed by parents against school systems when they learn that, upon their child's graduation from high school, that student is functionally illiterate. Of course the schools are blamed for this tragedy, but were the parents made aware of their child's problems from the first through twelfth grades? Were the parents expecting greater performance than the child could actually perform? Was that child enrolled in special resources classes and always working at below grade level capacity? Many tests are administered throughout the child's school years that accurately indicate in which areas a child is most proficient, least proficient, and at what level he or she is working. It cannot be stressed too much that parents must pay greater attention to achievement levels of their children in order to avoid too high an expectation for them.

Q. What ways can school systems encourage parents to come to school before a crisis situation demands their presence?

A. One of the greatest liaisons between home and school exists with each local chapter of PTA. PTA has been an ever-increasing voice that is being heard in both the classroom and livingroom. When children bring home membership enrollment forms at the onset of each school year, they should be seriously considered. The $1.00 dues is hardly too costly an investment for the betterment of education. PTA is involved in both research and development programs covering the effects of televised violence on children to book drives. More importantly, it brings home and school closer together by uniting them in common goals. Another possible school visitation stimulus would be that parents be required to come to the school to pick up the child's first report card, as suggested by Mrs. Leighton. By doing so, parents and teachers would readily avail themselves to each other for inquiring into the child's development at home and school.

There are no sure-fire guarantees on how to unprove the communication gap. What is known is that the gap need not widen or exist at all. Because children are often caught midway in the debate, they are often the least helped due to parents' and teachers' defense mechanisms. The child must remain the focal point of all discussions between parents and teachers. Realistic approaches to evaluating the child can be met by honestly evaluating the child's vital signs: how does the child's attitude differ between home and classroom? Are behavioral patterns consistent within both environments? What value has been placed on learning? A compromise is never far away as long as both parties remain open to each other and use a common language of concern and, yes, love.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of my husband, Paul Rohrbaugh who passed away one year ago, March 5, 1976.

Should you go first and I remain to walk to road alone,
I live in memory's garden, Dear, with happy days we've known.
In spring I'll wait for roses red when bloom the lilacs blue.
In early fall when brown leaves fall I'll catch a glimpse of you.
Should you go first and I remain for battle to be fought,
Each thing you've touched along the way will be a hallowed spot. I'll hear your voice, I'll see your smile, though blindly I may grope.
The memory of your helping hand will fill me then with hope.
Should you go first and I remain to finish with the scroll,
Lengthening shadows shall creep in to make this life seem droll.
We've had so much happiness, we've had our cup of joy and memory is one gift of God that death cannot destroy.
Should you go first and I remain, one thing I'd have you do.
Walk slowly down that long, long path for soon I'll follow you.

Very sadly missed by Wife, Virginia Rohrbaugh

Hamilton Asks Congressmen To Discuss Freeway

Garrett County Commissioner Wayne B. Hamilton, chairman of the Tri-County Council for Western Maryland, has asked Rep. Goodloe E. Byron (D., Sixth) to arrange for Maryland Congressmen and senators to hold a meeting regarding the National Freeway.

In a letter to Rep. Byron, Mr. Hamilton said that the meeting would allow local officials to meet with "those congressmen and senators who would best be able to aid us in working with the problems relating to the completion of the road."

Mr. Hamilton also advised Maryland Transportation Secretary Harry R. Hughes, Baltimore Mayor William Donald Schaefer, and Allegany County Commissioner Richard Mappin of the possibility of a meeting with the congressional members.

He hopes that in addition to all the Maryland members of the House of Representatives, the U.S. Senators Charles McC. Mathias and Paul Sarbanes of Maryland and Jennings Randolph and Robert Byrd of West Virginia can attend the meeting.

Byron Introduces Flood Insurance Legislation

Congressman Goodloe E. Byron has introduced two bills designed to help citizens and small businesses better cope with floods and other natural disasters.

The first of these bills would increase the limits of the amount of flood insurance which families and businesses are allowed to purchase. The residential limits would be increased from $35,000 to $100,000 and the coverage ceiling for small businesses would be raised from $100,000 to $500,000.

Byron stated, "In many communities whose central business district may be subject to flooding, the restrictions on the amount of flood insurance protection a business is allowed to purchase may discourage businesses from locating, expanding or remaining in these areas. My bill would alleviate that problem by raising the limits sufficiently to enable businesses to protect themselves adequately."

The second bill Byron introduced would amend the Disaster Relief Act of 1974 to make the terms of disaster relief loans more favorable to the victims of disasters. This measure would provide two options, either a 3 percent interest rate on the loan with a $2,500 forgiveness or a 1 percent interest with no forgiveness.

Byron said, "victims of disasters suffer in many ways and I hope that Congress will act favorably on this legislation."

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Wilbur Hinebaugh, Sr., who passed away March 1, 1975.

Because God knew your work was done, your children taught and grown,
He called you home to come and dwell
Where no more work is done.
You were always gentle yet ever so strong
You taught us the difference between right and wrong
The years may wipe out many things
But this they wipe out never.
The memory of those happy days.
When we were all together.

Sadly missed by
Wife and children

The bill of complaint alleges in substance that the plaintiff is a female resident of Garrett County, Maryland; is under the age of 18 years; and has resided in the State of Maryland for more than one year prior to the filing of the bill of complaint; that the defendant is an adult male resident of the State of West Virginia; that the parties intermarried on April 14, 1976 in Garrett County; that no children have been born of said marriage, but the plaintiff may be pregnant; that the defendant has committed adultery; that the plaintiff is a fit and proper person to have the care and custody of the expected child of the parties; and that neither of the parties is employed or has any income.

The relief prayed in the bill of complaint is substantially as follows: That the plaintiff be divorced a vinculo matrimonii from the Defendant; that the plaintiff be awarded the permanent care and custody of the expected child of the parties; that the court reserve jurisdiction for the future award of support for said expected child and alimony for the Plaintiff; and for such other and further relief as the Plaintiff's case may require.

Tries To Save Deer

On her way home from mid-week Lenten services, Mrs. Martha Glotfelty saw a small deer, lying alongside the road near the James Glotfelty home. Two dogs were standing nearby and the deer was bleeding from wounds inflicted by them. She stopped her car, drove the dogs off and went for help to aid the deer. She was unable to rouse some nearby neighbors, and went on home and called the Robert Glotfelty home. Rodney Glotfelty and his brothers agreed to go and pick up the deer and see what could be done for it. Rodney reported that it had severe lacerations on one leg, with a possible fracture of another one. He kept it overnight, notified the Department of Natural Resources and they said they would come and pick it up on Thursday morning. Mrs. Glotfelty called Mr. Harold Harmon this morning (Tuesday) and he said the deer had died. It was sent to Frostburg to examine it for signs of possible partial starvation during the severe winter. THE REPUBLICAN

VOLUME 101 | OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD., THURSDAY, MARCH 10, 1977 | PER COPY 15c | NUMBER 2

Thanks, For Nothing . . .

The Maryland Department of Economic and Community Development has just come out with a new tourism brochure, supposedly for the entire state of Maryland. The brochure contains 131 photographs with a grand total of ONE identified as being of Garrett County.

It's common knowledge that Garrett County has some of the most beautiful scenery and one of the widest arrays of recreational facilities in the state. The Deep Creek Lake - Garrett County Promotion Council is an active, hardworking office, doing what it can to strengthen the county. A little cooperation from the state would be a real boost. Why are we being neglected?

A study done in 1972 revealed that tourism and recreation is Garrett County's number one industry, comprising over 35% of the total economy, and bringing in a minimum of 18 million dollars to the county. Over twenty percent of the county labor force is employed in areas relating directly or indirectly to tourism and recreation. Our welfare depends on it!

Western Maryland is still thought of as Frederick, or, at best, Hagerstown, by the eastern section. County promotion director, Ed Walthall said, "I'm not surprised with this new brochure. It's the usual short-end-of-the-stick deal from Annapolis." He plans to file a formal complaint to John Nelson, director of the Department.

Walthall also stated that an annual $10,000 grant from the Department, which is matched by county funds, has been cut to $6,000.

Wake up Eastern Maryland. Many of you come up here to use and enjoy (and sometimes abuse) the facilities of our county. How about a little support.

Dr. Thomas G. Johnson Certified In Specialty Of Family Practice

Dr. Thomas G. Johnson, of Oakland, has been named a diplomate of the American Board of Family Practice (ABFP) as a result of passing a certification examination offered by the ABFP. He is now certified in the specialty of family practice.

The intensive 2-day written examination taken by Dr. Johnson is designed to prove his ability in the areas of internal medicine, surgery, obstetrics, gynecology, pediatrics, psychiatry and community medicine.

To qualify for the examination a physician must have completed either a 3-year family practice residency or have been in family practice a minimum of six years and successfully completed 300 hours of continuing medical education approved by the American Academy of Family Physicians.

ABFP diplomates also must continue to show proof of competency in the field of comprehensive, continuing care of the family by being recertified every six years. No other medical specialty requires diplomates to prove competence on a continuing basis.

The latest group of diplomates brings the total number to 12,000. Most are members of the Academy of Family Physicians, the national association of family doctors. In addition to being the only national M.D. group to require members to take continuing medical study, the Academy was chiefly responsible for securing specialty status for family practice.

Dr. Johnson, his wife, Marilyn, and two children reside on Crook Crest in Oakland.

CROCUS IN FULL BLOOM can mean but one thing — Spring! Or anyway, spring can't be too far away. These prolific bloomers in yellow and purple have attracted many honeybees who are getting out on the job early. This flower bed is located in a stonework planter in the rear of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Johenning, Hoyes.

Smoke Detector Gets Credit For Averting Damage

A smoke detector helped prevent a potentially serious fire in a mobile home on Walnut Bottom Road near Kitzmiller Monday afternoon.

Robert H. Shimer, deputy state fire marshal, said the fire occurred in a trailer occupied by Mrs. Nida Warnick and her two daughters, ages 17 and 15.

Shortly before 4 p.m., as the family was watching television in the living room, a smoke detector in the hallway outside the living room sounded an alarm.

Mrs. Warnick then noticed a light haze of smoke in the trailer and found a fire burning on the carpeted floor of the bedroom.

She immediately called the Kitzmiller fire department then she and her daughter filled containers with water and were able to douse the fire by the time firemen arrived.

Mr. Shimer said that only a small amount of damage resulted, and he credited the smoke detector for keeping the fire from spreading without detection.

He also said he has seen increased use of smoke detectors in residences, especially in recent months because prices of the detectors have been reduced to affordable prices.

Meetings Set On Needs Assessment In County Schools

Time and again, it's been proven that a questionnaire is a simple yet effective tool to determine public opinion. That is why, when the Board of Education wanted to gain some insight into school needs, a questionnaire was devised.

Called a needs assessment of Garrett County public schools, the questionnaire consisted of various sections with questions on student needs, staff needs, community needs and program needs.

The results from this survey have been compiled and will be made known in two public meetings, the first scheduled next week. On March 15, the Board will convene at Southern High School cafetorium at 7:30 p.m. to discuss the findings. On April 19, a second public meeting will be held, this time in the Accident Elementary School cafetorium at 7:30 p.m.

The questionnaire idea was the brainchild of a supervisor's committee, headed by Dr. William Bauer, superintendent of schools, and assisted by Al Ringer, assistant superintendent of curriculum and instruction. Mr. Ringer was the chief planner of the project.

The School Board had passed a resolution in 1976 to begin a study of needs, a form of re-evaluating the school system. The study was the first such attempt in this county to gain input from citizens about school needs.

Dr. Bauer then appointed a

Two Bills On 180-Day School Year Making Progress

The two bills concerning waiving of the 180-day school requirement now under scrutiny in the Maryland General Assembly are making progress, according to reports from Annapolis this week.

The Senate bill, introduced by Sen. Edward Mason, would permit a county board of education to apply to the State Board of Education for a waiver of the 180-day school term requirement when schools are closed for a long period of time due to bad weather.

This bill passed its second reading this week, after an amendment by Sen. Rosalie Abrams of Baltimore, and should be up for a third and final hearing today.

The Abrams amendment rescinded the ban on Saturday classes.

According to Dr. William Bauer, county superintendent of schools, the bill probably would be approved as read and sent on to the House of Delegates for approval. No decision is expected there before the end of next week.

Meanwhile, in the House of Delegates, a bill co-sponsored by Del. Dorothy Bolden and Rep. Rogers of Baltimore, was to have been voted upon yesterday in committee. Their bill would give the State Board of Education the right to reduce, waive or modify the minimum number of days required in a school year.

Both bills must be approved by the State Board of Education before they may be implemented locally.

The Garrett County Board of Education will hold its regular meeting this afternoon, with various items on the agenda.

Discussion will be heard on the needs assessment program, the reading program, and fuel conservation efforts.

In addition, action will be taken on the school discipline policy, and a report heard on building projects.

Mandel Presents Citation To Southern Highlander Marching Band

Governor Marvin Mandel and family arrived in Oakland last Friday afternoon, and presented a citation to Richard Clever, band director, who accepted the honor on behalf of the Southern High School Band.

The Governor spoke highly of the band's outstanding achievements this year and congratulated them during a presentation ceremony held in the Southern Band Room.

In addition to his recognition of the Band's Achievements, Governor Mandel also had praise for the "fine showing the sports department had and that the school in general was indeed worthy of commendation for their successful efforts.

The governor stated in his address to the group that "It was always a pleasure to visit the western region and that the hospitality on the mountaintop was always friendly and receptive."

The governor first presented Richard Clever with a special citation from the State of Maryland, proclaiming the band as the official state representative this year in the Festival of States Parade to be held in St. Petersburg, Florida.

The governor then presented the school with a new Maryland Flag at which time a Head Majorette, Pam Trickett presented the Governor with a color photograph of the honored band members.
